KEEFER, Charles Henry, C.E., is the eld. s. of T. C. Keefer, C.M.G. (q.v.). B. at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, May 7, 1851, he studied for his profession under his father. He began the practice of engineering, 1869, on a preliminary survey for the Ottawa Water-works, and was employed the same year on another survey, for the Dom. Dept. of Public Works. In 1870 he was engaged on the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. between Ottawa and Carleton Place, and, in 1871, on the construction of the Chaudière branch of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Ry. From 1871 to 1875 he was engaged on the construction of the Ottawa Water-works, and, for 2 yrs. thereafter, on the location of surveys for the Can. Pac. Ry. in the Yellow Head Pass, Rocky Mts. After devoting several yrs. to harbour works and the surveys for the ship channel between Montreal and Quebec, and bridge and ry. work, he took charge of work in connection with the location and construction of branches in Penn. of the N.Y., Lake Erie and Western Ry., and of the construction on that line of the well-known Kinzua Viaduct, 301 ft. in height and 2053 ft. in length. Subsequently, he was employed on the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. in the Kicking Horse Pass, B.C. He was then engaged in canal work, and was in general practice in Toronto for some time. At present he is making reports on water-works, sewerage, water-power and other engineering works in Ottawa and in the construction of bridges. He was one of the original mems. of the Soc. of C. E., and was on its Council, 1892-93. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and m. 1877, Lucy M., dau. of the late Alpheus Jones, Prescott, Ont.—"Rockcliffe," Ottawa.

KEEFER, George Alexander, C.E., is the 2nd and only surviving s. of the late Geo. Keefer, jr., C.E., of Thorold, Ont., where he was b. Jan. 22, 1843. Ed. at the U. C. Coll., he was first employed on the survey of the G. T. Ry., Vaudreuil and Ottawa branch, 1856, and afterwards on the Brockville and Ottawa branch, under his uncle, the late Samuel Keefer, C.E. Subsequently, he became an engr. on the Grand Junction Ry., from Belleville to Peterboro', and he made the first exploration for a direct line of ry. from Ottawa to Toronto (now the C. P. route). Entering the govt. service, 1872, he was employed in the preliminary surveys for the Can. Pac. Ry., in the Rocky Mts. through the Yellow Head Pass, and remained in that service until the completion of the B. C. sec. by the Govt. and its transfer to the C. P. Ry. Co., 1886. He constructed one of the heaviest sections in the Fraser River canyons—on which a station named "Keefers" is established. He has since constructed the water-works for the city of Vancouver, by bringing the water of the Capitano River from the mts. on the north side of Burrard Inlet, by a submerged pipe in a rapid tideway. He has also constructed dykes and drainage works in B. C., and is now engaged in genl. practice there. When the Russian engrs. examined the C. P. Ry. previous to the commencement of their Siberian road, they offered a Can. syndicate a contract for the terminal section on the Pacific at Vladivostock, at prices which induced the syndicate to send over an engr. to examine and report upon the question, Mr. K. being selected for this purpose. He took steamer from Victoria to Japan, and thence to Vladivostock, going over the proposed route between that seaport and the Amoor River, and reporting thereon to his employers on his return. Mr. K. is a mem. of the Soc. of Am. C. E. and of the Can. Soc. of C. E., and is now on the Council of the last-named body. He holds a 1st class M. S. cert., and was a commissioned officer in the V. KEEFER, Thomas Coltrin, C.E., is grandson of an Alsatian Huguenot, who came to Am. in early life, settling in the Brit. Province of N. J., and who afterwards served in the Brit. army during the Am. revolutionary war. S. of Geo. Keefer, a U. E. Loyalist, by his wife, Jane, dau. of Edward McBride, who represented the town of Niagara in the Parlt. of U. C., he was born at Thorold, Ont., Nov. 4, 1821, and received his ed. at U. C. Coll. At 17 he commenced his career as an engr., being first employed on the Erie Canal. Transferring his services, soon afterwards, to the Welland Canal, he remained connected with that work until 1845. He was then engaged to take the chief position in connection with the Ottawa River works, the principal object being to facilitate the immense lumber trade of that river and its tributaries. He carried on these works up to 1849, designing important improvements which are in use to this day, and giving every satisfaction to those interested. In 1849 he produced his "Philosophy of Railways," a work which had an immediate influence on the policy of the Govt. in respect to the construction of railways in Can. In the following year, he won Lord Elgin's prize for the best essay on "The Influence of the Canals of Can. on her Agriculture," and in this was the first to advocate a moderate system of protection such as would develop native industries in his native country. He has subsequently published various other essays, lectures, reports and papers, a full list of which is given in the "Bibliography of the Roy. Soc. of Can.," of which body he was elected a Fellow, 1891, and of which he was elected V.-P., 1897. Included among these are a monograph favouring the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. (1869). and one dealing with Can. waterways from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic (1894). Re-entering the service of the Govt., 1850, he was employed in making a survey of the rapids of the St. Lawrence, with a view to their improvement, also in examining the river below Quebec for a Harbour of Refuge, and in exploring routes with a view to the building of a canal or ry. between the St. Lawrence and the Upper St. John waters of Lake Temiscouata. Later, he assisted I. D. Andrews, an ardent advocate of reciprocity with the U. S., in the preparation of his reports on the trade of B. N. A., which reports had an important influence in securing the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854. On the termination of this work, he was engaged in making preliminary surveys for the Grand Trunk Ry. between Montreal and Toronto. At the same time he made a report and prepared plans as to the feasibility of bridging the St. Lawrence River at Point St. Charles, Montreal. The result of this was the construction of the Victoria Bridge, which was undertaken on the survey and report of Mr. K. At a later period, he was employed in constructing water-works for the cities of Montreal, Hamilton, Ottawa and elsewhere. He was the engr. of the Montreal Harbour Comn. for some yrs., and was the first to propose the dredging of the channel at Lake St. Peter to a depth of more than 16½ feet. He afterwards served as Chairman of the Royal Comn. on Ice Floods. Owing to his efforts, the change of the narrow gauge to the standard gauge on rys. in Can. was effected. He was apptd. a Can. comnr. for the first Internl. Exhn. in London, 1851; a comnr. on behalf of Can. to the Internl. Exhn., London, 1862; and an ex. comnr. to the Paris Exhn., 1878. At the last-named exhn. he was made a mem. of the Internl. Jury for Architecture and Engineering, was created an officer of the Legion of Honour, and received from H. M. the decoration of a C.M.G. After the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. he was chosen to act as one of the arbitrators in the case between the Dom. Govt. and the Can. Pac. Ry. Co., arising out of the construction of the Onderdonk secs. of the road. His latest appt. is that of Internl. Deep Water-ways Comnr. for enquiring into the practicability and cost of a ship canal between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic seaboard. Mr. K. is a mem. of the Inst. of C. E., Eng., and of the Am. Soc. of C. E., of which body he was elected V.-P., 1886 and 1887, and Presdt., 1888. He was one of the founders of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1887, was then elected its first Presdt., and was re-elected to this office, 1897. He was Presdt. of the Rideau Club, 1881. In religious faith, a mem. of the Ch. of Eng.; politically, he is Ind. KEEFER, William Napier, surgeon-major late Bengal army, was b. at Thorold, Ont., Dec. 17, 1844, and is of U. E. Loyalist stock, being the only surviving s. of the late Peter Keefer, of Galt, Ont., whose father and grandfather served with the Loyalists during the Am. revolutionary war. Ed. at Galt Grammar Sch., and at Toronto Univ. (B.A., with 1st prize in Agricul., 1864), he graduated in Med. at McGill Univ., 1869. In the same yr. he passed the mil. sch. of instruction, Toronto, and obtained a cert. for a commission in the local militia. Proceeding to the Mother Country, he passed for the Royal Coll. of Surg., Edinburgh, at Apothecaries' Hall, London, and registered, as a practitioner, in Gt. Brit. and Irel., 1869. Having determined to enter the Imp. med. service, he underwent the competitive exam. at Chelsea, and, in 1870, after following the prescribed course at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Netley, passed the final exam. and received a commission as asst. surg. in H. M.'s Indian forces. After arriving in India he passed the lower standard in Hindustani, was promoted surg., 1875, and, in 1881, attained the rank of surg.-major. After a more than usually eventful experience, Surg.-Maj. K. retired from the army, 1889, and in the same yr., m. Alice Eugenia, 2nd dau. of Matthew Wilks, of New York and of Cruickston Park, near Galt, Ont. During his career in India he held the following med. charges: Doaba outposts, 16th Bengal Cav.; Wings 22nd P.I.; 42nd N.I. and Coolie Corps in Looshai expdn.; 8th N.I. and Wing 10th N.I., 20th P.I.; 13th Bengal Lancers; Lock Hospital and station staff, Delhi; Coolie Corps in Duffla expdn.; Civil Station at Peshawur, Lawrence Mil. Asylum Sanawur, and senior med. officer at Fort Blair and Nicobars. Besides his Indian experience he saw service in the following campaigns: Looshai campaign, under Gen. Bourchier, in which he won the India medal and the Looshai clasps: the Duffla expdn. (mentioned in despatches); the Jowaki campaign, when he again received the clasp; the Afghan war of 1878-79, in which he was present at the capture of Ali Musjid and the occupation of Jellalabad, and received for services performed the Afghan medal and the Ali Musjid clasp; the Afghan war of 1879-80; the Zalmusht expdn., during which Zowa was taken, at which he was present; the Egyptian campaign, where his services procured for him the following decorations: the Egyptian medal and Tel-el-Kebir clasp; the Khedive's bronze star, and the Order of Osmanieh. Besides the numerous distinctions already enumerated, he attracted the attention of the commanding officers on almost every expdn. by his attention to duty, his skill and his fearlessness amid scenes of extremest danger, and the number of times that he received honourable mention is, perhaps, the crown of all his honours. Since his retirement Dr. K. has lived in Can. He has contributed some of his army experiences to the "Trans. of the Can. Mil. Inst."—"Seogunge," Galt, Ont.; Toronto Club.

KEEGAN, Miss Mary, actress, is the dau. of the late Geo. W. Keegan, barrister, Hamilton, Ont., and a grand-dau. of the late Dr. Thos. Keegan, a native of Irel., who removed to U. C. from Halifax, N.S., 1833. B. in Hamilton, Ont., Miss K. was ed. at the Convent in Belleville, and afterwards at the Sacred Heart, Montreal. At an early age she showed marked dramatic ability, and as a consequence felt a strong desire to adopt the stage as a profession. Her friends did not, however, at once approve of the idea, and before any definite conclusion was reached, Miss K. was sent to France for the purpose of completing her education. In Paris she was placed under the care of M. and Mme. de l'Aubiniere, the well-known Can. painters, who entertained a strong friendship for her. They were both convinced that her talents lay in the direction of the stage, and, acting on their advice, her mother finally consented to her becoming an actress. She soon after went to Eng. and made her first appearance at the Theatre Royal, Margate, with Sarah Thorne's stock co. She became leading lady of this organization, and opportunity favouring her, she subsequently went to London and made her début there at the Royalty Theatre in a duologue, called "Make Beliefs," an adaptation from the Danish of Benzon. From this time she appeared in many parts, at the same time continuing her studies with great application. Her first public success was as Polly Fletcher, an original rôle in the Am. play, "A Lost Paradise." Then she achieved increased distinction in the leading emotional part in the same play, that of Margaret Knowlton, the two assumptions affording a good range of her versatility. Her next important rôle was that of Blanche Tremaine in "The Black Cat," by Dr. Todhunter, a play that received the confirmation of the Ind. Theatre Soc. of London. As the adventuress of the piece, Miss K. gained nothing but praise for a charming pourtrayal of a very difficult part. Miss K. has since made a tour in Eng. with one of Beerbohm Tree's cos., and in Oct., 1895, appeared in London again, where she scored a success as Grace Roseberry in "The New Magdalen." She is still (1897) in Eng.—Hamilton, Ont.

KELLEY, Frederick W., educationist, is of Scotch-Irish and Scotch-Eng. extraction, and was b. at Stewiacke, N.S., 1844. His father was one of the earliest temp. reformers in N. S. Ed. at the Truro Normal Sch., under the late Dr. Forrester, and at McGill Univ., where he graduated, 1871, as gold med. in Eng. Language, Lit. and History, he afterwards took a post-graduate course in Phil., History and Nat. Science at Cornell Univ. (Ph.D.). Though offered tempting positions in the U. S., he returned to Montreal, 1875, where he had previously held the Eng. Mastership in the High Sch., and the Principalship of the Royal Arthur Sch. He lectured for 2 yrs. with great acceptance before the Montreal Ladies' Ed. Assn., and on the death of the lamented Rodger, was reapptd. to his old position in the High Sch., which he has now filled for more than 20 yrs. He has throughout taken the deepest interest in univ. matters, especially in relation to the secondary schs., and has represented the graduates in Arts in the corporation of McGill Univ. for many yrs. In raising the standard of provl. education, Dr. K. has borne a prominent part, being Secy. of the Teachers' Assn. during a critical and decisive period, and a mem. since its formation of the Central Bd. of Examrs. for granting teachers' diplomas. Though an elder in the Presb. Ch., and Supdt. of a leading Sunday Sch. in that denomination, his work has been largely interdenominational and undenominational. He has been Presdt. of the Quebec Sunday Sch. Union, and is still a mem. of its executive; and for his services in the educational and boys' depts. was elected to the Presidency of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. He has long served in the Senate of the Presb. Coll., Montreal, and worked hard to extend the usefulness of the Mech. Inst. of that city. In town or country, wherever he can be of assistance to the young, he is always ready to give a helping hand. He lectures frequently on Can. historical subjects. In his early days, Dr. K. was a great admirer of the statesman, Joseph Howe, and although taking no active part in politics, is profoundly interested in everything which affects the welfare of Can. KELSO, John Joseph, noted for his active and energetic work on behalf of neglected children, was b. in Dundalk, Irel., Mch. 31, 1864, and came with his parents to Can., 1874, settling in Toronto, where he has since resided. In 1886, when engaged in journalistic work on the World, he organized the Toronto Humane Soc., which has since accomplished a great work and has led to the formation of some 10 or 15 similar socs. In 1888 Mr. K. established the Toronto Children's Fresh Air Fund, which has provided free picnics and lunches for over 30,000 poor children in the hot summer months. Recognizing the need for protecting children from cruelty and neglect, he organized, 1891, the Children's Aid Soc., into which the Fresh Air Fund became merged. This soc., which was the first of the kind to be formed in Can., entered upon an agitation for better laws for children, with the result that the Ont. Legislature in 1893 adopted a progressive Children's Protection Act. This Act created a State guardianship of neglected and dependent children, and in deference to the wishes of the various philanthropic organizations of the province, Mr. K. was apptd. Supdt. of neglected and dependent children of Ont. Since assuming office he has organized Children's Aid Socs. in all the larger cities and towns, and has created a widespread interest in this work. Under the Act referred to the Curfew bell has been instituted in Ont. Previous to his appt., he was for over 7 yrs. a mem. of the Globe reportorial staff. In 1897 he was apptd., in addition to his other office, Immigration Inspr. for Ont.—34 Balmuto St., Toronto.

KENDRY, James, manufacturer and legislator, was b. in Oshawa, Ont., Mch. 29, 1845. KENNEDY, Howard Angus, journalist, is the s. of the Rev. Dr. Kennedy (Cong.), by his wife, — Blackie, a sister of the late Prof. Blackie. On the termination of his studies, he came to Can., and was for 9 yrs. a reporter for and the city ed. of the Montreal Witness. On leaving this country, about 1892, he held for a time a place on the Literary World, whence he joined the staff of the London Times, as mang. ed. In addition to his duties there, he is now editing a series of shilling volumes on the Brit. Empire, the volume on Can. being written wholly by himself.—"Times" Office, London, Eng.

KENNEDY, John, C.E., was b. at Spencerville, Ont., in 1838. He is the eld. son of the late Wm. Kennedy, sr., a native of Dumfriesshire, Scot., and founder of the engineering firm of Wm. Kennedy & Sons, Owen Sound, Ont., by his wife, Agnes Stark, a native of Quebec. Ed. at the Bytown (now Ottawa) Grammar Sch., by private tuition, and as a partial student at McGill Coll., Montreal, he commenced his professional life in 1853, under T. C. Keefer, C.M.G., C.E., and remained with him until 1862, assisting in the construction of the water-works of Montreal and Hamilton, as also in ry. and other works of a wide engineering practice. In 1863 he was made asst. City Surveyor (City Engr.) of Montreal, and soon afterwards was apptd. Deputy. In 1867 he resigned this appt. to become Mangr. of the Hull Iron Mining and Manufacturing Co.'s iron mines and new smelting works at Ironside, P.Q., which he soon made successful as regards the making of iron. In 1871 he became div. engr. on the construction of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce branch of the Great Western Ry. of Can., from which he rapidly rose to be Chief Engr. of the whole Great Western system. In the latter capacity he completed the Can. Air Line, built some minor branches and doubled the main line between Glencoe and Windsor, constructing the first double track line laid in the Dominion. In 1875 he resigned to become Chief Engr. of the Montreal Harbour Comn., which position he still fills. In this capacity he deepened the ship canal between Montreal and Quebec from 20ft. to 27½ft. and has designed and carried out all the improvements in the Montreal harbour during the last 20 yrs. Mr. K. was a mem. of the Royal Comn. apptd. in 1886 to enquire into the leasing of water-power on the Lachine Canal, a mem. of the Royal Comn. apptd. in the same year to enquire into the causes of floods at Montreal and to suggest remedies therefor, and a mem. of the Royal Comn. apptd. 1888 to report upon the advisability of completing the Trent Valley Canal system. He is often called upon to act as arbitrator or consulting engr. in reference to important questions relating to rys., water-ways, water-works, water-powers, etc., and to act as dir. in mining and industrial enterprises. He was admitted a mem. of the Am. Soc. of C. E., 1875, and of the Inst. of C. E.,

Eng., the same yr., and was recently elected a mem. of Council of the latter body, the first Can. to be so honoured. He was one of the founders of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1887, and its Presdt. in 1892. He is a mem. of the Bapt. Ch., and a helper in religious and social reform work. He m. 1853, Louisa C., dau. of S. B. Scott, Montreal. KERNIGHAN, Robert Kirkland, poet and journalist, is the s. of Andrew Kernighan, a native of Irel., by Jane Kirkland, a native of Quebec, and was b. at Rushdale Farm, near Hamilton, Ont., Apl. 25, 1857. He was ed. at a common sch., and is unm. When not 20 yrs. of age he joined the staff of the Hamilton Spectator as local ed., and later, during what is known as the "boom" year, he became ed. of the Winnipeg Sun. He is widely known as the author of many clever songs and of patriotic and humorous verse, written under the nom de plume of "The Khan." Chief among his poems are the "Men of the Northern Zone," which has been set to music; "Canada First"; the "Frontier Way"; "Ya-houk"; "The Wabagoon"; "All Night Long"; "Peepy," etc. These appeared originally in the World, Telegram and Globe, Toronto, and have since been included in a volume from his pen published in 1896 with the title: "The Khan's Canticles." It was the opinion of the late Sir John Macdonald that if Can. ever went to war our soldiers would march to battle singing the "Men of the Northern Zone." The wide popularity of some of "The Khan's" poems was attested by the late Mr. Blaine, Am. Secy. of State, who, in introducing him to a friend, did so in these terms: "This is the young Canuck who a hundred years hence will be known to fame as the author of 'When Daddy comes home with his wages!'" "The Khan" has likewise published "The Tattleton Papers" (1894). The origin of his nom de plume is given as follows: At a ball given by some French-Can. friends, he was introduced to a young lady who found it difficult to pronounce his name. She naively said she would break the name in two and pronounce one-half of it at a time, and so, for the rest of the evening, she called him "M'sieur Khan." A newspaper man, overhearing Mr. K. so addressed, readily accepted the name on his behalf, and, on the following day, attached it to one of his ballads in the Toronto World. It stuck. Mr. K. was born a farmer, and is fond of tree-planting. In politics, he is a Con., but he believes only in Can. He is inimical to no one but the annexationist. He believes that the day is not far distant when liberty, literature and virtue, civilization and religion, and the arts and sciences will find their only asylum among "the men of the Northern Zone." The only office he has ever filled is that of vestry clerk.—"Rushdale Farm," Rockton, Ont.

KERR, William, Q.C., is the s. of the late Francis Wm. Kerr, a native of Fermanagh, Irel., who settled in Ameliasburg, Prince Edward Co., Ont., by his wife, Olive Shelley, widow of Elias Wallbridge (U. E. L.). B. in Ameliasburg, 1836, he received his early education at Newtonville, under the Rev. Dr. Ormiston (Presb.), afterwards entering Victoria Univ., Cobourg (B.A., 1855; M.A., 1858; LL.D., 1887). His legal studies were carried on in the office of Smith & Armour, Cobourg, the last-named being now Chief-Justice of Ont. He was called to the bar, 1859, and has practised throughout in the town of Cobourg. For many yrs. he has enjoyed the largest legal business in Northumberland and Durham. Mr. K. became a mem. of the Town Council, 1862. In 1867 he was elected Mayor of Cobourg, and continued to hold that office up to 1873, being in each yr. re-elected by acclamation. A Lib. in politics, he has always been one of the leaders of his party in the Midland Dist. He was Presdt. of the West Northumberland Reform Assn. for a lengthened period, and represented the riding in the Ho. of Commons from g. e. 1874 to g. e. 1878, defeating the Hon. Jas. Cockburn, Speaker of the Ho. of Commons, by 231 majority. He was unseated, however, on petition, but was re-elected over the Hon. Sidney Smith, ex-Postmaster-Genl., by 155 majority. Mr. K. was an unsuccessful candidate for the same riding, 1878, 1882 and 1885, being defeated by narrow majorities owing to the influence of the N. P., and the opportune building of Govt. works in his constituency in 1882 and 1885. In 1887 and 1891 he was again offered the nomination, but declined. Previous to the g. e. 1896, the nomination was unanimously offered to him by the Lib. Convention of West Northumberland, but was again declined. His name is now mentioned in connection with a seat in the Senate. In 1876 Mr. K. was created a Q. C. by the Ont. Govt., and in 1896 he was elected a Bencher of the Law Soc. of Ont. He is a mem. of the Bd. of Regents and a Senator of Victoria Univ., and has held the office of Vice-Chancellor of that institution since 1885, when the office was first created. He founded the Punshon prize there for the best valedictory oration. A mem. of the Meth. Ch., he m. Myra, 3rd dau. of the late John Field, Cobourg, and sister of John C. Field, ex-M.P.P., and Corelli C. Field, M.P.P. Mr. K. has 7 children, 3 daughters and 4 sons. At present he is pastor at Galt, where he is chairman. He was elected Presdt. of the Hamilton Conf., 1895. Active and prominent as a temp. worker, he was among the first to espouse the Royal Templar cause. In this organization he has held the chief ex. offices in the Province and the Dom. Politically, Mr. K. is an Ind. Reformer, and an admirer of Mr. McCarthy; he believes that the welfare of the country would be promoted by the multiplication of free and ind. mems. of Mr. McCarthy's stamp. He. m. 1876, Sarah, dau. of the late Wm. Coyne, St. Thomas.—Galt, Ont.

KIERSTEAD, Rev. Elias Miles (Bapt.), educationist, is the s. of the late Rev. Elias Kierstead (Bapt.),

U. E. L. descent, by his wife, Margt. Ganong. B. at Collina, N.B., Feb. 11, 1850, he was ed. at the local schs., and at the Univ. of N. B. (B.A., 1873). He studied Divinity at Newton Theol. Inst., and was ordained to the ministry, 1876. After serving as pastor at Milton and at Windsor, N.S., he became Prof. of Eng. Lit. and Psychol. in Acadia Coll., Wolfville, 188–. He now holds the chair of Eng. Lit. and Moral Phil. there. He obtained the degree of M.A. in 1883, and that of D.D. in 1895, from Acadia Coll. For yrs. he was Secy., and in 1897 he was elected Presdt., of the Bapt. Convention of the Mar. Provinces. He m. KILBORN, Rev. Omar Leslie (Meth.), missionary, is the s. of the late Levi S. Kilborn, by his wife, Eliza. B. near Frankville, Ont., Nov. 20, 1867, he was ed. at Farmersville High Sch., and at Queen's Univ., Kingston (B.A., 1888; M.A., 1889). He likewise studied Med., at Queen's Univ. (M.D., and gold med. in Chemistry, 1889), and was tutor in Chemistry there during one session. He spent a year in Europe attending lectures and visiting hospitals, and was bronze med. in Ophthal. in Edinburgh Univ., 1890. After ordination he volunteered as a med. mission, to China, 1891, and was one of the 18 missions. who had such a narrow escape with their lives in the anti-foreign riots in the city of Chentu in May and June, 1895. Absolutely all property was looted or burned. After 10 days' confinement in the magistrate's official residence, the missionaries were escorted out of the city at midnight and started on a boat journey to Shanghai. They are now (1897) rebuilding in apparent safety what the mob of 1896 destroyed. Dr. K. is Ind. in politics, and a prohibitionist. He favours reciprocity with the U. S. as a first step towards Free Trade, the end to be kept in view being free trade with all the world. He m. 1st, Aug., 1891, Jennie, (B.A., Queen's Univ., 1890), dau. of Prof. Jas. Fowler, of Queen's Univ., Kingston (she d. in Chentu, July, 1892); and 2ndly, May, 1894, Dr. Retta Gifford, a graduate of the Women's Med. Coll., Toronto.—Chentu, Sz-Chuan, via Hankow, China.

KILLAM, Hon. Albert Clements, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late Geo. Killam, Yarmouth, N.S., by his wife, Caroline, dau. of the late Reuben Clements, and a grands. of the late Thos. Languages, and Prince of Wales prizeman, 1872), and was called to the Ont. bar, 1877. He practised at Windsor, Ont., until 1889, when he removed to Man., and was admitted to the bar of that Province. He was apptd. a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1884. A Lib. in politics, he represented South Winnipeg in that interest in the Man. Assembly, from g. e. 1883 until his elevation to the bench as a Puisne Judge of the Ct. of Queen's Bench, Man., Feb. 3, 1885. His Lordship's name has sometimes been mentioned in connection with a seat in the Supreme Ct. of Can. He m. 1877, Minnie, young. dau. of the late R. A. Whyte, Windsor.—Winnipeg.

KILROY, Rev. Edmund Burke (R. C.), was b. in Irel., Nov. 30, 1830, and when quite young accompanied his parents to Essex, Ont., where they settled on a farm. Ed. at the Univ. of Notre Dame, Ind. (A.M., 1853), he was ordained to the priesthood, 1854, and soon became one of the best known Cath. missions. ministering in northern Ind. and southern Mich. In 1856 he was apptd. Presdt. of the Univ. of St. Mary's of the Lake, Chicago, a position he relinquished 2 yrs. afterwards to become pastor of the Ch. at Laporte, Ind. Subsequently, he was called to preside over the most important parish in northern Ind., namely, the city of La Fayette. During the Am. civil war he served as special agent of the State to attend to the spiritual wants of the Ind. Cath. soldiers in the armies of the Cumberland and the Mississippi, and in this way brought consolation to numerous persons who otherwise would have died without it. Returning to Can., 1864, he has since ministered in the Diocese of London, officiating successively at Sarnia, St. Mary's, London (city) and since 1874, at Stratford, in all of which places are to be found chs. and institutions which owe their existence to his active efforts. While at Rome, in 1876, he received from the Coll. of the Propaganda, the degree of D.D. He is Grand Chaplain of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. —The Presbytery, Stratford, Ont.

KING, Lt.-Col. Charles, late Can. militia service, is the s. of a capt. of an East India merchantman, by his wife, Miss Morecroft, of Rock Ferry, near Liverpool, Eng., and was b. in Liverpool, 1819. Enlisting in the Royal Arty., 1837, he served in the army in various parts of the globe for over 26 yrs. While serving as Quartermaster-Sergt. at Gibraltar, 1857, he was presented with a silver medal and a gratuity by the Commander-in-Chief; and later, while in Quebec, he was rewarded by H. M. with another silver medal and an annuity for long and meritorious services. He received his discharge from the 7th Brig., N.A., at Montreal, Mch. 31, 1863, and enjoys a pension for life. Previously to his discharge he was selected to fulfil the duties of Town Major of Montreal. This was during the Trent affair, when a large garrison occupied the city. He was apptd. Brig.-Major of Mil. 6th Div. of L. C., with the rank of major, Nov. 28, 1862; was promoted lt.-col., Sept. 13, 1866; and apptd. Brig.-Major Dist. No. 5, Jan. 19. 1869. He retired from the mil. service, May 14, 1875. Lt.-Col. K. was one of the founders of the Col. Mutual Life Assn. Co., and was elected its first presdt., Feb., 1895. He m. early in life, Miss Elizabeth Harrington (she d. 1896). His dau. is m. to Sir J. A. Chapleau, Lt.-Gov. of Quebec.—Sherbrooke, P.Q.

KING, Edwin David, Q.C., is the s. of the late John King, a native of Dumfriesshire, Scot., who came to N.S. in early life, by his wife, Sarah Ann King. B. in Onslow, Colchester, N.S., Dec. 26, 1841, he was ed. at Acadia Univ. (B.A., 1863; M.A., 1866), and was called to the bar, 1867. He has since practised in Halifax, where he is head of the firm of King & Barss. He was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1884. Mr. K. is a mem. of the Bapt. Ch., and was elected Presdt. of the Bapt. Convention of the Mar. Provs. of Can., 1889. He is a gov. of Acadia Univ. and chairman of its comte. on investments, has been twice Presdt. of the Alumni Soc. of that institution, and has been also twice Presdt. of the Sunday Sch. Assn.

Politically, he is a Con. He m. Feb., 1869, Minnie S., dau. of John W. Barss. He was elected Presdt. of the Halifax Training Sch. for Sunday Sch. workers, 1892.—Halifax, N.S.

KING, Hon. George Edwin, judge and jurist, is the 2nd s. of the late Geo. King, shipbuilder, St. John, N.B. B. there Oct. 8, 1839, he was ed. at Mt. Allison Coll., Sackville, N.B., and at the Wesl. Univ., Conn., U.S. (B.A., 1859; M.A., 1862). He was called to the bar, 1865, and practised successfully at St. John. Entering politics, as a Lib.-Unionist, Mr. K. was returned to the N. B. Assembly in 1867, and remained a mem. of that body up to 1878, when he resigned and unsuccessfully contested St. John for the Ho. of Commons. He entered Mr. Wetmore's local Admn., without office, Mch. 2, 1869, and on Mr. W.'s elevation to the bench, June, 1870, succeeded him as Atty.-Genl., an office he continued to fill while he remained in public life. On Mr. Hatheway's death, 1872, he became leader of the Govt. He was apptd. a Q. C. by the Earl of Dufferin, 1873; a Puisne Judge of the Supreme Ct. of N. B., Dec. 9, 1880; a lecturer in the St. John Law Sch., 1892; and a Puisne Judge of the Supreme Ct. of Can. (succeeding the late Mr. Justice Patterson therein), Sept. 21, 1893. In 1896 he was chosen H. M.'s Commr.—under Art. 1 of the Convention of Feb. 8, 1896, between Gt. Brit. and the U.S.—for the submission to arbitration of Brit. claims in connection with the Behring Sea seal fishery. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from the Univ. of N. B., 1886, and that of D.C.L. from Mt. Allison Univ., 1893. Among the Acts introduced and passed during Mr. K.'s Admn. were the Controverted Election Act of 1869 (being the first Act passed in any of the Brit. colonies for the trial of election petitions by judges); the Free Schs. Act, 1871; the Abolition of Imprisonment for Debt Act; the Genl. Assessment Act, and the Municipality Act of 1877. The work of defending the N. B. Schs. Act in the Legislature, in the country, before the courts, and against aggressive action taken in the Parlt. of Can., fell largely upon him. Upon the appeal to the judicial comte. of the Privy Council of the case raised upon the constitutionality of the Act, Mr. K. was counsel for the respondents and visited Eng. in their interest. As Atty.-Genl., he personally conducted the trial for murder in the cases of the Queen v. Chasson, the Queen v. Rodgers, the Queen v. McNutt, the Queen v. O'Neil, the case against the Caraquet rioters, growing out of the Sch. Act in 1875, and the celebrated bigamy case of the Queen v. Wright. The securing of a verdict against the rioters from a jury chosen from a community that had been greatly influenced against the Sch. Act was regarded at the time as a great professional triumph. His Lordship is a mem. of the Meth. Ch. He m. Nov., 1866, Lydia, dau. of the late Aaron Eaton, St. John.—"Brunswick Place," Metcalfe St., Ottawa; Rideau Club.

KING, Hon. George Gerald, Senator, is the eld. s. of the late Malcolm King, Fintry, Scot., by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Hickson, Milltown, Irel. B. at Springfield, N.B., Dec. 11, 1836, he was ed. there and entered mercantile life. He is now head of the firm of G. G. & W. C. King, merchants and manftrs. He represented Queen's in the Ho. of Commons in the Lib. interest, 1878-87. At the g. e. in the latter year he was again a candidate for the constituency, and received a majority of the votes polled for the respective candidates, but was unjustly deprived of his seat by the R. C. He was again returned at the g. e. 1891, and sat till the close of the first session, when he was unseated on petition. At the g. e. 1896, he was returned for the new constituency of Queen's-Sunbury, but resigned almost immediately, in order to provide a seat for the Hon.

A. G. Blair, the new Mr. of Railways and Canals. Mr. K. has held the office of Warden of Queen's Co., and was elected Presdt. of the N. B. Lib. Assn., 1887, and again 1896. He was called to the Senate by the Earl of Aberdeen, Nov., 1896. In religion, he is a Baptist. He m. Oct., 1860, Esther, dau. of Ebenezer Briggs.—Chipman, N.B.

KING, John, Q.C., is the s. of John King, a native of Tyrie, Aberdeenshire, Scot., who served with distinction in Can. during the rebellion of 1837, and was subsequently an offr. in the Royal Horse Arty., by his wife, Christina, dau. of the late Alex. Macdougall, Toronto. On his mother's side he is of Highland Scotch parentage and descent. Ed. at the old Toronto Model Sch., and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1864; M.A., 1865), he distinguished himself as a student for his literary and rhetorical attainments; was a double first prizeman at Univ. Coll. as Eng. essayist and public speaker, and won the last Univ. prize awarded for the best thesis by a candidate for the degree of M.A. He was elected twice in succession Presdt. of the Univ. Coll. Lit. and Scient. Soc., and was Secy. of the Univ. Assn. He was one of the original projectors of a Univ. journal and review, his name appearing in the first prospectus issued as chairman of the comte. of Univ. men who had charge of the undertaking. The project was not then proceeded with, but was subsequently revived with success in the publication known as the 'Varsity, in the promotion of which, in the earlier yrs. of its existence, Mr. K. took an active interest. He was a mem. of the Univ. Rifle corps, which formed part of the Queen's Own Rifles, from its formation, 1861, till he graduated, and he subsequently volunteered and served at the front with his old comrades during the Fenian troubles of 1866. Upon taking his degree, he assumed ed. charge of the Berlin Telegraph, to which he had been previously contributing, and conducted it for about a year. Admitted as a student-at-law, he became articled to the present Mr. Justice Maclennan; passed as atty. and solr., 1868, and was called to the bar, 1869. He opened an office for a few months in Toronto, and was at the same time apptd. Depty. Law Clk. of the Leg. Assembly, and Private Secy. to the first Speaker of the Ho. He subsequently declined the law-clerkship of the Legislature, vacated by the late Miles O'Reilly, preferring the active practice of his profession which he commenced, 1869, at Berlin. He also had a branch office at Galt during a portion of that period. While in practice at Berlin, Mr. K. was Solicitor for the Consolidated Bank, and for its successor, the Can. Bank of Commerce. He was also Solicitor for the Co., and for a number of the local municipalities. As Crown Counsel, he has for many yrs. conducted criminal business at the assizes in different parts of the Province. Besides being engaged in the active practice of his profession, he has been a writer for the newspaper press, and is now one of the oldest mems. of the Can. Press Assn. As a mem. of that body, he has rendered the press of Can. valuable service by drafting and promoting, among other things, amendments of the law of libel, civil and criminal, which have been adopted by the Legislature and by the Dom. Parlt. An acknowledgment of these earnest and unselfish services was made by the Assn., Jan., 1895, when Mr. K. was presented with an address expressive of its obligations in the premises, accompanied by an oil portrait of himself. Mr. K. wrote for the Can. Monthly during its existence; has contributed prose and verse to the 'Varsity and the Week; has written for the Can. Law Times and Law Journal, and for other periodicals, and is also the author of several papers and treatises on the law of newspaper libel. The appearance of the late J. C. Dent's "Story of the Upper Canadian Rebellion," with its novel exposition of that period of our history, and its strictures on the character and career of Wm. Lyon Mackenzie and other political leaders of the time, called forth an able and effective critique by Mr. K., entitled "The Other Side of the Story." The book attracted wide attention, and was highly praised by the press of all parties. As a prominent and popular Univ. man, Mr. K. has rendered his Alma Mater special service in many ways. He was elected a mem. of the Univ. Senate by his fellow graduates, May, 1880, and has been re-elected ever since (once by acclamation) by the vote of the graduate body. He was apptd. a Q. C. by Sir Oliver Mowat, and received the same honour from the Earl of Derby, 1890. He removed to Toronto, June, 1893, on his appt. by the Benchers as a Lecturer to the Law Soc., and has since been actively engaged in the Law Sch. at Osgoode Hall, and in the practice of his profession. Upon leaving Berlin, he was made the recipient of a testimonial by his friends, and of a highly complimentary resolution by the Co. Council, expressive of the respect and regard in which he was held, personally and professionally, by the people of the Co. An adherent of the Presb. Ch., he m. Dec., 1872, Isabel Grace, young. dau. of the late Wm. Lyon Mackenzie, M.P., so distinguished in the early struggles for responsible govt. in this country. Mr. K. is a Lib. in politics, and an ex-presdt. of the North Waterloo Lib. Assn. He is a mem. of St. Andrew's (Presb.) Ch., and has always taken a zealous interest in ch. matters.—147 Beverley St. Toronto, Ont.

(B.A., and silver med. in Classics and Mod. Languages, 1869; M.A., 1871; LL.B., 1873), he was called to the bar, 1873. He has practised throughout in Toronto, of which city he was apptd. Deputy Police Magte., June, 1894. He is also a Law Sch. Examr. since Sept., 1896. Mr. K. is a V.-P. of the Old Boys' Assn. U. C. Coll., and contributed to the memorial volume respecting that institution, 1893. In addition to an historical monograph on the "Campaign of 1815" (1887), in which the drama of Waterloo is described in a prologue and four acts, he has published: "A Manual of Evidence in Civil Cases" (2nd ed., 1897), "A Manual of the Law of Landlord and Tenant for use in the Province of Ont." (1896); and "Commentaries on the Law of Ontario; being Blackstone's Commentaries on the Laws of England adapted to the Province of Ontario" (do.), which last work has been favourably noticed in the Eng. press. While attending Toronto Univ., he was a mem. of the Univ. Rifle corps, and was present at the engagement at Ridgeway, 1866, where he was wounded. In religion, Mr. K. belongs to the Ch. of Eng.; politically, he is independent.—34 Murray St., Toronto; Toronto Club.

KINGSFORD, William, C.E., historian, was b. in the parish of St. Lawrence, London, Eng., Dec., 1819. Ed. there, he spent some yrs. in the army, coming to Can. with the 1st Dragoon Gds. On leaving that regt., 1841, he obtained professional employment in the City Surveyor's office, Montreal, and was, subsequently, for 3 yrs., Depty. City Surveyor. He resigned his position to join the late Murdo McIver on the Montreal Times, being with that gentleman part prop. and joint ed. of the paper. After 2 yrs. the Times was discontinued, and Mr. K. returned to his profession. He was apptd. to the engineering staff of the Dept. of Public Works, remaining there for 2 yrs., during which time he completed an important survey in connection with the Lachine Canal, determining the boundaries of the Crown property on that line of communication. Proceeding to the U. S., 1849, he was engaged there on the construction of the Hudson River Ry. Later, he went to Panama, where he became principal asst. to John C. Campbell in placing on the ground the line of the Panama Ry., from San Pablo on the Chagres to within a mile of Panama. On his return to Can., he was apptd. by the Comnr. of Public Works on the location surveys of the Grand Trunk Ry. He surveyed the line from Montreal to Cornwall, and also examined a back line from Brockville to the Rideau navigation. Subsequently, he surveyed and located for construction a line on the south shore of the Ottawa from Vaudreuil to Montreal, now, after the lapse of 42 yrs., under construction by the Can. Pac. Ry. Resigning his position on the Grand Trunk, he accepted the Chief Engineership of the City of Toronto, which, however, he held only for a few months, being then called back to serve under his old chief and friend, the late A. M. Ross, Engr.-in-Chief of the Grand Trunk Ry. The line across the St. Lawrence at Montreal, on which the Victoria Bridge was constructed, was laid down by Mr. K., and he was the first Supt. of the Grand Trunk east of Toronto. In the succeeding 4 yrs. he was in charge as contractor of the maintenance of the line from Toronto to Stratford. In 1860 he returned to Eng. Subsequently, he was employed in Italy in the examination of several works in the interests of capitalists. He also reported to Mr. Brassey on the condition of the Sardinian Rys. Recalled to Can., 1866, he again entered the public service, his first work being an examination of the waters of the Rideau navigation. Afterwards, for some yrs. up to 1880, he was engr. in charge of harbours in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. He was then employed on the Can. Pac. Ry. When his work on this road had terminated, Mr. K., whose tastes had always been literary, and who had contributed much to periodical literature in the past, resolved to undertake the preparation of a history of Can. from the earliest times of settlement to the union of Upper and Lower Can., 1841. The first vol. of this work appeared, 1887, since when a new vol. has appeared every yr. up to 1895, 8 volumes in all. Two vols. remain to complete the work, and these will be given to the public before the close of 1897. His other contributions to literature in book form include: "History, Structure and Statistics of Plank Roads in the U. S. and Can" (1852); "Impressions of the West and South" (1858); "The Can. Canals: Their History and Cost, etc." (1865); "A Can. Political Coin: a Monograph" (1874); "Can. Archæology: an Essay" (1886); "The Early Bibliography of Ont." (1892); "Some Considerations on the Advantages we may hope to Derive from Education" (do. 1896). If his History of Can. has not brought wealth and competence to the author, it has at least established his reputation as a writer of skill and talent. It has also gained for him academic distinction, Queen's Univ. and Dalhousie Univ. having bestowed upon him the hon. degree of LL.D. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can. He became a mem. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1887. Dr. K. is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He m. Mch., 1848, Maria Margt., eld. dau. of the late W. B. Lindsay, then Clk. of the Leg. KIRBY, William, poet and novelist, is the representative of the old Yorkshire family of Kirby, of Kirby Wiske, a branch of which were Virginia Loyalists who returned to Eng. at the Am. revolution; maternally, he is descended from the Watsons, of Kingston-upon-Hull, Eng., at which place he was b., Oct. 13, 1817. Coming to Can. with his parents, 1832, he received a portion of his education in Cincinnati, Ohio, under Alex. Kinmont, a distinguished Scottish scholar. After a brief residence in Montreal, he removed to Niagara, 1839, where, for 20 yrs., he subsequently edited and published the Mail newspaper. Apptd. Collr. of Customs at that place, July 1, 1871, he retained that position up to his retirement from the public service, 1895. Politically, he is a Con. and an Imp. Federationist; in religious faith, an Ang. He m. the only dau. of John Whitmore, Niagara, and grand-dau. of Capt. Danl. Servos, loyalist. Mr. K.'s first published work was "The U. E." (1859), an epic poem in Spenserian stanzas, which is valuable as a series of pictures of loyalist personages and times. He published subsequently, "The Golden Dog, a Legend of Quebec" (N. Y. and Mont., 1877, new ed. 1896), which has been translated into French by L. P. LeMay, and by L. H. Frechette; "Memoirs of the Servos Family" (1884); "Canadian Idyls" (2nd ed., 1894); "Pontiac" (1887); "Annals of Niagara" (1896), and a large number of miscellaneous pieces. His chief work is, undoubtedly, the novel, "Le Chien d'Or," whose history is described by W. D. Lighthall, in an appreciative paper on the author, which was read before the Soc. of Can. Lit., Montreal, 1889. On the publication of this volume, Lord Tennyson wrote the author, saying that few novels had given him more pleasure than it, and that he would like to write a poem on the subject. Mr. K. was one of those selected by the Marquis of Lorne to form the original 20 mems. of the Eng. section of the Royal Soc. of Can. He was for some yrs. KLOTZ, Otto Julius, C.E., Dom. public service, is the s. of the late

Otto Klotz, a native of Kiel, Holstein, by his wife, Elisé Wilhelm, of Breitenbach, Hesse Cassel, Germany. B. at Preston, Ont., Mch. 31, 1852, he was ed. at the Galt Grammar Sch. and at Toronto Univ. He matriculated at the latter in Med. and Engineering, obtaining the med. scholarship of $120. Subsequently, he completed his studies in the latter branch at the Univ. of Michigan, and obtained the degree of C.E., 1872, being the youngest graduate in his class. After spending some time in exploring the north shore of Lake Superior, he commenced private practice in Guelph and Preston. Entering the service of the Dom. Govt., he has been connected with the Topograph. Surveys branch of the Dept. of the Interior at Ottawa for over 20 yrs. He is an Ont. land surveyor, a Dom. topograph. surveyor, and was the first Presdt. of the Assn. of Dom. Land Surveyors, holding the office for 4 consecutive yrs. In 1896 he was elected Presdt. of the Ottawa Lit. and Scientific Assn. and Presdt. of the Toronto Univ. Club. Besides extended surveys over the prairies of the N.-W., he undertook an exploration, 1884, along the Saskatchewan and Nelson rivers to Hudson Bay, making a canoe trip of about 2000 miles, and he is stated to have been the first man (white or Indian), to descend the whole length of the Nelson River during the present century. On this journey he encountered various relics of Sir John Franklin, and made magnetic observations at points which had been occupied by that ill-fated explorer. In the following winter he published a magnetic chart in connection with a discussion of the position of the magnetic pole. In 1885 he began the transcontinental longitude determinations, observing first at the base station at Seattle, Washington. Geographic points of reference have now been established in B. C., the N.-W. and Man., and the work has been carried eastward as far as Port Arthur. In 1886, besides his astronomic work in B.C., he made an accurate survey of the C. P. Ry. through the Rocky Mts. and the Selkirks as a basis for the delimitation of the 40 mile ry. belt granted by B.C. to the Dom. The first determination of the heights of the principal mountain peaks along the ry. was also made by him. In 1889 he was sent on an important mission to Alaska. In 1892 he was associated with the trans-Atlantic longitude work, in 1893-94 he was again in Alaska on the boundary survey; and at present is engaged in astronomic work in connection with the internl. boundary through the lakes. Mr. K. has contributed to various journals, literary and scientific, and is the author of several important papers dealing with terrestrial magnet., geodesy and astron. He is a Fellow of the Am. LAMPMAN, Archibald, poet, is the s. of the late Rev. Archd. Lampman (Ch. of Eng.), and was b. at Morpeth, Co. Kent, Ont., Nov. 17, 1861. His forefathers were U. E. Loyalists of German extraction on both sides. Ed. at Trinity Coll. Sch., Port Hope, Ont., and at Trinity Univ., Toronto, where he was Wellington Sch., and graduated B. A., with honours, 1882, he turned his attention for a short season to teaching. This occupation proving uncongenial, he entered the Can. civil service, Jan., 1883, and has since been a clk. in the P. O. Dept., Ottawa. He began to write verse when at Coll., but it was not till 1887 that his work began to appear in Scribner's, Harper's and the Century, three mags. which have since received some of the choicest of his efforts. In 1888 he published a volume: "Among the Millet, and other Poems," and in 1896, a second one: "Lyrics on Earth." Mr. Howells ranks Lampman with the strongest of Am. singers, while the highest praise has been bestowed on him by the N. Y. Independent, the London Saturday Rev., the London Spectator, and the London Acad., the latter pronouncing his verse as "sensuous in sentiment, rich in colour and delicate in harmony." For 2 or 3 yrs. Mr. L., in conjunction with D. C. Scott and W. W. Campbell, conducted a column entitled: "At the Mermaid Inn," in the Toronto Globe. He was elected a F.R.S., Can., 1895. LANCEFIELD, Richard Thomas, author and librarian, is the s. of the late Chas. Jas. Lancefield, contractor, London, Eng., and was b. in that city, Aug. 10, 1854. Accompanying his family to Can., 1859, he was ed. at the Hamilton public schs. He has been connected with the book trade for the last 28 yrs., and has been Librarian and Secy. of the Hamilton Public Library since 1888. He also fills the office of hon. Sec. of the Can. Copyright Assn., and took a leading part in the Copyright agitation of 1888, which resulted in the passing of the Copyright Act, 1889. Since then he has continued to take a great interest in the efforts made to secure the recognition of the Act by the Imp. Govt., and has written not infrequently on the subject. He was the founder and for 5 yrs. has been the ed. of the Can. Bookseller and Literary Journal. In addition he has published: "Why I joined the New Crusade: a Plea for the Placing of Taxes on Land Values only," a lecture; "Utopias," do.; "Ideals and Idealism," do.; "One Man's Life-work," do.; "Patriotism," an address; "Notes on Copyright, Domestic and Internl. (1897), and "Victoria, Sixty Years a Queen: a sketch of Her Life and Times" (do.). He is a mem. of the Am. Library Assn., and of the Am. Acad. of Political and Social Science. Mr. L. upholds the "N. P." He is likewise an Imp. Federationist, but with a firm belief in the rights of Can. as a self-governing colony. He m. 1878, Christina, dau. of Saml. LANCELEY, Rev. John Ellis (Meth.), was b. at Birkenhead, Eng., Jan. 10, 1848. Coming to Can. in early life, he was ed. at the public schs. and at Victoria Coll., Cobourg. He entered the ministry, 1870, and was ordained 4 yrs. later. Since then he has been stationed at Guelph, Niagara Falls, London, St. Thomas, Dunnville, Burlington, Thorold, Toronto, Barrie and at Brampton, where he now is. He was sent to the Genl. Conf., 1886-1894, has filled various positions of honour and utility in the ch., and is now Chairman of the Dist. in which he resides. Mr. L. is a popular preacher in the best acceptation of the term, and is also known on the lecture platform in all the cities and towns of Can., as well as in the leading cities of the U. S.—Brampton, Ont.

LANDERKIN, George, M.D., legislator, is the s. of the late Jas. Landerkin, a native of N. S., who settled on the old homestead in West Gwillimbury, Ont., which still belongs to the family, 1824. B. there, 1839, he was ed. at the local schs., and for 17 yrs. worked on the farm. He pursued his med. studies at Victoria Univ., Cobourg (M.D., 1862), obaining a Provl. license, 1863, since when he has followed the practice of his profession at Hanover and in the surrounding dist. Always a Reformer, he was returned in that interest to the Ho. of Commons for South Grey, g. e. 1872, and assisted in securing the downfall of the Macdonald Govt., 1873. He supported Mr. Mackenzie throughout his Admn., but met with defeat, g. e. 1878. Returned again, g. e. 1882, he sat in opposition under Messrs. Blake and Laurier up to 1896, and was a frequent participant in the important debates of the period. He is known as the "Wit of the House," and it has been said of him that "a whole book might be written of his personal peculiarities and of his signal services to his party. When in opposition he seemed at once to apprehend the ridiculous in the position of the Govt., and his satirical treatment gave keener emphasis to the weakness displayed than would have been obtained by other means." Dr. L. continues the representative of South Grey in the popular chamber at Ottawa, and is now Chairman of the Comte. on Standing Orders. He became Presdt. of the Can. Mutual Mining and Developing Co., 1897. His motto will always be : "Can. first, last and all the time." He is a mem. of the Meth. Ch., and m. 1870, Mary, dau. of Joseph Kirkendall, Elora, Ont. —Hanover, Ont.

LANDRY, Hon. Auguste Charles Philippe Robert, Senator, is the s. of the late Dr. J. E. Landry, an eminent physician of Quebec, by his wife, Caroline E. Lelièvre. B. in Quebec, Jan. 15, 1846, he was ed. at the Semy. and at Laval Univ. there (B.A., 1866). He subsequently studied Agricul. Science at the Coll. of Ste. Anne, and devoted himself to farming. When quite a youth, he won the gold medal offered by the Council of Agricul. for the best treatise on agricul., in theory and practice. Later, he became a mem. of the Council, Secy. of the Colonization Soc., Presdt. of the Montmagny Agricul. Soc., and V.-P. of the Union Agricole Nationale of the Province. He was elected Presdt. of the Quebec Exhn. Co., 1894, and Presdt. of the Council of Agricul., vice Joly, 1896. Mr. L. served for many yrs. in the V. M., and was promoted Lt.-Col., commanding the 61st Montmagny and L'Islet Batt., Jan. 9, 1885. He holds a 1st class V. B. cert., has been decorated by the Pope with the Order of St. Gregory, and is an hon. A.D.C. to H.E. the Earl of Aberdeen. Politically, a Con., he has held the Presidency of the Con. Assn. of Quebec. He sat for Montmagny in the Quebec Assembly, from g. e. 1875 until Nov., 1876, when he was unseated and disqualified. At the g. e. 1878, he was returned for the same constituency to the Ho. of Commons, of which he continued a mem. up to the g. e. 1887, when he was defeated. He was called to the Senate by the Earl of Derby, Feb. 23, 1892. In religious faith, a R. C., he m. LANDRY, Hon. Pierre Armand, judge and jurist, is the s. of Armand Landry, who sat formerly in the N. B. Assembly, by his wife, Pelagi Casey. The family came to Acadia with Charnisay 250 yrs. ago, and the name is to be found in the first census, 1670. In 1717 the families of Latour and Landry became united by marriage. B. in Dorchester, N.B., May 1, 1846, he was ed. at St. Joseph's Coll., Memramcook, and was called to the bar, 1870. Four yrs. later he ran unsuccessfully for the Legislature, but was returned, g. e. 1878. He continued to represent his constituency, Westmoreland, in the Assembly up to Aug., 1883, when he was elected to the Ho. of Commons. He was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lorne, 1881, and became a Co. Ct. Judge, Apl. 15, 1890. From this position he was promoted to a Puisne Judgeship of the Supreme Ct., N. B., Sept. 21, 1893. Judge L., when in politics, was a Con. He was a mem. of both the Fraser and the Hannington local cabinets, being Comnr. of Public Works in the former and Provl. Secy. in the latter. He presided at the Acadian French Convention, at Memramcook, July, 1881. He is a mem. of the Law Faculty of the Univ. of Ottawa; and resigned as R. O. for Kent, 1894. He enjoys the distinction of being the first R. C. who has ever sat in the Supreme Ct. of N. B., and of being the first French-Acadian to have secured admission to the bar of N. B.—Dorchester, N.B.

LANDRY, Valentine Augustus, journalist, is the s. of the late Joseph A. Landry, merchant, and was b. in Inkerman, Co. Gloucester, N.B., Feb. 14, 1846. Ed. at the Westmoreland Co. Grammar Sch., at St. Joseph's Coll., Memramcook, and at Dalhousie Coll. Univ., Halifax, he obtained a 1st class cert. at the Provl. Normal Sch., Truro, and was the first French-Acadian to receive that honour. Later, he was made a Sch. Inspr. for the Province of N. B., the first apptd. from his nationality. Mr. L. ran a successful career as a sch. teacher, and was entrusted for a time with a dept. in the Fredericton Normal Sch. Entering journalism, he established 2 journals in the interest of the French race in the Maritime Provinces, viz.: Le Courrier des Provinces Maritimes, now published at Bathurst, N.B., and L'Evangeline. More recently, he founded the Weymouth Free Press, of which he is ed. and prop. Mr. L. is a mem. of the R. C. Ch.; politically, he is a Lib. He m. Oct., 1870, Mary Lavinia, dau. of the late M. LANG, Alexander, bank manager, is the s. of the late Rev. Gavin Lang (Presb.), and was b. at the Manse, Glasford, Lanarkshire, Scot., Sept. 22, 1848. He comes of a family which numbers not only prominent clergymen, but also well-known business men. His eld. bro., David Marshall Lang, was for many yrs. mangr. of the Bank of Brit. Columbia at Victoria, V.I., and one of the most popular men who ever held a public position in that part of the Dom. Another older bro. is R. Hamilton Lang, C.M.G., of the Daïra-Sanieh, Cairo, controller of the lands in Egypt held by the Brit. Govt. in security for money lent to the Khedive, and previously mangr. of the Imp. Ottoman Bank at, successively, Cyprus, Alexandria, Bucharest and Constantinople. Alex. L. was in early life connected with the firm of Galbraith, Dalziel & Co., Glasgow and Rangoon, at which latter city he remained until 1871, when he returned home invalided. After recruiting his health in Scot., he took a voyage to Can. on a visit to his bro., Rev. Gavin Lang (q.v.), Montreal. While there, he accepted a post in the Bank of Montreal. Not long afterwards he became the representative of the bank at Chicago, going from there a few yrs. subsequently, to be joint agent with Walter Watson at N. Y. In 1892 he became one of the mangrs. at the head office, Montreal. In the same year the importance of the London (Eng.) agency was greatly increased by the Can. Govt. establishing a new and closer financial connection with the Bank of Montreal; and in the altered circumstances, a rearrangement of the staff at that metropolitan agency was desirable. It was felt that the strongest available administrator should be sent there, and this was done by the selection of Mr. L.

for the position. He m., some yrs. ago, Miss Mary Dyckman, a niece of the late Sir D. L. Macpherson. Mr. L. is a Fellow of the Imp. Inst., and a gov. of the Scottish Corporation, London.—22 Abchurch Lane, E.C., London, Eng.; City Carlton Club; St. James's Club.

LANG, Rev. Gavin (Ch. of Scot.), bro. of the preceding, was b. at the Manse of Glasford, Lanarkshire, Scot., July 21, 1835. Ed. at the Univ. of Glasgow (M.A., 18—), he pursued his theol. studies at the same institution, and was licensed to preach, 1864. After being asst. for some mths. to the Rev. Dr. Duff, of Sandyford parish, Glasgow, he was ordained min. of the parish of Fyvie, Aberdeenshire, Apl., 1865, and, on the death of his father 5 yrs. later, was translated to the parish of Glasford as his successor therein. In 1870, on the death of the Rev. Alex. Mathieson, D.D., he was offered and accepted the pastorate of St. Andrew's Ch., Montreal, where for more than 40 yrs. Dr. M. had ministered. St. Andrew's is one of the oldest Prot. chs. in Can., and has always held its connection with the Ch. of Scot. It is also among the wealthiest and most influential chs. in the Dom. Over this parish he presided for 12 yrs. From its formation, he was hon. Secy. of the Dom. Evangel. Alliance. Although an ardent Scottish churchman, Mr. L. was so eminently catholic as to take part in what concerns the Christian life and work of all chs. in Montreal. He was acknowledged by all to be the chief promoter and moving spirit of the first and only Evangel. Alliance Conf. in Can., that held Oct., 1874. On Mch. 22, 1882, Mr. L. was offered, by cable, the presentation to one of the coll. charges of the united parish of Inverness and Bona, Scot. That parish, which covers a territory of 16 miles long, and includes the town of Inverness, has 3 such charges, while there are only 1 kirk session and 1 communion roll. The living of 2 of these is derived solely from the tithes or teinds, Mr. L.'s charge being 1 of the 2, and more valuable than either of the other two. It is one of the prizes of the Ch. of Scot. Notwithstanding, it was with considerable sacrifice, as well as hesitation, that, to the great sorrow of his attached flock in Montreal, he felt it his duty to accept the wholly unsolicited offer. Before leaving Can., a public breakfast was given to him and Mrs. L. in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal. The Mayor, Dr. (now Sir Wm.) Hingston, the Ang. Bp. (Dr. Bond), Hon. Jas. Ferrier, a very large proportion of the clergy of the different chs., and hundreds of other prominent citizens of all creeds joined in paying this compliment to him. His Grace, the late Archbp. Fabre, Rev. E. Wood, and many more, sent, privately, parting gifts. The cong. of St. Andrew's Ch. held a reception, presided over by Sir Hugh Allan, at which Mr. L. was presented with a "sheaf" of addresses from the East End Mission and the various societies connected with the ch., as also a beautiful antique silver casket containing $2600 in gold. An influential deputation from St. Patrick's Soc. (R. C.) waited upon him and conveyed from that body a handsomely framed address, couched in the most cordial and appropriate terms. H. E. the Marquis of Lorne, K.T., then Gov.-Genl. of Can., personally, in an interview, expressed his desire for Mr. L.'s happiness and success in Inverness. So, loaded with loving tokens and good wishes appreciative of his 12 years' life and labour in Can., Mr. Lang was, on June 27, 1882, inducted into his new parish of Inverness. The occasion was signalized socially by a public dinner, attended by the Provost and Magistrates of Inverness, the presby. and parishioners generally. Mr. L. has now been upwards of 13 yrs. at Inverness, and during all that time in the forefront of every good work, philanthropic and educational, as well as ecclesiastical. He is a mem. of both Burg and Landward Sch. Bds.; on the Council of the Northern Counties' Coll. Sch.; Chairman of the Science and Arts Comte.; Chaplain of the Highland Volunteer Arty. Brigade; and, only lately, was returned at the head of the poll in his ward for the recently created parish council. It must be pleasing to Mr. L.'s numerous friends in the Dom., that with all these parochial duties to discharge, he has found time to advocate, all over the North of Scot. and elsewhere, the claims of Can., and especially the great N.-W., as a desirable field for emigration. He has twice visited Can. since leaving it—in 1884, as a mem. of the Brit. Assn., and in 1892, as one of the Ch. of Scot. delegates to the 5th Genl. Council of the Alliance of the Reformed Chs., held in Toronto. He m. June 13, 1865, Frances Mary, dau. of Jas. LANG, Major John Irvine, R.E., is the s. of Wm. Lang, of "Willowdale," St. Mary's, Ont., and was b. there, Sept. 17, 1859. Ed. at the R. M. Coll., Kingston, Ont., where he graduated with honours, he was commissioned lieut. in the R. E., June 26, 1883; promoted capt., Oct. 1, 1891, and bt.-maj., Nov., 1896. He served as A.D.C. to Genl. Sir Andrew Clarke, Insp.-Genl. of Fortifications, 1885-86; designed the proposed defensive works at Esquimalt, B.C., 1887; was Secy. of the Can. Comn. of Defence, 1888, and conducted a detailed survey at Victoria, B.C., same year. Apptd. Brit. Comnr. for the delimitation of the frontier with France on the west of the Gold Coast, West Africa, 1891-92; he was in charge of a ry. survey on the Gold Coast, 1893-94, and at same time was employed on the staff of Col. Sir F. C. Scott, C.B., as commanding engr., and second in command in the expedition to Attabulu. Since Oct., 1894, he has been an Instr. at the Sch. of Mil. Engineering at Chatham, Eng. LANGELIER, Hon. Charles, barrister and legislator, is the s. of the late Capt. Louis Sébastien Langelier, by his wife, Julie Esther Casault. B. at Ste. Rosalie, P.Q., Aug. 23, 1851, he was ed. at the Quebec Semy., studied law at Laval Univ., where he graduated LL.L., taking the Dufferin gold medal, 1875, and was called to the bar the same year. He joined the law firm of Montambault, Langelier & Langelier, and has since practised as a mem. thereof. A Lib. in politics, he sat in that interest in the local Legislature for Montmorency, 1878-81, after having defeated Hon. A. R. Angers, and for the same constituency in the Ho. of Commons, 1886-90. He resigned his seat there in 1890 to run for the local Legislature in Montmorency, and was elected. He entered the Mercier Admn. as Presdt. of the Ex. Council, June 30, 1890, becoming Provl. Secy. Aug. 23 following. He retired from office with Mr. Mercier and his colleagues after the Angers coup d'état, Dec., 1892. He ran again for Montmorency, and was defeated by Hon. T. C. Casgrain; he was also defeated by the same gentleman at the last Dom. g. e. by a majority of 40. He is a mem. of the Council of the Quebec Bar, one of the official eds. of the Quebec judiciary reports, and a dir. of L'Inst. Can. of Quebec. For the past 20 yrs. Mr. L. has taken a prominent part in all the political campaigns of the Lib. party, not only in his own province, but also in Ont. and N. S. LANGELIER, Hon. François Charles Stanislas, Q.C., statesman, bro. of the preceding, was b. at Ste. Rosalie, P.Q., Dec. 24, 1838. Ed. at St. Hyacinthe Coll. and at Laval Univ. (B.A., 1858), he likewise followed the law course at the last-named institution (B.C.L., 1860; LL.L. avec grande distinction, 1861; LL.D., 1878), and was called to the bar, 1861. Leaving Can. for Paris, he remained there till 1863, qualifying himself for a chair in the Law Faculty of Laval Univ. On his return he was apptd. Prof. of Roman Law, and became afterwards Prof. of Civil Law and Pol. Economy in that institution. He is now Dean of the Faculty of Law and a mem. of the Council of the Univ. He has throughout practised his profession in the city of Quebec, and holds an eminent position at the Provl. bar. He was created a Q. C. by the Govt. of Quebec, 1878, and received a similar distinction from the Marquis of Lorne, 1880. In 1887 he was elected Bâtonnier of the Dist. Bar, and later was Bâtonnier-Genl. of the Province. In 1897 he was elected V.-P. of the Can. Bar. Assn. Mr. L. has held many other distinguished positions. He was secy. of the first colonization soc. established in Can.; has been Presdt. of the Inst. Canadien; was Mayor of Quebec, 1882-90; was apptd. a mem. of the Council of Arts and Manfrs. (of which he afterwards became Presdt.), 1887. He is now Chairman of the Comte. of Privileges and Elections, Ho. of Commons. Among other brochures and works, he has published "Lettres sur les Affaires Municipales" (1868) and "De la Preuve en Matiere Civile et Commerciale" (1894). A Lib. in politics, he entered public life, 1871, being then an unsuccessful candidate for Bagot in the Legislature. In Dec., 1873, he was returned for Montmagny. Defeated in 1875, he was elected for Portneuf at the g. e. 1878, and held the seat until 1881. In July, 1884, he carried Megantic for the Ho. of Commons, and since g. e. 1887, he has sat for Quebec Centre in the same chamber. His majority at the g. e. 1896 over the Hon. A. R. Angers was 319. LANGEVIN, The Most Rev. Louis Philippe Adelard, Archbishop of St. Boniface (R. C.), is the s. of François T. Langevin, N.P., by his wife, Mary Paméla Racicot, and was b. at St. Isidore, P.Q., Aug. 23, 1855. Ed. at the Sulpician Coll., Montreal, where he was afterwards Prof. of Classics, he studied Theol. at the Grand Semy., and was for a time Private Secy. to the late Archbishop Fabre. While at the Semy. he was ordained deacon. He then went to St. Mary's (Jesuit) Coll., where he was Master of Studies. In 1881 he entered the Order of Oblats, and was ordained priest in the following year. For 3 yrs. thereafter he served as a mission. in connection with the Oblat Ch. of St. Pierre, Montreal. Apptd. to the chair of Theol. in the Univ. of Ottawa, he proceeded to that city, 1885, and for 8 yrs. discharged the duties assigned to him, being also dir. of the Grand Semy. and sub-dean of the faculty of Theol. Invited to Man. by the late Archbp. Taché, he there became Supdt. of all the Oblat missions of the N.-W. In 1894 he was apptd. to the pastorate of St. Mary's Ch., Winnipeg, and in Jan., 1895, was elected to succeed Mgr. Taché as 2nd Archbp. of St. Boniface, his consecration taking place on Mch. 19 following. The events in his subsequent career in connection with the Man. Sch. question form a portion of Can. history. LANGLOIS, Godfroy E., journalist, was b. at Ste. Scholastique, P.Q., 1867, and is the s. of Joseph Langlois, merchant, by his wife, Olympe Clément. Ed. at Ste. Thérèse and at St. Laurent Coll. (gold medal in Rhetoric), he studied law with the late Hon. R. Laflamme, Q.C., but, in 1890, abandoned that profession for journalism. He became one of the eds. of the short-lived Le Clairon, and was afterwards city ed. of La Patrie, and asst. ed. of Le Monde. He also edited at Ste. Scholastique, conjointly with J. D. Leduc, l'Echo des Deux Montagnes, an advanced Lib. organ, which was interdicted by the late Archbp. Fabre, Dec., 1892. The name of this paper was then changed to La Liberté, and Mr. L. became its editor-in-chief, fighting strenuously against tithes, exemption of taxes, clerical scandals and clerical absolutism. In 1885 he returned to La Patrie, and in 1897, received the unanimous nomination of the Lib. Convention in Deux Montagnes for the Provl. Assembly, but declined. He is the author of "La Republique de 1848" (1897). He has been V.-P. of the Club National, Montreal. In religious belief, he is a R. C. Unm. —Montreal.

LANGTRY, Rev. John (Ch. of Eng.), of Irish descent, is the s. of the late Wm. Langtry, of Deerfield Farm, Trafalgar, and was b. near Burlington (Tp. Nelson). Ed. at the Palermo Grammar Sch., and by private tuition, he entered Trinity Coll., Toronto, on the day it was opened (B.A., 1854; M.A., 1857; D.C.L., 1892), and was the 1st graduate of that institution who was admitted to Holy Orders. Ordained deacon, 1855, and priest, 1856, by the Bp. (Strachan) of Toronto, he went on the travelling mission of West Simcoe and East Grey. After 3 yrs., he was named Incumbent of Collingwood, where he remained for 10 yrs. Later, he accepted the curacy of St. Paul's, Yorkville, and, while holding that position, succeeded in securing the establishment of the Bishop Strachan Sch., Toronto, which was the first institution for the education of young ladies founded in connection with the Ch. of Eng., in the Province of Ont. Later, he was also instrumental in having established the Toronto Ch. Sch. for Boys. He likewise formed the parish of St. Luke's, Toronto, of which he assumed the charge, and it was through his planning and action that All Saints' Ch., in that city, was erected. He is the author of 10 lectures: "Catholic vs. Roman," and of various other additions to controversial lit., as well as of a "History of the Ch. in Eastern Can. and Newfoundland." One of the founders of the Ch. of Eng. Lit. and Publishing Co., 1894, he has been chief ed. of the Church Evangelist since its establishment. Dr. L. was the 1st clergyman to employ lay agency in extending mission work, carrying on no less than 6 services every Sunday outside his own parish. He devised a scheme, which has been adopted in part in some Can. cities, looking to the transfer of a number of deserving mechanics and labourers to waste suburban lands and the establishing of each worker on a plot of 5 acres or less, thus affording productive employment during idle times, and a means of augmenting earnings when employed. He has stood for many yrs. at the head of the Ex. Comte. of his own diocese, and of the delegation to the Provl. Synod, and in 1886, and again, 1889, was elected Prolocutor of the Lower House. He has also stood at the head of the delegation from Toronto to the Genl. Synod, and has taken a leading part in the formation of that body. LAURIE, Lt.-Genl. John Wimburn, soldier and legislator, is the eld. s. of the late John Laurie, D.L., and M.P. for Barnstaple in the Brit. Ho. of Commons, by his wife, Eliza Helen, dau. of Kenrick Collet, of Holscrofts, Fulham, and was b. in London, Oct. 1, 1835. Ed. at Harrow, at Dresden, and at the Royal Mil. Coll., Sandhurst, he entered the army, 1853. He served in the Eastern campaign from Nov., 1854, to the evacuation of the Crimea, taking part in various engagements, being mentioned in despatches, and receiving the war medal with clasp, the Turkish medal and the Medjedie, for his services. Later, he served in India during the Mutiny in pursuit of Tantia Topee, and was staff offr. of a field force in the Rewah Kantee dist., 1860 (medal); in the Transvaal expdn., 1881; during the Rebellion in the N.W.T., Can., 1885, as second in command, and as commandant of the base and lines of communication (medal and recommended for a C.M.G.), and during the Servo-Bulgarian war, 1885-86 (medal). He attained the rank of lt.-genl., Dec., 1887, and is now on the retired list. He is a Knight of the Order of St. Sava and of the Order of the Red Cross of Servia, and a D.C.L. of King's Coll., Windsor, N.S. (1883). He came to Can. at the time of the Trent affair, 1861, and was Inspg. Field Offr. of Mil. in N. S. for 5 yrs., during which 50,000 men were regularly trained in that Province, 15,000 being actually under arms after the Fenian invasion, 1866. Subsequently, he was Depty. Adjt.-Genl. of Mil. in N. S., and in recognition of his services was presented with a handsome testimonial by the volunteer force, 1883. He sat in the Con. interest for Shelburne in the Can. Ho. of Commons, 1887-91; was an unsuccessful candidate for Pembroke and Haverford West in Eng. Ho. of Commons, at g. e. 1892; but was returned for that seat at the g. e. 1895. He was Grand Master of the Freemasons of N. S., 1874-80; and twice offered to raise a regt. in N. S. for active service abroad. He took great interest in rifle-shooting, and was the life of the movement in N. S. A practical farmer while in N. S., he was Presdt. of the Central Bd. of Agriculture, 1874-75, and he owned and exhibited a fine herd of thoroughbred Durham cattle, his example giving a valuable impulse to agricul. in that Province. In Eng. he was a master of the Saddlers' Co., 1892-93, and he is now a mem. of the Ex. Council of the City Polytechnic, and of the City and Guilds Inst., and of the Northampton Inst. LAURIE, Patrick Gammie, journalist, is the s. of the Rev. Wm. Laurie, M.A. (Ch. of Eng.), by his wife, Mary Ann Gammie, and was b. at Pitsligo, Aberdeenshire, Scot., Apl. 7, 1833. Coming to Can., 1842, he was ed. at Cobourg, Ont. He likewise learned the printing business at that place, and was for some yrs. publisher of the Owen Sound Times, and, subsequently, of the Essex Record. Proceeding to the N. W. T., 1869, he established the Saskatchewan Herald (Prince Albert), 1878—the first paper issued in the Territories, and also the first paper issued west of Winnipeg. This newspaper he continues to edit and publish. He is known also as the publisher of some early maps of Man. and the N. W. T. For some yrs. he was Inspr. of Schs. at Battleford. He m. 1856, Mary Eliza, eld. dau. of Mr. Sheriff Carney, Algoma. —Battleford, N. W. T.

LAURIER, The Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid, statesman, is the only child of the late Carolus Laurier, P.L.S., by his first wife, Marcelle Martineau. B. at St. Lin, Nov. 20, 1841, he received his early education at a mixed sch. in his native parish. Later, he took a full classical course at L'Assomption Coll. In 1860 he began the study of law in Montreal in the office of the late Hon. R. Laflamme, Q.C., afterwards Mr. of Justice of Can. and one of his ministerial colleagues at Ottawa. He followed the law course at McGill Univ. (B.C.L., 1864), and was called to the bar the same year. His first appearance in court is said to have elicited the most favourable comments from the presiding judge. After practising for 3 yrs., however, his health gave way, and he was advised to seek country air. He went to L'Avenir, E.T., where he assumed the editorship of Le Defricheur, a Reform journal previously conducted by J. B. E. Dorion ("L'Enfant Terrible"). With the restoration of his health, he opened a law office at St. Christophe—now Arthabaskaville — which had been made the chef lieu of the new judicial dist. of Drummond and Arthabaska. There he continued to reside up to his removal to Ottawa as Prime Minister of Can., 1896. Always a diligent student, he became a powerful and skilful counsel in both civil and criminal cases, and it was not long before he succeeded in securing a considerable share of the legal business pertaining to that section of the Province—being ably assisted in his office by his several partners, one of whom was Edouard Richard (q.v.) and another Joseph (now Mr. Justice) Lavergne (q.v.). In acknowledgment of his professional eminence, he was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880. Later, he was included in the Royal Comn., apptd. to revise the Code of Civil Procedure, P. Q. As a politician, he first came into notice as an associate of Dorion, Laflamme, Holton, Papin, Laberge and others of the old Lib. sch. in L. C., and his first laurels as a speaker were won in the halls of the Inst. Canadien, Montreal, of which body he was elected a V.-P. In his maturer years, he calls himself "a Lib. of the Eng. sch.—a pupil of Charles James Fox, Danl. O'Connell, and of the greatest of them all, William Ewart Gladstone." He entered active public life, 1871, being then returned to the Quebec Assembly for Drummond and Arthabaska by a majority of 1000 over his Con. opponent, E. J. Hemming. "His début in the Legislature" says the Toronto Globe, "is said by those whose memories go back to that time to have produced a sensation, not more by the finished grace of his oratorical abilities than by the boldness and authority with which he handled the deepest political problems." The effect of "his fluent, cultivated and charming discourse" is described by Frechette, the poet, as magical. "On the following day," he writes, "the name of Laurier was on every lip and all who then heard it will remember how those two syllables, in their heroic suggestiveness, rang out true and clear—their tone that of a coin of gold, pure from all alloy, and bearing the impress of sterling worth." At the g. e. 1874 he resigned his seat in the Legislature and was returned by the same constituency to the Ho. of Commons. When Parlt. met he was selected to second the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, the late Chief-Justice Moss being the mover. His speech on that occasion it has been said marked him for early appt. to the Cabinet. Indeed, David not long afterward pronounced him: "The most remarkable Parliamentary orator now possessed by Lower Canada." In Nov., 1876, he entered the Mackenzie Admn., as Mr. of Inl. Revenue, succeeding the late Hon. F. Geoffrion in that office. On returning to his constituents for re-election he met with defeat. He was, however, at once returned for Quebec East, which constituency has ever since remained his political foster-mother. At the last g. e. he was returned for both Quebec East and Saskatchewan, and elected to sit for his old constituency. When the Mackenzie Govt. was defeated at the polls, 1878, Mr. L. had been for some yrs. the acknowledged leader of the Lib. party in the Province of Quebec. He accompanied his friends into Opposition, and there for 18 yrs. calmly awaited the change in political sentiment which was to restore the reins of power to the hands of the Lib. party. The change came at the g. e. 1896, Mr. L. having then been leader of the Opposition at Ottawa (a position which with its manifold responsibilities he had been loth to accept) for a period of 9 yrs. In this capacity he is acknowledged to have acquitted himself with rare tact and ability. "He had," says a well-known Can. writer, "great difficulties to surmount, acute differences to reconcile, and he had, more especially, to meet and overcome the presumptions which would naturally bar the way to leadership and popularity in the case of a public man whose native tongue is French, but who aspires to rule a community predominantly English, in blood and speech. All this Mr. L. has done successfully; the influence he had with his immediate political associates has been increased by his enlarged acquaintance and prestige among the people. During the past few yrs. his political activity has been great; he has addressed very many audiences, some of them in remote parts of the Dom., and his public utterances have been supplemented by cordial personal intercourse with the people in the various Provinces. His presence and manner are agreeable, and they are combined with great firmness of will and quickness of decision. The aggressiveness, persistence and sturdy independence which marked his course during the recent campaign (1896) showed the sterner elements of character which some of his opponents declared to be lacking in him. As a party leader and tactician, his political supporters admit that he has yet to make his first mistake. Many thought that his political career was ruined when the Bishops of Quebec issued their mandate enjoining the Roman Catholics of that Province to vote against him on account of his position on the Man. School question. Because he favoured the conciliation instead of the coercion of that Province, he was denounced as a traitor to his race, and an enemy of the Ch.; but he remained firm, and the overwhelming majority of his own people declared their faith in him and their resentment of the attitude of the Bishops. Through his manliness and courage a new and inspiring chapter in the history of French-Can. has been written." Mr. L. was sworn into office as Presdt. of the Privy Council, July 9, 1896, and on the 13th of the same month had completed his task, the other mems. of his Admn. being sworn in on that day. In fulfilment of his promise, while in Opposition, he at once gave his attention to the Man. Sch. question, and he was one of a Comte. of Council apptd. in the autumn to conductnegotiations with several delegates from the Man. Govt., who were sent to Ottawa to determine on a basis of settlement. The report of the delegates with the subsequent action taken thereon by the Provl. Govt. and Legislature are matters of history. The question seems now to have been finally removed from the domain of Can. politics. Mr. L. met Parlt. in Aug., and after obtaining from it the necessary supplies for the fiscal year, brought the session to a close. On meeting Parlt. again, Mch. 25, 1897, he submitted a new fiscal policy for the Dom., the most prominent feature in which was that according preferential trade arrangements with Gt. Brit. The new tariff met with little opposition from Parlt., and was enthusiastically received by the people at large. In the month of June, Mr. L. left for Eng., on the invitation of H. M.'s Govt., to take part with other of H. M.'s subjects in the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. He was accorded a reception in the Mother Country almost regal in its character, was sworn of the Privy Council, was apptd. a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and was received in audience by the Sovereign. The Universities of Oxford and Cambridge conferred hon. degrees upon him, and the Cobden Club admitted him to hon. membership and awarded him its gold medal, "in recognition of his exceptional and distinguished services to the cause of internl. and free exchange" Proceeding to France, he visited Presdt. Faure at Havre, and was apptd. by H.E., a Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour. Later, he was received at the Vatican by His Holiness the Pope. As an orator Sir W. Laurier took a first place everywhere, the London Daily Mail comparing him with some of the foremost Brit. statesmen, and expressing a wish that it were possible to place him side by side with them in the Imp. Parlt. In his first speech, on landing in Eng., Sir W. predicted that the time was approaching "when Can. pride and aspiration would develop a claim to demand as a right, their share in that broader citizenship which embraces the whole Empire, and whose legislative centre is the Palace of Westminster." While in Eng., Sir W. succeeded in having the commercial treaties between Brit. and Germany and Belgium denounced, with a view to freeing Can. from the restraint placed upon her by these treaties, which prevented her from granting to Gt. Brit. any trade favours denied to the treaty powers; and for this new departure in Imp. policy, with "the marvellous goal to which it leads," the London Times said, "Laurier's name must live in the annals of the Brit. Empire." On their return to Can. in Sept., Sir W. and Lady L. were accorded public receptions in Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto, which excelled in enthusiasm and splendour any demonstrations previously given in Can. After his return he received from Toronto Univ., and from Queen's Univ., Kingston, the hon. degree of LL.D. He was also elected an hon. life mem. of the National Lib. Club, London, Eng. While in Opposition, Mr. L. was engaged for some yrs. in writing a history of Can., from the Union of 1841, but this has not yet been published. A collection of his principal speeches appeared under the editorship of Ulric Barthe, 1890. (See also the Arena, Apl., 1897, for a character sketch of Sir W., written by J. W. Russell.) In his younger days he served in the volunteers, being ensign in the Arthabaskaville Infy. Co., 1869-78. He is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., and m. May 13, 1868, Miss Zoe Lafontaine, of Montreal. Lady L. is one of the V.-P.s at large of the National Council of Women of Can., presided over by H. E. the Countess of Aberdeen. Mr. Willison, ed. of the Toronto Globe, has well described her as a woman of "tact, judgment and enthusiasm," and as one "born to share with her distinguished husband in the honours of the exalted position to which he has been called."—365 Theodore St., Ottawa; Rideau Club; St. James's Club; National Club; Union Club, Quebec.

LEE, James P., inventor, was b. in Hawick, Scot., Aug. 9, 1831. Accompanying his parents to Can., 1836, he lived until manhood at Galt, Ont., and was ed. there. In 1851 he established himself in Chatham, Ont., as a watchmaker, but subsequently moved to Owen Sound. From an early age he had a great fascination for guns and shooting. About 1860, he became the principal of an establishment at Milwaukee, Wis., for the manufacture and sale of guns, rifles, and other weapons. This was the commencement of his career as an inventor, the vicissitudes of which at times, during the last 25 yrs., have been as romantic as any depicted in fiction. His first magazine rifle was taken up by the Remingtons, at Illion, N.Y., Mr. L. superintending the production. It attracted much attention, and sales were made to Roumania and some other minor States. Constantly changing and improving it, he finally got it before a U. S. Army Comte., of whom Genl., afterwards Presdt., Garfield was one. They tested the weapon in every way, reported favourably, and one western regt. was equipped with it. But nothing further came of it, the inventor always contending that all he wanted was money enough to push it through. Still continuing his improvements, Mr. L. allied himself with Col. Metford, an Eng. offr., and a few yrs. ago, an Army Comn. in Eng., in search of a magazine rifle for the Imp. forces, selected it as the best from among a large number of other weapons submitted for their inspection. "The Lee-Metford" is now the recognized weapon of the Brit. army, and has already proven in different parts of the world the rapidity with which it can be fired, and its deadliness even at long distances. It has also been adopted by the Govts. of China, Spain, Denmark and Mexico. Of late yrs. Mr. L.'s home has been at Hartford, Conn., but he naturally has been and is a great roamer about the world. He m. 1852, Miss Caroline J. Chrysler, Chatham, Ont. (she d. 1888).—Hartford, Conn.

LEMAY, Léon Pamphile, poet and novelist, is descended from Michel Lemay, who came to Can. from Angers, France, more than 2 centuries ago. S. of the late Léon Lemay, merchant and farmer, by his wife, Marie Louise Auger, he was b. at Lotbinière, P.Q., Jan. 5, 1837. Ed. at the Quebec Semy., he afterwards studied Theol. at the Univ. of Ottawa, but abandoning the ch. for law, owing to ill-health, he was called to the bar, 1865. Two yrs. afterwards, he was apptd. Librarian to the Quebec Legislature, a position he retained till 1892, when he retired on a pension. His first work, "Essais Poétiques," published 1865, at once gave him a reputation as a poet; but it was his translation of Longfellow's "Evangeline" (1870) which won for him a place among the literary men of the continent. In addition to winning 2 gold medals for prize poems at Laval Univ., he has received the hon. degree of Lit. D. from that institution. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can. Among his other works are: "Poèmes Couronnés" (1870); "Les Vengeances" (1875); "De Pèlerin de Sainte Anne," roman. (1877); "Picounac-le-Mandit," do. LE MOINE, Sir James MacPherson, Kt., littérateur, is the s. of the late Benj. Le Moine, merchant, Quebec, by his wife, Julia Ann, dau. of Danl. MacPherson, seigneur of Crane Island, and a U. E. Loyalist. On the paternal side he is descended from Louis Le Moyne, a native of Pêtres, near Rouen, Normandy, seigneur of Gatineau, La Noraie and Ste. Marie. B. in the city of Quebec, Feb. 25, 1825, he was ed. at the Petit Semy. de Quebec, and entered the public service as Collr. of Inl. Rev., Quebec, Dec., 1847. He was called to the bar, 1850, and practised for a time in partnership with the late W. H. Kerr, Q.C. He was apptd. to his present office, Inspr. of Inl. Rev., Dist. of Quebec, Oct. 12, 1869. Mr. L.'s first contribution to periodical lit., a paper on land and sea birds observed around Quebec, appeared in the "Can. Naturalist," 1859. His first published work was "L'Ornithologie du Can." (2nd ed., 1861). This was followed by an essay on the Arctic Explorations of McClure, McClintock and Kane (1861), a work on the fisheries of Can. (1863), and a brochure in defence of Montcalm in connection with the massacre at Fort George (1864). The series of volumes entitled "Maple Leaves," being "a budget of legendary, historical, critical and sporting intelligence," was commenced in 1863, the 6th volume appearing in 1894. Among his other works are "L'Album du Touriste" (1872); "The Tourist's Note Book" (1870); "Quebec Past and Present" (1876); "The Scot in New France" (1879); "The Chronicles of the St. Lawrence" (do.); "Picturesque Quebec" (1882); "Can. Heroines" (1887); "The Birds of Quebec" (1891); "The Land We Live in" (do.). He is an hon. mem. of a large number of literary and scientific societies, and was for 5 years Presdt. of the Lit. and Hist. Soc. of Quebec. On the institution of the Royal Soc. of Can., 1880, he was chosen by the Marquis of Lorne, a Fellow of the Assn., and became Presdt. of the 1st section. In 1894 he was elected Presdt. of the Soc., and delivered an address in reference to the Archives of Can. In 1893 he rendered a timely service by protesting against the surrender to vandalism of the old walls of Quebec; in the same year he urged the creation at Quebec of a national historical museum. At an earlier period he advocated the erection in that city of a monument to Samuel de Champlain, founder and first gov. of Quebec. In religion, a R. C., politically, he is a Lib.-Con. He m. 1856, Harriet Mary, niece of the late Hy. Atkinson, of Spencerwood, Quebec. In Jan., 1897, he was knighted by H. LEWIS, The Most Rev. John Travers, Archbp. of Ontario and Metropolitan of Can. (Ch. of Eng.), is the eld. s. of the late Rev. John Lewis, M.A., Curate of St. Anne's, Shandon, Cork, Irel., by his wife, Rebecca Olivia, dau. of John Lawless, of Cloyne, Co. Cork. B. at Garrycloyne Castle, Cork, the country seat of his uncle (the late John Travers), June 20, 1825, he received his early education at Hamblin and Porter's sch., Cork, proceeding thence to Trinity Coll., Dublin, where, on entrance, he obtained the Primate's First Hebrew prize. In 1848 he graduated as senior moderator and gold med. in Ethics and Logic, his whole univ. course being distinguished both in math. and classical studies. Subsequently, the Univ. conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. He was ordained deacon in Christ Ch. Coll. Chapel, Cambridge, by the Lord Bp. of Chester, July 16, 1848, and priest in Sept., 1849, by the Lord Bp. of Down, Connor and Dromore. His first curacy was that of Newtownbutler, in the north of Irel., where he remained till the following year, when he decided to visit his mother and family, who had in the meantime settled in Can. Upon his arrival there he was apptd. by the late Bp. Strachan, mission. at West Hawkesbury, Ottawa River. In 1854 he became Rector of St. Peter's Ch., Brockville. Upon the division of the large Diocese of Toronto, Dr. L. was elected by the unanimous vote of the clergy and laity as the first Bp. of Ontario, the election taking place at Kingston, June 13, 1861. The appt. was subsequently ratified by H. M.'s Royal Letters Patent, constituting Dr. L. and his successors Lord Bps. of Ont. This occasion was, it is believed, the last in which the Imp. authorities caused letters patent to be issued. His Lordship was consecrated in St. George's Cath., Kingston, which became the seat of the See, Mch. 25, 1862. The consecrating bp. was Dr. Fulford, Lord Bp. of Montreal and Metropolitan of Can., assisted by Bp. Mountain, of Quebec; Bp. Strachan, of Toronto; Bp. Cronyn, of Huron; and Bp. McCosky, of Michigan. The new bp. was then only 35 yrs. of age, and was the youngest of the bps. of the Ch. of Eng. Upon the death of Bp. Medley, of Fredericton, in 1892, the office of Metropolitan of Can. became vacant, and by the vote of the House of Bishops assembled in Montreal, June 25, 1893, Bp. L. was elevated to the dignity of Metropolitan of Can. In the following year he became Archbp. His Grace is the author of many published charges and sermons, as well as lectures and articles in the Journ. of Sacred Literature, London, Eng., and in the Am. Quart. Ch. Rev. He was the original author and promoter of the meeting of the Lambeth Conf. of all the bishops of the Ang. communion, including those of the Am. Ch. in the U. S., and was mainly instrumental in inducing the Brit. Assn. to meet in Montreal, 1884. In Nov., 1885, H. E. the Gov.-Genl. of Can., in Council, presented him with a copy of the bronze medal struck in commemoration of the Confederation of the Provinces, 1867, in acknowledgment of his "important services in the cause of literature and science." His Grace is described by a well-known authority as "an Ang. churchman whose liberal views have done much towards making the Ch. of England in eastern Ont. united and peaceful. He is a man of wide and profound learning, and it is doubtful if there is living an abler defender of the religious system against agnosticism than he. When the Archbp. first arrived in this country there was only 1 diocese in U. C. Now there are 5. At the commencement of his episcopate there were only 44 clergy in the diocese, but the number has since increased to 135, whilst 55 mission. clergy are now pursuing their labours." In 1896 the Diocese of Ont. was divided, a new See being created out of the easterly portion, which is now known as the Diocese of Ottawa, having a resident bp. at the Federal Capital. Archbp. L. remains bp. of the other portion of the old diocese, having his episcopal seat at Kingston. In addition to being an LL.D. and D.D. of Trinity Coll., Dublin the Archbp. is an hon. D.D. of Oxford, Eng., and a D.C.L. of both Trinity Univ., Toronto, and Bishop's Coll. Univ., Lennoxville. He is also the senior mem. of the Corporation of Trinity Univ., Toronto. LITTLE, Hon. Joseph J., judge and jurist, is the s. of the late Cornelius Little, merchant, a native of Dublin. B. in Charlottetown, P.E.I., he was ed. there, and was called to the bar in Nfd., 1859. He became a mem. of the Legislature of that colony, 1868, and, in 1870, was apptd. Atty.-Genl., an office he continued to hold until a change of Govt., 1875. In 1882 he was apptd. to the bench of the Supreme Ct., a position he continues to occupy. In religion, he is a R. C.—St. John's, Nfd.

LITTLE, Hon. Philip Francis, retired judge, bro. of the preceding, was b. in P. E. I., 1824. Ed. there, he, after 5 years' study, was called to the bar. In 1844 he went to Nfd., but owing to the prohibitive nature of the law in that colony, could not gain admission as a barrister there until the following year. He subsequently entered into partnership with his bro., the late John Little, and secured a lucrative practice. He entered the Legislature, 1850, defeating the Govt. candidate by a large majority. His address embodied the principles of responsible govt., viz.: entire reform in the character of the legislation, and the protection of the rights of the operatives engaged in the great industry of the country, etc. Owing to his position, character and abilities, he soon became the acknowledged leader of the Lib. party in the colony, and lost no opportunity of assailing the old system of irresponsible rule, and of advocating with zeal and ability the right of Nfd. to self-govt. By his earnest and determined exertions, the agitation became general throughout the colony for the establishment of a new system similar to that in successful operation in the neighbouring colonies, so that the govt. might be conducted in the true spirit of Lord John Russell's declaration of col. rights, according to the well understood wishes of the people as expressed by their parliamentary representatives. The ground of battle was extended to London, and Mr. L. was apptd. to head several deputations to the Imp. authorities in the conflict. He succeeded in enlisting in his cause some of the most influential col. reformers in the Imp. Parlt., including Joseph Hume, John Bright and John Arthur Roebuck, by whose assistance his efforts were ultimately crowned with success in 1854. Owing, however, to the opposition of the Gov., he was obliged to return to London and obtain that official's recall, and, in 1855, Gov. Darling was apptd. to introduce the new system of govt. As the result of the g. e. 1855, the Gov. entrusted to Mr. L., as leader of the Lib. party, the formation of a responsible ministry and the inauguration of self-govt., appointing him to the office of Atty.-Genl. The colleagues Mr. L. nominated were men of moderate views and of different religious denominations; and his policy as Premier of the colony partook of the same character during his Admn. In 1853 he was apptd. by the Assembly a del. to the Conf. which took place at Quebec, under Lord Elgin, to conclude the Reciprocity Treaty with the U. S. and the Brit. colonies. He was also instrumental, as a del. to the Home Govt., in obtaining the subsidy for the establishment of direct steam communication between Gt. Brit. and the colony. Upon the project of the Atlantic cable, when the negotiations had nearly failed, he was called upon to intervene, and succeeded in effecting an arrangement for the granting of the charter to the Atlantic Telegraph Co. By incessant application and over-work Mr. L.'s health, not very robust at any time, became affected, and, in 1858, he accepted the Senior Judgeship of the Supreme Ct. A mem. of the R. C. Ch., he m. in 1864, Miss Holdright, the dau. of a Dublin merchant, and has been blessed with a large family. In 1867 he retired to Irel. to manage his property. Some yrs. ago he took a quiet but effective part in the Irish National cause, and we have been informed that he was offered the leadership of that movement, but declined it, as well as several offers of a seat in the Imp. Parlt. [Mr. L. d. at Monkstown, Co. Dublin, Irel., Oct. 21, 1897.]

LIVINGSTON, Stuart, barrister, is the s. of T. C. Livingston, Hamilton, Ont., was b. in Can., and is of U. E. L. descent. Ed. at the public schs., he graduated an LL. B. at Toronto Univ., 1889. He was called to the bar the same year, and he has since practised his profession in Hamilton. In 1896 he was recommended for appt. as a Q. C. by the Tupper Admn. Mr. L.

is well known in literary and artistic circles, having done good work both as a writer and painter. He is the author of "In Various Moods" (1894), a volume of poems of considerable merit; of "The History of Professor Paul," a novel, and of a number of short stories and mag. articles. He was elected Presdt. of the Can. Club, Hamilton, 1896, but resigned same year.—166 Main St., Hamilton, Ont.

LIVINGSTONE, Colin H., author and publisher, is the s. of W. H. Livingstone, Kelsyth, Scot., by his wife, one of the Frasers of Lovat. B. in St. John, N.B., he was ed. at the Grammar Sch. there, and at McGill Univ. (B.A., with honours, 1886). He completed his scientific studies in the U. S. Soon after graduation he moved to N. Y., where he became a mangr. of the firm of R. Wayne Wilson, publishers, with which he is still connected. He is also a dir. in several other commercial enterprises. Besides many scientific articles and monographs, he is the author of "The Sun's Guide to N. Y. City" (1892), and of "The Citizens' Guide to Brooklyn and Long Island" (1893). As a naturalized Am. citizen, he has been prominent in various municipal reform movements in N. Y., notably the People's Municipal League, 1890, organized to overthrow Tammany Hall. In memory of the late Rev. C. G. Coster, Rector of the Grammar Sch., St. John, N.B., he founded, 1889, the "Coster Memorial Prize," for general proficiency, in McGill Univ., open to men and women from the Maritime Provinces. Previously he gave 50 prizes annually to the schs. of his native city, but since the resolutions of the Bd. of Education, a year or two ago, against artificial stimulants to study, the gifts have been discontinued. Mr. L. is a believer in Can. annexation and of Anglo-Saxon union along the lines of Internl. coinage, navigation and arbitration laws. He is also an advocate of free trade and the gradual development of the single-tax methods of taxation. A Presb. in religion, he m. 1889, Miss Anna Louisa Van de Bor, the descendant of an old Knickerbocker family.—827 Park Ave., New York City.

LLOYD, Rev. George Eaton (Ch. of Eng.), educationist, is the s. of the late Wm. J. Lloyd, a graduate of St. John's Coll., London, Eng., and a ch. teacher of many years' standing, who at his death was Presdt. of the Ch. Teachers' and Managers' Assn. of Eng. B. in St. Bartholomew's rectory, city of London, Jan. 6, 1861, he was ed. by his father, soon after which he came to Can., studied Divinity, and was ordained by the Primate of Can. at Winnipeg, 1885. He served with the Queen's Own, of which he was apptd. chaplain, throughout the rebellion in the N.-W., 1885. He fought in the ranks at Cut Knife Creek against "Poundmaker," was severely wounded in the attempt made with Atcheson to save 3 men, was mentioned in despatches therefor, and was presented by his regt. with a very flattering testimonial after his recovery. He was ordained in uniform. Mr. L. was apptd. Chaplain to the Boys' Reformatory, Penetanguishene, Ont., 1885, and, while there, took an active part in the work of the Prison Reform Assn., for which he received a standing vote of thanks from the Ang. Synod of Toronto, on leaving the Reformatory to become Rector of Rothesay, N.B., 1890. Since his advent in N. B. he has founded the Rothesay Coll. for Boys, an institution upon Evangel. Ch. of Eng. lines, in 1891, and, in 1894, the Rothesay Coll. for Girls, upon the same lines. These 2 institutions have had a wonderful growth, having reached the number of 100 pupils already, with a staff of 10 Univ. graduates; both are under his own personal control. In Can. Mr. L. has become thoroughly imbued with the Can. spirit, and is a firm believer in her steadfast loyalty to the Crown, and a staunch supporter of all that makes for Imp. Federation. He received the degree M.A. (hon. causa) from the Univ. of

N. B., 1894. He m. Aug., 1885, Miss Marion Tuppen, Brighton, Eng. —The College, Rothesay, N.B.

LONG, Thomas, capitalist, is the s. of Thos. and Margt. Long, and was b. at Mount David, Limerick, Irel., Apl. 7, 1836. Ed. there he came to Can., 1850, and obtained employment in a country store at Mono Centre, Ont. In 1858 he commenced business on his own account at Collingwood. Taking his bro., John Joseph Long, into partnership with him in 1865, the firm established branches of their business in other places, embarking at the same time in lumbering, and were exceedingly successful in all their ventures. Mr. L. was one of the principal movers in building up Collingwood. He became interested in lake traffic, and was one of the stockholders and a dir. of the Lake Superior Navigation Co., which built the first steamer, the Cumberland, trading with Lake Superior ports. He was also one of the chief promoters of the Georgian Bay Transportation Co., and spent a great deal of time building up the lake trade; and a chief promoter of the N.-W. Land and Col. Co., of the Collingwood Meat Co.,

and of the Streetsville Woollen Co. To-day he is the moving spirit of the Great Northern Transit Co., so well known to tourists. Mr. L.'s interests, footing over a million, extend in many directions. Besides the offices we have mentioned, he is a dir. of the Collingwood Dry Dock Co., of the Trust Corporation of Toronto, of the Excelsior Life Ins. Co., of the Brit.-Am. Assur. Co., and of the Merchants' Bank of Can.; V.-P. of the Birkbeck Invest. Co., of the Northern Life Assur. Co., of the Can. LONGLEY, Hon. James Wilberforce, Q.C., statesman, is the s. of Israel Longley, by his wife, Frances Manning, and is descended from a U. E. L., who came to N. S. towards the end of the Am. revolutionary war. B. at Paradise, N.S., Jan. 4, 1849, he was ed. at Acadia Coll., Wolfville (B.A., 1871; M.A., 1875), was called to the bar, 1875, was apptd. comnr. for revising and consolidating the statutes of the Province, 1883, and was created a Q. C. by the Earl of Derby, 1890. While a law student in Halifax he became a frequent contributor to the newspaper press on current political questions, and for 14 yrs., from 1873, was the chief editorial writer for the Acadian Recorder. Subsequently, he joined the editorial staff of the Halifax Morning Chronicle, and was for some time mang. ed. of that paper. He has written also for several of the reviews and mags. on a variety of topics, both in Am. and Eng. Mr. L. was for some yrs. Presdt. of the Y. M.'s Lib. Club, Halifax, and is now a V.-P. of the N. S. Hist. Soc. He entered political life as one of the mems. for Annapolis, in the N. S. Assembly, g. e. 1882, and has remained a representative of the same constituency up to the present time. On Mr. Fielding's accession to power, July, 1884, Mr. L. entered his Govt. without office, but in May, 1886, was apptd. Atty.-Genl., an office he continues to hold under Mr. Murray. He was a mem. of the Quebec Interprovl. Conference, 1887, and attended the Ottawa Reform convention, June, 1893. At the Dom. g. e. 1896, he contested Annapolis unsuccessfully (Vote: Mills, C., 2012; Longley, L., 1815). His legislation covers some useful work, including measures relating to criminal procedure, towns incorporation, abolition of imprisonment for debt, and consolidation of Co. Courts procedure. He opposed the Woman Suffrage bill, and favours a Maritime union of the provinces. He also favours reciprocity with the U. S., the abolition of the Senate, and thinks it is time the colonial relationship was terminated and the destiny of the country settled. He is a dir. of the Brit. Empire Financial Corporation. LORRAIN, The Rt. Rev. Narcisse Zéphirin, Titulary Bishop of Cythère and Vicar-Apostolic of Pontiac (R. C.), is the s. of Narcisse Lorrain, by his wife, Sophie Goyer. B. at St. Martin, P.Q., June 3, 1842, he was ed. at the Coll. at Ste. Thérèse, and, later, followed the Science course at Laval Univ. (B.Sc., 1864). Ordained to the priesthood, 1867, he became asst. dir. at Ste. Thérèse, remaining there until his appt. as parish priest of Radford, N.Y., Aug., 1869. As V.-G. of the Diocese of Montreal, to which office he was called, Aug., 1880, he displayed such marked executive ability, that his elevation to the Episcopate became only a question of time. On the erection of the new Vicariate-Apostolic of Pontiac, July 11, 1882, he was nominated thereto by the Holy See, and was consecrated in Montreal, Sept. 21, the same year. Since his Lordship's appt. he has paid off the debt on his cath., built an episcopal residence, and secured many advantages and benefits for his people which otherwise they would not have been able to procure. His energy of character received fresh illustration in 1884 and in 1887, in which years he traversed many thousands of miles, in a birch canoe, to visit the mission stations in the Abbitibi, Albany, St. Maurice and Rupert's dists. of his diocese. He received the degree of D.D. from Rome, 1882.—Bishop's Palace, Pembroke, Ont.

LOUCKS, Henry Langford, is the s. of W. J. Loucks, Ottawa, and was b. in the Co. of Russell, Ont., May 24, 1846. Ed. there, he served for some yrs. as Postmaster of the city of Hull, from which he was removed for political reasons, 1878. Proceeding to Dakota, soon afterwards, he embarked in farming there in a large way. He also publishes an agricul. paper called the Dakota Ruralist. He was Presdt. of the Dakota Farmers' Alliance for 7 yrs., he then became V.-P. of the National Alliance, and on the death of Col. Polk, 1892, succeeded him in the presidency of that political organization. He is regarded as a powerful platform speaker. Politically, he was a Reformer in Can.; in the U. S. he was a Rep. up to 1890, when he called together the first of the political conventions connected with the "People's Party," and was elected permanent chairman of their first national convention. He is called the "father" of the new party. He m. May, 1878, Florence Isabel, eld. dau. of Wm. McCraney, ex-M.P.—Huron, S. Dak., U.S.

LOUDON, James, educationist, was b. in Toronto, 1841. He received his early education in the public schs., at the Toronto Grammar Sch. (which was the predecessor of the Jarvis St. Coll. Inst.), and at U. C. Coll., and so apt a pupil was he that at the early age of 16 he was matriculated. He graduated from Toronto Univ., 1862, with the degree of B.A. and the gold medal in Math. Two yrs. later he took his degree of M.A. Almost immediately after his graduation he was apptd. one of the teachers in Univ. Coll. For a time he devoted his attention to Classics, but his chief work was the teaching of Math. Prof. Cherriman was then at the head of the dept. of Math. in the Univ., and for some yrs. Mr. L. occupied the position of asst. to him. When the former retired, 1875, Mr. L. became Prof. of Math. in his stead. From the very first he showed a disposition to run into Applied Math. in preference to Pure Math., and when, in 1887, the subject of his chair, which was then known as the chair of Math. and Physics, was divided, he took the physical work, while Prof. Baker became Prof. of Math. In 1865, while he was tutor, Prof. L. became Dean of Residence, a position which he retained for 10 yrs., or until he became a prof., and during that time he displayed those administrative qualities which formed such an essential qualification for the presidency of the Univ. to which he was apptd., 1892, on the death of Sir D. Wilson. As an authority upon and teacher of Physics, including Heat, Light and Electricity, Prof. L. stands very high amongst the scientific men of Am., and the fact that he has made several important discoveries in geometrical optics has assisted in placing him in that position of eminence in the scientific world which he occupies. After he graduated he was for 3 yrs. in succession Presdt. of the Lit. and Scien. Soc.; later, he was elected Presdt. of the Alumni Assn., and, in 1873, he was elected a Senator of the Univ. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from his Alma Mater, 1894, a similar distinction being bestowed upon him by Princeton Univ., 1896. He was Presdt. of the Can. Inst., 1876-78, was one of the original Fellows of the Royal Soc. of Can., was apptd. a mem. of the Educatl. Council of Ont., 1896, and became a V.-P. of the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, 1897. In addition to various papers contributed to the Trans. of the Can. Inst., to the Am. Jour. of Math., to the *Philosoph. LUCAS, Rev. Daniel Vannorman (Meth.), calls himself a Canadian of the 4th generation, his great-grandfather having emigrated with his family from Dublin, Irel., nearly a century and a half ago. He settled at Boston, Mass., but at the time of the Am. revolution, removed to Can. B. near Niagara Falls, July 12, 1834, he was ed. at a common sch., and afterwards at Victoria Univ. Ordained to the ministry, 1862, he was sent as a mission. to B. C., where he remained for 2 yrs. Returning east, he laboured in various fields—country, town and city. In Montreal, where he became a pastor first in 1874, and afterwards in 1878, he took an active part in endeavouring to diminish the evils of the liquor traffic, and by the unanimous vote of the Temp. Alliance, and of his Conf., was apptd. to an office where he could render the most important services to the temp. cause. His experience and observation gave him such an insight into the evils of the liquor traffic that he resolved to devote his whole time and attention to it. In 1887 he was invited by the Victorian Temp. Alliance to go to Australia and assist in a year's campaign there to secure the passage of a local option measure through Parlt. His mission resulted successfully, and opened the way for a second and even more fruitful visit to the Australian colonies at a later date. Proceeding to Eng. by way of the Red Sea, through Egypt, Italy and France, he co-operated with the United Kingdom Alliance in opposing the objectionable compensation clauses in the proposed new local Govt. Bill. While in Eng., he attended the Brit. and Col. Temp. Congress, held in London. Subsequently, he travelled in Can., Eng., and the U. S. In 1897 he was transferred from the Montreal to the Toronto Conf., to be engaged exclusively in temp. work. He received the hon. degree of M.A., from the Univ. of South Carolina, 1876, and that of D.D. from Rutherford Coll., N. C., 1890. Dr. L. takes high rank as a preacher and lecturer. Apart from those upon temp., his best known lectures are: "Queer Things in Australia," "Indian Tribes of Canada," "China and the Chinese," "Earth's Greatest Empire," and "Abraham Lincoln: His Wit, His Wisdom and His Work." LYMAN, Henry Herbert, manufacturer, is the s. of the late Hy. Lyman, by his wife, Mary Corse. B. in Montreal, Dec. 21, 1854, he was ed. at West End Acad., at the High Sch. (Davidson med.), and at McGill Univ. (B.A. and Logan med., 1876; M.A., 1880), and obtained his business training in the office of Lymans, Clare & Co., wholesale chemists and druggists, Montreal. Admitted to a partnership, 1885, the firm name becoming Lyman Sons & Co., subsequently on the conversion of the firm into a joint stock co., he became V.-P. thereof. Mr. L. has been Treas. and V.-P. of the Univ. Lit. Soc., and Treas. and V.-P. of the Graduates' Soc. of McGill Univ. He has taken an active interest in the study of Nat. Hist., especially Entomol., and has been for yrs. a contributor to the Can. Entomologist and other scientific journals. Elected V.-P. of the Entomological Soc. of Ont., he has also been chosen Presdt. of the Montreal branch of that body. He was one of the organizers of the Imp. Fed. League in Can., and was a mem. of the deputation that waited upon Lord Salisbury and Mr. Stanhope, 1886, to ask that an Impl. Conf. be summoned, which Conf. took place in the following year.

He filled the office of Treas. of the League in Can., and has been called to various other offices. He is a mem. of the Am. Soc. for the Advance. of Science an hon. mem. of the Nat. Hist. Soc , Montreal, and of the N. Y. Entomol. Soc., and a Fellow of the Royal Coll. Inst. He was for many yrs. an officer of the Royal Scots, Montreal, and after becoming senior major retired, 1891. In religious faith, a Cong.; politically, he supports measures and men, but both must be the best available. He is a strong Imperialist. He believes that perpetual unity of the Empire is the most important question for our consideration. Everything must be viewed from that standpoint. Can. must obtain a full manhood within the Empire, and there must be no looking to Washington. Further, he believes in Imp. preferential trade, Can. bearing her share of Imp. burdens. LYMAN, Lt.-Col. Theodore, retired list Can. V. M., is a direct descendant of Richard Lyman, who emigrated to Mass. from Essex, Eng., 1635. B. in Northampton, Mass., Mch. 27, 1818, he was ed. there, and came to Montreal, where he was long engaged in business, 1833. In 1837 he joined a special guard that was then organized for the protection of the city. The guard eventually became No. 1 Co. Montreal Volunteer Rifles. Col. L. was a private in this corps, and he served continuously in the mil. service of Can. from that time (1837) up to the period of his retirement from the force as a lt.-col., Jan. 28, 1876. He may, therefore, with great propriety be called one of the "fathers" of the militia organization of the Dom. At the time of the "Oregon" difficulty, 1845, he was gazetted senior 2nd lieut. in the Montreal Light Infy. under the late Col. Dyde, and, in conjunction with another officer, enrolled a co. of 55 men. Promoted 2nd lieut., Feb., 1847, he held that rank till the reorganization of the V. M. under the new law, 1855. He then organized a co. of 64 men, of which he took command, which formed No. 1 Co. Montreal Rifles, and was the first to be raised under the new law in the Province of L. C. It was drafted into the 1st or Prince of Wales Rifle Regt., and became No. 1 Co. in that well-known corps. As a reward for this service he was promoted to a majority. Subsequently, he was offered a comn. in the newly raised 100th Regt. of the line, but was unable to accept it. In 1860 he was apptd. Asst. Q. M.-Genl. of the V. M. force, and took temporary command of the 6th Hochelaga Light Infy. He attained the rank of lt.-col., 1861, and, in 1865, at the request of the Commander-in-Chief, took over the duties of Chairman of the Bd. of Examrs. of candidates for admission to the Mil. Sch. of Instruction, Montreal. He served on the brigade staff during both Fenian raids, 1866 and 1870, and is now Presdt. of the Veterans' Assn., composed of the survivors living in the Montreal Dist. of those 2 campaigns. Lt.-Col. L. has otherwise shown himself a good citizen, and has sought in many ways to advance the best interests of his adopted country. He was for many yrs. identified with prominent institutions in Montreal, and is still a gov. of the Fraser Inst. and of the Prot. Ho. of Industry and Refuge.—107 Mackay St., Montreal.

MAIR, Charles, poet, is the s. of the late Jas. Mair, a native of Scot., who, coming to Can., became one of the pioneers of the square timber trade on the Ottawa River. B. at Lanark, Ont., Sept. 21, 1840, he was ed. at Perth Grammar Sch. and at Queen's Univ., Kingston. He likewise studied Med. for a time at the last-named institution. An early contributor to the press, on general subjects, he published, in 1868, a volume, entitled "Dreamland, and other Poems," which the late G. T. Lanigan pronounced "the first book in which a poet had used his own eyes and given his own sights and ideas, and this in language and in music of artistic beauty and of indubitable strength." His second volume, "Tecumseh, a Drama" (1886), was an effort in another direction, but "whether the book be considered as poetry, as history, or as a contribution to the right understanding of the Indian character," it was, in the opinion of W. D. Le Sueur, "the most important addition which had been made for some years to Canadian letters." Since then Mr. M. has written "The Last Bison," and it is now understood that he has in preparation 2 works of even greater interest than those already published, viz.: "The Fountain of Bemini" and "The Conquest of Canada." Mr. M. suffered a severe loss during the first Riel rebellion in the N. W. T., in which he was an active participant on the loyal side, by the destruction by the rebels of many valuable MS. papers belonging to him. Prior to that event he was the correspondent, at Fort Garry, of the Montreal Gazette, and wrote a brilliant series of papers for that journal, called "Canada in the Far West." He served throughout the second rebellion in the N. W. T. as an officer in the G.-G. Body Guard (medal). He lived formerly at Prince Albert, but subsequently went to the Okanagan Country, B. C., where he engaged in farming. In 1896 he returned to Prince Albert. Mr. M. was one of the founders of the "Canada First" party, 1870, and remains of the same way of thinking to this day. MALLORY, Caleb Alvard, Patron leader, bro. of the preceding, was b. at the family homestead near Cobourg, Ont., Sept. 30, 1841. He is the eld. s. in a family of six. Ed. at Victoria Univ., his health did not permit him to remain there beyond his sophomore year. It was necessary for him to get away from the lake air, and he went back into the woods to his present farm near Warkworth, in the Tp. of Percy, East Northumberland. He chopped and cleared the farm himself, and has resided there ever since. He entered municipal life, and was for 16 yrs. Reeve of Percy, having previously been Deputy Reeve and Councillor. In 1888 he was chosen Warden of Northumberland and Durham. He was a candidate for the Ont. Assembly for East Northumberland in a by-election, 1888, and was defeated by Dr. Willoughby by 3 votes, the closest contest ever held in the constituency. Mr. M. threw himself into the Patron movement from its inception, having belonged to it from the formation of the first co. assn. and before the formation of the Grand Assn. He was elected V.-P. of the Grand Assn. on its organization, 1890, and became Grand Presdt. in the following year, a position he has held up to the present time. MARCHAND, Hon. Felix Gabriel, statesman, is the s. of the late Gabriel Marchand, merchant, St. John's, P.Q., by his wife, Mary, dau. of John McNider, Quebec. B. at St. John's, Jan. 9, 1832, he was ed.

at the Coll., St. Hyacinthe, and admitted a N. P., 1855. He entered on the practice of his profession in his native town, and has remained there throughout. Returned to the Legislature for St. John's at Confederation, 1867, he has sat continuously for the same seat in that chamber up to the present time, and is now doyen of that body. Mr. M. held office in the Joly Govt., 1878-79, first as Provl. Secy., and afterwards as Comnr. of Crown Lands, and was Speaker of the Assembly, 1887-92. On Mr. Mercier's defeat at the polls, in the latter year, he became leader of the Lib. party in the Legislature, and as such opposed Mr. Flynn in the campaign of 1897. On the latter's defeat at the polls and consequent resignation, Mr. M. was entrusted with the duty of forming a new Admn., and was sworn into office with his colleagues, May 26, he taking the office of Treas. in the new Cabinet. Mr. M. was for many yrs. actively identified with French-Can. journalism, the tone and character of which he did much to elevate. Conjointly with the late Hon. C. J. Laberge, Q.C., he established, 1860, Le Franco-Canadien, the French Lib. organ in the Dist. of Iberville. He was also for a time chief ed. of Le Temps (Montreal), and subsequently contributed to most of the French-Can. Lib. organs in the Province. He has won distinction as the author of several dramatic works, among them, "Fatenville," a comedy (1869); "Erreur n'est pas Compte," a vaudeville (1872); "Un bonheur en attire un autre," a comedy (1884); and "Les Faux Brillants," do. (1885), and has published a manual, treating of the notarial profession in Can. Shortly after the Trent affair he took the lead in initiating the volunteer movement in the Dist. of Iberville, the result being the formation of the 21st Batt. Richelieu Light Infy., to the command of which he succeeded, 1866. Col. M. was on active service during the subsequent Fenian raids, his corps being sent to the front at the first alarm. Following the invasion at Eccles Hill, 1870, he was placed in command of the brigade composed of the Prince of Wales Rifles, the Victoria Rifles, the Royal Scots, the Hochelaga Light Infy., and the 21st Batt., which force was sent to reinforce Col. Osborne Smith, and on that and on other occasions he rendered important services to the country. He retired from the force retaining rank, 1880. Mr. M. attended the Quebec Interprovincial Conf., 1887. In 1879 he received from the French Govt. the decoration of "l'Ordre de l'Inst. Publique." He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can., 1882, became Presdt. of the French section, 1884, V.-P. of the Soc., 1896, and Presdt., 1897. In 1891 the degree of Lit.D. was conferred upon him by Laval Univ. He is a dir. of the Col. Mutual Life Assn. In religious faith, a R. C., he m. Sept. 12, 1854, Mdlle. MARTER, George Frederick, legislator, is the eld. s. of the late Dr. Peter Marter, M.R.C.S. Eng., a native of Eng., by his wife, Augusta, dau. of Hon. Harris Hatch, St. Andrews, N.B. Born at Brantford, Ont., to which place his father had removed from N. S., June 6, 1840, he was ed. at the local Grammar Sch., and early engaged in commerce. For some yrs. he was Clk. of the Tp. of Windham, and a Councillor of Waterford. He afterwards removed to Muskoka, where he was elected Reeve of Gravenhurst, and, in 1886, was sent to the Legislature. He became one of the Provl. leaders on the Con. side, and at the g. e. 1894, was returned for North Toronto, defeating Joseph Tait, the former mem., by a majority of 805. On the appt. of Mr. Meredith (now Sir W. R.) to the Chief-Justiceship of the Common Pleas, Oct., 1894, Mr. M. was elected to succeed him in the Provl. leadership of the Con. party. This position, however, he resigned, Apl. 2, 1896. Mr. M. has been an active speaker and worker in the Con. interest. Among his legislative efforts was a bill, 1891, to prohibit the retail sale of intoxicating liquors. This was not adopted. He also moved to abolish the maintenance of Govt. House, Toronto. In religion, he is a Meth. He is also a Mason and a Forester. He m. June, 1862, Miss Mary A. Green, Windham.—12 Elm Grove, Toronto, Ont.

MARTIN, Miss Clara Brett, the first woman admitted to the degree of barrister in Can., is a native of Ont. Ed. at Trinity Univ., Toronto (B.A., 1890), she likewise followed the law course at that institution (B.C.L., 1897). She was articled first with Messrs. Mulock, Miller, Crowther & Montgomery, and afterwards with Messrs. Blake, Lash & Cassels, and was called to the bar, 1897. It required 2 special enactments of the Legislature to permit of her enrolment as a solr. and barrister. Special regulations were framed by the Law Soc. of U. C., in the premises. Under these regulations every woman admitted to practise as a barrister-at-law shall pay the same fees as those paid by other students-at-law; she shall become subject to all the provisions of the statutes and the rules of the Soc. as in other cases, and upon appearing before convocation, upon the occasion of her being admitted to practice, shall appear in a barrister's gown worn over a black dress, wearing a white necktie, and with her head uncovered. Miss M. is at present (1897) a mem. of the firm of Shelton, Wallbridge & Martin, Toronto. She was an unsuccessful candidate for sch. trustee in Toronto, 1894, but became afterwards a mem. of the Coll. Inst. Bd.—28 Homewood Ave., Toronto.

MARTIN, Edward, Q.C., is the 6th and young. s. of the late Richard Martin, for some yrs. Sheriff of Haldimand, Ont., by his wife, Emily Sylvia, dau. of John Kirwin, of Dublin, Q.C., and was b. at Derryclare, Haldimand, Oct. 3, 1834. He belongs to the Martins of Galway, one of the oldest of the 14 ancient families known as the Tribes of Galway (ride Chadwick). Ed. by private tuition, he was called to the bar, 1855, and has since followed the practice of his profession in Hamilton, where he is now in partnership with his sons, and ranks as one of the leaders at the equity bar. He was created a Q. C. by the Ont. Govt., 1876, and by the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1885. Apptd. Chancellor of the Ang. Diocese of Niagara, 1875, he received the degree of D.C.L. from Trinity Univ., 1891. He was elected Presdt. of the Hamilton Law Assn., 1890. Mr. M. has been also Presdt. of the Ont. Cricket Assn. MARTIN, George, poet, is the s. of Jas. and Mary Martin, and was b. at Kilrae, Co. Derry, Irel., 1822. Coming to Can., 1832, he received his education at the Black River Literary Inst., Watertown, N.Y. Afterwards he studied Med. for 3 yrs., and, on returning to Can., went into business in Montreal, where he has since lived. Mr. M. cultivated the muses from an early age, and in his maturer yrs. has given to the public many pieces of a superior order of merit. In 1887 he published a volume, "Marguerite; or, the Isle of Demons, and other Poems," which met with a most favourable reception on both sides of the Atlantic. The principal poem is founded on the quaint old legend that Roberval, one of the earliest colonizers of New France, left upon "The Isle of Demons," a rugged rock, haunted with supernatural terrors, his niece, the fair Marguerite, her lover, and her old Norman nurse. Thirty mths. later, Marguerite, the sole survivor of the assaults of the foul fiends, was rescued. She tells the story of her trials and sufferings as a nun to a group of nuns in a convent in France, in the yr. 1545. "It is a touching story," says one of the critics, "and is told with rare skill and pathos." Since the appearance of this work, Mr. M. has written some pieces of even more merit than any of the minor poems given therein, and these he purposes publishing in another volume at an early day. MARTIN, Horace Tassie, author, is the s. of the late Lt.-Col. John Martin, for many yrs. commanding the 6th Fusiliers, Montreal, by his wife, Margt. Williams. B. in Montreal, May 30, 1859, he was ed. at the Montreal Coll. Sch., and entered commercial life at 14, eventually becoming a mem. of the firm of John Martin, Sons & Co., military outfitters, Montreal. He is Treas. of the Soc. of Can. Lit., hon. Corr. Secy. of the Natural Hist. Soc., a Fellow of the Royal Col. Inst., and a Fellow of the Zoolog. Soc. In addition to frequent articles in Am. mags., he is the author of "Castorologia; or, the History and Traditions of the Canadian Beaver" (1892). In this work, which is well illustrated, is set forth in a style at once clear, instructive and entertaining, "the mythology and folk-lore, life history, geograph. distribution, engineering accomplishments, economic considerations, chemico-med. properties, commercial importance, use in manufactures, mode of hunting, attempts at domestication, anatomy, osteology, taxidermy and heraldic history of Castor Canadensis." Mr. M. m. Katherine, dau. of Capt. R. Kelly, R.A., Plymouth, Eng. Politically, he is "Can. First." —"Mannamead," Montreal Junction, P.Q.

MARTIN, Rev. John Campbell (Presb.), was born at Heatherdale, P.E.I., Dec. 28, 1860. Ed. at McGill Univ. (B.A., with 1st rank honours in Eng. Lang., Lit. and Hist., 1885), he studied Theol. at the Union Semy., N.Y., and at the Presb. Coll., Montreal, graduating at the latter, 1888, with 1st rank honours in Celtic and Orient. Lang., and as gold med. in Theol. Ordained and inducted into the pastoral charge of Dundee, P.Q., 1888, he resigned therefrom, Nov., 1890, to accept a position in St. Paul's Inst., Tarsus, Asia Minor. Since then he has been successfully engaged in important educational and mission. work, first at Tarsus and more recently at Hadjin. His career in Turkey has been otherwise eventful, owing to his efforts in tiding the people in his dist. over a famine, and more recently in frustrating the carrying out of a revolutionary plot and consequent massacre in Hadjin. But he claims no praise for these things, any more than he admits blame in the Turkish Govt. for its imprisonment of him in Nov., 1895. He m. After having served as public sch. teacher in Ottawa, he studied law, and removing to Man., was called to the bar of that Province, 1882. Mr. M. subsequently practised his profession at Portage la Prairie and Winnipeg, and is now head of the firm of Martin & Mathers, Winnipeg. In 1897 he was apptd. special counsel to the C. P. Ry. Co., and in the same year was called to the bar of B. C. A Lib. in politics, he was returned as an Ind. candidate to the Man. Legislature, 1883, and held the seat until the g. e. of 1892, when he declined re-election. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Selkirk against Mr. Daly, at the Dom. g. e. 1891, but was returned for Winnipeg to the Ho. of Commons, Nov., 1893, and sat till the close of the Parlt. He was the first Lib. ever elected to the Ho. of Commons for the Western capital, and secured his election over his opponent, Colin Campbell, Q.C., by a majority of 425. Mr. M. became Atty.-Genl. under Mr. Greenway, on the latter's accession to office, Jan. 19, 1888, and continued in office until his retirement from the Cabinet, for private reasons, Apl., 1891. While Atty.-Genl. he introduced, and carried through the Legislature, the famous sch. measure abolishing the dual system set up in 1871, and establishing in lieu thereof national common schs., and he represented the Provl. Govt. before the Privy Council when the legality of the measure was being passed upon. In the Ho. of Commons he opposed a proposal to hand over the improvement of the Red River to a private co., and also the Remedial Bill, and did a great deal to kill both. At the g. e. 1896, he was defeated for Winnipeg by Hon. H. J. Macdonald (Vote: Macdonald, C., 2961; Martin, L., 2835). He was a dir. and V.-P. of the Northern Pacific and Man. Ry. for some yrs. MASON, John Herbert, Presdt. Can. Permt. Loan and Savings Co., is the s. of Thos. and Mary Mason, both natives of Cornwall, Eng., and was b. at Ivy Bridge, Devon, Eng., July 10, 1827. Ed. at Plymouth, he came to Can. with his parents, 1842, and was for some yrs. accountant to the Farmers' and Mech. Building Soc., Toronto. From the outset of his career, he was a successful man of business. "Possessing a marked prescience in finance," as a Can. writer has remarked, "united with tireless energy and remarkable tenacity of purpose, it is not surprising that everything he has touched should have prospered." This has been especially so with the Can. Permt. Loan and Savings Co., an institution which he organized, 1855, and of which since then he has been the chief ex. offr., under the respective titles of Secy.-Treas., Mangr., Mang. Dir., and Presdt. He is known also in connection with the Torrens system of Land Transfer. In 1883 he took a prominent part in organizing the Can. Land Law Amendment Assn., which brought this system to the notice of the Can. people, and he has been Presdt. of the Assn. from its formation up to the present time. He has been annually elected Presdt. of the Ont. Land Mortgage Companies Assn. from its organization, in 1887, to the present time. He was Presdt. of the Toronto branch of the Imp. Fed. League, and is now a mem. of the council of the body succeeding it—the Brit. Empire League. He has been 3 times elected Presdt. of the St. George's Soc., Toronto, and likewise Presdt. of the St. George's Union of North Am., and has been a mem. of the Council of the Toronto Bd. of Trade since 1894. He was one of the founders of the Confederation Life Assn., and is now V.-P. and Chairman of the Ont. Branch of the Great West Life Assn.; a dir. of the Ont. Accident Ins. Co., and a trustee of the Univ. of Toronto. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he has sat in the Diocesan Synod, and is a dir. of the Evangel. Churchman Pub. Co.; a trustee of the Bp. Ridley Coll., St. Catharines, and Vice-Chairman of the Council of Wycliffe Coll. In 1888 he gave $1000 to U. C. Coll. for the founding of 2 medals, to be awarded annually to the pupils most distinguished for excellence of character. He has never taken an active part in politics. Mr. M. m. 1855, Sarah J., dau. of the late J. S. Darracott, Plymouth, Eng. (she d.); and 2ndly, 1881, Elizabeth, dau. of the late Jas. Campbell, Toronto. MASON, Major John James, V. M., is the s. of the late J. J. Mason, M. D., and was b. at Kilby, Northamptonshire, Eng., Feb. 4, 1842. Coming to Can. in early life, he lived for some time at Woodstock, Ont. On removing to Hamilton, he became ed. and prop. of the Craftsman, and was afterwards a public auditor and accountant. He was for some time auditor of the Gt. Western Ry., both before and after its amalgamation with the Grand Trunk Ry. Elected an Ald., he was twice Mayor of Hamilton, and attended the Toronto Municipal Conf., 1889. He was also Presdt. of the Central Fair Assn., Presdt. of the St. George's Soc., and was elected Chairman of the Hamilton Sch. Bd., 1897. He was apptd. a mem. of the Govt. Comn. to enquire into the mode of remunerating Provl. Co. officials, 1894, and was likewise a mem., as well as Chairman, of the Ont. Toll Roads Comn., 1895. He joined the active mil. as Quartermast., 13th Batt., June, 1866, and attained the rank of hon. maj., 1881. Present at Ridgeway, he has since become one of the best known riflemen in the Dom. He was a mem. of the first team of riflemen sent from Ont. to Wimbledon, 1871, and, in 1897, commanded the team sent to Bisley. He has been for yrs. on the Council and the Ex. of the Dom. Rifle Assn. and of the Ont. Rifle Assn. He was elected Presdt. of the Victoria Rifle Club and Presdt. of the Can. Mil. Rifle League, 1897. He enjoys high rank as a Freemason, and has held the office of Grand Secy. to the Grand Lodge of Can. since the death of T. B. Harris. A

mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he is also Lay Secy. of the Niagara Synod and Secy.-Treas. of the local branch of the D. and F. Mission. Soc. of the Ch. of Eng. in Can. Politically, Maj. M. is a Lib., and was elected Presdt. of the Hamilton Reform Assn., 1896. In 1890, in acknowledgment of his many services to the community, he was presented by his fellow-citizens with a handsome testimonial.—Hamilton, Ont.; Hamilton Club.

MASSEY, Lt.-Col. Frederick, business manager, is the s. of the late Rev. Saml. Massey, by his wife, May Fryer. B. at Poynton, Cheshire, Eng., Apl. 21, 1849, he was ed. at the High Sch., Montreal, and has long been identified with commercial pursuits and interests there. At the present time he is Presdt. and Mangr. of the Gurney-Massey Co., Ltd., Montreal, which owes much of its prosperous condition to his energy and foresight. He was elected Presdt. of the Dom. Commercial Travellers' Assn., 1894 (Vote: Lt.-Col. Massey, 1086; Mr. Morin, 632), and was re-elected, 1895. He was long creditably identified with the V. M. of Can. which he entered, 1865. Obtaining a 1st class V. B. cert., we find him apptd. capt. 6th Fusiliers, Aug., 1878; maj., Apl., 1883; and lt.-col. commanding, Feb., 1886. He retired, retaining rank, and was placed on the Reserve of Officers, Dec., 1892. During and subsequent to his mil. career he held various offices connected therewith. He commanded the Can. Bisley team, 1892; became Presdt. of the Montreal Rifle Assn., 1894; was elected V.-P. of the Montreal Mil. Inst., 1895; Presdt. of the Can. Mil. Rifle League, same year; and Chairman of Council Dom. Rifle Assn., 1897. In Freemasonry he became D.D.G.M., Montreal Dist. (Quebec Grand Lodge), 1884; Depty. Grand Master, 1894; and Grand Master, 1895. Politically, he is a Con.; in religion, an Ang. MASSON, George, Can. railway service, was b. in Kingston, Ont., Jan. 27, 1831. Ed. in the local schs., he commenced his professional career as a chainman on the preliminary surveys for the Gt. Western Ry., 1853. He was subsequently asst. engr. of that road, and later, of the Atlantic and Gt. Western Ry. In Aug., 1864, he was apptd. resident Engr. of the Tomah and St. Croix Ry.; in June, 1866, do. do. of the Detroit and Milwaukee Ry.; in June, 1871, Chief Engr. of the Detroit, Grand Haven and Milwaukee Ry.; in Dec., 1874, do. do. of the London, Huron and Bruce Ry., and in May, 1885, do. do. of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Ry. His present official designation is Chief Engr. of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Ry. and of all lines controlled by the Grand Trunk Ry. west of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers. He was admitted a mem. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1880. —Detroit, Mich.

MASSON, His Honour James, Co. Ct. Judge, is the s. of the late Thos. W. S. Masson, Seymour, Northumberland, Ont., and was b. in that tp., Feb. 17, 1847. Ed. at the local schs. and at Belleville Grammar Sch., he was called to the Ont. bar, 1871, and pursued the practice of his profession at Owen Sound, where he was also Master in Chancery, 1873-85. He was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1885. Mr. M. sat in the Ho. of Commons for North Grey, in the Con. interest, from g. e. 1887 up to the period of his appt. as Co. Ct. Judge for Huron, Apl., 1896. While in public life he warmly supported the late Sir John Macdonald and his successors in the Premiership. He was a protectionist and a supporter of the constitutional rights of Man. In 1892 he was an active mem. of the Special Joint Comte. of Parlt. on the Criminal Code. In religion, a Presb., he m. July, 1873, Jessie, 3rd dau. of the late Rev. Duncan Morrison, D. D., Owen Sound. —Goderich, Ont.

MASSON, Hon. Louis François Rodrigue, statesman, is the 4th s.

of the late Hon. Joseph Masson, M.L.C., by his wife, Marie Geneviève Sophie Raymond, Laprairie. B. at Terrebonne, P.Q., Nov. 7, 1833, he was ed. at the Jesuit Coll., Georgetown, U.S., at the Semy. of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., and at the Coll. of St. Hyacinthe, after which he travelled through Europe and the Holy Land. He studied law in the office of the late Sir G. E. Cartier, and was called to the bar, 1859, but has never given himself to the practice of his profession. In Aug., 1863, he was apptd. Brig.-Maj. of the 8th Mil. Dist. L. C. He held this office until after he entered Parlt., in 1867. In his mil. capacity he served on the frontier during the Fenian raids of 1866, attaining the rank of lt.-col., 1867. He sat for Terrebonne in the Ho. of Commons, from g. e. 1867 to Sept. 30, 1882, when he was summoned to the Senate by the Marquis of Lansdowne. He has sat also in the Leg. Council of his native province. He declined a seat in the Macdonald Cabinet, 1873, but in Oct., 1878, joined Sir John's "N. P." Admn. as Mr. of Militia, becoming later, Presdt. of the Council. Unfortunately troubled with delicate health, after 2 yrs. he retired from office. During his stay at the mil. bureau he introduced cadet cos. into the univs., high schs. and colleges of the Dom., by which means the youth of the country received valuable training preparatory to their future assumption of active service in the mil. of the country. Shortly after his appt. to the Senate, political affairs in Quebec reached a critical stage. The split in the Con. ranks became most marked, and the disaffected Ministerialists of the Province banded themselves together as "Castors," and openly opposed the Mousseau ministry with even greater vehemence than did the Libs. In the hope of healing the breach, Mr. M. was called upon to accept the leadership of the local Con. party and form a united ministry; but continued ill-health stood in the way, and in the following yr. all idea of such a means of fusion was brought to an end by his acceptance of the Lt.-Governorship of the Province—a position which he held until Oct. 28, 1887, when he resigned, again owing to ill-health. He was summoned to the Senate for the second time, Feb. 3, 1890, and is still a member of that body. In religious faith, he is a R. C., and warmly devoted to the interests of his ch. As Lt.-Gov. he refused to take the oath to which all previous occupants of the office were compelled to subscribe, on the ground that he could not conscientiously, as a R. C., deny the Pope's ecclesiastical authority as declared therein. The question was raised in the Ho. of Commons, and Sir John Macdonald, recognizing that such an objection to the oath ought to be met, took steps which subsequently removed the difficulty. It should be mentioned that as a private mem. Mr. M. took strong ground in favour of the granting of an amnesty for political offences committed in Man. during the first Riel rebellion, and he was a mem. of the Select Comte. of the Ho. of Commons apptd. to enquire into the causes of the insurrection. In Dec., 1888, he was apptd. to the Council of Public Instruction, Quebec, and has taken a prominent part in its deliberations and work. He has published: "Les Bourgeois de la Compagnie du Nord-Ouest" (1889), a valuable work containing many hitherto unpublished documents, letters and journals relating to the early history of the N. W. T. He is a life gov. of Notre Dame Hospital, Montreal, and a mem. of the Council of the Numis. and Antiq. Soc. of Can. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from Laval Univ., 1866, and that of D.C.L. from Bishop's Coll. Univ., Lennoxville, 1887. Mr. M. has been twice m., 1st, 1856, to Louisa Rachel, eld. dau. of the late Lt.-Col. Alex. Mackenzie (she d. July, 1880); and 2ndly, 1883, to Cecile, dau. of John H. Burroughs, Quebec.—286 Prince Arthur St., Montreal; The Manor House,

MATHER, Miss Margaret, actress, is the dau. of John Finlayson. B. at Tilbury, Ont., Oct. 21, 1860, she was ed. for her profession in N. Y., and made her début, 1881. After further study, she opened her career with Mr. Hill, at McVicar's Theatre, Chicago, Aug., 1882, as "Juliet." Her success was instantaneous. She then played in the principal cities, and, in 1885, appeared in the Union Square Theatre, N. Y. Her season of 17 weeks was played to crowded houses. Her repertoire includes "Rosalind," "Imogen," "Lady Macbeth," "Leah," "Julia," "Lady Gay Spanker," "Peg Woffington," "Mary Stuart," "Pauline," "Juliana," "Joan of Arc," "Nance Oldfield," "Constance" and "Medea." She is constantly adding new attractions to her list, and her artistic growth is said to be substantial. In 1897 she eclipsed all her previous efforts in the production of "Cymbeline," at a cost of $40,000. She m. 1st, Alfred Haberkarn (divorced, 1890); and 2ndly, Gustave G. Pabst, Milwaukee, Wis. MATHESON, Lt.-Col. Arthur James, barrister and legislator, is the 5th s. of the late Col. the Hon. Roderick Matheson, Senator, formerly lieut. and paymaster Glengarry Light Infy. during the war of 1812, by his 2nd wife, Anna, dau. of Rev. Jas. Russell, min., of Gairloch, Scot. B. at Perth, Ont., 1842, he was ed. at U. C. Coll. and at Trin. Univ., Toronto (B.A., 1865), was called to the bar, 1870, and has practised throughout in his native town. After having sat as a mem. of the town council, he was elected Mayor of Perth, 1883. At the g. e. 1894 he was returned to the Legislature for South Lanark, and has taken a prominent part in the debates in that chamber, on the Con. side. He took a 1st class cert. at the M. S., entered the Perth Infy. Co., 1866, and was on service on the St. Lawrence frontier during the subsequent Fenian raid. Gazetted capt., 1881, and major, 1885, he was promoted Lt.-Col. commanding 42nd Batt., 1886. He volunteered with his corps for service in the N.-W., 1885. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he is also a mem. of Council, Trinity Univ., and has served as a del. to the Genl. Synod. Unm.—Perth, Ont.

MATHESON, David, Can. public service, was b. at Canisbay, Caithness-shire, Scot., Oct. 25, 1840. Ed. there and in Wick, he came to Can., 1861, and in Nov., 1863, entered the C. S. as private secy. to Sir Oliver Mowat, then Postmaster-Genl. Remaining in the same dept., he was one of 2 officers selected, in 1868, to organize the system of Post-office Savings Banks for Can., and he specially designed the plan of accounts then adopted and which still exists. Mr. M. was promoted Asst. Supdt. of Savings Banks, Oct. 1, 1881, and Supdt., Feb. 1, 1888. He has filled the office of a public sch. trustee, and his name has frequently appeared upon the directorate of institutions established for educational and beneficent purposes. He is a staunch believer in the supreme importance of the integrity and power of the Brit. Empire, as securing to mankind, wherever the Brit. flag floats, substantial justice, freedom, protection and peace—the conditions necessary to a progressive civilization. An adherent of the Presb. Ch., he has been twice m., 1st, to Miss White, of Quebec (she d.); and 2ndly, Aug., 1887, to Miss Mary Ann Jolly.—"Huna Cottage," 147 Somerset St., Ottawa.

His later contributions include "Illustrations of the Fauna of the St. John Group," which appears in the "Trans. of the Royal Soc. of Can.," of which body he is a Fellow. He was made an hon. M.A. of the N. B. Univ., 1878, an LL.D., 1897, and a D.Sc. by Laval Univ., 1894. In 1895 he was elected Presdt. of the Natural Hist. Soc. of N. B.—St. John, N.B.

MATTHEWS, Marmaduke Matthews, R.C.A., was b. in Warwickshire, Eng., of Welsh descent, 1839. Ed. at the Cowley diocesan sch., Oxford, he afterwards spent 3 yrs. in London, in a German publishing and importing house. He came to Can., 1860, but removed 4 yrs. later to N. Y. Returning to Toronto, 1869, he assisted in the formation of the Ont. Soc. of Artists, of which he was made Secy., 1875, and Presdt., 1894. On the formation of the Royal Can. Acad. of Art, 1880, he was apptd. thereto and chosen Secy., by the Marquis of Lorne. He takes high rank as a landscape painter, seldom failing to produce a good picture. Among the best-known of his works are: "Canadian Wonderland," "The Conquered Portal" (Roger's Pass, Selkirks), and other

Rocky Mountain subjects—as well as many woodland studies in old Can. and New Eng. At the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, he received the most appreciative criticism and approval from Ernst Hech, who was specially apptd. to report to the Paris Alpine Club, upon such works as might be found there of interest to lovers of mountain scenery. In brief, he placed Can. first of all in that vast assembly, and gave Mr. M.s' works pre-eminence in her collection. He m. 1864, the dau. of H. G. MAVOR, James, educationist, is the s. of the Rev. Jas. Mavor, M.A., by his wife, M. A. Taylor, dau. of Capt. McBride. B. at Stranraer, Scot., 1854, he was ed. at the High Sch. and at the Univ. of Glasgow. In 1888 he was apptd. Prof. of Pol. Economy and Statistics in St. Mungo's Coll., Glasgow, and about the same time Lecturer on the same subjects in the Glasgow Athenæum. In addition to purely academic work, he had extensive experience in technical journalism and in lecturing to popular classes in connection with the Univ. ex. movement. He took an active part in many schemes of social progress. He was one of the founders and original directors of the Glasgow Workingmen's Dwelling Co., an organization for furnishing cheap and sanitary homes for working people, and conducted since its formation on a larger scale, and with great success. In 1892 Prof. M. was apptd. one of a comte. of 4 to proceed to Germany to enquire into the working of the labour colonies there, with the object of ascertaining the adaptability of the system to Scot. In 1893 he was commissioned at the instance of H. M. Bd. of Trade (Eng.), to continue his enquiries into the labour colony system on the continent. The report resulting from these enquiries was subsequently published as a Parliamentary paper. On Prof. Ashley's retirement from the chair of Political Economy and Constit. Hist. in Toronto Univ., 1892, Prof. M. was apptd. to succeed him. He is also a mem. of the Univ. Council. Besides numerous articles on social and economic topics in the mags. and reviews, he is the author of the following works, viz.: "Wage Theories and Statistics" (1888); "Economic Theory and History Tables and Diagrams" (1890); "The Scottish Railway Strike, 1890" (do.); "The English Railway Rates Question" (1894); "The Labour Colonies and the Unemployed" (1896); "The English Railway in its Legislative and Economical Relations" (1897). MEDILL, Hon. Joseph, journalist, of Scotch-Irish ancestry, was b. in St. John, N.B., Apl. 6, 1823. Removing with his father to Stark Co., Ohio, 1832, he worked on a farm near Canton, but subsequently studied law and was admitted to the bar in Nov., 1846, and practised in New Philadelphia 3 yrs. in partnership with Geo. W. McIlvaine, afterwards Chief-Justice of Ohio. He founded a "Free Soil" paper at Coshocton in 1849; established the Leader, a free soil Whig journal, at Cleveland, May, 1852; and, in 1854, was one of the organizers of the Republican party in Ohio. Soon afterward he went to Chicago, and with 2 partners, bought, May, 1855, the Tribune, with which he has been identified, since Nov., 1874, as chief prop. and ed. He was a mem. of the Illinois Constitutional Convention, 1870, and the author of a minority representation clause. He also secured the insertion of several reformatory provisions and important clauses, such as limiting the amount of bonded indebtedness of counties and municipalities to 5 per cent. on their taxable valuations; and to prevent the passage of special laws which could be provided for by general laws, and to prevent the enactment of special charters for corporations; and providing for more publicity in the passing of bills; giving the governor more veto power, and the right to veto any items in an appropriation bill, without having to veto the whole bill, etc., etc. He was chiefly instrumental in getting the "High-license" law passed, fixing the minimum fee for selling liquors at $500 per annum; besides several other important laws. In 1871 he was appointed a mem. of the first U. S. Civil Service Comn., by Presdt. Grant; and was elected Mayor of Chicago. He spent a year in Europe, 1873-74, and since then has devoted himself chiefly to his paper. "Mr. Medill," says the Banner of Gold, "will have his place in history with the other great editors, but more pages will be required to recite his acts of benevolence and his works of philanthropy. Without money and without price he has laboured for yrs. for the benefit of his fellows. The amelioration of suffering, the cure of diseases and the improvement and education of the race has occupied much of his time." He is the author of "Benjamin Franklin; an address" (1896), and in that year erected a bronze statue of Franklin, at his own cost, in Lincoln Park, Chicago.—"Tribune" Office, Chicago, Ill.

He was for some yrs. a partner of his bro., the present Mr. Justice Meredith, and now is head of the firm of Meredith, Cameron & Judd. He was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1885. He sat in the London City Council for some yrs., and was Mayor of London, 1883-84. Politically, he is a Con., and unsuccessfully contested North Middlesex for the Legislature, 1884. In religion, he is a mem. of the Ang. Ch. He is also a Freemason. He m. 1876, Theresa, dau. of P. McCann, London.—London, Ont.

MEREDITH, Edmund Allen, late Can. public service, is the representative of an Irish branch of an ancient Welsh family which figures prominently in the history of the principality from an early date. His father was the Rev. Dr. Thos. Meredith, a distinguished math. and Fellow of Trinity Coll., Dublin; his mother, a dau. of the Very Rev. Dean Graves, also a Fellow of Trinity Coll., and a learned theol. and author. B. at Ardtrea, Co. Tyrone, Oct. 7, 1817, Mr. M. is himself a scholar and science medal. of Trinity Coll., where he obtained his degree of B.A. in 1837. Later, he received the hon. degree of M.A. from Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, and of LL.D. from McGill Univ. After having studied law for about 3 yrs., Mr. M. came to Can., Nov., 1842, and resumed the study of law in the office of his bro., the late Sir Wm. Meredith, afterwards Chief-Justice at Quebec. In 1844 he returned to Irel., for the purpose of being called to the bar, and not long afterwards was called to the local bar in both Upper and Lower Can. Apptd. Principal of, and Lecturer in, Math., in McGill Coll., Montreal, 1846, he devoted himself principally to the task of procuring a new charter for the Univ., an object which was finally attained, 1852. In 1847 he was offered and accepted the office of Asst. Provl. Secy., U.C., resigning the office of Principal of McGill. As the seat of govt. was then at Montreal, Mr. M.'s connection with McGill Coll., as a gov., was continued for some yrs., until Montreal ceased to be the seat of govt. When the Confederation of the Provinces was accomplished, 1867, he became Under-Secy. of State for the Provinces, and on the establishment of the Dept. of the Interior, 1873, he was apptd. its first Depty. Mr. He retired from the public service, Sept., 1878, and has since then resided in Toronto. As an official, he was held in high esteem by successive governors and administrators. His most important work was achieved during the 10 yrs. in which he was connected with the Can. Prison Bd., first as an Inspr. and afterwards as Chairman thereof. He persistently advocated the absolute separation of prisoners in our common gaols, and denounced as cruel and unwise the practice of sending boys and girls under 14 yrs. of age to the ordinary co. prison. Under his direction many important reforms were effected in the prisons, penitentiaries and asylums of the Dom., not the least momentous being the adoption, in regard to penitentiaries, of the principle of what is known among prison reformers as "The Crofter System." The labours of the Prison Bd., under the chairmanship of Dr. M., were highly eulogized by leading Am. and Brit. authorities. He is the author of several pamphlets and papers on social, literary and other subjects, published either separately, or in the Am. and Can. reviews and mags. Among these are: "An Essay on the Oregon Question," "Influence of Recent Gold Discoveries on Prices," "Talfourd's Tragedy of Ion," "Essay on Friendless and Neglected Children," "Compulsory Education in Crime," "Emendations in Shakespeare," "Half-Time and Mil. Drill in Schs.," "National Language and National Manners," "Work of Recent Prison Congresses," "Miss Dix: Philanthropist and Asylum Reformer." He still continues to take a warm interest in Prison Reform, and especially in everything connected with the treatment of children. He read a paper before the Internl. Prison Congress, 1887, on the common gaols of Ont., and took part in the proceedings of the Annual Prison Conf. since held in Toronto. He has been for many yrs. a V.-P. of the Industrial Sch. Assn. and also of the Prisoners' Aid Assn. of Can., as well as an hon. mem. of the Internl. Prison Assn. of N. Y. He formerly held office as Presdt. of the Lit. and Hist. Soc. of Quebec, and of the Lit. and Scien. Soc. of Ottawa. At present he is a V.-P. of the Astron. and Phys. Soc. of Toronto. He is also V.-P. of the Toronto Genl. Trusts Co. In 1896 he was included in the comn. apptd. to enquire into the admn. of Kingston Penty. Politically, a follower of the Free Trade sch. of economists; in religious belief, he is an Ang. He m. B. in London, Ont., Mch. 27, 1847, he was ed. at private schs. in that city, studied law under his bro., the present Chief-Justice Sir W. R. Meredith, and was called to the bar, 1869. He practised in London, in partnership with his bro. Edmund, confining himself chiefly to the equity branch of his profession. He is a graduate of the Mil. Sch., and served with the mil. during the Fenian troubles, 1866. He was raised to the bench, as a mem. of the Chancery Div. of the High Ct. of Justice of Ont., Oct. 1, 1890. Like the other mems. of his family, his Lordship is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He is unm.—Toronto and London, Ont.

MEREDITH, The Hon. Sir William Ralph, Chief-Justice of the Common Pleas, Ont., bro. of the preceding. B. in the Tp. of Westminster, Middlesex, Ont., Mch. 31, 1840, he was ed. there and at the London Dist. Grammar Sch., and graduated LL.B. at Toronto Univ., 1872. He studied for his profession under the late Thos. Scatcherd, Q.C., M.P.; was called to the bar, 1861; and practised for some yrs. in partnership with Mr. Scatcherd, his former principal. It is recorded that as a pleader he possessed the analytical faculty to a most unusual degree, and that his great powers in cross-examination, combined with the convincing earnestness of his language, soon made him widely known among the mems. of the Ont. bar. He became city solicitor, and a Bencher of the Law Soc.; was made a Q. C. by the Ont. Govt., 1875, and had the same honour conferred upon him by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880. In 1883 he was apptd. an hon. mem. of the Law Faculty of Toronto Univ. In the same year he moved to Toronto, and was subsequently apptd. Corporation Counsel there, and head of the city's legal dept. In 1889 he received from his Alma Mater the hon. degree of LL.D. During his professional career he was engaged in many important cases, both criminal and civil, including the mysterious Biddulph murder case and the McCabe poisoning case, in both of which he specially distinguished himself. Mr. M. was first elected to the Legislature, 1872, succeeding Mr. (now Sir) John Carling, who withdrew from Provl. politics, in the representation of London. He is said to have immediately become a power in the House. He took a firm stand on the side of the workingmen, and was one of the first advocates of manhood suffrage, which he took up in 1875. His name was also identified with the legislation by which wages to the amount of $25 were exempted from seizure, with the Mechanics' Lien Act, with the Workingmen's Compensation for Injuries Act, with the question of Biennial Parlts., and other measures of a similar character. He was elected leader of the Opposition in 1878, succeeding the late Sir M. C. Cameron, who was raised to the bench, in that position. His promotion was long a foregone conclusion, as his colleagues had recognized his great strength in the country, and his accurate knowledge of political affairs. Not long after this event the boundary award was made, and the agitation which immediately arose rendered his task a difficult one. The discussion between the parties was a heated one, and it was endeavoured to cast upon Mr. M. the onus of having supported the claims of the Dom. as against those of the Province. He insisted, after the rejection of the award by the Dom. Parlt., that the question be submitted to the Privy Council, and the event ultimately proved his contention to have been correct, and the course he had proposed the only safe one that could have been taken. In the disallowance agitation of 1882, he again appeared to be on the unpopular side. He, however, did not hesitate to affirm the conviction that a strong central govt. was vitally necessary to a strong confederation, and to deprecate any efforts on the part of Provl. Govts. to weaken it for selfish ends. Throughout the reverses he met with at the polls, he never abandoned this principle. He also took strong ground on the question of education. He enunciated the principle that to place a political head over the Education Dept. is to make it a political machine, and so greatly lessen its influence for good. During his last campaign he, on many occasions, expressed his views on this matter. He fought for a ballot in the Separate schs., and against the exercising of undue clerical influence in educational matters. His newspaper discussion with Archbp. Cleary attracted wide attention, and to a great extent defined the line of cleavage between the parties. His opinions in this connection are too well known to need repetition here. The last session he passed in the Legislature was marked by a number of stirring debates, during which Mr. M. often displayed an intimacy with the smallest details of departmental expenditure, and at the same time a comprehensive grasp of the legislation before the Ho., which astonished even his intimate friends. In 1883 he was presented by his party friends in the Legislature with a solid silver service, in acknowledgment of his eminent public services. A more signal tribute to his talents and services was paid by the Govt. itself in making provision for a salary of $2000 a year to him as leader of the Opposition. This, however, he declined to receive. His Lordship was raised to the Bench as Chief-Justice of the Common Pleas Div. of the High Ct. of Justice of Ont., Oct. 5, 1894. One of the first cases tried by him was that of Hendershott and Welter for murder, both of whom were convicted and afterwards executed. In 1895 he was elected to the Senate of the Univ. of Toronto, the vote polled making him the senior among the elective mems. of the Bd. In 1896 he was apptd. a mem. of the comn. for the revision of the Provl. Statutes. He is also V.-P. of the National Sanitarium Assn. As a young man he served for some yrs. as an offr. in the London Light Infy. He received the honour of knighthood, 1896. Sir William belongs to the Ang. communion. He m. MILLER, Rev. Herbert Gordon (Ch. of Eng.), was b. in Woodchurch, Yorkshire, Eng., 1855. Ed. at the Royal Grammar Sch., Lancaster, and at Blundell's Sch., Tiverton, Devon, he passed to Sidney Sussex Coll., Cambridge, of which he was a math. sch., taking his degree, 1876. Accepting a position in Dover Coll., he was ordained deacon, 1879, and priest the following year, by the Bp. of Gloucester and Bristol. He was apptd. to Cheltenham Parish Ch., and subsequently to chs. in Manchester, Birmingham, Chester, Northampton, Clifton and Eastbourne, at which latter he was the successor of the late Bp. Poole. Apptd. Principal of Huron Coll., London, Ont., 1890, he became Rector of the Ch. of St. Thomas, Hamilton, Sept., 1896. In the same year he was elected Chaplain of St. George's Soc., Hamilton. MILLER, Rev. John Ormsby (Ch. of Eng.), educationist, is the s. of the Rev. H. T. Miller, formerly of Liverpool, Eng., and was b. there, 1861. Ed. at Waterloo Sch., Liverpool, at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1888; M.A., 1890), and at Wycliffe Coll., same city, he was ordained to the Ang. ministry, 1888. He is hon. Secy. in Can. for the Nat. Phys. Recreation Soc. of Eng. He was prize essayist in Toronto Univ., and, in 1895, published an elementary text-book for schs., "Short Studies in Ethics," which has been highly commended by educationists and others. He was apptd. Principal of Bp. Ridley Coll., St. Catharines, Ont., at the inception of that institution, and continues in that office.—Bishop Ridley College, St. Catharines, Ont.

MILLER, Hon. William, Q.C., statesman, is descended, on the paternal side, from a family that emigrated to Maine, U.S., from Belfast, Irel., 1720. In 1760 a branch of this family removed from Maine to Colchester, N.S., where they were among the original grantees of the Tp. of Truro; subsequently Jas. Miller, his grandfather, settled in Antigonish, where he carried on business as a farmer, miller and land surveyor. S. of Chas.

Miller, by Eliza, his wife, dau. of Richd. Smith, a native of Wicklow, Irel., he was b. at Antigonish, Feb. 12, 1834. Ed. at St. Andrew's Gram. Sch. and at the Antigonish Acad., he commenced life as a sch. teacher. Subsequently, studying law, he was called to the bar, 1860, and entered on the practice of his profession in the city of Halifax, where, even as a young man, he achieved a high reputation as a lawyer. He was created a Q. C. by the Earl of Dufferin, 1872, and subsequently twice declined appt. to the judicial bench. Mr. M. entered political life, June, 1863, as mem. for Richmond in the N. S. Assembly. He remained in that body up to the Confederation of the Provinces, 1867, when he was called to the Senate by Royal Proclamation. He declined appt. as a del. to the London Col. Conf., 1866. In the Senate he has been Chairman of the Standing Comtes. on Private Bills, the Contingent Accounts, Railways and Canals, and Banking and Commerce, besides many important special comtes. He was also Chairman of the Joint. Comte of both Houses of Parlt. on the codification of the criminal laws, which reported the present Criminal Code of the Dom , and for his services as such received the special thanks of the then Mr. of Justice, Sir John Thompson. He became Speaker of the Senate, Oct. 17, 1883, and continued to fill that office up to the close of the 5th Parlt., 1887. In 1886 he was offered the leadership of the Senate by the then Prime Minister, Sir John Macdonald, and later, in 1884, on the retirement of Sir Chas. Tupper from the Cabinet, was recommended by that statesman to be his successor therein. He was sworn of the Queen's Privy Council of Can., May 30, 1891. Both as a private mem. of Parlt. and otherwise, Senator M. has been afforded many opportunities of rendering important public services to his native Province and the Dom. generally. While a mem. of the N. S. Assembly he gave material assistance to the Union cause. Being in favour of Confederation, but opposed to the financial conditions and other details of the Quebec scheme, it was on his suggestion and with his assistance that the compromise was effected whereby the delegation to Eng. was apptd. in 1866, in order to secure, under the auspices of the Imp. authorities, such modifications of that scheme as would make it more acceptable to the people of N. S. To this action of Senator M. was really due the acceptance of the Union by the Legislature of N. S., at a time when the project appeared about to end in inevitable failure. Politically, he has been and is an Ind. mem. of the Lib.-Con. party. He m. 1871, Annie, dau. of the late Hon. Jas. Cochrane, of Halifax.—Arichat, N.S.; Rideau Club.

MILLIGAN, Rev. George Macbeth, (Presb.), is the s. of Wm. Milligan, by his wife, Catharine Macbeth, and was b. at Wick, Caithness-shire, Scot., Aug. 11, 1840. Ed. at Pultenay Acad., in his native place, and at Queen's Univ., Kingston (B.A., with honours, 1862), he pursued his theol. studies at Princeton, N.J., and was ordained to the ministry, 1868. After serving at Eng. Settlement, near London, Ont., he was called to the pastorate of the Scotch Ch., Detroit, 1869, and, in 1876, to that of Old St. Andrew's Ch., Toronto, then left vacant by the late Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, who had gone to New St. Andrew's Ch., taking the majority of the cong. with him. Since then, mainly through Mr. M.'s exertions, a new ch.—one of the finest and best equipped in the city—has been erected to take the place of the old one, and the cong. from 48 has become over 600. "Mr. M.," says the Can. Presbyterian, "is not only an eloquent and earnest preacher and a faithful pastor, but he has, outside his own cong., ever been ready with tongue and pen to champion every good cause and to combat every bad one, from Jesuit aggression to Sabbath desecration." He was for some time Presdt. of the Toronto Minist. Assn., was repeatedly invited to lecture on Ch. History in Queen's Univ., and is on the Bd. of Trustees of that institution, a Senator of Knox Coll., Toronto, and Presdt. of St. Margaret's Coll., same city. He is also Presdt. of Queen's Theol. Alumni Assn. He received the hon. degree of D.D., from Knox Coll., 1894. He has travelled extensively both in Am. and Europe, and some yrs. ago delivered a series of public lectures descriptive of his impressions abroad. He was a del. to the Pan-Presb. MILLIGAN, Rev. George Seaton (Meth.), is the s. of the late Geo. Milligan, by Eliza Seaton, his wife, both natives of Dumfriesshire, Scot. B. at Thornhill, Dumfriesshire, Feb, 3, 1828, he was ed. there, and became a sch. teacher. Emigrating to N. B., 1842, he taught a public sch. at Nashwaak, and was afterwards successively Asst. Classical and Math. Master in the Male Acad., Sackville, and Master of the Sunbury Co. Grammar Sch. Entering King's Coll., Fredericton, now the Univ. of N. B. (B A., 1852; M.A., 1854), he was admitted to the ministry, 1854, and accepted pastoral service in N. B. He was Prof. of Latin in Mount Allison Univ., 1862-64, when, on returning to circuit work, he was stationed successively at Woodstock, N.B., Halifax, Charlottetown, and is now in St. John's, Nfd. Mr. M. was Chairman of the Fredericton Dist., 1865-66; of P. E. I. Dist., 1870; Co. Del. of Conf. of E. Brit. Am., 1874; and Presdt. of Nfd. Conf. on 4 different occasions. Since 1875 he has been Supdt. of Meth. Schs. in Nfd. He is also a mem. of the Council of Higher Education for Nfd., an examr. for the Med. Soc., and one of the regents of the Univ. of Mount Allison (LL.D., 1882). From his youth up he has been a total abstainer. He is strongly attached to Brit. rule and institutions, and is a believer in the Confederation of B. N. A., upon just terms, and in Imp. Federation. Dr. M. m. 1st, Jan., 1852, Margt. MILLS, Hon. David, statesman, is descended from Puritan and U. E. Loyalist ancestors, and was b. in the Tp. of Orford, Kent, Ont. (whither his father, the late Nathaniel Mills, had come from N. S., 1817), Mch. 18, 1831. Ed. at the local schs. and at the Univ. of Michigan (LL.B., 1855), he began life as a sch. teacher. Subsequently, he was apptd. Supdt. of Schs. for the Co. Kent, an office he continued to fill up to 1865. Two yrs. afterwards he was returned for Bothwell to the Ho. of Commons, and held a seat in that body from the commencement of the 1st Parlt., 1867, to the g. e. 1882, when he was improperly deprived of his seat (vide judgment of the Supreme Ct. of Can.) for a session, but was seated by the Ct., and continued to represent the constituency up to the g. e. 1896, when he was defeated by the Con. candidate, Jas. Clancy (Vote: Clancy, 2587; Mills, 2528). Mr. M. was called to the bar, 1883, and follows the practice of his profession in London. He was for some time a mem. of the firm of Parke & Purdom, but more recently has practised in partnership with his son. He was created a Q. C. by the Ont

Govt., 1890, and was recommended to the Earl of Aberdeen for a similar distinction by the Tupper Admn., 1896. He was employed by the Ont. Govt. to define the N.-W. boundary of the Province, 1872, and his professional services were retained in conducting the argument on this subject before the Imp. Privy Council, 1884. He was also retained by the Ont. Govt. in the Ct. of Appeal and in the Supreme Ct. in the question of the Indian Titles, and also in the case as to the appt. of Queen's Counsel. The author of several brochures on political subjects, Mr. M. has likewise written extensively on public questions for the mags. and newspapers, and he was for 5 yrs. subsequent to 1882, ed.-in-chief of the London Advertiser. Many beautiful poetical pieces have also emanated from his pen. He was elected a mem. of the Council of Public Inst. of Ont. (representing the Sch. Insprs. in that body), 1875, and on a new faculty of law being established in the Univ. of Toronto, 1888, was chosen to fill the chair of Constitutional and Internl. Law therein, a position he still retains. In 1897 he was also chosen an Examr. in Constitutional Law in the same Univ. He was elected Presdt. of the Star Loan Co., 1890, and Presdt. of the Northern Life Assur. Co., 1896. During the existence of the Mackenzie Govt., he held the office of Mr. of the Interior in it, from Oct., 1876 till the resignation of the Cabinet, Oct., 1878. He was called to the Senate, by Lord Aberdeen, Nov., 1896, and, on Nov. 12, 1897, entered the Laurier Cabinet as Mr. of Justice, succeeding Sir O. Mowat in that office. Politically, he is an advanced Lib. As a private mem. he moved, in Mch., 1895, for the reconstruction of the Senate. His political views were summed up in a review of his career, which appeared in the Toronto Globe, Dec. 27, 1894. From this we make the following extract: "He has always been an opponent of a nominated Senate. He is, however, still a second Chamber man, and wants to mend rather than end our Upper House. Holding the high political ideals which he does, and believing that the worst crime against the commonwealth is a wrong against the ind. of the electorate, it need scarcely be said that the partizan redistribution of constituencies and the partizan preparation of voters' lists find in him one of their most powerful denouncers. In economic questions he is an uncompromising opponent of the protective system. He believes Can. ought to make her own commercial treaties, and a few months ago the breadth of his mind on the Imp. relationship was shown in a magazine article, in which he argued that, while the Motherland gives the protection of her navy to the commerce of the colonies in the seas of the world, it is conducive neither to their self-respect or self-reliance that they should make no substantial return for that service, but that they should, on the contrary, seek to shut Brit. trade out of their markets. He is opposed to handing over the work of legislation to the Ministry, as is now so largely done at Ottawa. Some of his most valuable contributions to our political literature have been upon this and kindred subjects, whose importance is scarcely appreciated by minds which do not go to the root of diseases in the body politic. His study of the foundation principles of representative govt. pointed out to him yrs. ago the effect, now apparent, upon the whole community of Parlt. abdicating its duty of effective supervision over national expenditures and control of the national Executive. If the advice with which he has sought on every available occasion to inculcate sound political principles had been accepted by Parlt., of whose dignity he is a jealous upholder, it would not have become, as it unfortunately is, a mere recording machine for legalizing the actions of its Executive. To sum up his politics, they are, that care and economy in the expenditure of public money, and a desire to do what is honest and fair on the part of representatives ; habits of self-reliance and ind. among the people, and a sense of justice stronger than party allegiance, are of immeasurably greater consequence in promoting the honour and prosperity of Can. than political nostrums which propose to increase wealth by imposing taxation, to invite immigration by an enormous public debt, and to develop the country by reckless expenditure whose only purpose is to corrupt constituencies." "No son of Canada has served his country with more singleness of purpose, with broader patriotism or higher ideals. No one has realized more deeply the responsibilities of citizenship, and has lived more nearly up to them. Political life has never been with him a chess-board, where knights and pawns were moved to suit the exigencies of party, but a never-wearying search for truth, an unending conflict between justice and wrong.—Globe.

MILLS, James, educationist, is the s. of John Mills, by his wife, Ann Stinson, both natives of the north of Irel. B. in West Gwillimbury, Simcoe, Ont., Nov. 24, 1840, he was brought up on his father's farm. A serious accident formed the turning-point in his career. At 21 he lost his right arm in a threshing machine, and thus handicapped, he stood upon the threshold of his life-work with responsibility, and, what some would call disaster, staring him in the face. Entering the public sch. he began his education at the time when the majority of young men have already finished. Hitherto his training had been entirely manual or physical ; now he began to develop the mental side of his nature. From the public sch. he proceeded to the Bradford Grammar Sch., and thence to Victoria Univ., Cobourg (B.A., and Prince of Wales gold medal for highest rank in genl. proficieney, 1868 ; M.A., 1871 ; LL.D., 1892). After graduation he taught in the Cobourg Coll. Inst., from which position he was promoted to the headmastership of the Brantford High Sch. This institution was then in rank a third or fourth rate sch. ; under Mr. M. it soon became a Coll. Inst., and began to attract attention as one of the most successful for training young men and women for general work and for teachers' and univ. exams. The growth of this sch. and its reputation for thoroughness and good discipline, suggested a man for the Provl. Agricultural Coll., at Guelph, when the presidency became vacant. The offer came to Mr. M. from the Govt. entirely unsolicited, and was accepted in the summer of 1879. The institution had been established in 1874, and for some time had many and great difficulties to contend with. Under Mr. M. most of these obstacles have been overcome, and the Coll. has been established on a firm foundation. The work of the Coll. has likewise been enlarged and systematized. Particular attention has been called to the addition of a third year's course and affiliation with Toronto Univ. whereby the degree of Bach. of Science in Agricul. is conferred upon students. The Province is also indebted to the Principal for organizing the Farmers' Insts., and for instituting Travelling Dairies. To him likewise was entrusted the preparation of a text-book on agricul. for public schs., called "First Principles of Agricul." Recently he has contributed some able papers to Farming, and he wrote the paper on "Agricul. Education" which appeared in the hand-book issued to mems. of the Brit. Assn., 1897. Presdt. M. is a dir. of various local socs. and institutions, and was elected a Fellow of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, 1895. He is a mem. of the Meth. Ch., and m. MILLS, Thomas Wesley, M.D., educationist, was b. at Brockville, Ont., Feb. 22, 1847. Ed. at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1871; M.A., 1872), he pursued his med. studies at McGill Univ. (M.D., 1878; and D.V.S., 1890). Afterwards continuing his studies in Eng. and Germany, under distinguished professors, he was apptd. demonstrator of Physiol., McGill Univ., 1882, lecturer on Physiol., 1884, and a prof. of that branch, 1886. In 1883 he published the results of original investigation on the Physiol. of the Voice, in which he maintained views in opposition to generally received opinion (Journ. of Physiol., Cam., Eng.). This paper was quoted by the foremost laryngologists of the day as authoritative, among others by the late Sir Morell Mackenzie and Dr. Lennox Browne. He has published also "Outlines of Lectures on Physiol." (1886); "A Text-book of Animal Physiol." (1889); "A Text-book of Comparative Physiol." (1890); "How to keep a Dog in the City" (1891); and "The Dog in Health and Disease" (1892). He contributed articles on Digestion, the digestive secretions, etc., to "Buck's Hand-book of the Med. Sciences," and has written many articles to scientific and med. journals, a full list of which will be found in the "Bib. of the Royal Soc. of Can." Of these a series of papers on the "Physiol. of the Heart," has attracted special attention, as has also a paper on "Animal Electricity," in "The Internl. System of Therapeutics." He is a representative Fellow in med. of McGill Univ., a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can., and was elected Presdt. of the Nat. Hist. Soc. of Montreal, 1894. He founded in 1885 the Soc. for the study of Comparative Physiol. in connection with the Vet. Coll. (now the Faculty of Comp. Med. and Vet. Science of McGill Univ.), and has been Presdt. of the Soc. from the first. In 1895 he was invited to offer himself as a candidate for the chair of Physiol. then vacant in one of the large universities of the U. S. Dr. M. is an hon. mem. of the Am. Vet. Coming to Can. with his parents, 1841, he studied for and obtained a teacher's cert., with which he taught sch. until failure in health compelled him to seek out-door employment. After successfully operating in the oil-fields of Penn., he returned to Can., and, as a contractor, assisted in building the Can. Southern Ry. In 1873 he took up his residence at the small hamlet of Essex, Ont., where he embarked extensively in lumbering and manufacturing, and was elected the first mayor of the town, when it had, by increase of population, received corporate powers. For some yrs. he has added to his business that of dealer in real estate and private banking. An ardent Lib. in politics, he has on several occasions declined nomination to the Ho. of Commons in that interest. He has held office as Grand Master of the A.O.U.W., and is regarded by his brethren and others as a ready and forcible lecturer and public speaker. MITCHELL, Charles William, journalist, is the s. of the late Wm. Mitchell, of Edinburgh, a sergt. in H. M.'s 79th Highlanders. B. at Gibraltar, Oct. 8, 1843, he first came to Can., 1849, and learned the printing business in the office of the London Prototype. He served in the U. S. army during the Am. civil war, 1861-63, and was present at Bull Run, Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Seven Pines and Malvern Hill. Subsequently, he led an adventurous life as a mariner, visiting various parts of the world. Returning to Can., 1865, he founded the Ottawa Free Press (Lib.), 1869, which he still owns and conducts. In the Ho. of Commons, Apl. 25, 1894, certain articles in his paper reflecting on the impartiality of Speaker White, were adjudged a libel upon the "honour, character and integrity" of the Speaker, and "a contempt of the privileges and of the constitutional authority of this House." MITCHELL, Hon. Hillyard, trader and legislator, was b. in the Co. Huntingdon, Eng., 1853. Coming to Can., 1872, he, in the same year, proceeded to Man. as a volunteer. In 1876 he settled in the N. W. T., and became a fur trader for Wm. Stobart & Co., traders, merchants and millers, in the Peace River, Athabaska and Glass Lake countries. In 1882 he took up his residence permanently at Duck Lake, and has become a partner in the above-mentioned firm, which possesses cattle and horse ranches at that place. He is a mgte. and coroner for N. W. T. He served throughout the N.-W. rebellion, 1885 (medal), was elected as a Con. to the N.-W. Assembly, g. e. 1888, for Batoche, and, in Nov. same year, was called to the Advisory Council. In Oct., 1897, he accepted a seat in Mr. Haultain's Admn. MITCHELL, Hon. James, Q.C., legislator, is the s. of the late Wm. Mitchell, who came to N. B. from Innerkip, Renfrew, Scot., 1827. B. at the Scotch Settlement, Co. York., N.B., Mch. 16, 1843, he was ed. at the Coll. Sch., Fredericton, and at the Univ. of N. B. (B.A., 1867; M.A., 1869; LL.D., 1897), and was called to the bar, 1870. He practised his profession at St. Stephen, and was created a Q. C. by the Earl of Derby, 1891. He held for some yrs. the office of Inspr. of Schs. for Co. Charlotte. Politically, he is a Lib.-Con., and was first returned to the Legislature for Charlotte, g. e. 1882. He entered Mr. Blair's Admn. as Surveyor-Genl., Mch. 3, 1883, and became Provl. Secy., Recr.-Genl. and Commr. of Agricul., Feb. 3, 1890, retaining those offices until July, 1896, when, on Mr. Blair's retirement, he assumed the Premiership with the portfolio of Atty.-Genl. (Resigned, Oct., 1897.) He was apptd. a Senator of N. B. Univ., 1889. In religious faith, a Presb., he m. Dec., 1873, Mary Anne, dau. of L. Ryder, St. Stephen, N.B. —Fredericton; St. Stephen.

MITCHELL, Hon. Peter, statesman, is the s. of Scottish parents, who settled on the Miramichi River, N. B., 1818. B. at Newcastle, N.B., Jan. 4, 1824, he was ed. at the Grammar Sch. there, and was called to the bar, 1848. Not long afterwards he became engaged in lumbering, shipbuilding and other industrial pursuits. Returned to the Legislature, 1856, he remained a mem. of the Assembly till 1860, when he entered the Leg. Council. At Confederation he was apptd. to the Senate of Can. by Royal Proclamation, and became one of the Govt. leaders in that chamber. He resigned from the Senate, 1874, and was elected to the Ho. of Commons. Defeated at the g. e. 1878, he was again elected at the g. e. 1882, and continued to sit in the Commons up to the g. e. 1891. Since then he has not sat in Parlt. He was a candidate for his old constituency at the g. e. 1896, but was defeated by a majority of 507. Mr. M. entered the Govt. of N. B., 1858, and was a colleague of Messrs. Tilley, Ritchie, Johnson, Fisher, and other Fathers of Responsible Govt. in that Province. He and his friends also took the lead in securing the construction of Provl. rys., and in effecting other beneficial legislation. When the time arrived for discussing the union of the Maritime Provinces, 1864, he was selected to serve as a del. to the Charlottetown Conf., where Messrs. John A. Macdonald, Cartier, Brown, and others appeared to urge the larger union of B. N. A. In the same year he attended the Quebec Conf., which drafted the terms of union; and, later, 1866, he was sent to Eng. to serve as a mem. of the London Conf. on the same subject. In London he stood by Sir Geo. Cartier as against Sir John Macdonald on the question of a Provl. union instead of a Leg. union. "In all these confs. and consultations," says the Montreal Star, "Mr. M. took an active part, his practical, well-balanced mind being fertile in suggestion, and of great service in the very important negotiations with which the delegates were charged by their respective Govts. In the g. e. in N. B., which followed the passing of this Act, Mr. M. took an active part; and although the anti-Confederates won the day, Mr. M. persisted, during the darkest hours, in urging the Legislature and the people to accept the Union. His speeches during the interval between the first and second confederation elections were masterpieces of political oratory, and with the influence which his abilities enabled him to exercise over the Lt.-Gov. of the day, and over an anti-Union Legislature and the more moderate mems. of the anti-Union party, they were beyond all question the most important factors in securing the success of Confederation at the polls in the second great campaign, and thus by bringing N. B. into line with the other provinces of the mainland, made the Confederation an accomplished fact. When the first Govt. of Can. was formed, Mr. M. with Mr. Tilley, was summoned to Ottawa to take his place in the first Dom. Cabinet, being assigned the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries, a dept. which he personally organized for the first time and administered with the greatest ability and success, as all who are interested in shipping, lighthouses, and lake and coast navigation will cheerfully testify. Under his direction the first fleet of cruisers for the protection of our Atlantic fisheries was organized, and rendered great service in its special line of duty; and as Mr. of Marine and Fisheries he was equally successful in defending the policy of the Govt. regarding the fisheries against both the reflections of Presdt. Grant in his message to Congress and the strictures of the Brit. Col. Secy. of that day, who deprecated the vigorous stand that was taken by Can. under Mr. M.'s inspiration, in defence of our maritime rights. In fact, Mr. M. in his despatches in this connection gave the key-note to that bold and national attitude in dealing with the encroachments of the U. S., which enabled more recent Can. Govts. to secure the influence and backing of the Imp. authorities in the Behring Sea difficulty. Mr. M. was also largely instrumental in bringing about the Halifax Arbitration between Gt. Brit. and the U. S., at which for the first time in disputes with the U. S., Can. interests were represented by Canadians, and which eventuated in an indemnity of $4,500,000 being paid to Can. by the U. S. for the use of the Can. fisheries by U. S. fishermen. Although Sir Albert Smith was Mr. of Marine and Fisheries when the arbitration was held, and was knighted because of the success of the arbitration, the actual work which secured this success was done by Mr. M. It was he who blocked out the plan of the Can. case, secured the necessary evidence and arranged the details in most particulars." Mr. M., in Jan., 1885, became prop. of the Montreal Herald, which he conducted for several yrs. He is now retired from active politics, having been apptd. (Mch. 1, 1897) to the office of Inspr. of Fisheries for the Atlantic Provinces of Quebec, N. S. and N. B. He has all his lifetime adhered to Lib. principles in politics. In 1874 he was presented by the electors of Northumberland, his native co., with a handsome testimonial in token of their appreciation of his public services. In Feb., 1894, the Toronto News published some of his political reminiscences. Mr. M. is author of "A Review of Presdt. Grant's recent Message to the U. S. Congress relative to the Can. Fisheries, and the Navigation of the St. Lawrence River" (1870), and of "Notes of a Holiday Trip" (1880). He m. 1853, Mrs. Gough, a widow lady, St. John, N.B. SASKATCHEWAN BUFFALO ROBES

AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

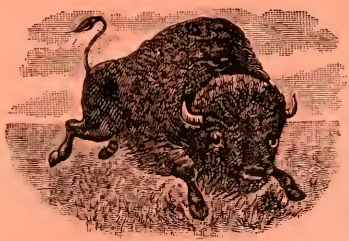
Experience Proves them
Without a Rival



THESE Robes are in general use by Liverymen, Farmers, Physicians, Travelling Agents and thousands of others, from one end of the Dominion to the other, and one and all say they are the Robe for our Canadian Winters, now that the Buffalo has gone never to return. Experience has proven that rough general usage does not injure them any more than it did the old Buffalo Robe.

We guarantee every Robe to be wind, water and moth proof, and will not wear bare in spots like a skin robe. They will dry quicker, never get hard, are as strong as leather, and far warmer and more durable than any cheap fur robe. These robes are made in three parts—the Fur Cloth, the Astrachan Lining and Rubber Inter-lining, and all these parts are without seam.

Besides these Saskatchewan Buffalo Robes, we manufacture

Buffalo Fur Cloth Coats, Black Dog Skin Cloth Coats,
Buffalo Fur Cloth Pea Jackets,
Buffalo Fur Cloth Sleeping Bags.

The immense and steadily increasing sale and demand for these goods is the best evidence of their worth and popularity. For sale in all cities, towns and villages in Canada.

15, 1832, he was ed. at Barrie, Ont., and studied for his profession under F. W. Cumberland and W. G. Storm, Toronto. He was first employed on the Ont., Simcoe and Huron Ry., and afterwards, 1855-57, explored the country extending from Lake Simcoe to Lake Huron and north of lakes Huron and Superior. Proceeding to B. C., 1858, he was in the year following apptd. by Col. R. C. Moody, commdg. R. E., to the office of Supdt. of Public Works and deputed to found the capital of the colony—Queensborough, now New Westminster. He subsequently left the service of the Imp. Govt., and in 1862-63 was engaged in the construction of the Yale-Cariboo waggon road. In 1864 he was elected to the Leg. Council for Cariboo West, and, in the following year, was apptd. Asst. Surveyor-Genl., and instructed to make explorations in the south and south-east portions of the colony, during the progress of which he discovered the Eagle Pass in the Gold Range of mts., which discovery in after yrs. ensured the route for the great Can. highway. He resigned his appt., 1866, and during the 4 yrs. subsequently was busy with explorations and ry. work in the western States. The Dom. Govt. in 1871 having decided on the construction of a trans-continental ry., sent for Mr. M. as being best fitted to give information on that portion of the country stretching west from the Rocky Mts., and he was apptd. engr. to take charge of the surveys from the west end of Eagle Pass, easterly through the Gold, Selkirk and Rocky ranges of mts., to a point in the neighbourhood of Mt. Murchison, at which work he was signally successful. After leaving the Can. Govt.'s service he went to Man., and was one of the promoters and afterwards Chief Engr. of the Manitoba South-Western Ry. He built the first system of sewers in the city of Winnipeg, and constructed the tramway at Grand Rapid, on the Saskatchewan River, for the Hudson's Bay Co. Mr. M. is the author of a small work entitled "The Rocks and Rivers of British Columbia," and has now prepared for publication another work, "The Narrative of how the Earliest Explorations were made to Discover and Ensure the true North-west Passage for the British Empire." In his younger days he was an ensign in the York cavalry. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and politically, a Con.—Winnipeg.

MOCKRIDGE, Rev. Charles Henry (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of the late Rev. Jas. Mockridge, M.A., Rector of St. George's Ch., Belleville, Ont., and was b. in Brantford, Ont., Dec. 15, 1844. Ed. there and at Trin. Coll. Univ., Toronto (B.A., 1865; M.A., 1869; B.D., 1877; D.D., 1882), he was ordained deacon, 1868, and priest, 1869, by Archbp. Lewis. He has served as mission. in Madoc and Hillier, as Curate at St. George's and Holy Trinity, Toronto, as Rector in charge of Christ Ch. Cath., Hamilton, and as Rector of Windsor, N.S. He then became Secy.-Treas. of the D. and F. Miss. Soc. of the Ch. of Eng. in Can., ed. of the Can. Ch. Mag. and Mission. News, and Secy. to the Bd. of Examiners for granting divinity degrees in the Ecc. Pro. of Can. In 1897 he was apptd. to the mission in South Burleigh, but this he resigned not long afterwards to accept the rectorship of Watertown in the State of N. Y. Dr. M. is a canon of St. Alban's Cath., Toronto, and was formerly a canon of Christ Ch. Cath., Hamilton. He has served also as Clerical Secy. to the Synods of Niagara and Toronto. He was Presdt. of the Hamilton Assn., 1885-86. He is the author of "The Bishops of the Ch. of Eng. in Can. and Nfd." (1896). Politically, he is a Con. He m. Eliza Sophia, dau. of the late Rev. MOCKRIDGE, Whitney, vocalist, bro. of the preceding, was b. at Port Stanley, Ont. Ed. at Trinity Coll. Sch., Port Hope, in preparation for the ministry, he was the leading soprano for 2 yrs. of the boy choir at the sch., which was at that time considered the best boy choir in Can. On leaving at 17, he sang for the Toronto Philharmonic Soc., under the leadership of F. H. Torrington, and soon after, as the representative Can. tenor, at the reception concert given in Toronto to the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne. Mr. Torrington was his first teacher. He afterwards studied with W. L. Tomlins, conductor of the Apollo Club, Chicago, and with A. Randegger, in London. Engaged by the Carl Rosa Eng. Opera Co., for leading rôles, he sang in London and through the provinces with this co., returning to Am., 1884. Here he confined himself principally to oratorio and concerts, and sang at the Worcester Festival. In Eng., whither he went a second time, 1893, he attracted much attention and won distinction under the leadership of Sir Joseph Barnby, and others. His interpretation of the aria, "Be thou faithful," at the Cardiff Musical Festival, 1895, was spoken of by the Eng. press as "one of the finest things in the entire performance." He has on several occasions sang at Kensington Palace, before the Princess Louise and other mems. of the Royal Family. In Sept., 1897, he joined the Carl Rosa Co. for the London season.—56 St. Alban St., Toronto.

MOMENT, Rev. Alfred Harrison (Presb.), is the son of Edward Trueman Moment, a native of Hull, Eng., by his wife, Mary Cawon, formerly of Castlemaine, Irel. B. in the Tp. of Clarke, Durham, Ont., Jan. 22, 1844, he obtained a part only of his coll. education in his native country, being compelled to leave there owing to ill-health. He subsequently proceeded to Hanover Coll., Ind., where he graduated, 1872. He obtained his M.A. degree, 1876, and, in 1887, the same institution gave him the degree of D.D. He pursued his theol. studies at Princeton, N.J. Ordained to the ministry by the Presby. of N. Y., 1876, he became pastor of the Spring St. Presb. Ch. of that city. In 1885 he was called to the pastorate of the Westminster Presb. Ch., Brooklyn. In Feb., 1894, Dr. M. went abroad for a protracted period of travel and study in Bible Lands. The spring and summer of that year were spent in Egypt and the Holy Land, especially making himself familiar with the latter country on both sides of the Jordan. He is one of the few modern travellers who have been to the sites of the "Seven Churches of Asia;" and also to the Troad, the scene of Homer's "Iliad." Two mths. were spent in Constantinople, and, in all, he was in the Turkish Empire nearly 10 mths. He also travelled in Macedonia and Greece; during the winter of '95, he was in Italy, in Rome giving 3 mths. of close study to Roman and Christian antiquities, having the previous year given special attention to this subject in the other 3 great historic cities, Jerusalem, Constantinople and Athens. Dr. M. also travelled in northern Africa and through all the countries of Europe, except Norway, Sweden and Russia. In Oxford he attended lectures on Theol. in Mansfield Coll.; and became, in his travels through Gt. Brit., personally acquainted with many of her eminent divines and scholars. During 2 yrs. he visited 20 countries, making himself familiar not only with the antiquities of the Old World, but also with the life and ways of the people of those foreign lands. For 20 yrs. Dr. M. has held 2 most important pastorates, and to-day he stands among the foremost preachers and Bible-scholars of the great Am. metropolis. He is now diligently working on his travels abroad, and expects soon to issue a book on "The Seven Churches of Asia." He m. 1st, 1879, Miss Magdalina Wüst, N. Y. MONAGHAN, Patrick, temperance reformer, was b. of Irish parentage, at Sydney, C.B., Aug. 9, 1828. In the same year his parents removed to Halifax, where he was ed. Originally, like his father, a mason and contractor, he afterwards entered the real estate business. He took the total abstinence pledge, Jan. 31, 1841, and has since been prominently identified with the temp. movement; was Grand Scribe of the Grand Div., N. S., 1856-73, and Grand Worthy Patriarch, do. (being presented with a testimonial for his services while in this office), 1887-88. He joined the National Div. of North Am., 1860. Mr. M., in addition to having edited and published, for some yrs., the Abstainer, an organ of the Sons of Temp., has written largely for other journals on temp., and on religious and historical subjects. He has now in preparation a history of Halifax. He is a mem. of the N. S. Hist. Soc. and of other similar organizations. In his youth he held a captaincy in the militia. In Mch., 1892, he was apptd. Secy. of the Royal Comn. dealing with the subject of the liquor traffic. Politically, a Con.; in religion, he is a R. C. He believes in Imp. Federation and in Home Rule for Irel., convinced that when the latter possesses a legislature of its own, the Brit. federation will be strengthened rather than weakened. In local politics he would like to see lieut.-governorships given to public men who reside in provinces other than those where they are to administer. He m. Oct., 1859, Miss Eliza J. MONTAGUE, Hon. Walter Humphries, politician, is the young. s. of the late Joseph Montague, farmer, by his wife, a dau. of John Humphries. B. in Adelaide, Middlesex, Ont., Nov. 21, 1853, he was ed. at the common sch. He commenced life as an errand boy in a country store, after which he qualified for a teacher's cert., and was employed in that capacity in several institutions. He studied for the med. profession at the Toronto Sch. of Med. and at Victoria Univ., Cobourg (M.D., 1882), and, in the same year, was admitted to the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs. of Ont., and to the Royal Coll. of Phys., Edinburgh. He has practised throughout at Dunnville. He almost immediately entered the political arena, as a candidate, in the Con. interest, for the representation of Monck, in the Legislature, but was unsuccessful. He was first returned to Parlt., for Haldimand, at the g. e. 1887, but was unseated on petition. Being again returned, Nov., 1887, he was again unseated by the Supreme Ct. of Can., and at the ensuing by-election, held Jan., 1889, was defeated. Elected at another by-election, held in Feb., 1890, he has continued in the representation of the seat up to the present time. He moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, 1888, and became a P. C., Dec. 21, 1894, and Secy. of State, Mch. 26, 1895, in the Bowell Admn. After the withdrawal of Hon. A. R. Angers from the Govt., he was apptd. to succeed him as Mr. of Agriculture, Dec. 24, 1895. He was one of the "nest of traitors" charged by his leader with conspiring against him in Jan., 1896, and, after returning to office the same month, entered the Tupper Admn. in Apl., and went out with his colleagues, after their defeat at the polls, July, 1896. Dr. M. is regarded by the Toronto Globe (June 2, 1896) as being a "victim of penmanship," owing to his alleged connection with several famous documents, one of which, it has been stated, was a proclamation purporting to be signed by the Queen and addressed to the Indian voters of Haldimand, and the others certain anonymous letters addressed in 1895 to the then Prime Minister, charging Sir Adolphe Caron, a colleague in office, with political corruption. MONTIZAMBERT, Lt.-Col. Charles E., Royal Can. Arty., Can. permanent force, was b. in Quebec, Jan. 27, 1841, his father being Edward Louis Montizambert, late Law Clk. of the Senate, and his mother Lucy Irwin Bowen, dau. of the late Chief-Justice Bowen. He is descended from an old French-Can. family of note—the 1st of their ancestors who came to this country being Pierre Boucher, who was 1st Gov. of Three Rivers in 1622. The family name is Boucher de Montizambert—the Bouchers de Boucherville, de Niverville, de la Bruere and de la Brocherie being branches of the same family. On the maternal side, 2 of Col. M.'s grandmother's brothers were Eng. officers in the 7th Fusiliers. One of them was killed at the taking of Martinique. An uncle, Major Montizambert, of the 10th Foot, was killed while leading his men at the storming of Moultan, in India, so that the subject of our sketch descends from a family of soldiers. Col. M. was ed. at U. C. Coll., Toronto. He early showed a decided taste for military pursuits, and entered with great zest into the volunteer movement in 1860, being subsequently apptd. Capt. and Adjt. of the Quebec Volunteer Gar. Arty., in which corps he served till 1871. When "A" and "B" Batteries Schs. of Gunnery were raised in that year he was transferred to the command of "B" Batt. of Permanent Arty. at Quebec, which he raised under Maj.-Genl. Strange, R.A., Commandant of the Sch. of Arty. He attained the rank of major, 1872, and lt.-col., 1877. In 1882 Col. M. was made Commandant of the Sch. of Arty., consisting of "B" Batt., then stationed at Kingston, Ont. He was second in command of the Wimbledon team on one occasion, and was subsequently attached to the R. A. at Aldershot for the autumn manœuvres and afterwards at Woolwich for instruction. He commanded under Col. Strange on several occasions during riots in Quebec in the seventies. In the N.-W. rebellion, 1885, he led the 1st corps that made the passage—the "A" and "B" Batteries, with their guns—through the ice and snow on the then unfinished portion of the C. P. Ry. around the north shore of Lake Superior, joining Genl. Sir F. Middleton's column on the trail north of Fort Qu'Appelle. He was in action at the battles of Fish Creek and Batoche (medal, mentioned in despatches and recommended for C.M.G.). He is the author of a prize essay for the medal presented by the Dom. Arty. Assn. on the supply, care and repair of arty. material for Can. militia (1878). In 1897 he was transferred to Kingston as D. O. C. Mil. Dists. 3 and 4, and Inspr. of Arty. for dists. 1, 2, 3 and 4. He is a mem. of the Ang. Ch., and m. 1867, Alice Lawson, young. dau. of the late Jas. Gibb, merchant, Quebec. — Kingston, Ont ; Rideau Club ; Garrison Club, Quebec.

MONTIZAMBERT, Frederick, M.D., bro. of the preceding, was b. in Quebec, Feb. 3, 1843. Ed. at the High Sch., Montreal, at the Grammar Sch., St. John's, and at U. C. Coll. (Exhibitioner, 1858), he studied for his profession at Laval Univ. and at Edinburgh Univ. (M.D., with 1st class honours in Chemistry, Midwifery and Surg., 1864). He was admitted a L.R.C.S. Edin., the same year. On his return to Can., he practised in Quebec till his appt. to the Can. Quarantine service, May, 1866. Dr. M. was one of the original founders and mems. of the Can. Med. Assn.; he is a mem. of the Am. Public Health Assn., of which he was V.-P., 1889-90, and Presdt., 1891, and to which he is delegated yearly as the representative of the Dom. Govt.; a mem. of the Brit. Med. Assn.; an hon. mem. of the Soc. of Med. Officers of Health of Gt. Brit.; and an hon. mem. of the Acad. Nacional de Med. de Mexico. He was elected Fellow of the Royal Coll. of Surg., 1888; and received the degree of D.C.L. (hon. causa) from Bishop's Coll. Univ., the same year. He was delegated representative of the Govt. of the Dom. of Can. to the Internl. Cholera Conf., Washington, D.C., 1884, and at N. Y., Apl., 1893. He was hon. Chairman of the sec. of Naval and Mil. Hygiene, 7th Internl. Congress of Hygiene, London, Aug., 1891; hon. Chairman of sec. of Marine Hygiene and Quarantine, and of sec. of Hygiene and Demog., Pan-Am. Med. Congress, Washington, Sept., 1893. Dr. M. is also a mem. of the Quebec Lit. and Hist. Soc., of the Quebec Geog. Soc., an associate mem. of the Council of Trinity Univ., Toronto, and was for many yrs. one of the Council of Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville. He is Genl. Med. Supdt. of Can. Quarantines, having been apptd. to that position, Mch., 1894, and has served as med. asst. in the same service since May 11, 1866, and as Supdt. of the St. Lawrence Quarantines, since Mch. 18, 1869. He took a post-graduate course in Bacteriol. at Johns Hopkins Univ., Baltimore, Md. He was for some yrs. surg. of the Quebec Volunteer Garrison Arty., and served during the Fenian raids, etc.; had quarantine staff enrolled as battery of arty. and commanded them for some yrs., retiring with rank of capt. of arty. Among his more important contributions to Med. literature are reports and papers on Quarantine, Vaccination, Hygiene of passenger vessels, published in the reports of the Mr. of Agriculture; Presdt.'s address before the Am. Public Health Assn.; and a paper on Quarantine, presented at the Internl. Health Congress, London, 1891. From experience and personal study of the quarantines of Europe and most of those of the U. S., Dr. M. has devised, with several important original additions, the perfected quarantine and disinfection appliances adopted by the Dom. for all the Can. quarantines. He is a mem. of the Ang. MONTMINY, Rev. Theophile (R.C.), was b. at St. Jean Chrysostom, Lévis, P.Q., Feb. 4, 1842, and is the s. of Joseph Montminy, by his wife, Marguerite Lambert. Ed. at St. Anne's Coll., where he became organist and prof. of music, he was ordained to the priesthood by Bp. Laflèche, 1870. Thereafter, he was successively curé at Beauport; Rector at St. Antoine, Temiscouata, and Rector of St. Agapit de Beaurivage. He is now Rector of St. George's de la Beauce. Mr. M. is widely known in connection with his successful efforts to improve the condition of the farming population in Quebec. While parish priest of St. Agapit, he organized a farmers' club, having for its object the instruction of the people in improved methods of agricul., in dairying, cattle raising, etc. The people previously from their want of knowledge in these arts, and their lack of energy, were many of them in an impoverished condition and were leaving the country for the U. S. in large numbers. After a few yrs., owing to the priest's efforts, all this was changed, and St. Agapit became celebrated throughout the Province as a thriving and prosperous community. Mr. M.'s services as a lecturer were sought in other parishes, and he became known far and wide as the "Farmer's Friend." He was elected V.-P. of the Quebec Dairymen's Assn., 1891, and Presdt., 1892, continuing to hold the last-named office up to 1896, when he was elected hon. Presdt. In 1883 he presided over the first Farmers' Congress held in the Province, on which occasion he delivered an address on "Agricultural teaching in Primary Schools." This and his presidential address before the Dairymen's Assn. afford an almost complete history of the dairy industry in the Province of Quebec. In acknowledgment of his services to the Province, the Govt. apptd. him a mem. of the Council of Agricul., 1892. Mr. M. has travelled extensively in Europe and other portions of the world, and has given his impressions thereon in the native press.—St. George's de Beauce, P.Q.

MOORE, Rev. William (Presb.), is the s. of John Moore, by his wife, Jane Ritchie, and is descended from an ancient Irish family of some distinction. B. in Upper Glenarm, Co. Antrim, Irel., Feb. 25, 1838, he came to Am. when a child, his father first settling in north-eastern Penn. A strong feeling of attachment to the Crown led the father to remove to Can., and he took up his residence in the village of Ingersoll, Ont., 1844. Ed. there and at the Univ. of Toronto, he studied Theol. at Knox Coll., and at Princeton Semy., N.J., where he graduated, 1865. On returning to Can. he was ordained to the ministry, and became pastor of Bank St. Ch., then a mission station, 1866. The cong. then consisted of only 17 families, and worshipped in a room on the third flat of a building in Sparks St. Later, a small frame building was erected for ch. purposes on the north side of the present edifice, but the growth of the cong. became so rapid that the present stone structure was proceeded with, and was formally taken possession of in 1868. The cong. now numbers upwards of 550 mems. Dr. M. was also one of the founders of the Ottawa Ladies' Coll., an institution designed to furnish a sound Eng. and classical education to young women of the Prot. faith, and was V.-P. of the Bd. of Mangrs. during the whole period of the erection of the Coll. After 18 yrs. of a somewhat checkered but useful career, the institution finally passed into the hands of the Presb. Ch., and is now known as the Ottawa Presb. Ladies' Coll. He is still on the directorate of the Coll. He received the hon. degree of D.D. from Hanover Coll., Ind., U.S., 1879. In 1896 Dr. M. preached the faculty sermon at the 150th anniversary of Princeton Coll. In 1897 he was elected Presdt. of the Ottawa Prot. Ministerial Assn., and, in the same year, was called to the Moderatorship of the Genl. Assembly of the Presb. Ch. in Can. Politically, he is a Lib. He took strong ground in favour of the disallowance of the Jesuits' Estates Bill, 1889, believing that it was contrary to public policy thus to recognize an order regarded with so much disfavour by Prots. generally and toward which even R. C. Govts. had shown so great and long-continued hostility. At that time he joined the Orange body in which he is now a Chaplain.—278 O'Connor St., Ottawa.

MOREAU, The Rt. Rev. Louis Zephirin, Bp. of St. Hyacinthe (R. C.), is the s. of the late Louis Moreau, by his wife, Marie Marguerite Champoux, and was b. at Becancour, Apl. 1, 1824. Ed. at the Semy., Nicolet, where he had for professors the historian Ferland and the present Bp. Laflèche, he was ordained priest, 1846, and became Asst. Secy. and Master of Ceremonies at the Bishop's Palace, Montreal. In June, 1852, he accompanied Mgr. Prince to St. Hyacinthe, as Secy., and, in 1869, was apptd. V.-G. of that diocese. While holding this office he was entrusted with the admn. of the affairs of the diocese on no less than 4 occasions. On the death of Mgr. C. La Rocque, he was raised to the episcopate, as 4th Bp. of St. Hyacinthe, his consecration taking place Jan. 16, 1876. During his period of office His Lordship has formed many new parishes, built a large number of new chs., academies and religious houses, founded 2 new religious communities and instituted a diocesan chapter. In 1893 he was given a coadjutor in the person of Mgr. M. Decelles, who was created Bp. of Druzipara. In Jan., 1897, the 25th anniversary of his episcopal consecration was celebrated throughout his diocese with much rejoicing.—Bishop's Palace, St. Hyacinthe, P. Q.

MORGAN, Miss Mary, poet, is a native of Scot., but in childhood removed with her family to Montreal, where her father and uncle established the well-known dry goods house of Henry Morgan & Co. Till her father's death, in 1893, her life was spent in Milton Cottage, on the banks of the St. Lawrence, a few miles below Montreal. Both the father and the dau. attracted a large circle of friends to this delightful home, which formed for many yrs. a favourite resort for people of literary tastes and sympathies. About 20 yrs. ago, Miss M. began to publish some of her literary work in Can. and Am. periodicals, generally under the pseudonym of "Gowan Lea." In 1887 she collected a number of her most appreciated productions in a dainty little volume, of which an Am. edition appeared very shortly afterwards, under the title of "Woodnotes in the Gloaming." "Her best work," says Prof. J. Clark Murray, "is in the lyrical vein; and the moods of the soul, for which she seems to find expression by preference in her lyrics, are not the more boisterous passions by which the human heart is most commonly stormed, but rather those delicate calm emotions that are naturally awakened by the rarer reflections of a cultured mind." In 1896 Miss M. published "Sonnets from Switzerland." Some of her compositions have been reproduced in "America's Younger Poets," a volume published at Philadelphia. She originally desired to study Med., but her ambition in that direction was thwarted by the objections of friends and the inability of McGill Univ. to grant a degree to a woman at that time. Of late she has travelled extensively in Europe, and is now (1897) living in Devonshire, Eng. Miss M. calls herself a citizen of the world and belongs to no ch., being simply in this, as in other matters, a truth-seeker.—Care the Bank of Montreal, London, Eng.

MORINE, Hon. Alfred Bishop, statesman, is the s. of Capt. Alfred Morine, and was b. at Port Medway, N.S., Mch. 31, 1857. Ed. there, he graduated LL.B. at Dalhousie Univ., Halifax, 1892, and was called to the bar, 1894. In the same year he was admitted a solr. and barrister in Nfd. He has since practised in St. John's. He commenced his newspaper career as the correspondent at Ottawa for the Halifax Herald, and St. John Sun. Later, he was ed. of the New Era (Halifax), and the Spectator (Annapolis). Proceeding to Nfd., he was ed. of the St. John's Mercury, 1883-85, and of the Herald, 1889-91. He ran, unsuccessfully, for the Legislature in Bonavista, as an Ind. candidate, Nov., 1885, but was returned, June, 1886, and has held the seat up to this time, his majority in 1893 being larger than that obtained by any candidate in any previous parliamentary election. In 1890 he was chosen one of the 3 people's delegates who were sent to Eng. to present the views of the colony on the French Treaties question, and, in 1891, he was one of 5 delegates deputed to represent the Legislature before the Imp. Parlt. and Govt. on the same question. On this latter occasion he prepared the address read by the delegates at the bar of the Ho. of Lords. He also prepared, with others, a pamphlet on the French Treaties question. Prior to 1888 he supported Sir W. Whiteway, but left him because his party passed a resolution against Confederation. In Sept., 1894, he entered Mr. Goodridge's Cabinet as Colonial Secy., and in Nov., 1897, the Winter Cabinet as Recr.-Genl. In 1892 he ran at a by-election in Queen's, N.S., for the Dom. Ho. of Commons, retaining at the same time his seat in the Nfd. Assembly, but was defeated by a small majority. He is a strong believer in the future of a confederated and united Can., and supports moderate incidental protection and union with the Mother Country. He m. MOUNTAIN, George Alphonso, C.E., is the s. of the late Matthew G. Mountain, merchant, Quebec, by his wife, Isabella Peek. B. in Quebec, Sept. 28, 1860, he was ed. there and acquired his first professional knowledge in the office of the city engr. Subsequently, he served on the survey for the Nfd. Ry. and for the Quebec and Lake St. John Ry. He was apptd. asst. engr. on the Can. Atlantic Ry., 1881, and became chief engr. of the same road, 1887. He surveyed the route for the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Ry. and superintended the construction of the road, being apptd. chief engr. of the same, 1890. He was elected a mem. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1887, and became a mem. of its Council, 1893. A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. Mch., 1891, Kate Dumoreau, eld. dau. of the late John Monk, advocate, Montreal.—191 O'Connor St., Ottawa.

MOUNTAIN, Rev. Jacob Jehoshaphat Salter (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of the late Rev. Salter Jehoshaphat Mountain, formerly Rector of Cornwall (to which he removed from Quebec when failing health unfitted him for the much more arduous duties of the rectorship of Quebec, which had been discharged by him for many yrs.), and a grand-nephew of the first Ang. Bp. of Quebec. B. at Cornwall, Ont., Oct. 2, 1824, he received his primary education at Cornwall, under the late Rev. Dr. Urquhart, and at Brockville, under the late Rev. Dr. H. Caswell, Vicar of Figheldean, Wilts, Eng. Proceeding afterwards to King's Coll., Windsor, N.S. (B.A., 1845; B.C.L., 1858; D.C.L., in course, 1858; D.D., hon., 1890), he pursued his theol. studies at Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, was ordained, 1847, and became a travelling mission. in the Tps. of Matilda, Mountain, Winchester and Finch. Later, he was apptd. incumbent of Coteau du Lac, where he remained until his removal to Eng., 1858. After holding sole charge of the curacy of Millston, Wilts, and being Vicar of Bulford, same co., he spent some yrs. in foreign travel, and returning to Can., 1882, was apptd. Rector of East Cornwall. Besides founding in King's Coll. a professorship of Mod. Languages, and in Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, a professorship of Pastoral Theol., Dr. M. has endowed the Diocese of Ottawa with several valuable properties in connection with a proposed new "Mountain Family Memorial" Bishopric in Cornwall. He has also given a handsome residence for a parsonage for Cornwall East. Besides this parsonage (situated on a large lot east of his ch., which he built, and a ch. hall for the use of the mill operatives who could not do so), he has lately built also on the same lot, and as a further endowment of his parish, 5 good brick metal-roofed houses—the income from which should suffice to make up half the required salary for future rectors. Thus he hopes he has secured the perpetuity of this parish of East Cornwall which he also created. He was created a Canon, 1897. He m., 1st, 1847, Annie, dau. of the Rev. MOUNT STEPHEN (Lord) The Right Hon. Sir George Stephen, Bart., is the eld. s. of the late Wm. Stephen, a native of Glenrinnes, Mortloch, Scot., by his wife, Elspet Smith, and was b. at Dufftown, Banffshire, Scot., June 5, 1829. He received his education at the parish sch., under the late John Macpherson, and while quite young, acted as herd-boy on the glebe of Mortloch. He served his apprenticeship to the drapery business in Aberdeen, and going to London was admitted into the employ of J. F. Pawson & Co. (Ltd.), St. Paul's Churchyard. There he obtained that knowledge of figures which in after-life proved of such benefit to him. On the invitation of his relative, the late Wm. Stephen, he came to Can., 1850, and after serving in his establishment in Montreal for a few yrs., formed a partnership with him under the name and style of Wm. Stephen & Co. Later, on the death of Wm. Stephen, 1860, he purchased his interest in the business, and entering largely into the manufacture of woollen goods, met with extraordinary success. Elected a dir. of the Bank of Montreal, the largest financial institution in Can., he became V.-P. of the bank, 1873, and Presdt., 1876. Not long afterwards he joined a syndicate for the purchase of the interests of the Dutch holders of the bonds of the St. Paul and Pacific Ry., a road which, when finished, gave the syndicate control of the whole traffic of the Can. North-West. Extending their operations, the syndicate made St. Paul the final point of their system, which they named the St. Paul and Man. Ry. Mr. S.'s connection with this enterprise led to the formation of the co. composed mainly of the same parties, that in 1880 undertook the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. The history of this gigantic work forms a portion of the history of Can. On this point it is recorded that when the original syndicate was organized and the terms agreed upon by the Govt., there were few indeed, even in Can., who held the faith that the compact would be literally fulfilled, and fewer still sanguine enough to believe that the uttermost engagement would be discharged within 5 yrs. of the allotted time. Mr. S., however, was among the first to pin his faith and fortune to the venture, and from the day he put his hand to the plough, he never looked back until the work he had set himself to do was accomplished. The path he trod with his associates was by no means an easy one. Those who imagine the task to have been simple, or dependent for its fulfilment merely upon financial credit, have only to consider the repeated failures of govts. to adequately grasp the undertaking, the widespread disbelief in the ability of the syndicate to carry out its obligation, the party hostility encountered, and the engineering difficulties to be overcome. None of these obstacles, and they were all formidable, daunted Mr. S. He had the courage of conviction in the practicability of the enterprise, an ardent patriotism in the work, and the personal pluck, intrepidity and magnetism which inspires confidence in others, needed to direct the project to a successful issue. When the prospects of the co. seemed dark and gloomy, when its credit was at a low ebb and failure appeared to be impending, Mr. S. never faltered. His energy, pluck and work aided perhaps more than any other single factor in tiding the difficulties of the co., and the rewards which afterwards came to him in honour, as in emolument, were as richly deserved as any ever bestowed or reaped. In addition thereto, it may be stated that it was Mr. S. who also lifted the Credit Valley Ry. out of its difficulties, and who, with 4 or 5 associates, built the Ont. and Quebec Ry. He likewise secured a controlling interest in the system of rys. consolidated under the name of the N. B. Ry. For his services in connection with the building of Canada's transcontinental line, Her Majesty was pleased, in 1886, to create him a Baronet of the United Kingdom, and, in 1891, she was further pleased to raise him to the peerage with the title of Lord Mount Stephen, he being so named from a high peak in the Rocky Mts., on the route of the Can. Pacific Ry., which peak was called after him as Presdt. of that Co. His Lordship retired from the presidency of the ry. in 1888, since when he has lived in Eng. In that year Lord Salisbury offered him a position on the comn. of investigation into the condition of the army and navy, which, however, he was unable to accept. Since then his name has been mentioned in connection with the Governor-Generalship of Can., a suggestion to that effect having been made through the press. His portrait, painted by Frank Holl, R.A., was exhibited at the Grosvenor Gallery, 1888. Politically, he is a Con.; in religious faith, a Presb. His Lordship has contributed largely to meritorious purposes. In 1883 he donated $50,000 to the Montreal Genl. Hospital to build a pavilion in memory of the late Dr. G. W. Campbell. In 1885, along with his relative, Sir D. A. Smith (now Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal) he founded the Montreal scholarship in the Royal Coll. of Music. In 1886 he and Sir Donald gave each the princely sum of $500,000 (to which was afterwards added an amt. for maintenance), for the erection of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal; and, in 1890, he contributed $25,000 for the erection and endowment of the Stephen Cottage Hospital at his birthplace, Dufftown. "Worthy of a place in the front rank of noble Scotchmen. His is that keen foresight, that executive force, that restless energy and indomitable perseverance before which all obstructions wither away."—Globe.

MOWAT, His Honour the Hon. Sir Oliver, statesman, who enjoys the distinction of having had the longest continuous term of office, as Premier, ever accorded to any public man by the people of any province, colony or div. within the Brit. Empire, comes of good Scotch stock, being one of the Mowats of Bucholie, Caithness-shire, the restorers and owners of the ancient castle of the Vikings in Scot. He is the s. of the late John Mowat, formerly of Canisbay, one of Wellington's veterans in the Peninsula, by his wife, Mary Levack. The family settled in Kingston, Ont., 1816, and there the future minister was b. July 22, 1820. Ed. at private institutions in his native city, he, upon leaving sch., entered the office of Mr. (afterwards Sir) John A. Macdonald, with whom he remained as a law student for 4 yrs. After completing his articles with Robt. E. Burns, Toronto, he was called to the bar, 1841. He entered on the practice of his profession in Kingston, but soon afterwards moved to Toronto and formed a partnership with his late principal, Mr. Burns. Mr. Vankoughnet (subsequently Chancellor of Ont.), was afterwards admitted to the firm, which was known under the name of Burns, Mowat & Vankoughnet. On Mr. Burns' retirement to a judgeship, 1848, the remaining partners continued the business. Subsequently, Mr. M. had as partners, at different periods, the late John Ewart, the late John Helliwell, the late John Roaf, the late Wm. Davies, the late John Downie and the present Mr. Justice Maclennan. His present firm is composed of himself, of Thos. Langton, Q.C., H. M. Mowat and R. J. Maclennan. At the bar, Mr. M. confined himself chiefly to equity practice. He soon obtained a high reputation as a lawyer, and, while in active practice, was long the leader of the Chancery bar. It is recorded that many of the cases argued by him are to-day living authorities on topics of equity jurisprudence. Created a Q. C. by Sir E. W. Head, 1855, he became, later, a Bencher of the Law Soc. From 1856 to 1859 he served on the comn. apptd. to consolidate the public general statutes of Can. and U. C. respectively, and he was also, at a subsequent period, a comnr. for the consolidation of the statutes of Ont. Politically, he was, in early life, surrounded with Con. influences, but he himself, as Mr. Adam relates "chose that broad-minded, moderate Liberalism, of which he has ever since been so able an exponent and so steadfast a promoter." After serving as an ald. in the Town Council, he was, in 1857, elected to Parlt. as mem. for South Ontario, and continued to represent that constituency till 1864. In the Assembly he took part in all the principal discussions and debates, and became one of the most effective speakers on the Reform side. Upon the fall of the Macdonald-Cartier Govt., 1858, he entered the new Cabinet formed by Messrs. Brown and Dorion, as Provl. Secy. In 1863 he entered the Sandfield Macdonald Govt. as Postmaster-Genl., continuing as such until the defeat of the ministry in the early part of 1864. Later, in the same year, on the formation of the coalition govt. under Sir E. P. Taché, for the purpose of effecting the political union of B.N.A., he, together with the Hon. Geo. Brown and the Hon. Wm. Macdougall, was chosen to enter therein as representatives of the Lib. party of U. C. He sat in the Union Conf., that assembled in Quebec, Oct. 10, 1864, and took an active part in framing the constitution prepared there by the "Fathers of Confederation." In Nov. following he was raised to the Bench, as one of the Vice-Chancellors of Ont. "His appointment," says a writer in the Barrister, "was grateful both to the public and to the bar. As a judge his notable characteristic was his fair-mindedness. His reported decisions are clear and logical, and have always been held of high authority in our courts. He was an ideal equity judge—learned in the jurisprudence, skilled in its technique, familiar with precedent, but withal master of his reason." He returned to political life, Oct., 1872, being then called by the Lt.-Gov. to succeed Mr. Blake in the Premiership of the Province. In his own Admn., which lasted from the above date till his resignation in July, 1896, to enter Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Cabinet, he filled the office of Atty.-Genl., and in that position succeeded in effecting many important legal reforms. In other respects his legislation was of a most useful and beneficial character. During his term of office he had frequent controversies with the Dom. Govt., during Sir John Macdonald's time, notably on the boundary question, the appt. of Queen's Counsel, the Liquor License law and other cases, which were carried to the Privy Council in Eng., and which were uniformly decided in his favour. In 1893, on the completion of the new provincial buildings, Toronto, his friends throughout the Province desiring to mark their appreciation of "the splendid story of his achievements," as a public man, placed upon the walls of the Assembly chamber an oil painting of the Premier. Recalling the events of his Admn., in his farewell address to the electors of North Oxford, July, 1896, he said: "Provincial honours more than contented me as far as honours were concerned, and I had the satisfaction of knowing that my position afforded me the opportunity (of which I availed myself to the best of my ability) of rendering some service to my native Province, in assisting to settle some important questions of great difficulty, and in devising and carrying out the measures for the development of the resources of the Province, and for promoting the well-being of all classes of people as far as Provincial power of govt. and legislation enabled this to be done. My position gave me the opportunity of rendering substantial assistance towards placing on the statute book a vast body of useful legislation, and towards giving to the Province 23 yrs. and more of just, prudent, economical and clean administration of public affairs. As my memory recalls what has been done by the Reform Govt. and Reform Legislature during the last quarter of a century, it adds greatly to my satisfaction to know that the people of North Oxford appreciate the course of my colleagues and myself in the govt. of the country and the direction of its Legislature, and that there has always been thorough sympathy between the Liberals of the riding and myself in regard to public affairs. It is on the support and favour of the Reformers that I have relied, but it gives me pleasure to know that many Conservatives also have shown towards me their good-will."

On the same occasion, the Toronto Globe paid this well-written tribute to his eminent standing and services as a public man: "His great hold on Ont. lies in the belief that he is a safe man. Pre-eminently, he is a man to be trusted. In temperament he is Conservative, by study and reflection a Reformer. His views are always abreast of the advanced thought of the day, but the course of legislation in this Province has shown with what shrewdness he examines the popular movements which spring up from time to time, and with what sure-footedness he picks his way among the pitfalls which lie in wait for unwary legislators, hammering the while into law whatever of value may be found in them. His Admn. has passed safely through 6 general elections. His long term of power constitutes an era in the life of Ont. He has succeeded in almost living down opposition. Twenty-four yrs. of power have left him with a reputation of stainless integrity. His personal character stands so high that the least scrupulous of his opponents prefer no charge against him that savours of corruption or dishonesty. He has always surrounded himself with able and admirable colleagues, but his personality easily dominated the Cabinet, and his has been the central figure of Provincial affairs. His intellect is fertile, subtle and capacious. Of political craft he is by no means devoid, but it is the wholesome wisdom of which a great apostle once spoke, and carries with it no derogation of respect or confidence. His opponents call him an opportunist. Whatever of opportunism he has is of the serious, earnest kind. It has been a disappointment at times to his opponents that his purity of motives and fulness of mind should not be allied to that kind of simplicity or fanaticism which would have delivered him into their hands. It is one of the elements of his strength that he has not only moral and intellectual qualities which influence legislation in a sound direction and administer public affairs clean-handedly, but also the political sagacity to avoid, as if by instinct, the traps which have been laid for him. He has the faculty of estimating passing events, not from the point of view in which they commonly appear to those who bear a part in them, but from the point of view in which after a lapse of yrs. they will appear to the philosophical historian —the faculty which is called foresight. To the weight which he will carry into the admn. of Dom. affairs by reason of his mental force and capacity will be united the influence which belongs to an experience longer and ampler than that of any other Canadian." In the Laurier Admn. (of which he was the doyen in point of age and length of service as a public man), he filled the office of Mr. of Justice, and while in the office furnished abundant evidence of his peculiar fitness for that post of duty. Soon after his appt. he was chosen one of the Comte. of Council to whom was entrusted the conduct of negotiations with dels. from Man. for a basis of settlement of the sch. question. He was apptd. to his present office, Lt.-Gov. of the Province of Ont., Nov. 18, 1897. He was formerly Presdt. of the Can. Institute, and has likewise filled the Presidency of the Evangel. Alliance of Ont. He is now a V.-P. of the U. C. Bible Soc. In 1897 he was elected hon. Presdt. of the Can. Bar Assn., and was chosen Presdt. of the newly organized Imp. Life Assur. Co., the same year. He has written on the "Evidences of Christianity," and on "Christianity and Some of its Fruits." He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from Queen's Univ, 1872, and from Toronto Univ., 1889. In 1887 he presided over the Quebec Inter-Provincial Conf., and, in 1893, over the Ottawa Reform Convention. In 1892, in recognition of his eminent public services, the Queen created him a Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George; and, in 1897, on the completion of the 60th year of H. M.'s reign, he was promoted to be a Knight Grand Cross of the same order. While in Scot., 1895, he was presented with the freedom of the royal burgh of Wick. In religious belief, Sir Oliver M. is a Presb. He m. 1846, Jane, 2nd dau. of the late John Ewart, Toronto (she d. Mch. 14, 1893). MULOCK, Hon. William, Q.C., statesman, is the 2nd s. of the late Thos. Homan Mulock, a graduate in Arts and Med. of Trin. Coll., Dublin, and a mem. of the Royal Coll. of Surg., who was a native of King's Co., Irel., by his wife, Mary, dau. of the late John Cawthra, a Yorkshireman, who afterwards sat in the U. C. Legislature. B. at Bond Head, Ont., Jan. 19, 1843, he was ed. at Newmarket Grammar Sch., and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and gold med. in Mod. Languages, 1863; M.A., 1871; LL.D., hon., 1894), and was called to the bar, 1868. He has practised his profession throughout in the city of Toronto, where, for many yrs., he has been at the head of the extensive firm of Mulock, Miller, Crowther & Montgomery. He was created a Q. C., by the Ont. Govt., 1890. He was for 4 yrs. one of the examrs. in and Lecturer on Equity for the Law Soc. of U. C. He was first elected a Senator of Toronto Univ., 1873, and became Vice-Chancellor, 1881. He is also a mem. of the Bd. of Trustees of the Univ. Some yrs. ago he founded the Wm. Mulock Scholarship in Math. in the Univ., and he has otherwise contributed to its material well-being. He is a dir. of the Toronto Genl. Trusts Co., a V.-P. of the Ont. branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn., and Presdt. of the Victoria Rolling Stock Co. He resigned the Presidency of the Farmers' Loan and Savings Co., 1897, after having held the office for many yrs. Elected to the Ho. of Commons for North York, in the Lib. interest, at the g. e. 1882, he has continued to represent that constituency there up to the present time. While a private mem. he took a prominent part in the debates, evincing keen interest in all questions affecting agriculture, banking and commerce. For yrs. he energetically demanded reform in the conditions imposed upon the cattle trade with Gt. Brit. in regard to space rates. In 1894 he moved for the reduction of the salary to be paid to the Gov.-Genl. of Can. from £10,000 stg. to £5,000 stg. per annum, and, in 1895, he moved in the direction of prohibiting mems. from using railway passes to or from Ottawa during the session of Parlt. On the formation of the Laurier Cabinet, July 13, 1896, he was sworn into office as Postmaster-Genl. In Jan., 1898, he established a new 3-cent Can. postage rate from Can. to all parts of the Empire. It should be added that Mr. M. is a man of extensive private means, that he takes great pride in being called a farmer, and owns the model farm in North York. He was for some time Presdt. of the Toronto Reform Assn. He is a mem. of the Ang. Ch., and m. May, 1870, Sarah, eld. dau. of the late Jas. Crowther, Toronto.—518 Jarvis St., Toronto; Toronto Club; Rideau Club.

MULVENA, Henry Walter, Dist. Magistrate, of Irish origin, was b. at Sherbrooke, P.Q., Nov. 22, 1856. Ed. at the Coll., St. Hyacinthe, he was called to the bar, 1881, and practised throughout in his native city, where he held various offices, and was also for a time ed. of the Gazette. He was Secy.-Treas. of the Bar Assn.; Joint Crown Prosecutor, Dist. of St. Francis; an Extradition Comnr.; Secy.-Treas of the Lib.-Con. Assn., and was elected Bâtonnier of the Bar, 1895. In Sept., 1896, he was apptd. to the office he now holds, Dist. Mgte. of St. Francis. A mem. of the R. C. Ch., he is also a mem. of the Cath. Bd. of Sch. Comnrs., and m. Apl., 1895, Elizabeth Mary, young. dau. of Hon. Marcus Doherty, Montreal. He received the hon. degree of LL.B. from Lennoxville Univ., 1884.—Sherbrooke, P.Q.

MUNRO, Lt.-Col. James, V. M., was b. of Scottish parents at West Zorra, Oxford, Ont., Nov. 5, 1846. Ed. at the Embro Public Sch., he has since followed the occupations of farmer and banker, and was elected to the Wardenship of the Co. Oxford. He took a 1st class cert. at the M. S., and entered the V. M. service at the time of the Trent affair. Subsequently, during the Fenian raids, he raised a co. at Lakeside, which became absorbed in the 22nd Oxford Rifles. He was adjt. of this batt. for some time prior to being promoted to field rank. He has commanded the Oxford Rifles since Feb., 1885, and it is known as one of the best rural corps in Can. In 1897 he accompanied the mil. contingent that represented Can. at the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in London, Eng., as paymaster. Politically, he is a Lib. MUNRO, Thomas, C.E., was b. in Irel., and came to Can., 1850. He was employed immediately under T. C. Keefer, C.E., on various surveys, including the Montreal and Kingston Ry.; the St. Lawrence (now the Victoria) Bridge; and the Montreal water-works until 1854. From 1854 to 1856 he had charge of a portion of the Grand Trunk Ry. construction at Prescott. From 1857 to 1859 he was resident engr.

on the Hamilton and Port Dover Ry. From 1860 to date he has been in the service of the Can. Govt. as an engr. During this period of over 37 yrs. Mr. M. has been placed in various important positions, a résumé of which is as follows: In 1863 he was apptd. one of the Govt. Insprs. of Rys. In 1864 he was specially sent to report on the best means of supplying water to the Parlt. Buildings at Ottawa. In 1868-69 he examined the east shore of Lake Huron and the north shore of Lake Erie with a view to the establishment of harbours of refuge on these lakes. In the fall of 1869 he made a part examn. of the east end of the "Dawson" route as a proposed means of water communication with the North-West. In 1870-71, he located the new Welland Canal, and next year (1872), he was apptd. in charge of all the enlargement works. The canal was, however, subdivided and Mr. M. was named Supdt. of the new line of canal from Allanburg to Port Dalhousie, on which all the new lift locks are situated, and remained in charge up to the end of 1888—the canal having then been ultimately enlarged to a draught of 14 ft. In 1889 he was specially sent by the late Mr. Page, C.E., to report upon the best location for a 14-foot canal between lakes St. Louis and St. Francis. After much opposition this was placed on the north side of the St. Lawrence, and is now in course of construction under his superintendence. It was named by him the "Soulanges Canal." Several important changes have been made in the plans of the locks, etc., which it is believed will result in facilitating the passage of vessels, and at the same time reduce the cost of the works. Mr. M. also designed the water-works at St. Catharines, Ont., Merritton, etc., and reported on systems for other places. In 1891 he was sent by the Govt. to examine and report upon the Manchester Ship Canal. He also acted as Chairman of the Bd. of Engrs., sent in 1895 to enquire into matters connected with the harbour of Montreal, and in the fall of that year represented the Govt. at the first annual convention of the Deep Water-ways Assn., held at Cleveland, O. In Nov., 1895, he was made a mem. of the comn. apptd. by the Can. Govt. to confer with those named by the Presdt. of the U. S., to report on the best line for a deep water-way to connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean. He is a mem. of the Inst. of Civil Engrs., and was elected Presdt. of the Can. Soc. of Engrs., 1895. Mr. M. has had very extended experience in dealing with matters connected with hydraulic engineering. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and m. 1860, Ellen Jane, eld. dau. of the late Rev. Dr. Strong, formerly Rector of Christ Ch., Ottawa.—Coteau Landing, P.Q.

MURDOCH, Rev. Andrew (Bapt.), is the s. of the late John A. Murdoch, for many yrs. Sch. Inspr. for Lanark, Ont. B. in Lanark, Apl. 15, 1842, he was ed. at Toronto Univ. (B.A., 1868; M.A., 1869; LL.B., 1876; LL.D., 1884). He pursued his theol. studies at the Theol. Semy., Rochester, N.Y.; was ordained at Titusville, Pa., 1870; has held charges at Painsville, O., Lansing, Mich., Port Hope, Queen St., St. Catharines, and is now pastor at Waterford, where he settled in 1891. He is a Senator of McMaster Univ. and V.-P. of the Alumni Assn. In 1872 Dr. M. was m. to Miss Hettie Hayward, Buffalo, N.Y. — Waterford, Ont.

MURPHY, Rev. Edward F. (R. C.), is the s. of the late Thos. Murphy, by his wife, Catherine Carroll. B. near Charleville, Co. Cork, Irel., Sept. 1, 1844, he was ed. at All Hallows Coll., Dublin, and at St. Sulpice Coll., Montreal. Ordained to the priesthood, 1867, he became a Prof. in St. Mary's Coll., Halifax, and was afterwards Presdt. of that institution. He served also as Secy. to the late Archbp. Hannan and to the present Archbp. of Halifax, Dr. O'Brien. On the death of Mgr. Power, 1887, he was chosen his successor as Rector of St. Mary's Cath., Halifax, in which position he remains. He was created a D.D. by the Pope, June, 1892.—The Glebe House, Halifax, N.S.

MURPHY, John Bernard, M.D., is the s. of the late Timothy Murphy, a native of Cork, Irel., by his wife, Catharine McCarthy, and was b. in Asphodel, Peterboro', Ont., Mch. 31, 1850. Ed. at Norwood Grammar Sch., and at St. Michael's Coll., Toronto, he pursued his med. studies at Queen's Univ., Kingston (M.D., 1876), and commenced the practice of his profession at Belleville. He was apptd. Physician to the Ont. Inst. for the Deaf and Dumb, Belleville, 1881, and became Med. Supdt. of the Asylum for the Insane, Mimico, 1890. On the completion of the new Asylum for the Insane at Brockville, he was asked to open the same, and for that purpose removed to Brockville, Nov., 1894. Politically, a Lib.; in religion, he is a R. C. He m. July, 1885, Anna, 3rd dau. of the late Launcelot G. Bolster, Toronto, at one time a literary confrere of the late Hon. T. D. McGee, and ultimately one of the organizers, and, until his death, the Mangr., of the Toronto Waterworks.—The Asylum, Brockville, Ont.

MURPHY, Martin, C.E., is the 2nd s. of Thos. Murphy, contractor, and was b. at Coolycarney, near Enniscorthy, Wexford, Irel., Nov. 11, 1832. Ed. at Ballindagin National Sch., and by private tutor, he joined the engineering staff of the late Wm. Dargan, at the age of 20, and has since been engaged without intermission as an engr. and contractor. He worked at his profession under Thos. Plunket, W. R. Lefanu and Messrs. Cotton & Fleming, all of Sir John McNeil's Sch. of Civil Engineering. During the fifties and early in the sixties, he worked on the branches of the Midland Gt. Western Ry. between Mullingar and Longford, and from Athenry to Tuam; on the Gt. Southern and Western Ry. branches between Athlone and Tullamore, and from Mallow to Fermoy, and on the Banbridge and Scarva Ry. in the north of Irel.; also on the city of Dublin sewerage works and on the construction of Moy bridge between Charlemont and Moy, Co. Tyrone. On the retirement of Mr. Dargan from ry. construction he continued with his successor, Thos. Edwards, and was employed as contractor's engr. on the extension of the Dublin, Wicklow and Wexford Ry. from Wicklow to Enniscorthy, and on the Shillelagh branch. In 1862 he was apptd. Resident Engr. of the Dublin, Wicklow and Wexford Ry. and its branches, and continued in that position until he came to Can., 1868. Here he was engr. for the city of Halifax, N.S., 1868-69, and, in 1870-71, was engaged as Chief Engr. for the survey of projected lines of ry. by the Provl. Govt. of N. S. In 1871 he was apptd. Provl. Govt. Engr. for that Province, but resigned as there was no fixed salary attached to the position at the time. From 1871 to 1874 he was contractor for the construction of bridges on the Intercol. Ry. of Can., but returned to N. S. in 1875, the local Legislature having then voted an annual salary and tendered him the Provincial Engineership, a position he still holds. In N. S. he has built iron and steel structures over every river in that Province. His plans, specifications and methods for erecting concrete substructures for highway bridges are known, and are gaining favour all over the Am. continent. He has been consulted by the Nfd. Govt. respecting rys., by the Govt. of N. B. on bridge construction, and by the Col. Govt. of Bermuda respecting harbour surveys and improvements. He has held the Presidency of the N. S. Inst. of Science, and contributed several important papers to its transactions. A mem. of the Council of the Soc. of Can. Engrs., he has also read papers before it, before the Engineering Congress at the World's Fair, Columbian Exposition, and contributed to many professional journals and periodicals. He received the degree of D.Sc. from King's Coll., Windsor, N.S., 1896. He m. 1861, Maria Agnes, young. dau. of Cornelius Buckley, of "Banteer," Mallow, Cork, Irel.—Halifax, N.S.

MURRAY, Miss Annie, Lady Presdt., Royal Victoria Hospital, was b. and ed. in Scot. She began her nursing work in the Royal Edinburgh Infirm., and after graduating, gained further experience in the London hospitals. Coming to Am. she was apptd. to a hospital in Cincinnati, and, later, held positions of a similar kind in Philadelphia. She received her present appt., Jan., 1897. Miss M. has served under such prominent physicians as Prof. Granger Stephens, Prof. Simpson, Sir Douglas McGregor, and Prof. Spencer Wells.—Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

MURRAY, George, educationist and littérateur, is the only s. of the late Jas. Murray, in his lifetime foreign ed. of the London Times, and was b. in Regent Square, London. He received his early education at the sch. of Dr. J. G. Greig, Walthamstow, Essex, afterwards matriculating at King's Coll., London, where he took the chaplain's 2 prizes for Eng. verse—original and translated—the Principal's prize for Latin verse, the senior classical scholarship, and was elected A.K.C., the highest honour that could be conferred by the Coll. Proceeding to Oxford, he obtained among other honours the Lusby scholarship and the Lucy Exhibition. Before taking his degree, 1860, he published "The Oxford ars Poetica; or, How to Write a Newdigate," which was lauded by the Spectator, and also by the author of "Verdant Green." After spending some yrs. on the Continent, Mr. M. came to Can., 1859, and was apptd. shortly afterwards senior Classical Master of the Montreal High Sch. This position he held until 1892, when he retired on a pension and was presented with a handsome testimonial by the scholars. Mr. M. is one of the literary lights of the Dom. He has written in both prose and verse, but is more particularly known as a poet. In 1869 he won the gold medal offered by the St. Andrew's Soc. of Ottawa, for the best poem on the subject of "The Thistle." His verses embraced the old legend of how the thistle saved the Scottish garrison from surprise and defeat at the hands of the piratical Danes. Five yrs. later he also won the prize given by the Montreal Witness for the best ballad on any subject in Can. history. On this occasion there were no fewer than 291 competitors. The successful work was entitled: "How Canada was Saved," and graphically describes how a gallant band of young Frenchmen sought out their old enemy, the Iroquois, and, like the ancient Spartans at Thermopylæ, fought desperately until every one of their number had bitten the dust. "Pathos and fire," says a well-known Can. writer, "are beautifully intermingled in these verses, which are probably the most widely known of all Mr. M.'s productions." Although a frequent contributor to the press, it was not until 1891 that he published his poems in book form. His volume, entitled: "Verses and Versions," was dedicated to "Sir Edwin Arnold, my dearest companion for many years." Commenting on the work the Week said: "These are real poems and show real poetic power; words not to be lightly used in these days of exuberant versification." In his "Songs of the Great Dom.," W. D. Lighthall pronounces his translations of the lyrics of Gautier, Hugo, De Musset, and other French writers, as the most delicate and precise in the Eng. language. Among Mr. M.'s journalistic enterprises was Diogenes, a serio-comic weekly, and the Free Lance, both published in Montreal, the last-named in conjunction with the late Geo. T. Lanigan. In 1882 he established "Notes and Queries" in the Montreal Star, and of this dept. he always has been and still is the ed. He has written also for the Eng. Notes and Queries, and for Once a Week. As a classical scholar, the Ottawa Journal places him among the foremost on the Am. continent. On the formation of the Royal Soc. of Can., 1882, he was apptd. by its founder, the Marquis of Lorne, to be one of the 20 original Fellows of the sec. of Eng. Literature, History, etc. He was Secy. for some yrs. of the old Montreal Literary Club, and, on the death of Hon. T. D. McGee, one of the Fellows of that Soc., was chosen, with two others, to edit the literary remains of the lamented poet-statesman.—11 Brunswick St., Montreal.

MURRAY, Hon. George Henry, Q.C., statesman, of Scotch descent, was b. at Grand Narrows, N.S., June 7, 1861. He is the s. of the late Wm. Murray, of that place, and was ed. at the local schs. and at Boston Univ. Called to the bar, 1883, he has since practised at North Sydney, and is at present head of the legal firm of Murray & McKenzie. A Lib. in politics, he was first apptd. to the Leg. Council of N. S., Mch. 1, 1889, and was an unsuccessful candidate for the representation of Cape Breton in the Ho. of Commons, at g. e. 1891, and again in Feb., 1896, running on the last-mentioned occasion against Sir Chas. Tupper, Secy. of State (Vote: Sir C. Tupper, C., 3997; G. H. Murray, L., 3017). Mr. M. became a mem. of Mr. Fielding's local Cabinet, without portfolio, Apl. 11, 1891. He succeeded that gentleman as Premier and Provl. Secy. of N. S., July, 1896, and, in Aug., was returned to the Assembly for Victoria. In Apl., 1897, he made an appeal to the people on the general policy of his Govt., and was sustained by a large majority. He was created a Q. C., by Lord Aberdeen, 1895. MURRAY, Howard, educationist, is the s. of the late Dr. Geo. Murray, of Pictou, who represented that co. in the N. S. Assembly, 1867-71. B. at New Glasgow, N.S., June 27, 1859, he was ed. at the High Sch. there, and at Dalhousie Coll., Halifax, where his undergraduate career was exceedingly brilliant. He was first in every class which he attended, and won every prize that was open to him. In 1881 his course at Dalhousie Coll. was interrupted by his capture of the Gilchrist scholarship. This took him to London and Edinburgh. At London he took first prizes in Latin, in Greek, and in Math., and graduated B.A., with honours in Classics. At Edinburgh "he won," says the Halifax Herald, "the admiration of his professors for his sound scholarship and excellent literary taste." Prof. M. has had considerable experience in teaching, for before crossing the water he had been Head-master, first of Stellarton High Sch., then of Guysboro' Acad., and, later, of New Glasgow High Sch. In 1887 he was apptd. Munro tutor in Classics in Dalhousie Coll., and, in 1888, he became Classical Master, and, later, Principal of Halifax Acad., which under his guidance became the premier acad. of the Province. In May, 1894, he succeeded Prof. Johnson in the chair of Classics in Dalhousie Coll. and Univ. He is a mem. of the Presb. Ch., and m. July, 1890, Janet, dau. of Geo. Hattie, Dartmouth, N.S.—Halifax, N.S.

MURRAY, Rev. Isaac (Presb.), is the s. of Jas. Murray, and bro. of the late Rev. Jas. Allister Murray, formerly of London, Ont. B. at Pictou, N.S., Mch. 24, 1824, he was ed. at Pictou Acad. and at West River Semy., after which he taught sch. for 2 yrs. at West River. He pursued his theol. studies at Princeton Semy., N.J.; was licensed to preach, May, 1849, by Pictou Presby.; and was ordained by Presby. of P. E. I., Jan., 1850, over Cavendish cong. Subsequently, he laboured in New London, in Charlottetown, and at Thorburn, N.S. Since 1884 he has been pastor at North Sydney, C.B. He received the degree of D.D. from Queen's Univ., Kingston, 1876. Dr. M. was for many yrs. a mem. of the Bd. of Education, one of its examrs. of candidates for teachers' licenses, and sometime Chairman of the Bd. of P. E. I. He suggested that the tenants' rent indicated the extent of proprietors' interest in the land, and this principle became the basis of settlement of dispute between these parties. He was the chief originator of the Protestant, now Patriot, newspaper, to which for yrs. he was principal contributor, in defence of tenants' rights and in opposition to separate schs. The Presbyterian, now Guardian, owed its inception and editorial standing mostly to him. After the Union of 1860, the Synod proposed him as Prof. of Theol. against Dr. Dods, and lost by the small minority of 5 votes. He was twice chosen Moderator of the Synod of the Maritime Provinces. He has always taken great interest in young men, and several ministers occupying high places in the Presb. Ch. gratefully acknowledge their indebtedness to his care and training. For a number of yrs. he has been Clk. of Sydney Presby. Politically, he is a Con.—St. Matthew's Manse, North Sydney, N.S.

MURRAY, John, scientist, was b. of Scotch parentage at Cobourg, Ont., 1841. Ed. at Victoria Univ., he received his first scientific impulse while at that institution. He afterwards attended Prof. McAuley's educational establishment, London, Ont., where he received the greatest inspiration in Physics and Nat. Hist. While at Edinburgh Univ., where he graduated M.D., he so thoroughly made his mark as a naturalist that he was selected to take part in a scientific voyage to Spitzbergen in 1867. Later, in 1880 and 1882, he had the direction of the scientific work on board the deep-sea expeditions of H.M.S. Knight-Errant and H.M.S. Triton. When the famous Challenger expedition was organized, 1882, he was apptd. naturalist thereto. On the death of Sir Wyville Thompson, after the return of the expedition, Dr. M. became dir. of the scientific work and ed. of the Govt. publications on the scientific results of the expedition. He was the author of the narrative of the cruise of the Challenger, the report on deep-sea deposits, and the summary of the scientific results of the expedition. He is also the author of numerous papers on Geography, Oceanography and Zoology. In acknowledgment of his services to Science, he received the Cuvier prize and medal of the Inst. de France; the Humboldt medal of the Gesellschaft für Godkunde zu Berlin; the Royal medal of the Royal Soc., London; the Founders' medal of the Royal Geograph. Soc., London; and the Neill medal and the Makdougall-Brisbane medal of the Royal Soc., Edinburgh. In 1885 he received the degree of Ph.D. from the Univ. of Jena; in 1888, the degree of LL.D. from the Univ. of Edinburgh; and, in 1895, the degree of D.Sc. from the Univ. of Cambridge. He is an hon. corr. mem. of a large number of home and foreign socs., the most recent being the Soc. Zool. de France and the Geol. Soc. of Edinburgh. He is a Fellow of the Royal Phys. Soc., Edinburgh; of the Scott. Microsc. Soc.; of the Scott. Nat. Hist. Soc.; of the Linnæan Soc., London; of the Royal Geogr. Soc., London; and of the Royal Soc., London. He holds the offices of V.-P. of the Royal Scott. Geogr. Soc. and Secy. of the Royal Soc., Edinburgh. MURRAY, John Clark, educationist, is the s. of the late Provost Murray, of Paisley, Scot., by his wife, Elizabeth Clark. B. in Paisley, Mch. 19, 1836, he was ed. at the Universities of Glasgow (LL.D.), Edinburgh, Heidelberg and Göttingen, and came to Can., 1862, on his appt. as Prof. of Mental and Moral Phil. in Queen's Univ., Kingston. He remained in this position until 1872, when he accepted appt. to the same chair in McGill Univ., the duties of which he still fulfils. Before coming to this country Dr. M. was a contributor to "Chambers's Encyclop.," and to various periodicals in Gt. Brit. He still maintains his connection with the Brit. press, and writes also occasionally for the Can. and Am. reviews. In 1895 he contributed an interesting paper: "Can Can. be coerced into the Union?" to Open Court. Among his published works are: "Outline of Sir Wm. Hamilton's Philosophy," a text-book (1870); "The Ballads and Songs of Scot., in view of Their Influence on the Character of the People" (1874); "Memoir of David Murray, late Provost of Paisley" (1881); "A Hand-book of Psychol." (1885); "Solomon Maimon," a translation (1889); and "An Introduction to Ethics" (1891). On the formation of the Royal Soc. of Can. by the Marquis of Lorne, he was apptd. thereto as a mem. of the Eng. MacBRIDE, Ernest William, educationist, is the s. of Saml. MacBride, merchant, Belfast, and was b. in that city about 30 yrs. ago. Entering at Queen's Coll., Belfast, 1884, he matriculated at the Univ. of London the following year. In 1887 he passed the intermediate exam. in Science, with honours in Experimental Physics, gaining the Neil Arnott medal and exhibition. In 1888 he entered St. John's Coll., Cambridge, as a Science exhibitioner, and, the following year, passed the London B.Sc. final, with honours in Zoology, winning the Univ. scholarship of £50 a year for 2 yrs. In 1890 he took the first part of the Cambridge Nat. Science Tripos and became a Foundation scholar of St. John's. In 1891 he took Part II. of the Tripos and obtained his B.A. degree. After that he spent some time in the great Internl. Zoological Laboratory at Naples, conducted by Prof. Anton Dohrn, a German scientist, and supported by contributions from the chief govts. of Europe. The work done there is independent research, and as a result of his stay Mr. MacB. published treatises bearing as titles words which are hard to spell and harder to understand. He has since published other treatises which might be described in the same summary fashion, for their titles would give no information to the public. He returned from Naples to Cambridge, 1892, having been apptd. Univ. Demonstrator in Animal Morphology, a post of considerable importance, as it involves the responsible charge and direction of the Zoological Laboratory. In 1893 he obtained the medal just established by Lord Walsingham, High Steward of Cambridge Univ., for research in Biology, including Zoology and Botany, and the biological aspects of Physiol. and Geol. He became a Fellow of St. John's the same year. In 1896 he was apptd. to deliver the Thomson course of lectures in Nat. Science to the Free Ch. students of Aberdeen. MACDONALD, Charles, C.E., is the s. of W. S. Macdonald, Gananoque, Ont. (U. E. L. descent), and was b. at Gananoque, Jan. 26, 1837. Ed. at the preparatory sch. connected with Queen's Univ., Kingston, he entered the Polytechnic Inst., Troy, N.Y., from which he graduated, C.E., 1857. His professional career commenced under the late Saml. Keefer, C.E., on the survey for the G. T. Ry. Later, he took up his residence in N. Y., joining the Union Bridge Co., of which he is now the senior partner. As an engr. he has chiefly devoted himself to the design and construction of ry. bridges, among the most important of which may be mentioned the bridge across the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, and the Hawkesbury River bridge, New South Wales, Australia. The total length of the former bridge is less than that of the Victoria and other bridges in Europe and Am., but it surpasses all others in that it spans the river from pier line to pier line, a distance of 3110 ft., without intermediate support, and in that the cost is estimated at $25,000,000. Mr. M.'s plan was adopted by the N. Y. State Bridge Comn., after keen competition, as promising to give both the strongest and cheapest structure of all the plans submitted. He is a mem. of the Am. Soc. of C. E., of which he has been V.-P. He is also a mem. and V.-P. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., and a mem. of the Inst. of Mining Engrs. In 1890 he offered to double any amount raised up to $5000 for the purpose of building a Mechanics' Inst., fitted with physical apparatus and library for both men and women, for his native town. He received the degree of LL.D., from Queen's Univ., 1894. MACDONALD, Lt.-Col. Charles John, Dom. civil service, is the 3rd s. of the late Robt. Macdonald, formerly of Dornoch, Sutherlandshire, Scot., and was b. at Halifax, N.S., Apl. 4, 1841. Ed. at Dalhousie Coll., he studied law with the late Sir J. S. D. Thompson, and was called to the bar, 1872. He practised his profession in Halifax, afterwards becoming an ald. of that city. He was Presdt. of the North British Soc., the oldest national body in the Maritime Provinces, and Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons of N. S., 1888-89. He took a 1st class M. S. cert. and was for many yrs. an offr. in the 66th Batt. Princess Louise Fusiliers. He was promoted major, Sept., 1872; lt.-col., Oct., 1874, and retired with that rank and was placed on special list at headquarters. Lt.-Col. M. served throughout the N.-W. rebellion as Major of the Halifax Batt. (medal). He sat for Halifax in the N. S.

Assembly, in the Con. interest, from g. e. 1878 till the 19th May, 1879, when apptd. P. O. Inspr. for N. S., and was for some mths. a mem. of the Holmes-Thompson Cabinet, without office. He m. 1st, Mary Tamsen, dau. of Wm. Evans, (she d.); and 2ndly, Annie, dau. of Jas. McLearn.—Halifax, N.S.; City Club.

MACDONALD, C. Ochiltree, journalist and littérateur, was b. in Tynemouth, Eng., 1870, and has been privately ed. Coming to Can., 1891, his researches into the economic condition of the classes of Eng. society suitable for emigration to the Dom. brought him to the notice of the late Sir John Abbott, who invited him to Ottawa, 1892. He was the first writer to publish abroad a systematic account of the coal resources of Can., his "Notes on the Regions of Eternal Coal," and "Collieries of B. N. A.," attracting particular attention. He brought out in 1894, the earliest mining journal, the Can. Colliery Guardian, published in eastern Can., for which he was invited to the membership of the North of Eng. Inst. of Mining and Mech. Engrs., and the Federated Inst. of Brit. Mining Engrs. Another production was his booklet on "Cheap and Rapid Coaling," an appeal to European steamship owners to frequent Can. coaling stations. He has been connected in an editorial capacity with more than one London journal. He has written on general subjects for the Halifax Critic, the Can. Educational Monthly and Le Moniteur du Commerce; his articles, "A Home for the Saxon Race," "Sickly Newfoundland," "The Mercantile Marine of Canada," "The National Feeling of N. S.," "Economic Features of the Dom.," "Can. a New Home for the Saxon Race," and "A Plea for a Better Scheme of Politics," receiving special notice. He m. 1893, Edith, dau. of W. W. MACDONALD, Hon. Hugh John, Q.C., statesman, is the only s. of the late Rt. Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, G.C.B., for many yrs. Prime Minister of Can., by his first wife, Isabella, dau. of Alex. Clark, of Dalnavert, Scot., and was b. in Kingston, Ont., Mch. 13, 1850. Ed. at Queen's Coll. preparatory sch., at Queen's Coll., and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1869), he was called to the bar, 1872, and practised for some time in partnership with his father and the late Hon. James Patton, Q.C. Removing to Winnipeg, 1882, he there entered into partnership with J. S. Tupper, Q.C., which connection continues, the firm name being now Macdonald, Tupper, Phippen & Tupper. They are solrs. to the Can. Pac. Ry. Co. and other corporations. He was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Derby, 1890. Mr. M. early entered the V. M., and has been in active service on 3 occasions: 1st, in 1866, as a private in the 14th Batt., on duty at Cornwall during the Fenian invasion; 2ndly, in 1870, as an ensign in the 1st Ont. Rifles, forming part of the force sent to Red River under Genl. Wolseley; and 3rdly, in 1885, as a capt. in the 90th Batt., during the existence of the rebellion in the N. W. T. (medal). He is a V.-P. of the Dom. Rifle Assn., and Presdt. of the Man. Rifle Assn. Politically, a Con., he sat for Winnipeg in the Ho. of Commons, in that interest, from g. e. 1891 until his resignation, Oct., 1893. In Apl., 1896, he was called to the Privy Council and apptd. Mr. of the Interior in the Tupper Admn. He stood for Winnipeg at the ensuing g. e. and was returned, but was unseated on petition, Jan. 15, 1897. He resigned office with his leader, July 8, 1896. During the present year (1897) he has been offered and has accepted the Con. leadership in Provl. politics in Man. While in Parlt. he was exceedingly popular with his bro. members, and developed powers of oratory of a high order. His name has been frequently mentioned in connection with the general leadership of the Cons. at Ottawa after the retirement therefrom of Sir Chas. Tupper. Mr. M. is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. and has been twice m., 1st, 1876, to Jean King, dau. of the late W. A. Murray, Toronto (she d. 1881); and 2ndly, 1883, to Agnes Gertrude, dau. of the late S. J. Vankoughnet, Q.C., Toronto.—Winnipeg; Manitoba Club; Rideau Club.

MACDONALD, John Duff, M.D., was b. at Navity, Cromarty, Scot., Nov. 18, 1819 (U. E. L. descent). Ed. chiefly at Forres Acad., he pursued his med. studies at Edinburgh, and was licensed by the Royal Coll. of Surgs., Edin., 1839. After serving for some yrs. in the R. N., he came to Can., and obtained a Provl. license, 1848. In 1867 he received the hon. degree of M.D. from Victoria Univ. He became a mem. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs., Ont., 1872, and was elected Presdt. of that body, 1879. He has practised for many yrs. in Hamilton, and is now one of the Doyens of his profession in the Province of Ont. He has served as Presdt. of the Hamilton Assn., as Presdt. of the Ex. Health Officers' Assn., and as Presdt. of the Can. Med. Assn. In religion, he is a Presb.—Hamilton, Ont.

MACDONALD, John Kay, insurance manager and municipal officer, is the young. s. of the late Donald Macdonald, a native of Caithness, Scot., who was for some yrs. engaged in business in Edinburgh, by his wife, Elizabeth Mackay, also from the North. B. in Edinburgh, Scot., Oct. 12, 1837, he came to Can. at an early age, and spent his boyhood on his father's farm in Chinguacousy, Co. Peel. He received his early education at a public sch., proceeding thence to Weston High Sch. On leaving that institution he attended lectures at Knox Coll., and also occasional classes at Toronto Univ., his intention being to enter the ministry and become a mission. In 1863 he became asst. to the late J. S. Howard, Treas. of York and Peel, and at his death, 1866, was apptd. to succeed him in his office. The incident of being canvassed for a life ins. policy led him to take up the study of Ins. in all its bearings, the outcome of which was the formation of the Confederation Life Assn., 1870, with which he has been connected throughout. He organized the co., getting stock subscribed, etc., and it was intended that he should assume the management of it. Finding that the work, with his other official duties, was likely to prove too much for his strength, he withdrew from the position, remaining, however, on the directorate to organize the Provl. agencies. Three yrs. afterwards, at the earnest request of his fellow-directors, he took over the full management of the co., and he has been at the helm ever since. His early training doubtless led him to give active co-operation in religious and philanthropic work. He was one of the founders of the Y. M. C. A., and remained actively connected with that body for many yrs. He was also hon. Secy. of the U. C. Religious Book and Tract Soc. for a lengthened period, and is now V.-P. thereof. For an equal length of time he was a dir. of the U. C. Bible Soc., and succeeded the Hon. Wm. McMaster as Treas. He is now a V.-P. of the Soc., as well as Presdt. of the U. C. Tract Soc. He is likewise Presdt. of the Children's Aid Soc., a work in which he is much interested; Presdt. of the Ont. Sabbath Sch. Assn.; Presdt. of the Lord's Day Alliance; Presdt. of the Toronto Philharmonic Soc.; a mem. of the Bd. of Knox Coll., and Presdt. of the Endowment and Sustentation Fund of that institution; a dir. of St. Margaret's Coll.; and a mem. of the Council of the Evangel. Alliance. He remains Treas. of the Co. of York. In religion, a Presb., he is also an elder in his ch., and has served several times as a Commr. to the Pan-Presb. Assembly. Politically, he is a Con., and was formerly Presdt. of the Equal Rights Assn. of Ont. He m. Dec., 1867, Charlotte Emily, young. dau. of the late Col. Perley, Burford, Ont. MACDONALD, Lieut. Reginald James, R. A., is the eld. s. of the Hon. W. J. Macdonald, Senator (q.v.). B. at Victoria, B.C., Jan. 29, 1867, he was ed. at the Coll. Sch. there, and graduated from the Royal Mil. Coll., Kingston, June, 1887. Apptd. 2nd lieut. R. A., July, 1887, he was promoted 1st lieut., July, 1890. He was apptd. Asst. Inspr. on the staff of the Inspr. of Warlike Stores, Apl. 1, 1893, and now holds the office of Govt. Inspr. of Steel at Sheffield. He has also been entrusted with the duty of writing an official history of the Royal Arty. He is a mem. of the Royal United Service Inst., and of the Royal Arty. Assn. Politically, a Con.; in religion, he is an Ang.—Surrey St., Sheffield, Eng.; Constitutional Club, London; Sheffield Club.

MACDONALD OF EARNSCLIFFE, The Right Honourable Sarah Agnes, Baroness, is the dau. of the late Hon. T. J. Bernard, a mem. of H. M.'s Privy Council, Jamaica, W.I., by his wife, Theodora Foulks. B. in Jamaica, 1836, she, upon the death of her father, which occurred when she was a child, was taken to Eng., for her ed. Meanwhile, her brothers, Richard and Hewitt Bernard, had entered the legal profession in Can., the last-named becoming, subsequently, Private Secy. to the Prime Minister, Sir John A. Macdonald. Coming to Can., with her mother, 1854, Miss Bernard henceforward made this country her home. While on a visit to Eng., 1867, she was m. in London, to Sir John Macdonald, he being then engaged in carrying to completion the scheme for the union of the B. N. A. Provinces. The bride was the great statesman's second wife, his first wife (Miss Clark) having d. 1856. It is recorded that the union was a happy one, and resulted advantageously to the public interests. "All that Lady Beaconsfield was to the Con. Premier of Eng.," said a Can. writer, in 1891, "Lady M. has been, and is, to the Con. Premier of Can., who, singularly enough, bears a striking personal likeness to Disraeli. She enjoys his fullest confidence. If any one on earth knows his mind it is she. Their understanding of each other is complete, and their matrimonial felicity unruffled. How much Can. owes to Lady M. for the help she has given her greatest statesman only the Premier himself can fully estimate." Lady M. accompanied her husband to Washington and remained with him throughout the deliberations there of the Joint High Comn., which resulted in the Treaty of Washington, May, 1871. She likewise accompanied him on his celebrated journey to B. C., when for the first time he passed over the C. P. Ry., uniting ocean to ocean, a work whose existence was largely due to his efforts. Of this journey she has left a record in the series of papers written by her for Murray's Mag., entitled "By Car and Cow-Catcher." Among her other papers in that periodical were: "On a Can. Salmon River" (1887); "On a Toboggan" (1888). She has likewise written for the Ladies' Home Journal, the Pall Mall Mag., and other periodicals, and, in 1887, contributed to the Montreal Star two descriptive articles of the services and festivities connected with the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in London. On the death of Sir John Macdonald, June 6, 1891, Her Majesty was graciously pleased, in recognition of his distinguished public services, to grant the dignity of a peerage to his widow, by the name, style and title of Baroness Macdonald of Earnscliffe, in the Province of Ont. and Dom. of Can. In conveying the Letters Patent to Lady M., it was intimated to her that Her Majesty, in bestowing the honour upon her, was pleased thereby to evince her sense both of the distinguished public services of the departed statesman and of the zealous devotion to the public interests manifested by the new peeress as wife and widow. —"Earnscliffe," Ottawa.

MACDONALD, Hon. William John, Senator, is the 3rd s. of the late Major Alex. Macdonald, of Valley, North Uist, by his wife, Flora, dau. of Capt. McRae, of Inverinett, Kintail, Scot. His father was an offr. in the R. N. during the Napoleonic wars, and afterwards entered the army. B. in the Isle of Skye, Nov. 29, 1832, he was ed. at his native place. Entering the service of the H. B. Co., he proceeded to Vancouver Island, 1851. There he has since remained, and he may be regarded as one of the founders of the city of Victoria. In those early days the Indians were numerous and the whites few in the colony, and Mr. M. was called on to assume the duties of various official positions. He commanded a co. of local militia which was called into existence for the protection of the settlers from Indian depredations. He also served as Collr. of Customs, Sch. Comnr., Savings Bank Comnr., Road Comnr., etc. Leaving the service of the H. B. Co., 1859, he has since devoted himself to his private interests. After having served as Mayor of Victoria, he was elected to the V. I. Assembly, 1859, and, in 1866, on the union of the colonies of B. C. and V. I., was called to the Leg. Council by Gov. Seymour. On the entrance of the colony into the Dom. he was summoned to the Senate by Lord Lisgar, Dec. 13, 1871. In that body he has taken his share of labour, and has filled with acceptance the chairmanship of the Comtes. on Standing Orders and Private Bills. On the occasion of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, 1897, he introduced a bill in the Senate for making the Queen's birthday a perpetual holiday. Politically, he is a Lib.-Con., and favours moderate protection to manufacturers and a closer commercial union of all parts of the British Empire. He considers a moderate customs tariff the least objectionable and most equitable way of raising a revenue. He favours the establishment of a permanent internl. peace tribunal. While a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he was Diocesan Secy. in B. C. He was also one of the founders of the Prot. Orphanage and Presdt. thereof for yrs. He now worships in the Ref. Ep. Ch. In the early days he travelled over a large portion of B. C. and met with many interesting adventures. Senator M. m. Mch., 1857, Catherine Balfour, dau. of Jas. Murray Reid. MACDONELL, The Right Rev. Alexander, Bishop of Alexandria (R. C.), is the s. of Jas. Macdonell, by his wife, Christina Macdonell, and was b. in the Tp. of Lochiel, Glengarry, Ont., Nov. 1, 1833. Ed. at the local schs., he taught therein for 3 yrs. Later, he took a full theol. course at St. Joseph's Coll, Ottawa, and was ordained to the priesthood, 1862. His Lordship commenced his pastoral service as asst. priest at Gananoque. In June, 1863, he was apptd. parish priest of Lochiel, where he remained for 16 yrs., being then called to the pastorate of Alexandria. He was apptd. V.-G. of the Diocese of Kingston, Sept., 1886, and on July 18, 1890, was raised to the episcopate as first bp. of the newly created Diocese of Alexandria. His consecration took place in St. Finnan's Cath., Alexandria, a beautiful edifice raised through his personal exertions, Oct. 28 of the same year. The diocese is largely composed of Highland Scotch, and as the bp. speaks Gaelic with the same fluency as he does Eng. and French, he is in all respects well fitted for his office.—The Palace, Alexandria, Ont.

MACDONELL, Angus Claude, barrister, is the s. of the late Angus Macdonell, Brockton, Ont., and is of Glengarry Scotch extraction on his father's side, and of French extraction on his mother's. His paternal ancestors were also U. E. Loyalists. B. in Toronto, 1861, he was ed. there, and graduated B.C.L., at Trinity Univ., 1885, since when he has taken his degree of D.C.L. in course. He received honours and scholarships during his student's course, and was called to the bar, 1885. He has since practised in Toronto, and is now at the head of the firm of Macdonell & Boland. A R. C. in religion, he assisted in founding, and for 5 yrs. was on the editing comte. of, the Catholic Review, since merged in the Catholic Register. More recently he assisted in establishing the Barrister, a monthly publication devoted to the interests of the legal profession, of which he is the ed. In 1896 he was recommended by the Tupper Admn. for appt. as a Q.C., and in the same year was elected Presdt. of the Osgoode Legal and Lit. Soc. Dr. M. is a Lib.-Con., and was one of the organizers and the first Secy. of the Lib.-Con. Assn., Toronto. He is now and has been for many yrs. a dir. of the Albany Club. MACDONELL OF GREENFIELD, John Alexander, Q.C., is the only surviving son of the late Archibald John Macdonell, Recorder of Kingston, Ont., by Mary, dau. of Robert Long-Innes, lieut. H.M.'s 37th Regt. of Foot and subsequently, of the Royal Topographical Survey of Irel. (Sir R. Griffiths' Valuation). B. at Kingston, June 26, 1851, he was ed. at Queen's Coll. Sch. In Mch., 1867, he entered the C. S. of Can., as Private Secy. to the Hon. James Cockburn, Solr.-Genl. of U. C., and at Confederation was transferred to the office of the Atty.-Genl. of Can., Sir John Macdonald, to whom he was articled. In 1870 he entered the office of Christopher Robinson, Q.C., Toronto, where he remained until called to the bar, 1875. He was Registrar to the Hon. W. H. Draper, C.B., Chief-Justice of Ont., and the Hon. Chancellor Spragge in election cases, and, in 1880, was apptd. agent of the Mr. of Justice at Toronto, and continued as such until leaving Toronto, 1889. He was apptd. a Q. C., by the Earl of Derby, 1890. Upon the defeat of Sir John Macdonald, 1873, and largely owing to personal friendship for Sir John, Mr. M. entered actively upon the work of reorganization of the Con. party, and was for yrs. the accredited agent of the party acting under the immediate direction of Sir John Macdonald, his services being entirely honorary except for a period of 5 mths. before the g. e. of 1878. He was the originator of the Con. Assn. of Toronto and first secy. thereof for several yrs., under the presidency of the Hon. M. C. Cameron, the representation of Toronto being changed during his term of office from 4 Libs. and 1 Con. to 1 Lib. and 4 Cons. Before retiring from the secretaryship he was elected a life-mem. of all the comtes. of the Assn. He was the originator and convener and secy. of the first Con. Convention ever held in the Province (Temperance Hall, 1875), under the presidency of the Hon. James Skead, the convener and secy. of the Con. convention, 1877 (Shaftesbury Hall), and one of the originators of the convention of 1884 and a mem. of all its comtes., this being followed the succeeding day by the great banquet to Sir John Macdonald in honour of his elevation by his Sovereign to the Grand Cross of the Bath. He was one of the founders of the United Empire Club and a mem. of its comtes. until its close, when he was instrumental in founding the Albany (Con.) Club of Toronto in 1882, and has since been continuously a mem. of its comtes., and was elected a life-mem. of the Club for his services. He was the first Secy. and for several yrs. Presdt. of the Con. Assn. of Glengarry, and a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Con. Union of the Province. Mr. M. declined the judgeship of Prescott and Russell, 1888, and, his health having temporarily failed him, the registrarship of the Exchequer Ct. of Can. was placed at his disposal by Sir Alex. Campbell, then Mr. of Justice, upon the formation of that Ct., which office he also declined. He now practises law at Alexandria, in partnership with F. T. Costello. He has been Presdt. of the High Sch. Bd. of the District and a mem. of the Sep. Sch. Bd. For some yrs. he held a captaincy in the 59th Batt., retiring 1897. He is a V.-P. of the U. E. Loyalists' Assn. of Ont. In 1893 he published "The History of Glengarry in Can." He has also published a sketch of the life of the first Bp. Macdonell. Regarding the future of the Dom. Mr. M. is of the opinion that the material prosperity and political safety of our people depend upon the continuance of the existing relations with the Mother Country and the cultivation by them of the markets of Gt. Brit. In religious faith, a R. C., he m. Isabel Sophie, young. dau. of the late John Willoughby Crawford, Lt.-Gov. of Ont.—"The Pines," Alexandria, Ont.; Albany Club; Rideau Club.

MacDOUGALL, Major James Charles, Can. permanent mil. force, is the s. of the late Alex. D. MacDougall, barrister, Toronto, by his wife, Catharine Augusta, 3rd dau. of Jas. Mackenzie, H. B. Co., Quebec, and is the grands. of Capt. D. MacDougall, H.M.'s 79th Highlanders. B. in Toronto, July 16, 1863, he was ed. at the Coll. Inst., and the Royal Mil. Coll., Kingston. He entered the Can. vol. force, as a lieut. in the 14th Batt., 1881, and was promoted capt., 1883. When the permanent force was withdrawn from Kingston and sent to the N.-W. during Riel's rebellion, 1885, Capt. MacD.'s co., among others of the 14th, went into garrison in Kingston, and eventually took charge of Fort Henry at that place. Owing to the good work done there by his co., Capt. MacD. was selected by Maj.-Genl. Middleton for a comn. in the permanent force (Oct. 29, 1885). He served in Toronto for 9 yrs. (6 yrs. of which as adjt.), during which time he acted as adjt. to the 48th Highlanders at their organization. He was selected by Maj.-Genl. Herbert, as Regimental Adjt., R.R.C.I., during its concentration at Lévis, P.Q., 1894, and was transferred from there to St. John's, P.Q., as Adjt. No. 3 Regt. Dépot, R. R. C. I. In 1895 he was sent to Eng. for courses of instruction with H. M.'s regular army, and passed one of the best exams. in the records of the Sch. of Mil. Instruction at Chelsea Barracks. Subsequently, he passed the promotion exam. from capt. to major of the army, and was "distinguished" in topography. In 1897 he was selected as adjt. of the contingent sent to represent Can. at H. M.'s Diamond Jubilee in London, and on arriving there was apptd. Adjt. of the Infy. composing the Col. forces present on that interesting historical occasion. He m. 1889, Josephine, 3rd dau. of G. M. MACDOUGALL, Hon. Joseph Easton, Co. Ct. Judge, is the eld. s. of the Hon. Wm. Macdougall, C.B. (q.v.), by his first wife, Amelia Caroline, dau. of Joseph Easton, of Millbank. B. in Toronto, Mch. 25, 1846, he was ed. at the Model Grammar Sch. and at U. C. Coll., at which latter he won 2 exhibition scholarships. Called to the bar, 1870, he practised in partnership with his father, and was subsequently a mem. of the firm of Bain, Macdougall, Gordon & Shepley, Toronto, succeeding the present Mr. Justice Ferguson therein. He became a lecturer to the Law Soc. of U. C., and was also an examr. therefor in Criminal Law and Torts. His lectures on Torts and Negligence, etc., have been printed (1882). He was also Presdt. of the Osgoode Lit. and Legal Soc. As a counsel he distinguished himself more especially at Nisi Prius, and on Chancery circuits. "In one heavy patent case, which attracted considerable public attention," said the Week, "and the hearing of which occupied the court 7 days, Mr. M.'s masterly and successful management of his clients' cause, in conjunction with the intimate knowledge he displayed of the intricacies of patent law, and his elaborate and powerful argument at the close, won for him much credit from bench and bar, and greatly enhanced his reputation." He had been for some time acting as Depty. Judge for the Co. York, when in Mch., 1883, he was created a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lorne. He was apptd. at the same time Junior Judge of the Co. York. This office he held until Sept. 3, 1885, when he was promoted to succeed Mr. Boyd as Senior Judge for the same co. Later, in the same year, he was chosen Judge of the Maritime Ct. of Ont., and on that ct. being abolished, Oct., 1891, he became local Judge in Admiralty of the Exchequer Ct. of Can., for the Toronto Admiralty Dist. His Honour has sat on some important arbitrations and has served as special comnr. in municipal and other investigations. In 1885 he was apptd. a comnr. for the revision of the Provl. statutes. He is a dir. of the Can. Mutual Loan and Invest. Co., a V.-P. of the St. John Ambulance Assn., and a V.-P. of the Toronto Homœopathic Hospital Bd. In 1890 he was elected Chairman of the Toronto Public Library. He is a mem. of the Ang. Ch., and m. Nov., 1871, Jane M., dau. of the late Rev. I. B. Howard, D.D.—"Carlton Lodge," Toronto; Toronto Club.

MacDOUGALL, Robert, educationist, is the s. of Wm. MacDougall, by his wife, Christina MacPherson, both natives of Scot. B. at Dewittville, P.Q., June 12, 1866, he was ed. at Ormstown Primary and Model schs., at Huntingdon Acad., at McGill Univ. (B.A., with 1st rank honours in Mental and Moral Phil., 1890), and at Harvard Univ., Mass. (A.M., 1893; Ph.D., 1893). In 1894-95 he was resident Fellow, and, in 1895-96, travelling Fellow, of Harvard Univ., and spent his time in the Univ. of Berlin, and at the Sorbonne, Paris. On his return from Europe he was apptd. Asst. in Phil. in Harvard Univ., and, in 1896, was apptd. Prof. of Phil. in Adelbert Coll., Western Reserve Univ., Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. MacD. was employed in 1892 as a mem. of the field staff of the Can. Geol. Survey. He is a mem. of the Am. Psychol. Soc., and was Presdt. of the Can. Club, Harvard Univ., 1894-95. He was ed. for a time of the McGill Fortnightly, and of the Presb. Coll. Journal. He was brought up a Presb., but is at present of liberal views and religion. —43 Adelbert Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, U.S.

MACDOUGALL, Hon. William, statesman, is descended from John Macdougall, a native of the Highlands of Scot., and a U. E. Loyalist, who served in the Brit. Commissariat during the Revolutionary war. S. of Danl. Macdougall, formerly of York (now Toronto), Ont., by his wife, Hannah Matthews, of St. Andrew's, P.Q., he was b. in York, Jan. 25, 1822, and received his education at the local schs. and at Victoria Coll., Cobourg. He studied law in the office of the late Hon. J. H. Price, and was admitted as an atty. and solr., 1847. In 1862 he was called to the bar, and, in 1881, was apptd. a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lorne. Before completing his articles as a law student, he had begun to contribute to the newspapers of the day, and according to Dent, "displayed a decided talent for the profession of a journalist." Within a few mths. after his admission as an atty. he established the Can. Farmer, a weekly paper devoted to Agricul., Science and Lit. Its name was subsequently changed to that of the Canadian Agriculturist, and it continued to be published under his auspices down to 1858. Long before this period, however, he had taken a position on the political press. In 1850 he established the North American, a semi-weekly newspaper of radical proclivities, of which he became ed.-in-chief. The political platform laid down by him, the last plank of which has long since been adopted by the people and Parlt. of the country, comprised: 1, Elective institutions, which were to apply to the Leg. Council or Upper House of that day, as well as to municipal and local officers; 2, the abolition of property qualification for Parliamentary representatives; 3, the extension of the elective franchise to householders; 4, vote by ballot; 5, biennial parlts.; 6, representation based on population; 7, power to the Can. Parlt. to regulate commercial intercourse with other nations; 8, law reform, by the giving of equity jurisdiction to the cts. of law, and by simplification of law proceedings; 9, the application of the Clergy Reserves to educational purposes; 10, the abolition of the rectories; 11, the abolition of all laws giving special privileges to particular religious denominations; 12, modifications of the usury laws; 13, the abolition of the doctrine of primogeniture as applied to real estate; 14, a decimal currency; 15, free navigation of the St. Lawrence. Upon the formation of the Hincks-Morin Admn. the North American became its mouthpiece, but apart from this relation, Mr. M. had opinions of his own, and did not hesitate to proclaim them. In 1857 the publication of the North American was discontinued, being merged in the Toronto Globe, and Mr. M. joined the editorial staff of the last-named journal. After having led a forlorn hope for the Reformers in 3 previous contests, he was returned to Parlt. for North Oxford, 1858. He sat for that constituency till 1863, and was, thereafter, up to the close of his political career, 1882, the representative successively of North Ont., North Lanark and Halton. From 1875 to 1878 he held a seat in the Ont. Legislature. At the g. e. 1887, he stood in the Lib. interest for South Grenville, and was defeated. "He grew steadily in power and influence from the time of first taking his seat," says Mr. Dent, "and furnished one of the few instances in the Can. Parlt. of a public man who could both speak and write remarkably well." On the formation of the Sandfield Macdonald-Sicotte Admn., May, 1862, he accepted office therein as Comnr. of Crown Lands, remaining in that position till the resignation of the Govt., Mch., 1864. In the same year, on the defeat of the Con. Govt. led by Sir E. P. Taché, the latter, being unable to reconstruct without a dissolution, offered Mr. M. 3 seats in the U. C. sec. of his Cabinet if he could bring 2 Libs. in with him, but as Sir Etienne refused to apply the coalition principle in L. C., the offer was declined. On the formation of the coalition, in June, same year, which resulted in Confederation, Mr. M. was one of the 2 Reformers whom the Hon. Geo. Brown took with him into the Cabinet, he being assigned the office of Provl. Secy. He was from first to last an active promoter of the Union, and to no one does the term, "Father of Confederation," more rightly apply than to him. He attended the Union Conf. at Charlottetown, 1864, and that held at Quebec in the same year. In 1866-67 he was present at the Colonial Conf. that sat in London, Eng., when the terms of the Federation compact were finally settled. In 1865-66 he served as Chairman of a Royal Comn. apptd. to open trade relations with the West Indies, Mexico and Brazil. On July 1, 1867, he was sworn of the Queen's Privy Council for Can., and apptd. Mr. of Public Works in the Govt. then formed by Sir John A. Macdonald. At the same time he was created a Companion of the Order of the Bath, in acknowledgment of his services in promoting the Union of B. N. A. In the autumn of 1868 he accompanied Sir Geo. Cartier to Eng., to confer with the Imp. authorities on several matters of public interest, including the defences of the Dom. and the acquisition of the N. W. T.—the latter a matter he had always much at heart. The negotiations, in so far as they related to the N. W. T., were successful. The arrangement, as finally completed, gave general satisfaction in Can., and received the unanimous approval of Parlt. Mr. M.'s share in these negotiations, and his warm interest in everything relating to the N.-W., led to his appt. as first Lt.-Gov. of Rupert's Land and the N. W. T. He left Ottawa for Fort Garry, the proposed seat of his Govt., Oct., 1869, but on reaching Pembina, on the internl. boundary line, was served with a formal notice, on behalf of certain French half-breeds at Fort Garry, forbidding him to enter the Territory. Later, he was ejected from the Territory, and returned to Ottawa. Meanwhile, a provisional govt. had been formed at Fort Garry under Louis Riel, with the deplorable results recorded in history. In 1871 Mr. M. was apptd. a comnr. for Ont. for the settlement of the N.-W. boundary of the Province, and, in 1873, was sent to England by the Can. Govt. as a special comnr. to confer with the Imp. authorities on the subject of the Can. Fisheries. He remained there for some mths., and proceeded afterwards to the Continent for the purpose of making arrangements in Scandinavia and the Baltic provinces on behalf of immigration. On his return to Can., he resumed his law practice, in partnership with his son, the present Judge of York, and was concerned in several important cases, notably, the Campbell divorce case, and the Mercer will case. In 1881 he declined appt. to a judgeship and also to a lt.-governorship. He has published in pamphlet form: "Eight Letters to the Hon. Joseph Howe on the Red River Rebellion" (1870); "Six Letters to the Hon. O. Mowat on the Amendment of the Provincial Constitution" (1872); and "An Open Letter to the Hon. H. Mercier on the Federalism of the Federal Constitution of 1867" (1887). (See also the Introduction to "Morgan's D. A. R., 1878," containing reasons for Confederation, written by Mr. M.) Among the several measures which have been placed by him on the statute book, are the Bureau of Agricul. and Agricul. Societies' Act; the Act providing for the disposal of the property of lunaties; the Act respecting corrupt practices at elections; the Grammar Sch. Act, 1866; the Act providing for granting charters of incorporation to cos.; the Public Works Act, 1867; and an Act respecting patents for invention. Mr. M. now calls himself a Con.-Lib. In religious belief, he is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He m. 1st, 1845, Amelia Caroline, dau. of Joseph Easton, Millbank, Ont. (she d. Jan., 1869); and 2ndly, Nov., 1872, Mary Adelaide, dau. of John Beaty, M.D., Cobourg, Ont. Mrs. M. is V.-P. of the Ottawa Humane Soc., and an active mem. of various other benevolent and philanthropic bodies. MACDUFF, Rev. Alexander Ramsay (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of Thos. Macduff, by his wife, Katharine Crawford Ramsay. B. in London, Eng., Jan. 26, 1846, he was ed. at the High Sch., Montreal (gold med. and Dux of the sch., 1862), at McGill Univ. (B.A., 1866), and at Trinity Coll., Dublin (M.A., and Archbp. King's prizeman in Divinity, 1875). Ordained deacon, 1869, and priest by the Bp. of Carlisle, 1870, he has held several appts. in Eng., Can. and India. He is now Chaplain at Dharmsala, and Private Chaplain to the Lord Bp. of Lahore. He has travelled extensively over the Himalaya Mts. up to the borders of Thibet. His literary labours consist of pamphlets and papers on Agnosticism, and of controversial tracts with Hindus, Mulhammadans and mems. of the Brahma Somaj. He is strongly in favour of Imp. Federation and of drastic temp. reform. He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Hy. Farrer, Scaleby Hall, Cumberland, Eng.—Dharmsala, Punjab, India.

MACFARLANE, John, poet, was b. at Abington, Lanarkshire, Scot., May, 1857. Ed. at the village sch., he, while quite young, began contributing short poems and sketches to newspapers and mags., under the nom de plume "John Arbory," many of which displayed considerable talent. At 16, he went to Glasgow, where he obtained a situation with a mercantile firm. It was while residing there, and before he had completed his 20th year, that he composed the poem for the inauguration of the Glasgow Burns statue, Jan. 25, 1887, which has been singled out for much notice, and has found a place side by side with productions of Wordsworth, Campbell, Longfellow, Whittier, and others, in a volume containing all the best verse yet written in honour of Scotland's poet king. Since then he has written many fine pieces, among which may be mentioned, "The Lost Lang Syne," "The Bonnie Banks o' Clyde," which are included in the volume, "Heather and Harebell," which he published, 1894. He also contributed: "Round Burns' Grave," "Highland Mary," etc., to Burnsiana. He took up his residence in Montreal some yrs. ago, and has become a prominent mem. of the Caledonian Soc. there, and lectures occasionally on Scottish subjects. He edited, 1895, "The Harp of the Scottish Covenant," a collection of poems, songs and ballads relating to the covenanting struggle.—"Hazelbrae," 85 Church Hill Ave., Montreal.

MACHAR, Miss Agnes Maule, author, is the dau. of the late Rev. John Machar, D.D. (Ch. of Scot.), Kingston, Ont. B. in that city, she inherited much of her literary tastes and aspirations from her father, who was the second Principal of Queen's Univ. In describing her career to a friend, she is reported to have said that she had "always written," her first work having been produced "at the mature age of seven." Continuing, she observed, that her writings have been nearly always with a purpose. "If there is something to be said for the right, a wrong to be redressed, or a warning word uttered, I think we should always be ready with our pen." Under the pseudonym, "Fidelis," and also over her own name, Miss M. has for yrs. contributed, both in prose and verse, to Can. and Am. periodicals, her themes being generally lofty and momentous, and her treatment worthy of the subject. Many of her poems have appeared in the Century and the Christian Union. In 1887 she won the prize offered by the Week (Toronto) for the best poem on the Queen's Jubilee. She is, however, best known as a novelist. Among her published works are: "Stories of New France"; "For King and Country"; "Katie Johnston's Cross"; "Marjorie's Canadian Winter"; "Roland Graeme, Knight"; "The Heir of Fairmount Grange"; and "Down the River to the Sea." Miss M. is a V.-P. of the Kingston Humane Soc., and a mem.

He also owned and ed. the Can. Parliamentary Companion, 1877-82. As a youth he wrote an ode in honour of the visit of the Prince of Wales, 1860, and, in 1875, he was awarded a gold and a silver medal at the O'Connell Centennial for a prize poem on the "Irish Liberator." He was elected a mem. of the Strathroy Town Council, 1873, and became Mayor of Ottawa, 1879, holding the office until 1881. He sat for Ottawa city in the Ho. of Commons, in the Con. interest, from g. e. 1882 up to g. e. 1887, and again from 1890 until his appt. to the lt.-governorship of the N. W. T., Oct. 31, 1893. Mr. M. was Presdt. of the Press Gallery, Ottawa, 1879, Chairman of the Dom. Exhn. the same year, and Presdt. of the Agricul. Assn., 1881. In religious faith, he is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He signalized his appt. to the lt.-governorship of the N. W. T. by promoting a great Territorial Exhn. which was opened by Lord Aberdeen at Regina, July 30, 1895. Afterwards, in 1895, he incurred some disfavour by refusing to give his assent to the sch. ordinance passed by the Territorial Assembly in that year, thereby killing the bill. His action was not countenanced by the Dom. Govt. He is the author of "Brit. America's Golden Gateway to the Orient," and other contributions to the Can. Mag. He is a life-dir. of the Prot. Home for the Aged, Ottawa, a dir. of the Joseph Ladue Gold Mining and Develop. Co., and Mangr. in B. C. for the Brit. Am. Mining Corporation. He m. Apl., 1868, Gertrude, dau. of T. Cook, J. In the same year, 1868, he was called to the Quebec bar, and entered on the practice of his profession in Montreal, where he was a partner for a time of N. W. Trenholme, Q.C. Afterwards he practised at the head of the firm of Maclaren, Leet & Smith. Among some of the principal cases in which he was engaged in Montreal were the Oka Indian trials, which he brought to a successful issue; the winding up of the Mechanics' Bank; the defence of the Can. Temp. Act, which was finally won on an appeal to the Privy Council in Eng.; the Commercial Travellers' cases; the Exhibit tax case; the Allan-Witness libel case; and many controverted election cases. Called to the Ont. bar, 1884, he removed to Toronto the same year, and succeeded the present Mr. Justice Rose in the long-established firm of Rose, Macdonald, Merritt & Shepley. On leaving Montreal he was entertained at a public banquet by leading citizens and presented with a parting address. He was created a Q. C., by the Quebec Govt., 1878, and received a similar dignity from the Ont. and Dom. Govts., 1890. Mr. M. was Secy. of the Brit. and Am. Joint Comn. on Hudson Bay claims, 1867-69; and was apptd. a mem. of the Comn. on the Code of Civil Procedure of Quebec, 1887. He is a Senator of Toronto Univ.; a Senator of the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal; a mem. of the Bd. of Regents, Victoria Univ. (in connection with which institution he founded the J. J. Maclaren gold medal in Teutonic Languages); a trustee of U. C. Coll.; and an hon. mem. of the Law Faculty of Toronto Univ. He is the author of "Roman Law in Eng. Jurisprudence" (1887); "Bills, Notes and Cheques" (1892; 2nd ed., 1894); and "Banks and Banking" (1894). He has throughout been active in religious, educatl. and temp. work. He is a mem. of the Council of the Toronto branch of the Evangel. Alliance; a mem. of the Ont. branch of the Lord's Day Alliance; Presdt. of the Toronto McGill Graduates' Soc.; representative of Ont. on the Internl. S. S. Alliance; and Chairman of the Executive of the Dom. Prohibitionary Alliance. He has been also Presdt. of the Toronto Y.M.C.A.; Presdt. of the Toronto

Law and Order League; and Presdt. of the Provl. Sabbath Sch. Assn. In 1895 he represented Ont. before the Imp. Privy Council in the appeal from the decision of the Supreme Ct. of Can. in reference to the provl. power to grant Prohibition. MacLAURIN, Rev. Archibald Berten (Bapt.), is the s. of the late Rev. Duncan MacLaurin (Bapt.), by his wife, Jane Drummond, both natives of Scot., and was b. near Meaford, Ont., Oct. 3, 1865. Ed. at the public schs., he, for a time, followed business pursuits, becoming eventually a commercial traveller. His attention was turned to evangelistic work by hearing a sermon in Ottawa from the Rev. Alex. Grant. Within a month thereafter he proceeded to Minneapolis to study and work with his bro., Rev. D. D. MacLaurin, D.D. He also studied at Colgate Univ. He was ordained in Binghampton, N.Y., 1892, but had previously begun to preach with much acceptance in Chicago, where he established a mission in the suburban town of Elsdon. He was called first to the pastorate of the Bapt. Ch., at Unadilla, and, after his ordination, was placed in charge of Conklin Ave. Bapt. Ch., Binghampton. Twelve months afterwards he received a unanimous call to the Union Ave. Bapt. Ch., Brooklyn, N.Y. Here his success, both in ordinary work and as a revivalist, has been remarkable. MACLEAN, Rev. John (Meth.), author and missionary, was b. at Kilmarnock, Ayrshire, Scot., Oct. 30, 1851, and ed. at the Burg Acad., Dumbarton. Coming to Can., 1873, he entered the ministry the following year. Subsequently, he entered Victoria Univ., Cobourg (B.A., 1882; M.A., 1887), and afterwards pursued a post-graduate course in History at the Wesl. Univ., Bloomington, Ill. (Ph.D., 1888). Ordained, 1880, he volunteered to serve as a mission. in the Can. N.-W., and was assigned to the reserve occupied by the Blood Indians, near MacLeod, Alta. In 1889 he removed with his family to Moose Jaw, Assa., where he was stationed until 1892. After residing at Port Arthur, Ont., for a term, he was removed to Neepawa, where he now is Chairman of his District. At various times Mr. M. has held important offices in the Meth. Ch. He was Journal Secy. of the Man. Conf. for 4 yrs., and Secy. of Conf., 1892. He has been also Historian of the Conf. for 10 yrs., and still holds that position. In 1886 he was apptd. Public Sch. Inspr. for Southern Alberta—a position which he resigned on being made a mem. of the N.-W. Bd. of Education, 1888. In the next year he was apptd. mem. of the N.-W. Bd. of Examrs. for teachers. Both of these positions he resigned when leaving the Territories. In 1895 he was elected Presdt. of the Man. and N.-W. Conf. He is also Presdt. of the Prohibitory League. Mr. M. is an active mem. of several scientific and lit. societies, including the Can. Inst., the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, and the Am. Folk-lore Soc. He is a corr. mem. of the Man. Hist. Soc., and was the correspondent for the Brit. Assn. on N.-W. Indian Tribes, 1882-1888. He is the author of several books, chiefly on the Indians, the best known being "The Indians of Canada"; "Our Savage Folk" (1895); and "The Warden of the Plains, and other Stories of Adventure" (1897). He has also written "The Destiny of the Human Race," "James Evans, the Inventor of the Syllabic System of the Cree Language," "The Hero of the Saskatchewan" (Rev. George Macdougall), "Lone Land Lights," besides several pamphlets on ethnol. subjects. He has written extensively for Can. and Am. mags. under the nom de plume of "Robin Rustler." MacLEAN, Major John Bayne, V. M., journalist and publisher, is the s. of the late Rev. Andrew MacLean, of Inverness, Scot., by his wife, Catharine Cameron. B. at Creiff, Ont., Sept. 26, 1862, he was ed. in Toronto and began his newspaper career in the office of the World. From there he went to the Mail, as its asst. commercial ed. He joined the Empire staff as commercial ed. when the paper began, but left it a couple of yrs. later to publish an art series in N. Y. and London, Eng., out of which, people say, he made a modest fortune. In 1887 he started the Can. Grocer, the first weekly special trade paper in Can. This was followed in 1889 by Hardware and Metal, another weekly, and the Dry Goods Review and Printer and Publisher. He owns the Bookseller and Stationer, the Military Gazette, and is also interested in two out-of-town newspapers. All his ventures have been successful; the trade journal business especially has grown in extent and influence, and his articles are more frequently quoted as authorities on business questions than are any other in Can. The market reports are often accepted as official in the cts. and are used in compiling govt. statistics. The editorial and business staff has grown from 2 persons in 1887 to 29 at the present time, exclusive of special writers. Mr. MacL. is supposed to work very hard to keep his various enterprises booming, but he does not; his success is more owing to his thorough knowledge of every dept. of a paper and his ability to direct others to do the work. He learned to set type and make up forms when at sch.; he spent his spare time on the Mail with the pressmen and the electrotypers; and during his 9 years' experience has filled every editorial and reportorial position on a paper. He spares no pains to get at the true facts, and his information is always reliable. He is the sworn enemy of promoters of doubtful or fraudulent enterprises, and many readers of his papers have been warned in time to keep out of these. Speaking of his methods and capabilities a well-known journalist has said: "As a commercial ed. Mr. MacL. has perhaps no superior on the Can. press. He knows personally almost every prominent merchant and manufacturer in the Dom., and is thus able to keep posted on doings in the business world." All the papers we have mentioned are issued by The MacLean Publishing Co., Ltd., of which he is Presdt., his bro., Hugh C. MacLean, being Treas. and Business Mangr. The principal offices of the co. are in Montreal and Toronto, but they have branches in London, Eng., and in N. Y. Mr. MacL. takes great interest in mil. matters. He was for some yrs. Lieut. and Capt. and Adjt. of the 31st Grey Batt. Infy.; then Capt. and Adjt. of the 10th Royal Grenadiers, and he is now Major of the 6th Fusiliers. He was present in London during the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee, 1897. He is hon. Treas. of the Montreal branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn., was elected Presdt. of the Clan MacLean Assn., of Am., 1896, and Presdt. of the Can. Press Assn., 1897. In religion he is a Presb.; in politics, Ind. He is unm.—801 Dorchester St., Montreal; St. James's Club; Montreal Club; Toronto Club.

MACLEAN, Rev. Matthew Witherspoon (Presb.), is the s. of the late Malcolm Maclean. B. in Glasgow, Scot., June 11, 1842, he was ed. at the Ch. of Scot. Normal Sch., afterwards taking a full course in Arts in Glasgow Univ. and at Queen's Coll., Kingston (B.A., 1869; M.A., 1872). He studied divinity at Glasgow Univ., at Queen's Univ., and at Princeton, N.J., graduating at the latter, 1866. In the same year he was ordained and inducted to the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's Ch., Paisley, Ont. In 1871 he went to Port Hope, and 2 yrs. later, was called to his present pastorate at Belleville. He is a trustee of Queen's Univ. and of the Genl. Assembly's Home Mission Comte., a mem. of the City Bd. of Education, and hon chaplain of the 15th Batt. Argyle Light Infy. He m. Sept., 1868, Isabella Elizabeth, dau. of the late Geo. MACLEAN, William Findlay, legislator and journalist, is the eld. s. of the late John Maclean, "the father of Protection" in Can., who was a native of Glasgow, by his wife, Isabella Findlay, of Rothes, Scot. B. in Ancaster, Wentworth, Ont., Aug. 10, 1854, he was ed. at the Hamilton public schs. and at Toronto Univ. (B.A., 1880). Mr. M. is what may be termed a born journalist, having from his early youth had a marked predilection for a newspaper life. After having been on the reporting and editorial staff of several Can. journals, including the Toronto Globe, he established, in 1880, the Toronto World, as an Ind. Con. journal, a title it has since consistently maintained. Within recent yrs., the World has issued a Sunday edition, being the first of the Can. dailies to introduce that innovation. It was also the first daily paper in Can. to be published at the price of one cent. Conjointly with W. J. Loudon, B.A., Mr. M. published, 1887, the Fasti of the Univ. of Toronto. He was an unsuccessful candidate, in the Con. interest, for the representation of North Wentworth in the Ont. Assembly, g. e. 1890, and for East York, in the Ho. of Commons, against the late Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, g. e. 1891 (Vote: Hon. A. Mackenzie, L., 3003; W. F. Maclean, C., 2977). He was first returned, May, 1892, on the death of Mr. Mackenzie (Vote: W. F. Maclean, C., 3668; J. K. Leslie, L., 3417), and was re-elected, g. e. 1896. He is a strong protectionist, and a believer in Can.'s right to a national existence on this continent, and that Brit. connection is necessary thereto. He favours Sunday street cars, the closing of the Parliamentary liquor bar, the abolition of ry. passes to mems. of the Legislature and of Parlt., and the fixing of a uniform passenger rate on rys. of 2 cents per mile. In an editorial on the position of parties, he thus outlines Can.'s needs, according to his ideas: "What Can. wants is protection at home, preferential trade within the Empire, a Canadian policy, as against the U. S., and these principles administered by men who are honest in their profession of them, and honest in an effort to secure economical and progressive govt. in other lines." A mem. of the Presb. MacLEOD, Mrs. Elizabeth S., author, is the only dau. of the late Martin Macqueen, of Skye, by his wife, Sophie Treherne, and is a native of Edinburgh. While at sch., her holidays being spent with the relatives of her father and mother, she had not only the opportunity of moving in the best social circle, but of observing and enquiring into the condition of the Highland peasantry. The knowledge thus gained has enabled Mrs. MacL. to plead forcibly both in poetry and prose, the cause of the oppressed, and to urge the only effectual remedy, emigration to the freer and broader land of her adoption. Though Mrs. MacL. has been a frequent contributor to Scottish, Am. and Can. publications during the past 20 yrs., her first book, "Carols of Canada," has but recently appeared. It has met with a favourable reception, and the talented author is now engaged on a Scottish-Can. story, written for the purpose of inducing emigration. Mrs. MacL. first visited Can. in 1870; she returned in 1878, and was then m. to her cousin, Alex. D. MacLeod, H. M.'s Customs, Charlottetown.—Upper Prince St., Charlottetown, P.E.I.

MacLEOD, Henry Augustine Fitzgerald, C.E., is the s. of the late Capt. Martin MacLeod, of Drynoch, Isle of Skye, Scot., who served with the 25th Regt., K.O.B., in the Peninsula, in Can., in France, and in the W. I., by Jane Fry, his wife, of Frybrook, Roscommon, Irel. B. at Drynoch, 1832, he came to Can. with his parents, 1845, and was ed. by private tutors and at U. C. Coll. He served his apprenticeship with an Eng. engr. at Kingston, Ont., 1851, and 3 yrs. afterwards, entered into practice. He has been connected with the exploration and construction of the principal rys. of Can.—the Grand Trunk and others, 1851-59; the Intercolonial, 1867-73; and the C. P. R., 1873-92. He made an exploration for the C. P. Ry. from the mouth of the Skeena River, B. C., through the Peace River country to Winnipeg, 1879, and had charge of one of the heaviest sections of the ry. in the mts. of B. C. He had made in the previous year an examination for the winter crossing of the Straits of Northumberland, and rys. to connect the Intercl. with the P. E. Island Ry. He has also been employed on important arbitrations, and, in May, 1893, was apptd. Chairman of the Lachine Canal Comn. of Investigation. His several official reports upon the N. W. T., the Peace River country, and the northern portion of B. C., contain much valuable information touching the resources and capabilities of most portions of the Dom., to be found nowhere else. He now practises as a consulting engr. He is a Con. in politics, and in religious belief, an Ang. Early in his career he served in the V. M. He passed the first class or field officers' volunteer exam., and, in 1856, assisted in raising one of the first cos. organized in U. C. At the time of the Fenian raids he gave up his employment on the G. T. extension, Michigan, for the purpose of joining his batt., and went with it to the front. Subsequently, he was under arms for 3 months at Niagara; he retired retaining his rank of capt., 1868. Mr. MacL. m. 1867, Emily, 3rd dau. of the late Hon. MacMAHON, Hon. Hugh, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late Hugh MacMahon, P. L. S., a native of Cootehill, Co. Cavan, Irel., who came to Can., 1819, by his wife, Anne MacGovern, and was b. in Guelph, Ont., Mch. 6, 1836. The family belonged originally to Monaghan, and during the troublous times of the last of the reigning Stuarts, held important positions in their native country. Two members of the family were Col. Art Oge MacMahon, who was James II.'s lord-lieut. for Monaghan, and Hugh MacMahon, who was lt.-col. of Gordon O'Neil's Charlemont regt. of foot. This corps was engaged afterwards in the service of France, and belonged to the famous "Irish Brigade." Ed. by his father, a man of high scholastic attainments, he entered the public service, as an asst. engr., under the late Lt.-Col. Gallwey, C.E., and was employed on the survey for the proposed Ottawa ship canal, and, afterwards, on the work of construction on that portion of the line at the Chats rapids. Resigning this employment, 1857, he entered on the study of law and was called to the bar, 1864. For 5 yrs. he practised in Brantford, in partnership with his bro., the late Thos. B. MacMahon, afterwards Co. Judge of Norfolk. He then removed to London, where, in a few yrs. he built up the largest and most lucrative business in the West. He was created a Q. C., by the Ont. Govt., 1876, and received a similar honour from the Marquis of Lansdowne, 1885. In 1877 he represented the Dom. Govt. in the arbitration between the Ont. and Federal Govts. touching the western and the north-western boundaries of Ont., and, in 1884, when the matter was carried to the Privy Council, he was sent to Eng., with Christopher Robinson, Q.C., and D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., on behalf of the Dom. Govt. As a criminal lawyer he highly distinguished himself in one of the most sensational trials of the century, well known as the Biddulph murder case, 1880, in which he was counsel for the prisoners. Removing to Toronto, 1883, he continued a successful practice in that city up to his appt. as a Puisne Judge of the Common Pleas Div. of the High Ct. of Justice of Ont., Nov. 30, 1887. The case of the most general public interest which has come before him as a judge since his appt. to the Bench was the trial of John R. Birchall for the murder of F. C. Benwell near Woodstock, Ont., 1890, the details of which will be fresh in the recollection of the reader. Of this case the London Spectator said: "Apart from the special interest created by the prisoner's antecedents, the trial has in many ways been a remarkable one. For the first time since the telegraph made sensational murder trials international the Canadian administration of justice has undergone the severe ordeal of having a crowd of reporters eager to seize on and write up any 'incident,' creditable or discreditable, and occupied in throwing a daily reflection of the proceedings in a provincial court-house on to the newspaper sheets throughout the Eng.-speaking world. The test, however, has been undergone, and the country realizes that for dignity and impartiality Canadian trials compare favourably with those of any country in the world except Eng. . . . No trial at any Eng. assizes could have been conducted with a more admirable temper than that at Woodstock in Canada. Judge, jury, and counsel, all seemed strongly possessed with a sense of the responsibility of the task before them, and they combined to make the investigation in every sense creditable to the Dom. In no country in the world could Birchall have had a fairer trial than he obtained in Ont." Politically, before his elevation to the Bench, Mr. MacM. was a Lib., and ran in that interest for the Ho. of Commons, first for the city of London, g. e. 1872; and secondly, for the Co. of Kent, g. e. 1878, being defeated on both occasions. In religious faith, His Lordship is a R. C. In private life, he is known as a man of culture and refinement, whose judgment as a connoisseur in art is highly regarded in professional circles. He has written occasionally for the press on historical and other subjects, and his addresses to juries are spoken of as being models of graceful and elegant diction. course at McGill Univ., Montreal (B.C.L., Elizabeth Torrance gold medal., prize essayist and valedictorian, 1871; D.C.L. in course, 1894). Called to the bar, 1871, he entered on the practice of his profession in Montreal, where he has taken an eminent position as a leading counsel. He has appeared in many cases in appeal before the Privy Council in Eng., and has served as a Crown Prosecutor in several causes celebres, including the Laflamme libel case and the Labelle, Hooper, and Shortis murder cases. He was called to the Ont. bar, 1882. In the same year he was created a Q.C., by the Marquis of Lorne. In 1892 he was included in a Royal Comn., conjointly with Judge Matthieu and D. Masson, to make enquiry into certain matters concerning the good govt. of Quebec, and, in 1895, he declined appt. to a seat on the Bench. He is the author of a monograph: "The Seal Arbitration at Paris" (1894). He is now head of the law firm of MacMaster & MacLennan. He has been twice elected Presdt. of the McGill Graduates' Soc., and twice or thrice Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc., Montreal. Politically, a Con., he is also V.-P. of the Lib.-Con. Club. He sat for Glengarry in the Ont. Assembly from g. e. 1879 till May, 1882, when he resigned and was returned to the Ho. of Commons for the same constituency. In 1884 he moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Defeated at the g. e. 1887, he has not since sat in Parlt. He declined nomination in both Argenteuil and Montreal West, g. e. 1896. In religion, a Presb., he m. 1st, 1880, Janet, dau. of the late Ronald Sandfield Macdonald, Lancaster, Ont. (she d. MACVANE, Silas Marcus, educationist, was born at Bothwell, P.E.I., June 4, 1842. He comes of Scottish parentage, his father, the late Alex. Macvane, having emigrated from Perthshire, Scot. His mother, who still lives, was a Macdonald. After the usual course of instruction in a country sch., he was sent to Horton Acad., N.S., for 2 yrs.; thence he passed to Acadia Coll. (B.A., 1865; Ph.D., 1895). For some years he was employed in the Education Office, Halifax, but throwing up his appt. there, he went to Eng., and after making a tour of the Continent of Europe, took a post-graduate course at Berlin Univ. On his return to Am. he was apptd. teacher of the Latin Sch., at Roxbury, Mass. In 1875 he became an instructor in Pol. Economy in Harvard Univ.; in 1878, instructor in History; in 1883, Asst. Prof. of History; in 1886, Prof. of History; and, in 1887, McLean Prof. of Ancient and Mod. History, the chair he still fills. Dr. M. is also a Fellow of the Am. Acad. He is a mem. of the Bapt. Ch., and m. in early life a dau. of the late Nathan De Mille, of St. John, N.B., and sister of the late Prof. De Mille, Dalhousie Univ.—Cambridge, Mass., U.S.

MacVICAR, Rev. Donald Harvey (Presb.), educationist, is the s. of John MacVicar, and was b. at Dunglass, near Campbelltown, Argyleshire, Scot., Nov. 29, 1831. Accompanying his parents to Can. when 4 yrs. of age, he was ed. first by private tutor and afterwards at Toronto Acad. He was also a partial student at the Univ. of Toronto. He studied Theol. at Knox Coll., graduating 1859. Ordained, 1857, he performed his first mission work at Collingwood, and after declining calls to B. C., to Brantford, to Collingwood and to West Toronto, accepted a unanimous call to Knox Ch., Guelph. Here his talents as a preacher won him a call, in 1860, to Coté St. Ch., Montreal, to be the successor of the Rev. Donald Fraser, D.D., afterwards of London, Eng. After 8 yrs. of successful labour, during which the congregation doubled its membership, Mr. MacV. was apptd. by the Genl. Assembly, Principal of, and Prof. of Divinity in, the Presb. Coll., Montreal. This institution was then in its feeblest beginnings, with no endowment, no books, no building, and only 5 or 6 students. Now it possesses a handsome building, a valuable library, an endowment fund, and an efficient staff of professors and lecturers, the attendance keeping pace therewith. Always taking a deep interest in the work of French-Can. evangel., he organized a dept. in the coll. for the training of French-Can. ministers. He served for many yrs. as a Prot. Sch. Comnr., becoming Presdt. of the Bd., 1879. In 1881 he was chosen Moderator of the Genl. Assembly of the Presb. Ch. in Can. Dr. MacV. has lectured on Logic and Ethics before the Ladies' Educational Assn., Montreal, and he was also, for a season, a lecturer on Logic in McGill Univ. He attended the Pan-Presb. Councils at Edinburgh, Philadelphia and Glasgow, respectively, taking part in the discussions therein. He has been Presdt. of the Provl. Teachers' Assn., P.Q., has received the hon. degree of LL.D. from McGill Univ. (1870), and that of D.D. from Knox Coll. (1883). He is also a Fellow of McGill Univ., V.-P. of the Lord's Day Alliance, and an hon. mem. of the Athéme Oriental of Paris. In addition to a primary and an advanced arithmetic, both of which have become text-books in the public schs., he is the author of "The Office and Work of Elders," a work which has reached a 2nd ed.; of papers on "Romanism in Canada"; of a paper on "The Catholicity of Presbyterianism," and of lectures on "Inspiration," "Miracles," "The Constitution of the Church," "The Sabbath Law," "Modern Scepticism," "Moral Culture," "The Teacher in his Study and Classroom," and "Hindrances and Helps to Presbyterianism." Not long since he declined a call to South Ch., Brooklyn, N.Y., at a salary of $7000 per annum. In 1893, on the completion of 25 years' service in the Presb. Coll., he was presented by citizens and students alike, with a congratulatory address accompanied with a purse of $4000. He m. May, 1860, Eleanor, dau. of Robt. McCARTER, Rev. John McI. (Presb.). B. in Ayr, Scot., he was ed. at the Univ. and Free Ch. Coll., Edinburgh, being ordained 1860. About the time he finished his studies a deputation from South Africa visited Scot., seeking a relay of ministers for the then under-manned Dutch Reformed Ch. in that region; and in response to that invitation he, along with several other young preachers, went to the Cape. He settled in the upland section of Natal, adjoining the Transvaal, and laboured for 12 yrs. among the Dutch-speaking farmers and the scattered Eng. families. He also wrote "The Dutch Reformed Ch. in South Africa, an Historical Sketch," which has been published in the Eng. and the Dutch languages, and is still referred to as a most reliable work. His health failing, he returned to Scot. and engaged in mission work in that country. Coming to Can. in 1880, he was for 7 yrs. pastor at Redbank, N.B., and subsequently wrought in the mission fields in N. S., Ont. and Quebec. In Jan., 1896, he was placed in charge of the Christian Mission for the Jews, Montreal.—205 St. Urbain St., Montreal.

McCARTHY, D'Alton, Q.C., statesman, belongs to an ancient Irish family. He is the s. of the late D'Alton McCarthy, solicitor, by his wife, Charleszina Hope Manners, and was b. at Oakley Park, Blackrock, near Dublin, Irel., Oct. 10, 1836. His early studies were conducted in his native country. In 1847 he accompanied his parents to Can., and was placed at the Barrie Grammar Sch., where he completed his education. Called to the bar, 1858, he entered on the practice of his profession in partnership with his father and the late D'Arcy Boulton, Q.C., and speedily attained a distinguished and eminent position therein. He was elected a Bencher of the Law Soc., 1871, and was created a Q. C. in the following year by the Earl of Dufferin. At a later period he was named an hon. mem. of the Law Faculty of Toronto Univ., and was elected a mem. of the Ex. Council of the Can. Bar Assn. In 1879 he removed from Barrie to Toronto, and there established the firm that goes by his name, and which has long ranked among the foremost doing business within the Dom. Apart from his everyday work, Mr. McC. has been engaged in many cases of peculiar interest and importance, including a large number of appeals to the Privy Council in Eng. As a jury lawyer, he is not known to have any superior in Can. "His style," says one of his biographers, "is sharp and incisive, his glance keen and searching, his summing up a model of conciseness and lucidity. While not as subtle as Christopher Robinson, or as powerful as Edward Blake, he is not far behind either in substantial ability." Mr. McC. was first returned to Parlt., Dec. 14, 1876, at a by-election held in Cardwell, the vacancy being caused by the death of the sitting mem., Hon. J. H. Cameron, Q.C. He had previously unsuccessfully contested the constituency of North Simcoe, on 3 occasions. In the Ho. of Commons he immediately distinguished himself in debate, and before the close of his first session was regarded as the rising star of the Con. party. "His first speech," says Mr. Davin, in his "Irishmen in Can.," "marked him as a man for whom all things may be hoped." Sir John Macdonald, the Prime Minister, spoke of him as "the brains of the party," and designated him its future leader. For 15 yrs. or more no one, with the possible exception of Sir Charles Tupper, possessed the aged statesman's confidence to the same extent. Outside of Parlt. he undertook the work of organization for his party, and for a considerable period filled the office of Chairman of the Ex. Comte. of the Lib.-Con. Union of Ont. More than once he declined a seat in the Cabinet, and more than once he declined appt. to the highest judicial office in the Province. Mr. McC. broke with his party in 1889, in consequence of the position taken by the Cabinet on the Mercier Jesuits' Estates Act—a position to which the almost entire Prot. sentiment of the country was opposed. From this time he assumed an ind. attitude in politics. He was placed at the head of the "Equal Rights" movement, and in that character fought with courage and resolution for the rights of the people whose cause he espoused. Later, during the Thompson, Bowell and Tupper régimes, he gave battle to all comers on the Man. Sch. question. Commencing in 1893, he made several tours through the Dom., addressing large audiences, sometimes as many as 3 a day, in opposition to the policy of his former political friends. He was stigmatized by the leading party organ: "Chief of the wobblers," and read formally out of the Con. party. His efforts, however, did not slacken till the last was heard of Mr. Dickey's Remedial Bill with the defeat of the Admn. at the polls, in June, 1896. At that election Mr. McC. was returned both for North Simcoe (which constituency he had represented since 1878) and for Brandon, in the Province of Man. Electing to stay with his old constituents, he resigned the seat for Brandon. His work as a politician being done, for the time, he has since the meeting of the new Parlt. been heard from but little. Of late his name has been mentioned in connection with a seat in the Laurier Cabinet. Politically, Mr. McC. calls himself "neither a Tory nor a Lib.," but stands to do right. Regarding the trade question, his contentions may be summarized as follows: 1st. He has thought, since 1891, that the time had come when, according to the policy laid down in 1877-78, sufficient opportunity had been afforded to manufacturers to establish their industries, and that a return should be had to the principle of a revenue tariff. 2ndly. That he was opposed to any reciprocal relations with the U. S. which involved discrimination against Gt. Brit.; short of that, he is prepared for the freest possible tariff regulations, not merely in natural products, but in manufactured articles as well. 3rdly. And chiefly, he was the advocate, and, we may say, the political parent, of the maximum and minimum tariff, giving Brit. and our sister colonies the preference, which, under the scheme of the preferential clause, has been embodied in law by the Laurier Admn. (see his resolution, 1893). Touching the future of Can., he has long since reached the conclusion that Can. would find her truest and best development within and as a part of the Brit. Empire, and that Canadians needed no higher aspiration than appertained to that position. His opinion is that nothing short of a great war, in which the Empire would suffer dismemberment, would change the political relations in which Can. stands to the Mother Country. This does not ignore the gradual extension of Canadian political rights until Canadians in all respects stand on an equality with the Englishman, Irishman and Scotchman. He is Presdt.

of the McCarthy League, was formerly Presdt. of the Can. Branch of the Imp. Fed. League, and is now a mem. of the Council of the Brit. Empire League. He was also for many yrs. Presdt. of the West Simcoe Agricul. Soc., and is now Presdt. of the Country and Hunt Club, Toronto. Mr. McC. is fond of thoroughbred cattle and a good horse, and for some yrs. bred many of these on a farm owned by him in the neighbourhood of Barrie. In religious belief, an Ang., he m. 1st, Oct. 21, 1867, Emma Catherine, dau. of the late E. G. Lally, Barrie (she d. 1870); and 2ndly, July 15, 1873, her sister, Agnes Elizabeth, relict of R. B. At the time of his appt. as Judge of the Supreme Ct., B. C. (Oct. 13, 1896), he was regarded as the leader of the bar in B. C. in active practice. He is an adherent of the Presb. Ch., and m. 1884, Helen Janet, dau. of the late John V. Barlow, formerly of Toronto.—New Westminster Club; Vancouver Club.

McCONNELL, Richard George, geologist, is the 3rd s. of the late Andrew McConnell, Lachute, P.Q., by his wife, Martha Jane Bradford, and was b. in Chatham, P.Q., Mch. 26, 1857. Ed. at the local schs., and at McGill Univ. (B.A., with 1st rank honours in Nat. Sciences, 1879), he, in the same year, entered the public service, in the Geol. Survey of Can., and, since July, 1891, has been a 1st class geologist in that Dept. He has conducted numerous surveys and made some important geol. and geograph. discoveries. He was absent for nearly 18 mths., 1887, '88, on the borderland between the Dom. and Alaska, and reported the length of the Yukon River to be 2300 miles, 800 of which being in Can. territory. In 1893, after a 4 months' exploration, he traced the source of the Mackenzie River to a lake at the head of Findlay River, 30 miles long and a quarter of a mile wide, called by the Indians, Fehutade.—Ottawa, Ont.

McCONNELL, Robert, journalist, is of Scotch-Irish parentage, on paternal side, being descended from Geo. McConnell, who arrived at Pictou, N.S., in the ship Hector, Sept., 1773. B. at Meadowvale, N.S., Oct. 4, 1842, he was ed. at Durham Grammar Sch., and at Charlottetown Normal Sch., after leaving which, he devoted himself for some yrs. to teaching. While living in Charlottetown he acquired a knowledge of printing, and became from that time "a newspaper man." He ed. and published the Eastern Chronicle, New Glasgow, N.S., for 10 yrs.; served on the editorial staff of the Halifax Morning Chronicle, 1877-78; was publisher of the Truro Guardian; then ed. of the Moncton Transcript; for a time asst. ed., and then ed.-in-chief, of the Montreal Herald; and returning to Halifax, has been, since Jan., 1892, chief ed. of his former paper, the Halifax Chronicle. He was also ed. of the Montreal Daily News, published by Mr. Beaugrand, 1887. For 2 yrs., 1875 and '76, he held the office of Inspr. of Weights and Measures in Pictou and Antigonish. Mr. McC. is a Lib. and a Free Trader, and wielding an able and vigorous pen, has been able to render material service to his party throughout the Maritime Provinces. He believes that Independence is Can.'s destiny, but that the consummation should not be hurried. He does not regard Annexation as being in practical politics. He m. Ed. at the acads. of Farnham and St. John's, and at McGill Model and Normal schs., he graduated B.C.L. at McGill Univ., 1877, and was called to the bar, 1878. He practised for a time in Montreal, in partnership with J. N. Greenshields, Q.C., but, in 1886, removed to the Dist. of Bedford, where he enjoys a lucrative civil, commercial and municipal practice. He was formerly a mem. of the Provl. Bd. of Law Examrs., P. Q., and was elected Bâtonnier of the Bedford bar, 1897. While in Montreal he held a comn. in the 5th Royal Scots, retiring with the rank of major, Nov., 1887. He was Mayor of Cowansville for a considerable period. A Lib. in politics, he is also Presdt. of the Lib. Assn. of Missisquoi, and has thrice contested the representation of the co. for the Legislature in that interest. He was returned at the g. e. 1897 by a majority of 425. He takes a deep interest in literature, and advocates privately and on the platform the study of Can. history and literature. He is likewise a strong advocate of Can. national sentiment. He m. May, 1884, Alphia Mary, young. dau. of the late Hon. Elijah Leonard, Senator, London, Ont.—Cowansville, P.Q.

McCOSH, Rev. Robert (Ch. of Eng.), was b. of Presb. parents, at Paris, Ont., Nov. 7, 1847. Ed. at the Paris Grammar Sch., he also took a private course in classics under the Rev. Dr. McLeod, of his native place. He pursued his divinity course at Huron Coll., and having been received into the Ch. of Eng., became a candidate for holy orders. He was ordained deacon, 1879, and priest in the following year. His first charge was Bayfield Mission, Co. Huron, where he remained 4 yrs., when he was called to St. Paul's Ch., Wingham, from which he, after having laboured 4 yrs., removed to Pomona, southern Cal., where he was apptd. Rector of St. Paul's Ch. He was soon called back to his old diocese, to be apptd. Rector of Christ Ch., Petrolea, where he remained 3 yrs. In May, 1893, he was called to Christ Ch., Chatham, and, in the following year, was apptd. Rector of Chatham in succession to the late Archdeacon Sandys. Mr. McC. is a mem. of the Ex. Comte., Diocese of Huron, a Senator of Western Univ., mem. of the Council of Huron Coll., and Presdt. Huron Coll. Alumni Assn. He is also a mem. of the Provl. Synod. In 1896 he was apptd. R. D. of Kent. He is strongly in favour of the unification of the Prot. chs., and regards the divided state of the Ch. as an obstruction to its healthy growth and influence. He does not despair of ultimate union, and is one of the workers who is preparing the way for it. He holds that concessions shall have to be made in matters non-essential. Mr. McC. has confidence in the future of the country, but is not satisfied with her growth in view of the advantages she offers. He holds that we have altogether too much legislation, and the expenses of carrying on the govt. of the country are excessive and out of all proportion to our requirements. He was m. Sept., 1871, to Miss Margt. A. McDonnell.—The Rectory, Chatham, Ont.

McCOWEN, John Roche, public service, Nfd., was b. in Irel., 1844, and is the s. of a Brit. naval officer. Failing to pass his exam. for a naval cadetship, he enlisted as a private soldier in the army. Retiring therefrom after 3 yrs. as a non-com. officer, he entered the Royal Irish Constabulary, in which he remained for 9 yrs., serving in all branches of the force. He was twice severely wounded during riots in Belfast, and was also seriously injured in the city of Cork, while on special duty. On resigning, 1871, he was presented with a testimonial from the Bench of Magistrates, and received many other acknowledgments for his official services. Entering the Nfd. Constabulary, the same year, he assisted in its general organization, giving special attention to the mounted force, which he personally raised, drilled and commanded. He remained for 7 yrs. with this force, and received the thanks of the Govt. on 5 different occasions for "special services." While in this employment he received also the "cordial thanks" of the Gov.-in-Council for "conspicuous bravery in saving life," and was publicly presented with the medal of the Royal Humane Soc. for the act referred to. Promoted Gov. of the Colonial Penty., 1879, he remained in that office till 1895, when he was apptd. Inspector-Genl. of the Nfd. Constabulary. He is a J. P. for the Colony, Chairman of the Bd. of Fire Comnrs., a mem. of the Sch. Bd. and of various other bodies. He has been not infrequently mentioned in the reports of the Howard Assn. of Gt. Brit., and has been elected a mem. of the genl. comte. of that philanthropic soc. "for his papers on Penology." He was hon. Secy. of the Fire Relief Distributing Comte. after the great conflagration in St. John's, 1892, and in that capacity earned the thanks of all for his humane and energetic efforts in behalf of the sufferers. More recently, he was sent to Can. and the U. S., on a mission to enquire into the organization and equipment of the respective fire depts. in those countries, with the view of establishing a paid brigade in the colony. For his report and suggestions in the premises he received the thanks of the Gov.-in-Council. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he is also a mem. of the Ex. Council of the Diocesan Synod. He m. 1876, Elizabeth S., dau. of the late Rev. Wm. Nelten, S.P.G. His second s. was the first

McCRAE, Rev. David Lamont (Presb.), is the s. of John McCrae, J.P., by his wife, Elizabeth Ferguson, both natives of Kirkcudbrightshire, Scot. B. there, he was ed. at the High Sch., Guelph, Ont., and at McGill Univ., and became a sch. teacher and a journalist. He followed his theol. studies at the Presb. Coll., Montreal, graduating 1879, and was licensed by the Presby. of Glengarry. He took post-graduate courses in the Wesl. Univ., Illinois (M.A.), and in Chicago Univ. (Ph.D.). He was successively pastor at Osnabruck, Cobourg, Peterboro' and at Jamestown, N.Y., and was called to Collingwood, his present charge, 1892. In 1895 he founded the Northern Presb., a weekly newspaper, which he conducted with much ability up to the autumn of 1897. He is known as a lecturer on educational and religious subjects. He is especially interested in Bible study. He has given outline studies of the books of the Bible, treating each book as a whole, and is now preparing for the press a series of volumes on these studies. Deeply interested in evangel. work, he has laboured with Mr. Moody and other noted evangelists. He also takes a deep interest in education, and has served on public and high sch. bds. He believes that there should be a system of National schs., and that they should be purely secular. One hour each day of the sch. time should be devoted by the clergy or accredited teachers of each religious body to religious training of their own children. He m. I., by his wife, Ann Matilda Brecken, of Charlottetown, and is grands. of Capt. John McDonald, 8th Chief of the Clan Macdonald of Glenaladale, who after founding the Scotch settlements at Tracadie, Scotchfort, Glenfinnin and Fort Augustus, P.E.I., served during the Am. revolutionary war as a Capt. in the 84th, or Royal Highland Emigrant Regt. B. at Glenaladale, Tracadie, P. E. Island, 1833, he was ed. at the Central Acad., Charlottetown, and obtained his business training in that city under the late Hon. Danl. Brennan. He left P.E.I., 1854, and removing to Montreal, became an importer and general commission merchant there. Subsequently, he embarked in business as a tobacco merchant and manufacturer, and now owns extensive works in that line in Montreal. He is a gov. of McGill Univ., a gov. of the Montreal Genl. Hospital, and a dir. of, and the largest shareholder in, the Bank of Montreal; is also a V.-P. of the Montreal branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn., and an hon mem. of the Architects' Assn., P. Q. He is known chiefly through his princely gifts to McGill Univ. These consist of $20,000 to the Thos. Workman endowment for mech. engineering; the erection of the W. C. McDonald engineering building, valued, with its equipment, at $350,000, and an endowment for its maintenance; the endowment of the chair of Electrical Engineering with the sum of $40,000; the erection and equipment of the Physics building, valued at $300,000, and 2 chairs of Physics with endowments amounting to $90,000; the endowment of the Faculty of Law with $150,000; a further sum of $150,000 for the maintenance of the engineering building; $50,000 towards the endowment of the Pension Fund, and the erection of a new building for the dept. of chemistry, mining, and architecture, at a cost of $500,000, making the total amount contributed by him to the institution $1,650,000. Mr. McD. belongs to a R. C. family, and is unm.—3 Prince of Wales Terrace, 891 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; St. James's Club.

"The claim that the engineering and physics depts. of McGill are the most perfectly equipped in the world seems justified to any one who has inspected the fine buildings in which they are installed. Both are the gift of another generous citizen of Montreal, Mr. W. C. McDonald, who has spent upon them nearly a million dollars." —London Times.

McDOUGAL, Francis, merchant, belongs to a Highland Scotch family, many of whom, including Mr. McD.'s father, served with distinction, on the loyal side, during both the war of 1812 and the rebellion of 1837. B. at Lancaster, Ont., 1826, he was ed. at the High Sch. there, and embarked in commerce at an early age. Coming to Bytown (now Ottawa), 1844, he served as head clk. in a prominent hardware establishment there, and commenced business on his own account, in which he has been uniformly successful, 1851. He sat as an ald. in the Ottawa City Council for 17 yrs., and was elected mayor of the city, 1885 and 1886, on the last occasion by acclamation. During his term of office he was instrumental in introducing into Ottawa electric lighting, syenite paving, steam-rolling of streets, and he carried out numerous other undertakings of great advantage to the Capital. He was the originator of the scheme, which has been since adopted, for having a central ry. station in Ottawa, and of that looking to the construction of a combined ry. and traffic bridge across the Ottawa River at Nepean Point. Although repeatedly offered nomination for a seat in Parlt., by the Reform party, of which he is a mem., he has not yet been able to accept the honour. and senior Bailie of the town of Campbellton, Argyleshire, Scot., and was b. there, Oct. 27, 1841. Ed. in his native town, he graduated at the Royal Veterinary Coll., Edinburgh, 1862. Coming to Can. the same year, he lived for a time at Woodstock, Ont., where he practised his profession, lecturing during the winter sessions in Toronto and at places adjacent. He also aided in the establishment of the Toronto Veterinary Coll. Removing to Montreal, 1866, he founded there the Montreal Veterinary Coll., now acknowledged to be the first of its kind in Am. Subsequently, on his recommendation, a quarantine station was established at Lévis, P.Q., to prevent the importation of certain cattle diseases from Eng., and he was apptd. by the Govt. the first inspr. of stock at the Cattle Quarantine, 1876. In 1879 he was despatched as a del. to the U. S. to report on the lung plague (pleuropneumonia) existing in certain portions of the Am. Union. Can. is also indebted to Dr. McE. for valuable services in connection with the initiation and development of the export cattle trade that has grown to such proportions. Since 1889 he has been Dean of the Faculty of Comparative Med. and Vet. Science, and Prof. of Vet. Med. and Surg. in McGill Univ. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Coll. of V. S., Eng. (elected 1875), and is the only one in Can. upon whom this honour has been conferred. He was vet. surg. to the Montreal Field Batty., 1871-81; and since 1883 has been Genl. Mangr. of the Walroad Cattle Ranch. He is the author of a handbook, "The Canadian Horse and His Diseases" (1867); of "A Trip to Bow River" (1881), and has been a frequent contributor to scientific journals. He acted as expert judge of hackneys at the National Horse Show, N. Y., 1891-92, and was judge of thoroughbred horses at the World's Columbian Expn., Chicago, Oct., 1893. Politically, a Lib.-Con. Dowling was translated to Hamilton, he accompanied His Lordship thither, and there became a mem. of the Bishop's Council, and Rector of St. Mary's Cath. He filled the office of admnr. of the diocese, 1894-95, during the absence of Bp. Dowling at Rome, and is evidently marked out for further advancement and distinction in the Ch.—Bishop's Palace, Hamilton, Ont.

McEVOY, John Millar, barrister, is the s. of A. M. McEvoy, by Sarah, his wife, dau. of Thos. Northcott, of Caradoc, Ont., the family, on the male side, coming from Comber, Co. Down, Irel. B. in Caradoc, 1864, he was ed. at the Coll. Inst., Strathroy, and at Toronto Univ. (B.A., 1890; LL.B., 1892), and was called to the bar, 1893. He now practises his profession in London, as head of the firm of McEvoy, Wilson & Pope. On graduation, he was apptd. a Fellow in Pol. Science, under Prof. Ashley, and in that capacity taught Can. constitutional history in the Univ., and subsequently, on the retirement of Prof. Ashley, was placed in charge of the pol. science dept. until the arrival of Prof. Mavor, the new incumbent. He was then apptd. lecturer in the same dept., a position he held for one year. Besides contributing to mags. and reviews, Mr. McE. is the author of "The Ontario Township," a history of the growth of municipal institutions in the Province, which was printed by the Ont. Govt. as the first in the series of Univ. of Toronto studies in pol. science; an "Essay on Can. Currency and Banking," which was awarded the Ramsay Scholarship and was printed at the request of leading bankers of Can.; "Karl Marx's Theory of Value," an essay which Prof. Ashley declared to be the ablest exposition of the kernel of abstract theory of value that it had been his good fortune to have heard or read on any occasion. At the invitation of the Am. Acad. of Pol. and Social Science, he contributed a series of articles to their publication, the Annals, upon subjects of economic and historical importance to Can. Mr. McE. believes in the doctrine of revenue tariff. He favours some system of mutual help among the whole Anglo-Saxon race, as a defence against Russian ambition, being much impressed with the danger that Russia, by overthrowing India, may be able to displace the present routes of commerce and to impose her civilization in place of Saxon civilization upon the world. McGARVEY, William H., manufacturer, was b. at Huntingdon, P.Q., 1843, and received his education at the acad. there. He is the s. of Edward and Sarah McGarvey, London, Ont., who had previously emigrated from the north of Irel. The family moved West, 1857, and settled in Wyoming, Ont., where Mr. McG. entered into business, 1861. In 1866 he removed to Petrolea, and became its first reeve. He held this position for 3 consecutive terms, and, in 1876, was elected mayor of the town. In 1879 he was elected Warden of Lambton, and, in the same year, unsuccessfully contested the West Riding of that co., for the Legislature, in the Con. interest (Vote: Hon. T. B. Pardee, L., 1759; W. H. McGarvey, C., 1531). He showed himself a conscientious and generous opponent, and would never resort to those questionable means unhappily too common in election contests in Can. In the spring of 1881 he went to Europe to investigate the opportunities for introducing in Austria the Can. system of drilling for oil. Favourably impressed with his observations, he returned to Can. for competent men to assist in the work, and in July, same year, again went to Austria, accompanied by several of Petrolea's most skilful drillers. After some yrs., his efforts in this new field of endeavour were crowned with success, and he became the principal owner of the oil mines in Galecia. He likewise established many other important industries in that country, and now employs between 600 and 700 men. His principal managers in the various depts., of which there are about 30, are Canadians. By adopting a high standard of business principles Mr. McG. has acquired wealth and earned an enviable position in the country of his adoption. His entire career is well summed up in the words of one who knows him well. "He is," says this friend, "a brilliant example of integrity, honour and perseverance." He m. July, 1868, Miss Helena J. McGUCKIN, Rev. James M. (R.C.), educationist, was b. at Cooleystown, Co. Tyrone, Irel., July, 1835. In his 14th year he became associated with his uncle in the management of an extensive linen manufactory, but intending to devote his life to the priesthood, he entered the novitiate of the Oblate order at Sticking Hall, Yorkshire, Eng., in 1860. His studies were completed at the Scholastic House, Marseilles, France, and at Inchicore, near Dublin; and, in 1863, he departed for the N.-W. mission of Am. He was ordained priest, Nov., the same year, by Mgr. Demers, Bp. of Vancouver Island, and for 20 yrs. or more laboured assiduously among the Indians and miners of B. C. He had for some yrs. the direction of the St. Louis Sch., Victoria, which, in his hands, became a coll., and he was, subsequently, acting Presdt. of the Oblate Coll., New Westminster. It was his fortune to be sent to Cariboo during the prevalence of the "gold-fever" in the sixties, and while there, according to the testimony of the late Chief-Justice Sir M. B. Begbie, "he accomplished more for the ends of law and order than did a score of Her Majesty's officers." For 4 yrs. he was Superior of one or more of the flourishing missions controlled by the Oblate fathers in the interior of B. C., and he left in the Province many monuments of his practical skill and of his zeal as a priest. When summoned to assume the rectorship of the Univ. of Ottawa in 1889—the position he still fills—he was fulfilling the duties of Procurator and Vicar-Genl. to the late Bp. d'Herbomez. He received the degree of D.D. from Rome, 1890. His name has been mentioned more than once in connection with a seat on the Episcopal bench. — The University of Ottawa, Ottawa, Ont.

"His name is inseparably connected with the history of the Church in B. C. A zealous missionary and priest, his work in founding missions and establishing schools and colleges in that distant sphere of action has earned for him the gratitude and respect of every Catholic."—The Owl.

McILWRAITH, Miss Jane Newton, author, is the dau. of Thos. McIlwraith (q.v.). B. in Hamilton, Ont., she was ed. at the Ladies' Coll. there, where she took special courses in French and German. On leaving sch. she organized free evening classes for working boys, and for 4 yrs. taught them in the basement of her father's house 4 nights in the week and on Sunday afternoons. For the next 2 and a half yrs. Miss McI. was in the Old Country, most of the time engaged in the study of singing, varied by pedestrian trips in Scot. and a session at the National Training Sch. of Cookery in South Kensington. Five months of 1892 she also spent in European travel, followed by more singing lessons in London. By far the greater part of her literary work consists of critical essays written for the correspondence class in modern literature in connection with Queen Margaret Coll., Glasgow, of which she has been a mem. off and on since 1886. She won the prize offered by that institution in 1889 for the best essay on "How far is the history of the nineteenth century reflected in its literature?" Her first story was published in Harper's Bazaar, 1890, and, in 1894, she made her first appearance in Harper's Mag. She has also contributed short stories to All the Year Round and the Youth's Companion, but her only attempt at verse-making is the libretto of the comic opera, "Ptarmigan," which was produced with great success in Hamilton, 1894. Her longest effort so far has been the novelette published in London, 1895, called "The Making of Mary." The scene of it is laid in Michigan and Chicago, the only part of the U. S. with which she is acquainted. She knows Quebec and Ontario better, and 6 out of the 8 short stories she has written describe life on the lower St. Lawrence. She writes under the nom de plume of "Jean Forsyth." In 1897 she, in collaboration with Wm. McLennan (q.v.), completed an historical romance, the scene of which is laid in New France, for the Harpers, N. Y. Miss McI. has inherited her father's love of out-door life, and as she lives on the edge of Hamilton Bay she keeps up her zest for skating, snow-shoeing, rowing, sailing, canoeing, and particularly for diving and swimming, in which she is an adept. — "Cairnbrae," Hamilton, Ont.

McILWRAITH, Thomas, ornithologist, was b. in Newton, Ayr, Scot., Dec. 25, 1824. Ed. there, he went to Edinburgh, 1848, and, in 1853, came to Can., making his home at Hamilton, where he became mangr. of the gas works. In 1871 he embarked in business on his own account. He has sat in the City Council, been Presdt. of the Mech. Inst., and held various other local positions of honour and responsibility. He is, however, best known as a naturalist. After coming to Can. he gave his special attention to the birds of the country, and there being no published books to serve as guides to the identifying of the species he might find here, he prepared a paper on the subject with a list of such birds as he had obtained, and read it before the Hamilton Assn. The list appeared in the Can. Journal, July, 1860, and the paper in the same publication, Jan., 1861. These aroused the interest of Am. ornithologists, and, in 1865, he prepared, by request, an extended list of birds observed near Hamilton, which list was published among the papers of the Essex Inst. In 1883 he attended a meeting of the leading ornithologists of the U. S., held in N. Y., which was convened for the purpose of revising the classification and nomenclature of Am. birds. The gathering resulted in the formation of the Am. Ornithologists' Union, of which he has since been a mem. He was apptd. supdt. for the Dist. of Ont. for the Migration Comte. of the Union, and saw to the selection of assistants throughout the Province to observe the arrival and departure of migratory birds. Later, he prepared "The Birds of Ont.: being a list of birds observed in the Province, with an account of their habits, distribution, nests, eggs, etc.," which was published by the Hamilton Assn., 1887. A second ed. of this book, enlarged and revised to date, with illustrations by E. E. Thompson, appeared, 1894. Mr. McI. preserves and mounts his own specimens, and he now possesses a collection of native birds which is regarded as being singularly large and complete. Politically, a Lib.; in religious faith, he is a Presb. He m. Oct., 1853, Mary, dau. of Bailie Hugh Park.—"Cairnbrae," Hamilton, Ont.

McKAY, James, Q.C., is the s. of the late Wm. McKay, a factor of the Hon. H. B. Co., and was b. at Fort Ellice, Man., July 12, 1862. Ed. at St. John's Coll. (Dufferin medal for Ancient and Mod. History; silver medal in Classics), he graduated at the Univ. of Man. (B.A., with honours in Classics), and was called to the bar in Man., 1886, and to the N.W.T. bar, 1887. He practises in Prince Albert, and was Crown Prosecutor for the Saskatchewan Dist., 1888-97. In 1894 he was created a Q.C. by the Earl of Aberdeen. Mr. McK. has served as a councillor of Prince Albert, and has been Presdt. of the Saskatchewan Dist. Rifle Assn. He is a mem. of the Council of Man. Univ. He took part in suppressing the N.-W. rebellion, 1885, doing special duty with French's scouts in carrying despatches. Politically, a Lib.-Con., he has been officially connected with the local Lib.-Con. Assn., and was the candidate of the party for Saskatchewan, Dom. g. e. 1896 (Vote: Hon. W. Laurier, L., 988; Jas. McKay, C., 944). In religious faith, an Ang., he is also regr. and solr. of the Diocese. Unm.—Prince Albert, N.W.T.

McKAY, Rev. William Alexander (Presb.), is the eld. s. of John McKay, and is one of 5 brothers who have all entered the Christian ministry. B. in the Co. Oxford, Ont., Mch. 11, 1842, he received his primary education in the neighbourhood of his birth, and commenced life as a sch. teacher. Entering Toronto Univ. (B.A., with 1st rank honours in Logic, Metaph. and Ethics, and also in Oriental Lang., 1869), he pursued his theol. studies at Knox Coll., graduating 1870. Ordained the same year, he became pastor successively of Cheltenham and Mount Pleasant, and of Baltimore and Cold Springs. He was inducted to his present charge over Chalmers' Church, Woodstock, a large and influential cong., May, 1878. He received the degree of D.D. from the Presb. Coll., Montreal, 1893. Dr. McK. is a frequent contributor to the press on a great variety of topics, chiefly, however, in advocacy of temp., and social and political reforms. He is also widely known as a platform speaker. It is characteristic of him, that in his fiery denunciations of evil practices, he is no respecter of persons. Among his published works are "Immersion: a Romish Invention"; "Baptism Improved"; "Thoughts for the Sick-Room"; "Outpourings of the Spirit," which has attained a wide popularity in the U. S.; and "Our Pioneer Fathers: their Trials and Triumphs." He has been for many yrs. Presdt. of the Oxford Prohibition Assn. Politically, he is thoroughly Ind., but in sympathy with the general policy of the Lib. party. He took strong ground against the coercion of Man. on the sch. question. He m. McKENZIE, Robert Tait, M.D., is the s. of the late Rev. Wm. McKenzie (Presb.), and was b. at Almonte, Ont., 1867. Ed. at the High Sch. there and at McGill Univ. (B.A., 1889), he also graduated in med. at that institution, 1892. He was on the med. staff of the Montreal Genl. Hospital for the year following graduation. After spending a summer as surg. on the steamer Lake Superior, he took up general practice in Montreal. Celebrated as an athlete, he was apptd. instructor and med. examr. of the gymnasium at McGill Univ., 1893. He is also asst. demonstrator of anat. in the Med. Faculty of his Alma Mater. In 1895 he was apptd. household physician to their Excellencies the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen. In the same year he published a work entitled "The Barnjum Bar-bell Drill." He has also contributed to the Pop. Science Monthly and other mags. He has been elected a V.-P. of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Physical Education. Unm.—59 Metcalfe St., Montreal.

McKERGOW, John, merchant, was b. of Scottish parentage in London, Eng., 1847. Coming to Can. with his parents at an early age, he received his education at the McGill Model Sch., Montreal, thereafter entering the service of the Grand Trunk Ry. His peculiar sagacity prompted A. A. Ayer to secure his services in connection with his business, and he entered his employ as a clk. Within 3 yrs. he was admitted as a junior partner, and became afterwards a full partner in the firm of A. A. Ayer & Co., which now controls what the Montreal Herald describes as the largest dairy produce business in the world. Their export business during 1896 covered 500,000 packages of cheese and butter, which approximately represented a turn-over of $4,000,000. In addition to his connection with this firm, Mr. McK. is largely interested in real estate in Montreal. He is also a dir. of the Laprairie Brick Works Co., the Laurie Engine Co., and of other industrial enterprises. He was the 1st Presdt. of the Provl. Butter and Cheese Assn., became a mem. of the Council of the Montreal Bd. of Trade, 1893, was subsequently a V.-P., and, in 1897, was elected Presdt. of the Bd. McLACHLAN, Charles, M.D., legislator, is the s. of Malcolm and Christina McLachlan, both natives of Scot., and was b. in Erin, Wellington, Ont., July 31, 1861. Ed. at the public schs. and at Chatham Business Coll., he pursued his med. studies at Toronto Univ. (M.B. and M.D., 1889). He was connected for a time with the Toronto press. He afterwards removed to the U. S., and has been, since 1890, a mem. of the State Bd. of Med. Examrs., North Dakota. He is also a mem. of the State Bd. of Censors, and surg. Northern Pacific Ry. Recently he was elected on the Rep. ticket to the Leg. Assembly of North Dakota. As a citizen of the U. S. he believes firmly in a high tariff trade policy. —New Rockford, N.D.

McLACHLAN, Robert Wallace, numismatist, is the s. of the late Wm. McLachlan, a native of Lochwinnoch, Renfrewshire, Scot., by his wife, Ann Stephen, a native of Banff. B. at Hochelaga (Montreal), Mch. 9, 1845, he was ed. at the Huntingdon Acad., at McGill Model Sch., and at McGill Univ., and devoted himself to a commercial career. While yet a boy, he commenced to collect coins, devoting special attention to the Can. series. As he grew older he became a systematic and painstaking student of numismatology, and, in 1865, was admitted to membership in the Montreal Numis. Soc., with whose subsequent history he has had much to do. He is now treas. and curator of that soc. Mr. McL. has been on the editorial staff of the Can. Antiquarian since its commencement, 1872, and has written many interesting papers in that periodical. He has also written on his favourite science for the Am. Journal of Numis., and contributed papers and essays to the proceedings of the Am. Numis. and Arch. Soc., to those of the Royal Soc. of Can., and for the Congrès Internl. de Numis. at Brussels, 1891. Among his separate publications are "Can. Communion Tokens," "Can. Temp. Medals," "Money and Medals of Can. under the Old Régime," "Louisbourg Medals," and "Notes on the De Ramezay Family." Breton acknowledges that he has formed the most complete collection of Can. coins and medals now known. His general collection—the largest in the Dom.—numbers over 8,000 specimens. In addition to being a life-mem. of the Numis. and Antiq. Soc., Montreal, he is a mem. of the Numis. Soc., London, a corr. mem. of the Numis. and Arch. Soc., N. McLEAN, Lt.-Col. Hugh Havelock, V. M., barrister, was b. at Fredericton, N.B., Mch. 22, 1854, and ed. there. Admitted an atty., 1875, he was called to the bar, 1876, and practised in partnership with the late C. W. Weldon, Q.C. He is solicitor in N. B. to the Shore Line Ry. Co., the N. B. Ry. Co., the St. John Ry. Co., to Alex. Gibson & Sons, Ltd., to the Pullman Palace Car Co., the Western Union Tel. Co., the Dom. Express Co., the Guardian Assur. Co., the C. P. Ry. Co., and to the Bank of Montreal. A dir. of the St. John Ry. Co., he is also V.-P. of the St. John Telegraph Publishing Co., and of the Shore Line Ry. Co. He was apptd. referee in equity, 1889. Lt.-Col. McL. holds a 1st class V. B. cert., and has served for many yrs. in the V. M. He became capt. 62nd St. John Fusiliers, May, 1876; adjt., Jan., 1877; major, Oct., 1885, and lt.-col. commanding, Sept. 2, 1897. He is a Lib. in politics.—St. John, N.B.; Union Club.

McLEAN, James A., educationist, is the s. of Alexander McLean, and was b. at Mayfair, Ont. Ed. at Strathroy Coll. Inst. and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., with honours in Classics and Pol. Science, 1892), he was apptd. to a fellowship in the dept. of Pol. Science in Columbia Coll., N. Y. After a course of 2 yrs. in public finance and in jurisprudence and legal history, he took his Ph.D. degree, presenting as his thesis a series of essays in Can. financial history. In the same year (1894) he became an examr. in Const. History in the Univ. of Toronto, and was apptd. Prof. of History and Pol. Science in the Univ. of Colorado, a position he still holds. In 1895 he was elected a mem. of the Council of the Am. Economic Assn. —Boulder, Col.

McLEAN, J. EMERY, journalist, is of joint Scotch and Irish descent, and was b. at Alton, Ont., Mch. 7, 1865. His parents removing to Orangeville, he was ed. there, and, at 14, was apprenticed to a local printer. At this time he excelled as a cornet player, and at a band tournament held at Ingersoll carried off the 3rd prize from 11 competitors. At 17 he was leader of a band in Petrolea. Removing to the U. S., he became head proofreader at the headquarters of the Am. Bible Soc. in N. Y. His skill in this difficult field is evidenced by the peculiar work he was obliged to perform. It is stated that he once read the proof-sheets of a volume containing 1 verse of the Bible translated into 242 different languages and dialects. It is safe to say that a similar task has fallen to the lot of no other man on the Am. continent. The burdensome routine of this position, however, after a few yrs., became too irksome for Mr. McL., and we next find him associate ed. of the New York Financier. His literary tastes and accomplishments thus becoming known, he soon had more remunerative offers made to him for his services, and by his editorial work on the Metaphysical Mag. he is rapidly making his mark in the Am. field of letters. He is unm. —233 East 12th St., New York.

McLEAN, Simon James, educationist, was b. in the Co. Simcoe, Ont. Ed. at Rosemont and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., with honours in History and Pol. Science, 1894), he followed the law course at the same institution (LL.B., 1895). He was Mackenzie Fellow, 1894-95, and wrote a valuable thesis on the tariff systems of Can. Following this, he attended Columbia Univ., N. Y., was a Fellow there, 1895-96, and took his A.M. degree. Being offered a fellowship in Chicago Univ., he was in residence there, 1896, and received the degree of Ph.D. from the same institution. His thesis on the latter occasion was a history of the development of the ry. systems of Can., and is spoken of as being a most valuable contribution to Can. literature. In 1897 he was apptd. to the chair of History and Economics in the Univ. of Arkansas.— Fayetteville, Ark.

McLEAY, Franklin, actor, b. at Watford, Ont., of Scotch parentage, was ed. at the Woodstock (Bapt.) Coll. and at Toronto Univ., where he took a scholarship. Before graduating, he accepted the mastership of Mod. Languages in the Woodstock Coll. Inst. During a vacation tour he met the veteran actor, Jas. E. Murdock, who induced him to attend the Sch. of Oratory at Boston. Later, he joined Wilson Barrett's co., taking small parts at first, and has since gradually secured a front place in the theatrical profession. He is said to have made a special study of Eng. literature at the Univ., and is now a Shakespearian scholar of some authority. He has played some 40 rôles, the most conspicuous among them being "Iago," "the Bishop" and "the Deemster," in Ben-ma-Chree; "the Tetrarch," in Claudian; "Dealatus" and "Claudius," in Virginius; "Father Christmas," in Silver King; and "Nero" and "the Bat," in Pharaoh. Mr. McL. has written for the Forum and other mags.— Watford, Ont.

McLELLAN, James Alexander, educationist, was b. in Shubenacadie, N.S., 1832, and is of Scotch, Eng. and Irish ancestry—some of his forbears being in the army and U. E. Loyalists. Ed. at his native place, he taught sch. when he was 15 yrs. of age. Moving to Toronto, 1857, he attended the Provl. Normal Sch., afterwards entering the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and med. in Math. and Metaph., 1862; M.A., 1863; LL.B., 1872; LL.D., 1873). Apptd. to the teaching staff in Central Sch., St. Mary's, 1858, he was transferred to the Grammar

Sch. at the same place on its opening, 1860. He became head of Yarmouth Semy. on the opening of that institution, 1864, and while occupying that position took an active part in favour of Confederation, for which he received the special thanks of the then Prime Minister, the late Sir John A. Macdonald. In 1869 he returned to Toronto to become a Math. teacher in U. C. Coll. He was apptd. High Sch. Inspr. for Ont., 1871, and at the same time a mem. of the first Central Comte. on Education. Following this, Dr. McL. was apptd. dir. of Normal Schs. for Ont., 1875; dir. of Teachers' Insts., 1885; and head of the Sch. of Pedagogy (now the Ont. Normal Coll. for the professional training of 1st class public sch. teachers and High sch. assts.), 1890. In 1897 Dr. McL., who besides being Principal of the Coll., is Prof. of Psychol. and History of Education therein, took possession of the fine new building which had been erected in Hamilton for the Coll. He was elected a dir. of the Dom. Educatl. Assn., 1895, and he has been also Presdt. of the Ont. Teachers' Assn. In 1897 Dr. McL. delivered a course of lectures on Literature and the Psychol. of Number to the sch. teachers of Penn., over 2000 teachers being in constant attendance at each lecture. Among his literary productions are several works on Arith. and Algebra; one on Applied Psychol. (1889); one on Psychol. of Number and its applications to methods of teaching Arith. (1895), and one, in collaboration with A. F. Ames, on the Psychol. of Arith. (1897). He has now in preparation "Aims and Methods in the Study of Eng. Literature." In religion, Dr. McL. is a Meth., and has been a local preacher in that body. Politically, he is a Lib., and at the Dom. g. e. 1872, was the candidate of that party for West Toronto, against the late John Crawford, Q.C. He m. 1851, Harriet, dau. of the late Wm. Tounsley, an early settler of Toronto.—Hamilton, Ont.

"Next to Egerton Ryerson probably Dr. McL. stands out as the one whose personality is most intimately associated with the development of the Ont. Sch. system. While emphasizing the principle of equality of opportunity to the children of rich and poor alike, he devoted special attention to the improvement of our High schs. He realized that to have a high standard of public education we must have well qualified teachers, and that to this end the institutions in which these teachers were to receive the ground-work of their knowledge —the High schs.—must be made efficient. While Inspr. of secondary schs., Dr. McL. brought math. teaching up to a magnificent standard; and having placed this branch of instruction on a sound basis, he next turned his attention to the value of Eng. Lit. as a subject of culture for both public and High schs. Dr. McL. is widely known not only in Ont. and eastern Can., but also in the U. S., as a forcible and inspiring lecturer on educational themes. To his facility of expression is added the power of a sympathetic manner, a lofty and refined imagination, and an intensely patriotic spirit which he never fails to carry with him when addressing audiences beyond the borders of his native land. Before appt. to his present position, Dr. McL. did a very helpful work throughout Ont. as dir. of Teachers' Insts. His contributions to rational methods of instruction, and his contagious enthusiasm, which has done so much to deepen among teachers a love for their work, are two prominent and invaluable features of the service he has rendered. Dr. McL. is just in the prime of intellectual maturity, and his recent publications in the science of pedagogics give ground for the expectation that, as head of the Normal Coll., he may long continue to exercise a strong formative influence on our univ. graduates who aspire to the duties of the teaching profession. For what he has already achieved he may fairly be assigned a leading place among the men of our time whose personality has contributed most to the development of the Ont. Sch. system."—*R. H. McLEOD, Hon. Ezekiel, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late John McLeod, by his wife, Mary McCready. B. in Cardwell, King's Co., N.B., Oct. 29, 1840, he was ed. at the High Sch. there, and graduated LL.B. at Harvard Univ., 1867. Called to the bar, 1868, he practised in the city of St. John, was one of the directors of the St. John Law Soc., and was created a Q.C., by the Marquis of Lorne, 1882. A Lib.-Con. in politics, he sat in the Provl. Legislature, in that interest, for St. John city, from g. e. 1882 to g. e. 1886, when he was defeated. He held office as Atty.-Genl. in the Hannington Admn., 1882-83, was an unsuccessful candidate for St. John in the Ho. of Commons at g. e. 1887, and being afterwards returned at the g. e. 1891, sat in that body for St. John throughout the 7th Parlt., 1891-96. Judge McL. is a mem. of the Free Bapt. Ch., and is unm. He was formerly a Senator of the Univ. of N. B.—St. John, N.B.

McLEOD, Henry Collingwood, bank manager, was b. at New London, P.E.I., and is the s. of Capt. John McLeod of that place. Ed. at the local sch., he commenced life as book-keeper for the law firm of Alley & Davies, Charlottetown, and was also with the firm of McDonald & Owen, same city. He then entered the service of the Bank of P.E.I., and when this institution was absorbed by the Bank of N. S., 1882, joined the latter. He was agent for the Bank of N. S., first at Minneapolis, Minn., and afterwards at Chicago. In 1897 he was promoted genl. mangr. of the Bank, vice Fyshe (q.v.). He is a V.-P. of the Can. Bankers' Assn.—Halifax, N.S.

McLEOD, Rev. Joseph (Bapt.), journalist, was b. in St. John, N.B., June 27, 1844. He was ed. in the public schs., at the Bapt. Semy., and studied Theol. in the Bapt. Inst., Fredericton. Ordained to the ministry, 1868, he was called, in the same year, to the pastorate of the Free Bapt. Ch., Fredericton, in which he remained till 1890, when he retired in order to devote himself to journalistic work. In 1875 he was apptd. chaplain to the Legislature of N. B. He stands high as a leader both in the Bapt. denomination and among the advocates of Temp. and Prohibition. Among many other offices to which he has been elected are the following: a dir. and secy. of the Free Bapt. Education Soc.; dir. of the United Education Soc.; corr. secy. of the Free Bapt. Foreign Mission Soc.; V.-P. of the Dom. Alliance; Presdt. of Am. Foreign Mission Soc.; Presdt. of the National Lodge, United Temp. Assn. of Can.; Moderator of the N. B. Free Bapt. Conf. (twice elected); Presdt. of the N. B. Prohibitory Alliance; and Presdt. of the N. B. Prohibition Convention. In 1867 he succeeded his father in the editorship of the Religious Intelligencer, which he also owns. He received the hon. degree of D.D. from Acadia Coll., 1886. He has on several occasions declined nomination as a candidate for a seat in the Ho. of Commons. As a mem. of the Royal Comn. apptd. to enquire into the liquor traffic of the Dom., he, in Apl., 1895, presented to the Gov.-Genl.-in-Council a minority report, partly supplemental and partly corrective of the majority report. In this document (see Ho. of Commons papers) he enters into a discussion of the effects of the liquor traffic on all interests affected by it in Can., deals with the question of pauperism, disease, mortality, insanity and idiocy, and takes up the question of the responsibility of the traffic, the cost of liquors consumed, cost of prisons, loss of labour, "shortened lives and misdirected effort." Canada's annual drink bill is summed up as follows: Cost of the liquor traffic: Amount paid for liquor by consumers, $39,879,854; value of grain, etc., destroyed, $1,889,765; cost of proportion of pauperism, disease, insanity and crime chargeable to the liquor traffic, $3,149,097; loss of productive labour, $76,288,000; loss through mortality caused by drink, $14,304,000; misdirected labour, $7,748,000; total, $143,258,716. Receipts from the liquor traffic: Dom. Govt., $7,101,557; Provl. Govts., $942,652; municipalities, $429,107; total, $8,473,316. Net loss, $134,785,400. The following are his conclusions: "1. That the Can. Ho. of Commons was right when it declared, 1887, 'that total prohibition is the right and only effective remedy for the evils of intemperance.' That the Ho. of Commons was right in declaring, at the same time, 'that this House is prepared to enact such legislation as soon as public opinion will sustain them in doing so,' and that the Ho. of Commons was well advised in reiterating from time to time, as already set out, this declaration. 2. That all information which the Comn. has been able to obtain has made it clear that the effect of the liquor traffic has been, and is, seriously detrimental to all the moral, social and material interests of the nation; that the measures employed to lessen, regulate or prohibit the traffic have been of value and effective only in proportion as they have approximated in their operations to the absolute prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating beverages; and that the revenue requirements of the country should not be considered a reason for the continuance of an admitted evil, and, moreover, could be met without the continuance of that evil. 3. That the endorsement which the electorate of different sections of the Dom. have given at the ballot box to the principle of Prohibition, whenever submitted, as well as many petitions, etc., of ch. courts, temp. organizations, municipal councils and other representative bodies, make it sufficiently clear that a majority of the people of Can. are in favour of a total prohibition of the liquor traffic. 4. That it would, therefore, be right and wise for the Dom. Parlt. without further delay to carry out the promise given, and give effect to the principles stated in its several resolutions, by the enactment and thorough enforcement of a law prohibiting the manufacture, importation and sale of intoxicating liquors—except for medical, sacramental and scientific purposes—in and into the Dom." B. at Coventry, Eng., May 15, 1858, he was ed. under private tuition, and subsequently at Berkeswell National Sch. and at Oxford Co. Sch. Coming to Man. he was offered, 1885, the secretaryship of the Man. and N.-W. Farmers' Union, but declined, and 2 yrs. afterwards was apptd. Emigration Comnr. by the Man. Govt., with headquarters at Toronto. He remained in this position until 1891, when he was promoted to represent the Province in the United Kingdom. He seems to have a special taste and aptitude for the duties of his present office, in which he has rendered important services, not only to Man. but to the Dom. as well. He is the author of various pamphlets descriptive of the resources of Man., and has given evidence in the same connection before Parliamentary Comtes. and other bodies. He m. 1859, Miss Dunn, of St. Catharines, Ont., and of Coventry, Eng.—33 James St., Liverpool, Eng.

McMILLAN, Hon. Daniel Hunter, legislator, is the s. of Jas. and Eleanor McMillan. B. at Whitby, Ont., Jan., 1846, he was ed. there and at Collingwood. He was on active service with the volunteers on the Niagara frontier, 1864, and, again, at Port Colborne and Fort Erie, during the Fenian raid, 1866. In 1870 he joined the Red River expedition under Wolseley, and, subsequently, settled at Winnipeg, for which city he was an unsuccessful candidate at the Provl. g. e. 1879. Returned to the Legislature, 1880, he has continued to sit therein for Winnipeg up to the present time. He entered Mr. Greenway's Govt. as Provl. Treas., May 7, 1889, and served as a del. to Ottawa on the Man. Sch. question, Oct., 1896. He holds a 1st class Cav. cert. and a 1st class M. S. cert., and served as maj. of the 95th Batt., Man. Grenadiers, during the N.-W. rebellion, 1885 (medal), and succeeded to the command of the batt., June 17, 1887. He is now on the retired list. McMILLAN, Hon. James, U. S. Senator, is the 2nd s. of Wm. and Grace McMillan, who emigrated from Scot. to Can., and settled in Hamilton, Ont., 1834. The elder McM. was well known throughout Ont. through his connection with the Gt. Western Ry. from its inception. B. in Hamilton, May 12, 1838, he was ed. at the Grammar Sch. there, and went to Detroit when 16 yrs. of age. After being 4 yrs. in the hardware business and 2 yrs. in another mercantile establishment, he was apptd. purchasing agent for the Detroit and Milwaukee Ry. In 1863 he became interested in the manufacture of ry. cars, and, with others, was successful in founding several large manufacturing establishments. He also became interested in railroads and steamboats, and was elected Presdt. of the Michigan Car Co., of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Ry. Co., and of the Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation Co. A Republican in politics, he was elected a mem. of the Rep. State Central Comte., 1876, and on the death of Zachariah Chandler, succeeded him as chairman, a position he still holds. For 3 yrs. he was Presdt. of the Bd. of Park Comnrs., Detroit, and for 4 yrs. a mem. of the Bd. of Estimates, same city. Mr. McM. received the unanimous nomination of the Rep. mems. of the Michigan Legislature, and was elected to the U. S. Senate, and took his seat, Mch. 4. 1889. He was re-elected, 1895, receiving the unanimous vote of the Legislature, both Republicans and Democrats. In 1886 he joined with the late John S. Newberry in contributing $100,000 each for the establishment and maintenance of Grace Hospital in Detroit. He has also given the State Univ. a handsome library, besides endowing many other institutions with money or real estate. He m. 1860, Miss Wetmore, Detroit.—Detroit, Mich.

McMILLAN, John, legislator, was b. in Kirkconnell, Dumfriesshire, Scot., July 19, 1823, and received his education in the local parish sch. Coming to Can. with his family, he has since devoted himself to farming. He has been Reeve of Hullett, and was apptd. a mem. of the Ont. Agricul. Comn., Apl., 1880. A Lib. in politics, he was first returned to the Ho. of Commons for South Huron, g. e. 1882. Resigning his seat, Dec., 1883, he was re-elected at the g. e. 1887, and has continued since then to be the representative of South Huron at Ottawa. Mr. McM. is a frequent speaker on the Reform side, both in and out of Parlt. He took strong ground against the coercion of Man. on the sch. question. He has been twice m., 1st, July, 1849, to Miss Janet McMichael; and 2ndly, Nov., 1868, to Mrs. Jameson. In religion, he is an adherent of the Presb. Ch.—Constance, Ont.

McMULLEN, James, merchant and legislator, is the 2nd s. of the late Archd. McMullen, a native of the Co. Monaghan, Irel., who came to Can., 1846, taking up land near Fergus, Ont. B. in Monaghan, 1836, he was ed. at the local schs.,

Fergus, and has been in mercantile life for many yrs. Elected to the Tp. Council, he became Reeve of Mount Forest, 1876. A Lib. in politics, he has sat as such in the Ho. of Commons for North Wellington since the g. e. 1882, and while in Opposition was regarded as one of the keenest financial critics on his side of the House. Mr. McM. was formerly a dir. and V.-P. of the Georgian Bay and Wellington Ry., and is now a dir. of the Grand Trunk, Georgian Bay and Lake Erie Ry. He is also a dir. of the Dom. Life Ins. Co. Since 1896 he has been Chairman of the Standing Comte. on Public Accounts in the Ho. of Commons. He has introduced an Act providing that owners of mining property or timber limits in Can. shall reside in Can., except such owners be Brit. subjects. He favours a reduction in the number of the Parliamentary representatives sent to Ottawa; an elective Senate; the abolishment of the superannuation system in the C. S.; and the preservation of the autonomy of each province. He is a mem. of the Presb. Ch., and m. Sept., 1858, Mary Ann, young. dau. of Robt. Dunbar, late of Guelph, Ont.—Mount Forest, Ont.

McMULLEN, John Mercier, historian, was b. in Irel., June 13, 1820. He is descended, on the paternal side, from a native of Scot., who settled in Ulster in the time of James I., and on the mother's side, from a French Huguenot named Mercier, who fled from his country after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, and ultimately settled in Irel. Ed. at home, he proceeded to India, 1843, and saw much of that country, his impressions being embodied in a volume which he published on his return to Eng., 1846, in which year he likewise m. Miss Sarah Charlotte Nesbitt, and took to farming. Two yrs. of famine, however, having disheartened him, he made a gift of his farm to a relative, and sailed for N. Y., intending to settle in the U. S. Not liking that country, he crossed into Can., and finally made his home in Brockville, Ont., 1849, where he established himself in the book trade. Three yrs. afterwards he added a printing office to his other business, and, in 1857, purchased the plant and copyright of the Brockville Monitor—a Con. journal—which he continued to publish up till quite recently, contributing not a little during his journalistic career to the ascendancy and continued success of his party friends. When Mr. McM. came to this country no general history of Can. had been prepared, or was in existence. He determined to meet the want, and with this end in view, commenced collecting facts and other material. As regards the Province of Ont., the material was exceedingly scanty and fragmentary; but, after much research, he was eventually able to put its historical narrative together piece by piece, and, in 1855, the 1st ed. of his "History of Canada" made its appearance, and met with á most encouraging reception. In 1867 he published the 2nd ed., bringing the narrative down to the rise of the Dom. In 1892, after 2 yrs. of steady labour in the way of revision and continuation, the 3rd ed. of this work was published, bringing it down to the death of Sir John A. Macdonald, and the defeat of the Mercier Admn. in Quebec. His book claimed and obtained credit for independence and honesty, and even when rival works appeared, held its place in the favour of the reading public, especially in Ont. Mr. McM. is also the author of a work, "The Camp and Barrack Room; or, the Brit. Army as It is"; and he has ed. a work, published 1882, entitled "Every Man his own Lawyer." He has been on the commission of the Peace since 1858, and has more than once declined Parliamentary honours. In religious belief, he is an Ang.—Brockville, Ont.

McMULLEN, Rev. William Thomas (Presb.), a bro. of Jas. McMullen, M.P. (q.v.), was b. in Monaghan, Irel., Jan. 9, 1831. He accompanied his father to Can. in 1843, and was ed. at the Fergus public schs. In 1849 he entered Knox Coll., to prepare for the ministry. He graduated, 1856, and was ordained the same year. After labouring at Millbank, he was apptd. to the pastorate of Knox Ch., Woodstock, 1860, where he has since remained. In addition to his other gifts, he is celebrated for his strength in scholarship. In 1882 he presided at a conf. in Toronto representing 4 Ang. synods, 2 confs. of the Meth. Ch., and 2 synods of the Presb. Ch., convened to press the matter of the reading of the Scriptures in the public schs on the attention of the Ont. Govt., which conf. resulted in the introduction of the book of Scripture readings now in use. He has also presided at a conf. on Christian unity, held in Toronto, representing the Ang., Meth. and Presb. Chs. of the Dom. He has served as Moderator of the Synod of Hamilton and London, and, in 1888, was chosen Moderator of the Genl. Assembly of his Ch. in Can. He received the degree of D.D. from Knox Coll., 1889. Ed. at U. C. Coll., and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1879; M.A., 1881), he took a post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins Univ. (Ph.D., 1885), where he was also an instructor. He had, on graduation, been apptd. to the chair of Biol. in the Ont. Agricul. Coll. In 1886 he was apptd. to the chair in the same subject in Haverford Coll., Penn., continuing there until 1889. In that year he became Asst. Prof. in Clark Univ., Worcester, Mass., passing thence, in 1892, to the chair of Biol. in the Univ. of Cincinnati. In 1895 he took up the duties connected with his present appt. as Prof. of Anatomy in the Univ. of Michigan. Prof. McM. was Secy. of the Am. Morphological Soc., 1890-93, a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Am. Soc. of Naturalists, 1889-92, and was apptd. a trustee of the Marine Biol. Laboratory, 1892. McNAUGHT, William Kirkpatrick, merchant, is the s. of the late John McNaught, formerly of Dumfriesshire, Scot., and was b. in Fergus, Ont., Sept. 6, 1845. Ed. at the public and High schs., he subsequently followed the prescribed course of study at the B. A. Commercial Coll., and, in 1868, entered the employ of the late Robt. Wilkes, M.P., wholesale jeweler, Toronto, with whom he served successively as clk., traveller, mangr. and foreign buyer. Subsequently, in 1877, he entered into partnership with the late John Zimmerman, establishing the firm of Zimmerman, McNaught & Co., wholesale jewelers, which, in 1885, was merged in the Am. Watch Case Co., Mr. McN. becoming Secy.-Treas. of the concern, a position he still holds. In addition, he is the sole ed. of the Trader, established by him, 1859, as the organ of the Can. jewelry trade. He also founded the Can. Jewelers' Security Alliance, of which he was the first Secy. He is a dir. of the Toronto Bd. of Trade, a dir. of the Industrial Exhn. Assn. and Chairman of the Main Building Comte.; a dir. of the Hemming Bros. Co., Toronto; Treas. of the Standard (Bapt.) Pub. Co., Presdt. of the Trader Pub. Co., Presdt. of the National Club, Toronto, and Presdt. of the Manfrs.' Assn. of Can. When quite a boy he joined the Queen's Own Rifles, with the expectation of going to the front to meet the Fenians. Afterwards he passed a successful exam. in the M. S., received his cert., and was gazetted to a lieutenancy in the 12th York Rangers, with which he served for several yrs. Mr. McN. has always been a strong supporter of, and believer in, healthy out-door sports. Than he, perhaps no person in Can. has done so much for the national game of lacrosse. He occupied the arduous position of hon. Secy. of the National Lacrosse Assn. for 6 yrs., and was 4 times elected its Presdt. His book, published 1875, "Lacrosse, and How to Play It," is still recognized as the standard work on this sport. In May, 1883, he accompanied the Can. lacrosse team on its emigration lacrosse tour through Eng., Irel. and Scot., spending the entire summer in that country. This tour was organized under the joint patronage of the Eng. and Can. Govts., and during its progress the team distributed 500,000 copies of interesting illustrated literature, drawing attention to Can. as a desirable field for emigration. In addition to this, Dr. W. G. Beers (q.v.) and Mr. McN. delivered addresses on "Canada" in many cities and towns of the United Kingdom. He is also V.-P. of the Toronto Rowing Club, and of the Can. National Assn. of Amateur Oarsmen, and Presdt. of the Athenæum (athletic and recreation) Club of Toronto. Politically, a Con.; in religion, he is a Bapt.—98 Carlton St., Toronto; National Club.

Thérèse de Blainville, he was called to the bar and practised for some yrs. in Montreal in partnership with Hon. J. A. (now Mr. Justice) Ouimet. In 1881 he removed to St. Jerome, where he published Le Nord, a colonization journal, up to 1887. He had previously been on the staff of La Minerve, Montreal. In 1887 he returned to Montreal, and was ed.-in-chief of La Presse from that time up to Mch., 1892. He purchased Le Monde, Mch., 1896, which, however, was discontinued, July, 1897, since when he has published a weekly paper called Le Monde Canadien, with the motto, "Can. for Canadians, with Canadians, and by Canadians, without distinction of national origin or religious creed." Mr. N. was for many yrs. closely associated with the late Father Labelle in the movement for the colonization of northern Quebec. He was elected a dir. of the Northern Colonization Ry., 1882, and of the Gt. Northern Ry., as well. He likewise wrote and published, 1888, "Notre Nord-Ouest Provincial," a careful study, from actual observation, of the capabilities and resources of the rich and prosperous region lying in the northern interior of the Ottawa valley. Elected to the Ho. of Commons, for Terrebonne, at the g. e. 1882, he resigned, the same year, in order to provide a seat at Ottawa for Sir J. A. Chapleau, and was immediately returned by the constituency to the Quebec Assembly. Re-elected by acclamation at the g. els. 1886, 1890 and 1892, he entered the de Boucherville Cabinet as Mr. of Public Works, Dec. 21, 1891. He held the same office in the second Taillon Govt., 1892-96, and became Mr. of Crown Lands under Mr. Flynn (having, on Mr. Taillon's retirement, declined to form an Admn. of his own), May 12, 1896. NAYLOR, The Venerable William Herbert, Archdeacon of Clarendon (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of Hy. Naylor, formerly of Yorkshire, Eng., by his wife, Elizabeth Vaughan (U. E. L. descent), of Noyan, P.Q. B. at Noyan, May 5, 1846, he was ed. at Clarenceville Acad., and at McGill Univ. (B.A., and Prince of Wales gold med., 1872; M.A., 1885). Ordained deacon by Bp. Oxenden, 1873, and priest, 1874, he was apptd. Rector of St. Armand West in the latter year, and remained there until Aug., 1876, when he became incumbent of St. Paul's, Shawville, P.Q. Upon a div. of the deanery of St. Andrew's being made, Apl., 1883, he was named first R. D. of Clarendon, an office he continued to fill till Apl., 1894, when he was apptd. first Archdeacon of Clarendon. Mr. N. is a temp. worker on the lines of the Ch. of Eng. Temp. Soc. He has been a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Diocese of Montreal since 1883, and has served as a del. to the Genl. Synod. He m. June, 1872, Miss Jennie Struthers, Noyan, P.Q.—Shawville, P.Q.

NEILSON, John Louis Hubert, M.D., D.S.G. (permanent mil. force), is the eld. s. of John Neilson, of "Dornal," near Quebec, by his wife, Laura C., dau. of Capt. John Moorhead, Asst. Adjt.-Genl. at Quebec. B. in Quebec, Mch. 24, 1845, he was ed. at St. Mary's (Jesuit) Coll., Montreal, and at Ste. Anne's Coll., P.Q. His med. studies were prosecuted at Laval Univ. (where he graduated M.L. and took the Morrin gold medal, 1869), and at the Royal Victoria Army Med. Sch., Netley, Eng. Commencing in 1869, when he replaced Dr. F. Montizambert as Med. Offr., Quebec Garrison Arty., Dr. N. has been continuously employed in mil. work from his graduation up to the present time. In Apl., 1870, when it was decided to send a mil. force to Fort Garry, under Col. (now Lord)

Wolseley, to suppress the first Riel rebellion, he volunteered his services and was apptd. surg. of the 2nd Quebec Rifles. The value of his services during that campaign, and during the small-pox scourge in the N.W.T., 1870-71, have been publicly acknowledged. He was recalled to the east, Oct., 1871, to assist in the organization and to take med. charge of "A" and "B" Batteries of Can. Arty. He remained at the Citadel, Quebec, until 1877, and was present with his regt. at several sanguinary and fatal encounters between the troops and certain of the townspeople in times of political and trades' union excitement. Proceeding to Eng. he was for 2 yrs. attached to the army, and was also present as a Red Cross surg. in Servia and the Balkans during the Russo-Turkish war, 1878. Before resuming his duties in Can. he made an extended tour of Europe, enquiring into the army med. organizations in the several countries visited. He afterwards visited the U.S. with a like object. Transferred to Kingston, Ont., June, 1880, he was placed in med. charge of the R. M. Coll. and garrison of that city, a position he still occupies. When it was decided to send a contingent of Can. voyageurs to assist the Gordon Relief Expedition, 1884, Lord Wolseley selected the late Lt.-Col. F. C. Denison and Surg.-Maj. N. to recruit, organize, equip and officer the contingent. Dr. N. remained in Egypt in med. charge of the voyageurs until after their return to Can. (Jan., 1885), when he volunteered for further services with the army in the Soudan, and was attached to the Desert column which fought at Abu-Kléa, Metam-neh, etc. He rendered much meritorious service for which he was specially mentioned in the Commander-in-Chief's despatches (see London Gazette, Aug. 25, 1885). (War medal with two clasps, the Khedive's Star and the Order of Melusine 5th class.) Dr. N. has always taken much interest in Can. hist., and more particularly in bibliography. He inherited the rich library of his grandfather, Hon. John Neilson, and of his great-grand-uncle, Wm. Brown (Canada's first printer), which was formed by the purchase of many of the old Quebec Jesuit books and MSS. It now forms a collection of Canadiana, second to none. He has contributed numerous articles to the mags. and daily press—French and Eng.—on historical and bibliographical subjects, and has written the history of "The Royal Can. Volunteers, 1794-1802," for the V. R. I. Mag. Of late yrs. several papers from his pen on psychol. subjects have appeared in the Revue de l'Hypnotisme des Sciences Psychologiques, of Paris. He is at present preparing for the press a volume of notes on our early printers and their work. He was promoted Depty. Surg.-Genl., Feb. 1, 1895. Is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., and was m. to Wilmot, eld. dau. of Lt.-Col. J. Bramley Ridout, late 26th Cameronians.—Royal Canadian Artillery and Royal Mil. College, Kingston, Ont.; Garrison Club, Quebec.

NEILSON, Robert, railway service, was b. in Ont., Aug. 19, 1837. After graduating from Rensselaer Polytech. Inst., he entered the service of the Philadelphia and Erie Ry. as a rodman, 1863. In Sept., 1865, he was apptd. resident Engr. of the middle div. of that road, and, in Jan., 1868, resident Engr. of the middle div. of the Penn. Ry. Later, he was promoted Supdt. of the Western Penn. div. of the latter. In Feb., 1874, he was chosen Supdt. of the Elmira and Canand. div. of the Northern Central Ry., but, in 1881, was called back to the Penn. Ry., as Genl. Supdt. of the Philadelphia and Erie div., and of all divs. of the Northern Central Ry. north of Harrisburg. In Jan., 1883, he was further advanced by being made Genl. Supdt. of all lines belonging to the Northern Central Ry., and of the Phil. and Erie divs. of the Penn. Ry. He was admitted a mem. of the Am. Soc. of C. E., 1869.—Williamsport, Pa.

NELSON, Rev. Thomas Alexander (Presb.), is the s. of Thos. Nelson, by his wife, Elizabeth Nicholson, and was b. in Montreal, 1843. At a comparatively early age he removed, with other mems. of his family, to Oakville, Ont., and subsequently, to Indianapolis, Ind. While at Oakville he attended the Grammar Sch. at that place. In 1861 he entered business in a subordinate capacity, but a few yrs. later found him occupying the best position in the largest commercial house in the State. Failing health and a growing distaste for business resulted in his entering Ashbury (now De Pauw) Univ. to prepare for the ministry. Whilst pursuing his studies he received and accepted a call to the secretaryship of the Y.M.C.A., Toledo, Ohio. Here he laboured from 1871 to 1874, when he removed to N. Y. and entered the Union Theol. Semy., from which he graduated, 1877, and, receiving in June of that year a call to the Memorial Presb. Ch., Brooklyn, he entered upon his labours there the following Aug. Under his ministry the ch. soon more than doubled its numbers, and so much confidence in the future was inspired that the erection of a new and more commodious place of worship was determined on. The new building, situated on 7th Ave. and St. John's Place, was opened, Feb., 1885, and is one of the handsomest ecclesiastical edifices in the "City of Churches." Dr. N. (he received the hon. degree of D.D. from the Univ. of N. Y., 1887) claims no advanced ideas in religious theory, but his mind is naturally liberal and his views cheerful. He is an eloquent preacher and an indefatigable worker. In 1885 he was chosen Moderator of the Presby. of Brooklyn, which comprises a large number of clerical and lay delegates—amongst the former being Doctors Cuyler, DeWitt Talmage, Hall, and other well-known divines. He is on the advisory bds. of a number of institutions, educational and charitable, including the Union Theol. Semy., the Bd. of Home Missions of the Presb. Ch. of U.S.A. (being also Chairman of the Sch. Work Comte.), and the Bd. of City Missions. He m. 1st, Dec., 1877, Lillie Jane, dau. of the late Prof. W. R. Harper, Newburg, N.Y. (she d. NELSON, Wolfred, M.D., is the s. of the late Dr. Horace Nelson, and a grands. of Dr. Wolfred Nelson, who figures so largely in Can. history in connection with the rebellion of 1837. The family is one of the oldest among those of Eng. origin living in Can., its founder, Wm. Nelson, a native of Newsham, Yorkshire, having settled at Sorel, P.Q., 1781. He (Wm. N.) was nearly related to the great admiral. B. in Montreal, Apl. 9, 1846, he was ed. at McGill Univ., and likewise pursued his med. studies there (M.D., C.M., 1872). In the same year he graduated in the med. faculty at Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville. He was elected a mem. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs. of Quebec, 1876. Following his graduation he went to Eng. for a short period, and on his return became a practitioner in Montreal. Failing health compelled him to leave Montreal again, 1879. He visited the W. I., and finally settled at Panama, where he remained until 1885, or during the zenith of activity on the de Lesseps canal. He spent nearly 4 yrs. in travel in Mexico, Central and South Am., the W. I. and Europe, collecting data on climatology and tropical disease, and finally took up his residence in N. Y., 1890. He has written extensively on travel, climatology, yellow fever, leprosy, maritime sanitation, etc. He is the author of "Apercu de Quelques Difficultes a Vaincre Dans le Construction du Canal de Panama" (1887); and "Five Years in Panama" (1888). For 15 yrs. he was a constant correspondent of the Gazette, Montreal, an occasional contributor to the N. Y. Times and Med. Record, and to "Chambers's Encyclopædia," and a collaborator of the Sanitarian. He is a mem. of the Am. Public Health Assn., the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, corr. mem. of the Nat. Hist. Soc. of Montreal, and a Fellow of the Royal Geog. Soc. of Eng. While in Can. NESBITT, Wallace, barrister, is the s. of the late John W. Nesbitt, by his wife, Mary Wallace. B. at Woodstock, Ont., 1859, he was ed in the same place, and was called to the bar, 1881. After practising in Hamilton for a short time, he removed to Toronto, where he joined the firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman. In 1892 he formed his present connection as a mem. of the firm of Beatty, Blackstock, Nesbitt, Chadwick & Riddell. He has been connected with many important suits, among them being the historic legal fight between the firm of Conmee & McLennan, contractors, and the Can. Pac. Ry., and the memorable St. George's ry. disaster case. He has been engaged also in a number of criminal cases. As a jury lawyer he is said to be singularly successful. In 1894 he acted as senior counsel for the city of Toronto in the investigation before Judge McDougall, to ascertain if any ald. or officials had accepted bribes or been guilty of misfeasance. He has been Presdt. of the Osgoode Legal and Lit. Soc., and, in 1896, was recommended by the Tupper Admn. for appt. as a Q. C. Ed. by his father, he himself taught sch. in N. S. and also in the U. S. after his removal there, 1853. While in Maryland he became acquainted with Joseph Henry and Julius E. Hilgard, who, recognizing his aptitude for math., secured his appt. in 1857, as computer on the "Nautical Almanac," which was then published in Cambridge, Mass. After graduating at the Lawrence Scientific Sch., 1858, he was continued there for 3 yrs. as a graduate student. In 1861 he was apptd. Prof. of Math. in the U. S. navy, and assigned to duty in the U. S. Naval Observatory, Washington. There he negotiated the contract for the 26-inch equatorial telescope authorized by Congress, supervised its construction, and planned the tower and dome in which it is mounted. In 1871 he was apptd. Secy. of the comn. that was created by Congress for the purpose of observing the transit of Venus, Dec. 9, 1874, which organized the expeditions that were sent out by the U. S. Govt. He visited the Saskatchewan region, 1860, to observe an eclipse of the sun, and, 1870-71, was sent to Gibraltar for a similar purpose, and, 1882, he observed the transit of Venus at the Cape of Good Hope. Meanwhile, 1877, he became Senior Prof. of Math. in the U. S. navy, with the relative rank of Capt., and since that time has been in charge of the office of the "Am. Ephemeris and Nautical Almanac." A large corps of civilian assistants in Washington and elsewhere, as well as offrs. of the navy who are detailed to that office, work under his direction. In addition to these duties, he became, 1884, Prof. of Math. and Astron. in Johns Hopkins Univ., Baltimore, where he has charge of the graduate students in Astron. Prof. N. has been intimately associated with the equipment of the Lick Observatory, California, and examined the glass of the great telescope and its mounting before its acceptance by the trustees. The result of his scientific work has been given to the world in more than 100 papers and memoirs. His work has been principally in the math. astronomy of the solar system, particularly Neptune, Uranus and the moon; but the whole plan includes the most exact possible tables of the motions of all the planets. Among the most important of his papers are: "On the Secular Variations and Mutual Relations of the Orbits of the Asteroids" (1860), "An Investigation of the Orbit of Neptune, with General Tables of its Motion" (1867), "An Investigation of the Orbit of Uranus, with General Tables of its Motion" (1874), "Researches on the Motion of the Moon" (1876), "Measure of the Velocity of Light" (1884), and "Development of the Perturbative Function and its Derivative in Sines and Cosines of the Eccentric Anomaly, and in Powers of the Eccentricities and Inclinations" (1884). In 1874 Columbia Univ., Washington, conferred on him the degree of LL.D., and, in 1875, he received a similar honour from Yale; also from Harvard, 1884, and from Columbia, 1887, while on the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Univ. of Leyden, 1875, that institution gave him the degree of Master of Math. and Doctor of Natural Phil., and on the 500th anniversary of the Univ. of Heidelberg, 1886, he received the degree of Ph.D. He was awarded the gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Soc., 1874, and, in 1878, received the great gold Huygens medal of the Univ. of Leyden, which is given to astronomers once in 20 yrs. for the most important work accomplished in that science between its awards. In 1887 the Russian Govt. ordered the portrait of Prof. N. to be painted for the collection of famous astronomers at the Russian observatory at Pulkowa. He was elected an Associate of the Royal Astron. Soc., 1872; corr. mem. of the Inst. of France, 1874; foreign mem. of the Royal Soc., 1877; an Associate Academician Acad. of Sciences, France, 1895; and an hon. mem. of the Acad. of Science, Russia, 1897. He also holds hon. or corr. relations to nearly all the other European acads. of science. In 1887 he was elected one of the 8 mems. of the council of the Astronomische Gesellschaft, an internl. astron. soc. that meets once in 2 yrs. He was elected to the Am. National Acad. of Sciences, 1869, and since 1883 has been V.-P. In 1876 he was elected Presdt. of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, and he delivered his retiring address at the St. Louis meeting, 1878. He has also held the presidency of the Am. Soc. for Psychical Research. His literary work includes contributions to many of the important reviews. He is also ed. of the Am. Journ. of Math. His scientific books include "Popular Astron." (N. Y., 1878), which has been republished in Eng. and translated into German; "Sch. Astron.," with Edward S. Holden (1879: "Briefer Course," 1883); also a series of text-books, comprising "Algebra" (1881), "Geometry" (1881), "Trigonometry Logarithms" (1882), "Sch. Algebra" (1882), "Analytic Geometry" (1884), "Essentials of Trigonometry" (1884), and "Calculus" (1887). Prof. N. refers to astron. as his profession, and to political economy as his recreation. In the latter branch his books include "A critical Exam. of our Financial Policy during the Rebellion" (1865), "The A B C of Finance" (1877), "A Plain Man's Talk on the Labour Question" (1886), and "Principals of Pol. Economy" (1886). —Navy Department, Washington, D.C., U.S.

NEWHALL, Mrs. Georgina Alexandrina, author, of Highland Scotch stock, is the dau. of Jas. G. Fraser. B. at Galt, Ont., Sept. 2, 1859, she was ed. at the common and High schs. there. Subsequently, she resided for a few yrs. in the Province of Quebec, and afterwards in Toronto. She occupied a position on the daily press, and while so engaged developed a talent for descriptive writing. Having devoted much time to the study of the problems affecting working girls, she conceived the idea of helping them by imparting a knowledge of stenography, which she was thoroughly competent to do. This led her to the formation of classes, which she taught, and she had the honour of being the pioneer lady teacher of shorthand in Can., besides introducing a means of livelihood of which thousands now avail themselves to their own and their employer's advantage. Mrs. N.'s name has of late been found appended to numerous articles in the leading literary periodicals. She more frequently appears with the coveted short story, a line of writing in which she has had probably more success than the average Can. writer, male or female. But she is of a versatile turn, and her sympathies being susceptible of ready impression, she has championed causes, formulated social ideas with startling freshness and vigour, and has contributed essays to the press on the social status of woman and her place in the economy of the future. This last-named problem she is busy with at present. Briefly summed up her opinions may be given as follows: "Humanitarian; an ardent marriage reformer; and advocate of the higher education of woman, with a view to a more competent motherhood, and as a defence against the necessity of marrying for a home." While holding the position of Asst. Secy. to the Genl. Mangr. of the Northern Pacific Ry., she m. Aug. 2, 1884, Eugene Pierre Newhall, Minneapolis, Minn.—Omaha, Neb.

NEWMAN, Albert Henry, educationist, is the s. of John B. Newman, now of Dublin, Ga., U.S., and was b. in Edgefield Dist., S.C., Aug. 25, 1852. Ed. at Mercer Univ., Macon, Ga. (B.A., 1871; M.A., 1873; D.D., 1885), and at Rochester Theol. Semy., N.Y. (B.D., 1875), he became Lecturer in Ch. History, Rochester Theol. Semy., 1877; and Prof. of do., 1878. Resigning 1881, he accepted the same chair in the Toronto Baptist Coll. (now McMaster Univ.), which position he still retains. Prof. N. is widely known both as an educationist and in connection with his contributions to religious and general literature. Besides many articles published in the Baptist Quart. Rev., the Mag. of Christian Lit., the McMaster Univ. Monthly, and the Am Journ. of Theology, he has translated from the German and edited Immer's "Hermeneutics of the New Test." (1871), and the Anti-Manichæan treatises of Augustine for the Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, under the general editorship of Prof. P. Schaff, D.D. (1887). He ed. a "Memoir of D. A. McGregor" (1891), but his most important works are: "A History of the Bapt. Churches in the United States" (1894); "Recent Researches concerning Mediæval Sects" (1892); and "A History of Anti-Pedobaptism from the Rise of Pedobaptism to A.D. 1609" (1897). He has prepared several articles in Eng. and Am. Baptist biography for the 3rd ed. of the "Realencyklopaedie für Protestantische Theologie," now in course of publication in Leipzig. He received the degree of LL.D. from the Southwestern Bapt. Univ., 1883. He m. July, 1873, Miss Mary Augusta Ware, Russell Co., Ala. —116 Yorkville Ave., Toronto.

NOBLE, Rev. William Thomas (Ch. of Eng.), is descended from Eng. and Scotch families who settled in Irel., in the reign of James I. of Eng., and in the time of Oliver Cromwell; and is the 2nd s. of Thos. and Mary Noble of the Co. Tyrone, Irel., where he was b. Oct. 30, 1846. Ed. at Owen's Coll., Manchester (now Victoria Univ.), and at Durham Univ. (L.Th., and B.A.), he was ordained to the ministry by the late Dr. Bickersteth, Bp. of Ripon, 1877. After serving as curate at St. John's, Clayton, Yorkshire, at the Parish Ch., St. Helen's, Lancashire, and at Chapeltown, and All Saints, Sheffield, Yorkshire, he accepted the position of Deputation Secy. for the Hibernian Bible Soc., and travelled extensively in Irel. Apptd. Rector of the parish of Ballyclog, Armagh, Irel., 1888, he declined the charge in order to come out to Can., with Dr. Sullivan, Bp. of Algoma. After holding for 3 yrs. the incumbency of Gravenhurst, Ont., he was offered, in 1891, and accepted the rectorship of Trinity Ch., Quebec, where he has since laboured very successfully. Mr. N. takes a deep interest in the living issues of the day, whether religious, social or political. He is a genuine type of an honest and intelligent churchman, and maintains his position on the platform and in the press with ability. He has published occasional sermons and written many articles for the press, chiefly religious. As a politician he is a progressive Con., with a strong democratic tendency, and advocates "Equal rights for all and special privileges for none." A warm supporter of the Evangel. cause in the Ch. of Eng., he is known also as an advocate of closer union with other Prot. chs. He takes an active interest in the Y.M.C.A., and in the Christian Endeavour movement, has established a branch of the latter in connecnection with his own cong., and is at present a Provl. NUTTING, Miss Addie M., lady Supdt. Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, is the dau. of Vespasin Nutting, formerly Clk. of the Circuit Ct., Waterloo, P.Q., where she was b. She graduated with the 1st class in her profession at the Training Sch. for Nurses, Johns Hopkins Hospital, 1891, and joining the staff there, was, in 1895, apptd. to succeed Miss Hampton (now Mrs. Robb) as Lady Supdt. of the Hospital. In the same year she was chosen Presdt. of the National Assn. of Hospital Supdts., and has been elected also V.-P. of the Assn. of Supdts. of Training Schs. for Nurses, and Presdt. of the Nurses' Alumnus Assn. of the U. S. and Can.—Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

OAKES, Ingram Burpee, educationist, is the s. of Jesse Oakes, by his wife, Eliza Whitman, and was b. at Albany, Annapolis, N.S., Nov. 1848. Ed. at the common sch., Albany, at Horton Acad., and at Acadia Univ. (B.A., with honours, 1871; M.A., 1883), he became Headmaster of the Hantsport High Sch. for one year. He then took a 6 months' tour in Eng. and on the continent, during which he visited and studied the methods of many schs. and colls. Subsequently, he visited many parts of New Eng., making it one of his chief aims to see and note the educational systems there. In 1873 he was apptd. Principal of the Kent Co. (N. B.) Grammar Sch., which position he held for 4 yrs., when he resigned to accept, by unanimous request, the charge of the Northumberland Co. Grammar Sch. Two yrs. were spent there, when, in response to another call, he became Inspr. of Schs. for the cos. of Charlotte and Sunbury. In 1884 he was apptd. Inspr. of High Schs. and schs. in incorporated towns—an office he resigned, 1888, to accept the principalship of Horton Acad. This position he still holds. Principal O. is a mem. of the Senate of Acadia Univ., a provl. examr. under the Common Schs. Act of N. S., and a mem. of the Bd. of Sch. Comnrs. for the town of Wolfville. O'BRIEN, Arthur Henry, Dom. public service, is the son of Hy. O'Brien, barrister (q.v.), and was b. in Toronto, Aug. 2, 1865. Ed. at the Galt and Toronto Coll. Insts., at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1888), and at Trinity Univ., same city (M.A., 1888), he was called to the bar, 1890. He is one of the eds. of the Can. Law Journal, has compiled digests of the game laws of Ont., and is the author of "O'Brien's New Conveyancer." He commanded a co. in the 35th Batt. "Simcoe Foresters," from 1888 to 1897, when he retired with the rank of major. He was for some yrs. Secy. of the York Law Assn. and was apptd. Asst. Law Clk. to the Ho. of Commons, Apl., 1896. Unm.—55 Russell Ave., Ottawa.

O'BRIEN, His Grace Cornelius, Archbishop of Halifax (R.C.), is the s. of a Wexford Co. father and a mother whose birthplace was in the Co. Cork, Irel. B. near New Glasgow, P.E.I., May 4, 1843, he commenced his sch. education under Robt. Laird, an eld. bro. of Hon. David Laird. He afterwards attended sch. at Pubnico, principally to learn French, and commenced the battle of life as a clk. in a mercantile establishment at Summerside. When 19 yrs. of age, he realized what had long been his strongest desire, by entering St. Dunstan's Coll., Charlottetown, to study for the priesthood. After 2 yrs. he became a student at the Coll. of the Propaganda at Rome. There he carried off the gold medal for excellence, and graduated doctor of divinity and of phil. In 1871 he was ordained to the priesthood, and returning to P. E. I., was for 2 yrs. a prof. and prefect of studies in St. Dunstan's Coll. In Oct., 1873, he was apptd. principal priest at the cath., but his health giving way, he was sent as parish priest to Indian River, where he remained for 8 yrs. In 1880 he accompanied the late Bp. McIntyre to Rome as Secy., and, in the following year, paid a 2nd visit to the Eternal City with Archbp. Hannan, at his special request. On the demise of the latter prelate, Dr. O'B. was apptd. to succeed him as 4th Archbp. of Halifax. The bull nominating him was dated Dec. 2, 1882, and his consecration took place at St. Mary's Cath., Halifax, Jan. 21, 1883. Since his appt., His Grace has shown unwonted activity in the work of the diocese, a large number of chs., schs. and glebe-houses having arisen through his instrumentality. During his first year of office he commenced the erection of St. Patrick's Ch., Halifax, which he has since completed at a cost of $75,000. Subsequently, he revived the St. Patrick's Home, a reformatory for Cath. boys; founded the Victoria Infirmary and the Infants' Home; purchased an archiepiscopal residence; established several colonies of nuns; and carried out certain costly and much needed repairs in St. Mary's Cath. The same signs of activity and improvement are observable everywhere throughout his extensive diocese. In 1897 it was announced that the Archbp. was taking steps for the establishment of a Cath. univ. at Halifax under the management of the Jesuits or the Benedictines. His Grace's literary efforts have kept pace with his other work. To many fugitive poems, essays and articles contributed from time to time to the periodical press, he has added works of lasting interest and merit. Of these the principal are: "Philosophy of the Bible Vindicated" (1876); "Mater Admirabilis" (1882); "After Weary Years," a novel; "Saint Agnes, Virgin and Martyr" (1887); "Aminta, a modern life drama" (1890); and "Memoirs of Bishop Burke" (1894). Archbp. O'B. was, during its existence, an office-bearer in the Imp. Federation League, and is now a V.-P. for N. S. of the Brit. Empire League in Can. He preached the sermon at the state funeral of Sir John Thompson, Jan., 1895, and, in 1896, was elected Presdt. of the Royal Soc. of Can.—Archbishop's Palace, Halifax, N.S.

O'BRIEN, Henry, barrister, is the 3rd s. of the late Lt.-Col. E. G. O'Brien, a retired naval and mil. offr., who was in charge of the first settlement at Barrie and Shanty Bay, Lake Simcoe, by his wife, Mary Sophia, dau. of the Rev. Edward Gapper. B. at "The Woods," Shanty Bay, 1836, he was ed. at the Ch. Grammar Sch., Toronto, and was called to the bar, 1861. He has practised in Toronto for many yrs. in partnership with Christopher Robinson, Q.C. He was one of the eds. of the Can. Law Journal after the removal of that paper from Barrie to Toronto, 1863, and became subsequently its ed.-in-chief, a position he still retains. He is ed. of the well-known work, "O'Brien's Div. Courts Manual," and was the compiler of "Harrison and O'Brien's Digest of Ont. Reports." He was also for some time ed. of "Ont. Practice Reports." At the time of the movement for municipal reform in Toronto, 1885-86, he took an active part in the efforts which resulted in the election to the mayoralty of the late Wm. H. Howland, he being chairman of his comte. During Mr. Howland's lifetime he was associated with him in most of his philanthropic and humane undertakings, and since his death he has continued to labour in the same direction, devoting his spare time to mission work among the poor of the city. He is a V.-P. of the Ont. branch of the Lord's Day Alliance. He joined the V. M. movement in Barrie, 1855, and, on his removal to Toronto, raised and commanded an ind. rifle co., which was afterwards incorporated in the "Queen's Own." Enthusiastically devoted to aquatics, he founded the Argonaut Rowing Club, Toronto, 1872, which became, and is still, the representative club of its class in the Dom. Of this club he was Presdt. for 16 yrs. He was also the 1st Presdt. of the Can. Assn. of Amateur Oarsmen. A Con. in politics, he became an "Equal Righter" with D'Alton McCarthy and Col. O'Brien, 1888, and has remained so up to the present time. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and m. 1859, Elizabeth, dau. of the Rev. S. B. O'BRIEN, Hon. James, Senator, was b. at Aughnagar, Co. Tyrone, Irel., Aug. 3, 1836. Ed. there, he came to Montreal, 1850, where he has since resided. He began his active business career, 1858, by entering the wholesale clothing and dry goods trade. This business was continued with another jointly till 1862, when Mr. O'B. assumed full control, and thereafter conducted it on his own account. In his hands the business became widely developed, and was ultimately extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He retired from active business pursuits with a handsome fortune, 1893, but remains interested in several industrial and financial institutions, including the Royal Victoria Life Ins. Co. and the Montreal City and Dist. Savings Bank, of both of which he is a dir. He is the sixth largest individual shareholder in the Bank of Montreal. A R. C. in religion, he gives liberally to all deserving works, and is a life-gov. of the Montreal Genl. Hospital, of the Western Hospital, and of the Hospital of Notre Dame. He is also V.-P. of the Bd. of Govs. of Laval Univ., a trustee of St. Patrick's Orphan Asylum, a mem. of the Forest and Stream Club, a mem. of the Bd. of Trade, and V.-P. of the Belair Jockey Club. He was one of the founders of the Dom. Com. Travellers' Assn. Politically, a Con., he was called to the Senate of Can. as the successor of the late Hon. Ed. Murphy, by Lord Aberdeen, Dec., 1895. He has been twice m., 1st, to Miss Mary Quinn (she d.); and 2ndly, to Mrs. Anne Norton.—"Viewmount," 846 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; St. James's Club.

O'BRIEN, Rev. John Howard (Presb.), was born at Noel, N.S., Sept. 19, 1836. Ed. at the Coll. of New Jersey, he became a teacher and then a tutor in that institution. He was apptd. Principal of Princeton Acad., 1870, and a Prof. in the Westchester Normal Sch., 1872. Ordained to the ministry, 1873, he was up to 1877 pastor of the Presb. cong. at Glassboro' and Bunker Hill, N.J. After serving at Wenona, he accepted a call to Swedesboro' and Billingsport, 1885.

O'BRIEN, Lucius Richard, R.C.A., is the 2nd s. of the late Lt.-Col. E. G. O'Brien, and a bro. of Hy. O'Brien (q.v.). B. at "The Woods," Shanty Bay, Ont., Aug. 15, 1832, he was ed. at U. C. Coll., and entered an architect's office, 1847. He subsequently studied and practised as a C. E., and in both of these callings established his proficiency as a draughtsman. Many yrs. passed, mostly in open air, sketch book in hand, aided and impelled by an intense love of nature, training him for a landscape painter. In 1872, when the Ont. Soc. of Artists was formed, he was asked to join it, and, in the following year, was elected V.-P., an office which he held until 1880, when he was apptd. Presdt. of the Royal Can. Acad. of Art, founded in that year by Lord Lorne and the Princess Louise. He remained Presdt. for 10 yrs., being succeeded by Mr. Jacobi, 1890. During this period he took an active part in the organization of artistic life and art education in Can., retiring only when both were established on as firm and satisfactory a basis as the circumstances of the country would permit. He was elected Presdt. of the newly formed Provl. Guild of Sculpture, Toronto, Nov., 1895. Mr. O'B. is eminently a Can. painter, although he has painted and studied both in Eng. and France, and has exhibited frequently in the London exhns. He painted two pictures of Quebec by command of Her Majesty the Queen. He has likewise executed several commissions for the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. Of his water-colour drawings perhaps the most interesting are a series illustrating some of the more prominent peculiarities of the scenery in the Rocky Mts. and the Selkirk Range. His diploma picture—"Sunrise on the Saguenay"—is in the Art Gallery, Ottawa. Mr. O'B. is a mem. of the Cath. Apost. Ch. In 1897 he disposed by auction of his whole collection of water-colour drawings, sketches and pictures, the product of his pencil and brush for 20 yrs. and upwards. He m. 1st, 1860, Margaret, eld. dau. of the late Capt. Andrew St. John, Orillia, Ont. O'BRIEN, Lt.-Col. William Edward, V.M., legislator, is the eld. bro. of the last preceding. B. at Thornhill, Ont., Mch. 10, 1831, he was ed. at U. C. Coll., and while a young man engaged in journalism in Toronto. He was called to the bar, 1874, but has never followed the practice of his profession, his whole time being devoted to his farm and to his public duties. He holds a 1st class V. B. cert. in the militia; is a V.-P. of the Can. Mil. Inst., and has written on mil. subjects for that body, and for the Can. Mag. He entered the V. M. service in early life, and was largely instrumental in raising the 35th Batt., "Simcoe Foresters," to the command of which he was apptd., June 2, 1882. During the N.-W. rebellion, 1885, he took command of the York and Simcoe Regt., and was stationed with it at Fort Qu'Appelle and Humboldt (medal). In 1897 he was present at the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebration in London, on invitation of the Can. militia authorities. A Con. in politics, though opposed to the further continuance of the protective system, he sat in that interest for Muskoka, in the Ho. of Commons, from the g. e. 1882 to the close of the 7th Parlt., 1896, when, on a fresh appeal to the people, he was defeated. He was one of the "Noble 13" who voted for the disallowance of the Jesuit grant, made by Mr. Mercier, 1888, and he likewise strenuously opposed, and with success, the Man. Remedial Sch. Bill, 1896. Col. O'B. was prominently identified with the Imp. Federation League during its existence, and moved a resolution in that body in favour of preferential trade with Gt. Brit. O'CONNOR, The Rt. Rev. Richard Alphonsus, Bishop of Peterboro' (R.C.), is the s. of Thos. O'Connor, by his wife, Johanna Dillon, and was b. at Listowel, Co. Kerry, Irel., Apl. 15, 1838. When he was only 3 yrs. old his parents emigrated to Can., and settled in Toronto. In 1852 he entered St. Michael's Coll. in that city, as one of its first students, and took a full course in Lit., Math., Classics, and Phil., with marked distinction. He was afterwards sent to the Grand Semy., Montreal, for the study of Theol. When ordained by the late Archbp. Lynch, 1861, he was sent to the Gore of Toronto to begin his ministry. He was afterwards apptd. to Niagara Falls, and then to the old and populous parish of Adjala, which has been since divided into 2 parishes. In 1870 Bp. Lynch apptd. him Dean of Barrie. There he built a beautiful ch., and a large and commodious convent. The mission of Barrie was then more extensive than it now is, including as it did the flourishing parishes of Collingwood and Stayner. He laboured there with much acceptance to all classes, being for some yrs. a trustee of the Coll. Inst., and a mem. of the Bd. of Sch. Examrs. for the co., as well as Supdt. of the Barrie Separate Sch. During his time Collingwood and Stayner were formed into separate parishes. After 25 years' faithful service in the priesthood, he was apptd. to the See of Peterboro', rendered vacant by the translation of Bp. Dowling to Hamilton. In May, 1889, His Lordship was consecrated by the Most Rev. Archbp. Cleary in St. Peter's Cath., Peterboro'. The diocese, which extends over a very large territory, had been but lately established, and many diocesan works were still in an incipient stage—including the St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro', the corner-stone of which was laid less than a year previously by Bp. Dowling. Dr. O'C. entered upon his episcopal duties with zeal and energy, soon bringing all these undertakings to completion. Many new chs. were erected and many new parishes constituted, while schs. and religious houses and other institutions were also provided, and visits made to all the Indian missions. He has taken an active interest in promoting immigration to the newly opened portions of Nipissing and Algoma. His Lordship is neutral in politics, is an ardent admirer of those who work for the advancement of Can., independent of party interests, and is an opponent of political tricksters and those who strive to place one class against another. He believes in building up in Can. a strong National party for the promotion of a powerful and prosperous Dom. The elements for such a destiny exist if statesmen and not partisans are called to guide the ship of State. He received his degree of D.D. from Rome.—Bishop's Palace, Peterboro', Ont.

OGILVIE, Hon. Alexander Walker, Senator, is a grands. of the late Archibald Ogilvie, a native of Stirlingshire, Scot., and tenant of the farms of Aranieve and Byreburn, parish of Gargunnock, who came to Can., 1800, and purchased a large tract of land on the Chateauguay River, and afterwards moved to Point St. Charles, near Montreal, where he d. Aug. 10, 1820, and the s. of Alex. Ogilvie, who came to Can. with his father, 1800, and subsequently purchased a farm at St. Michel, near Montreal. He served in the Can. Flying Arty., 1812, and was lieut. in the Royal Lachine Cavalry, 1837. B. at St. Michel, May 7, 1829, he was ed. in Montreal, and, in 1852, went into partnership with his uncle, the late Jas. Goudie, Montreal, in the flour milling business. On the retirement of Mr. Goudie, 1854, he founded the house of A. W. Ogilvie & Co., grain merchants and props. of the Glenora flour mills, Lachine Canal. He retired from the firm, 1874, having previously taken in as partners his two younger bros., John and William Watson (q.v.), the latter of whom is now the sole owner of the business. Mr. O. entered public life as an ald. of Montreal, and was returned at Confederation, 1867, to the Quebec Assembly for Montreal West. Declining re-nomination, he retired from that body, 1871, but was again elected, 1875, and sat therein till 1878, when he finally withdrew from the Legislature. He was called to the Senate, by the Marquis of Lorne, Dec. 24, 1881, and remains a mem. thereof. OGILVIE, William, surveyor and explorer, is of Scotch-Irish descent, and was b. in Ottawa, Apl. 7, 1844. Ed. in his native city, he was admitted to practice as an Ont. and Dom. Land Surveyor, 1869. Since 1875 he has been in charge of several important surveys for the Dom. Govt., with the view of specially determining the boundary between Can. and Alaska, between Ont. and

Quebec, and between the North-West and B. C. He is now engaged on the Internl. Boundary survey between Can. and Alaska, defining the 141st meridian in the vicinity of the Yukon River. He has also been surveying any mining claims that have been taken up in the Klondyke country. In 1891 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Geograph. Soc., and awarded the Murchison grant by that Soc. "in recognition of his 2 years' continuous explorations in the Mackenzie and Yukon regions of B. N. A., during which time he made surveys covering a distance of 2700 miles, and gleaned much valuable information regarding the physical geography and products of the country." During this survey he made an exam. of the country on the way from Lake Athabaska, which had never before been trodden by white men, and for no fewer than 15 mths. he and his party were entirely beyond the reach of civilization, without a word from home and without any of the comforts associated with human existence. The results of Mr. O.'s explorations are embodied in numerous official reports. He has also given some vivid descriptions of his journeyings in a series of articles contributed to the Can. Mag., entitled "In North-Western Wilds" and "Down the Yukon," and in several public lectures. Mr. O. was for 2 yrs. Presdt. of the Dom. Land Surveyors' Assn. In religion, he is a Presb.; politically, he is neutral in local politics. Thoroughly British in spirit and aspiration, he welcomes every movement having for its object the closer union of all portions of the Empire, and after that, of all mems. of the Anglo-Saxon race. OGILVIE, William Watson, miller, younger bro. of the Hon. A. W. Ogilvie (q.v.), was b. at Cote St. Michel, Montreal, Feb. 14, 1835. Ed. at the Montreal High Sch., he, in 1860, entered into partnership with his bros., Alex. and John, as grain merchants and props. of the Glenora flour mills, on the Lachine Canal. Subsequently, they built mills at Goderich, Seaforth and Winnipeg, and more recently a second mill in Montreal, known as the Royal Mills. After the retirement of his elder bro., 1874, and the death of his bro. John, 1888, the entire business fell into the hands of the subject of this notice. The present combined output of his mills is estimated at 8200 bbls. of flour daily, made from 35,000 bush. of wheat, which is supplied from his own elevators in Ont., Man. and the N. W. T. Mr. O. was the pioneer wheat-buyer in Man. He possesses a thorough knowledge of wheat, wheat lands and the production of flour, and he was the first to put into operation in Can. the roller milling process, as well as many other of the latest methods of invention in flour-making. He was on the directorate of the old Dom. Bd. of Trade with the Hon. John Young and the Hon. Thos. White, and others; has served both on the Council and on the Bd. of Arbitration of the Montreal Bd. of Trade, and was Presdt. of that body, 1893-94; has been a Harbour Comnr., and was for one or two terms Presdt. of the Corn Exchange. He has served also as Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc. At present he is a dir. of the Sailors' Inst. and of the Bank of Montreal, and Presdt. of the Montreal Horticul. Soc. and Provl. Fruit Growers' Assn. In 1895 he obtained the silver medal of the Jacques Cartier Ag. Soc. for the best kept farm in that co. He also farms extensively in the N. W. T. He is a J. P., and in his youth served as a lieut. and afterwards as a capt. in the Montreal Cavalry under his bro. the Senator. O'REILLY, Charles, M.D., is the eld. s. of the late Gerald O'Reilly, M.D., L.R.C.S., Irel., by his wife, Henrietta, young. dau. of Hy. Harcourt Waters, of Hailsham, Sussex, Eng. Paternally, he is descended from the old Irish princes of East Brefney, A.D. 611. B. in Hamilton, Ont., June 19, 1846, he was ed. there at private schs., and graduated M.D. at McGill Univ., 1867. Dr. O'R. practised in Hamilton up to the period of his appt. as Med. Supdt. of the Toronto Genl. Hospital, Jan., 1876. While in Hamilton, he was resident physician of the Hamilton City Hospital, physician to the Bd. of Health, public vaccinator, and Secy.-Treas. of the Med. and Surg. Soc. In 1868 he was gazetted Asst. Surg. to the 13th Batt., V. M. On leaving his native city, he was entertained at a public banquet and presented with a service of plate by the citizens. A resolution expressing regret at his departure was also adopted by the City Council. Under his supervision many additions and improvements have been carried out in connection with the work of the Toronto

Genl. Hospital. Among the additions to the buildings the most noticeable have been the Lying-in Hospital, the Andrew Mercer Eye and Ear Infirmary, the Pavilion for special abdominal operations, the west wing, and the Nurses' Home. In 1881 the Training Sch. for Nurses was established, with an attendance of half a dozen nurses. This has now grown to an attendance of over threescore. The sch. has turned out a large number of graduates, many of whom are now serving as supdts. in hospitals in Ont. and in foreign countries. Dr. O'R. has always taken an active interest in practical med. education. Through his instrumentality practical bed-side clinics and oral exams. for the final classes at the Med. Council and in the med schs. were obtained. He has held for many yrs. the office of Clinical Examr. in Med. in the Med. Faculty of Trinity Univ. Previously, he was for 8 yrs. Examr. in Clinical Surg. in Toronto Univ. In 1879 he conducted the oral exams. in Physiol. at the annual exams. of the Med. Council of Ont. In 1882 he presided as Chairman of the Comte. on Ethics at the Ont. Med. Assn. In 1885, at a few hours' notice, he enlisted the services of 15 med. students as surgical dressers for service with the volunteers during the N.-W. campaign, who were known as "The Toronto Genl. Hospital Ambulance Corps." In 1881, through his instrumentality the first ambulance in Can. was presented to the Genl. Hospital, and formed the nucleus of the Ambulance service now in use in Toronto. In 1890 the Doctor received the hon. degree of M.D. from Trin. Univ., in recognition of his services and zeal in promoting and assisting in the practical teaching of the med. students of Ont. At present over 450 students are in attendance at the Toronto Hospital. Dr. O'R., although a young man, has more than a colonial reputation as an authority on hospital work and management. His experience of 29 yrs. in hospital life and discipline has been recognized largely in Eng. and the U. S., where his advice is often sought regarding the construction and management of hospitals. In 1891 he was apptd. the hon. representative in Can. of the Royal National Pension Fund for Nurses, which exists under the presidency of H. R. H. the Princess of Wales. In religion, he is an Ang. ORONHYATEKHA, M.D., belongs to the Six Nation Indians in Can., and was b. on their reservation, near Brantford, Ont., Aug. 10, 1841. His Eng. education was begun at the Industrial Sch. there, but his desire for knowledge became so great that he entered soon afterwards the Wesleyan Acad. at Wilbraham, Mass. Notwithstanding the fact that, from straitened circumstances, he had to work after sch. hours for his support, he was usually found standing at the head of his class at exam., and during his last year at the acad. he took the maximum number of marks in various subjects of study. For a year after leaving Wilbraham he taught sch. among his own people. His coll. education was begun at Kenyon Coll., Ohio, where he studied for 3 yrs. He also spent 3 yrs. at Toronto Univ. When the Prince of Wales visited Can., 1860, Oronhyatekha, then in his 20th year, was selected by the chiefs of the Six Nations to present an address to the son of their "Great Mother." The impression he made on the young Prince and his party was so favourable that Oronhyatekha was invited to continue his studies at Oxford, which he did, under the care of Sir Hy. Acland, the Prince's physician, who was then regius Prof. of Med. at Oxford. As a physician Dr. O. had before him a career that gave every promise of distinction and emolument. He commenced practice at Frankford, Ont., and was elected first Secy. of the Hastings Co. Med. Assn. He removed to London, 1875, and built up an extensive med. practice in that city. It was while living there that he was initiated into the Ind. Order of Foresters. He rose rapidly to the position of Chief Executive of the order, and at the time of the separation, 1881, he was elected to the office of Supreme Chief Ranger, which he has held ever since. His devotion to Forestry, with the ever-increasing demands on his time made by the growth of the order, necessitated the neglect and final abandonment of the active duties of his profession. The rapid growth of the Order of Foresters suggested the desirability of having executive offices in Toronto, to which city they were removed in 1889, and since then Dr. O.'s official residence has been in that city. Dr. O. is not only a Forester. He is also a Freemason, of high degree, a Good Templar and an Orangeman. In 1873 he was one of the deputation sent to Belfast from the Grand Orange Lodge of Brit. Am. He has always taken an interest in rifle shooting, and was a mem. of the first Wimbledon team sent from Ont., 1871. At a dinner given to him in London, Sept., 1894, he described himself as being "more than a Brit. subject, for he had the honour to be an ally of Gt. Brit." Continuing, he said that it was "owing to the assistance and influence of the Six Nations of Indians that the Brit. Crown now held Can." He m. 1863, Miss Ellen Hill, a great-granddau. of Capt. OSLER, Britton Bath, Q.C., is the 2nd s. of the late Rev. F. L. Osler, M.A. (Ch. of Eng.), by his wife, Ellen Tree Pickton. B. in Tecumseth Parsonage, Co. Simcoe, Ont., June 19, 1839, he was ed. at Barrie Grammar Sch. and at the Rev. A. Hill's private sch., and took the degree of LL.B. at Toronto Univ., 1862. He studied for his profession under the late Wm. Notman, Q.C., Dundas, and afterwards with the Hon. Jas. Patton, Q.C., and being called to the bar, 1862, practised his profession in Dundas until 1876, when he moved to Hamilton. Apptd. Co. Crown Atty. for Wentworth, May, 1874, he held that office up to Dec., 1880, when he retired therefrom, and, in 1882, moved to Toronto as a mem. of the firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskin & Creelman. He was created a Q. C., by the Ont. Govt., 1876, and had the same honour conferred upon him by the Marquis of

Lorne, 1880. He was elected a Bencher of the Law Soc., 1885 (re-elected on every succeeding election), and became an hon. Lecturer on Criminal Jurisprudence in Toronto Univ., 1888. He has been also Presdt. of the York Co. Law Assn. Mr. O. has been styled by the Mail and Empire, "The most eminent criminal lawyer in practice in the Dom.," and we fancy there will be few to dispute the title. He has had great experience in both criminal and civil cts., and his eloquence and ability in cross-examining are now matters of history. He was one of the prosecuting counsel in the State trials at Regina arising out of the Riel rebellion, 1885; he was prosecuting counsel in the Birchall murder trial, 1890; he was prosecuting counsel in the proceedings against McGreevy and Connolly, in obedience to an order of the Ho. of Commons, 1891; and more recently he was prosecuting counsel in the Hyams, the Hendershott and the Sternaman murder cases. Most of his work is in the civil cts., his chief briefs there being in contracting, corporation, mech. engineering and med. cases. He is an Assoc. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., and he is one of the counsel for the Grand Trunk Ry. He was one of the counsel for the Can. Govt. in the claims brought by the Can. Pac. Ry. Co. for the insufficient construction of the road through B. C., a case which involved many millions and which took about 250 days' sitting of the Bd. to try, and in which the Govt. substantially succeeded. In religion, he is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng.; politically, he is Ind., though he ran as a Lib. for Welland at the Dom. g. e. 1882. He is reputed to have declined the Ministership of Justice in the Tupper Admn., 1896. His present political position was well defined in his speech to the electors of Haldimand, June 9, 1896. OSLER, Edmund Boyd, share broker, financial agent and legislator, is the 4th s. of the late Rev. F. L. Osler, M.A., and a bro. of the preceding. B. in the Tp. of Tecumseth, Simcoe, Ont., 1845, he was ed. at the Dundas Grammar Sch., and commenced his business career as a clk. in the Bank of Upper Can. After the failure of that institution, he formed, 1867, a partnership with Hy. Pellatt, as money brokers and financial agents. This connection lasted till 1882, when he joined his present partner, H. C. Hammond, in the same business. Not long afterwards, when the late George Laidlaw was projecting his extensive ry. schemes in Ont., Mr. O. became personally interested in them, and did much to promote their successful completion. This brought him into contact with the ry. world, with the result that he was induced to look after the various interests of Sir Geo. Stephen, now Lord Mount Stephen, in the Can. Pac. Ry. and other roads. Out of these connections grew the construction of the Ont. and Que. Ry., of which co. he was elected Presdt. Subsequently, he was elected a dir. of the Can. Pac. Ry., an office he still fills. He is also a trustee of Toronto Univ., a dir. of the Trusts Corporation of Ont., of the N.-W. Land Co., and of the B. C. Southern Ry.; V.-P. of the Dom. Bank and Presdt. of the Toronto Ferry Co. He was one of the promoters of the Ont. and Que. Land Co., 1882; one of the promoters of the Toronto Securities Co., 1883; and chief promoter of the Can. Southern Steamboat Co., 1883. Defeated for the Toronto mayoralty by R. J. Fleming, 1892, he was elected V.-P. of the Toronto Bd. of Trade, 1895, and Presdt., 1896. He sat in the 3rd Congress of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, London, 1896, and at that meeting moved and carried a resolution declaring that the advantages arising from a closer union of the Empire would justify an arrangement as nearly as possible in the nature of a Zollverein, based upon principles of the freest exchange of commodities within the Empire consistent with the tariff requirements incident to the maintenance of the local govt. of each part of the Empire. Returned to the Ho. of Commons at the g. e. 1896, as one of the mems. for West Toronto, he sits in that body as a Con. He was, however, an anti-remediallist as regards the Man. Sch. question. He was elected Treas. of the Ex. Comte. of the Lib.-Con. Union of Ont., 1896. In religion, he is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He studied Med. under the late Dr. Bovell, of Toronto, for 3 yrs., and then went to McGill Coll., Montreal, where he graduated, 1872. He continued his studies at Univ. Coll., London, Eng., and at Berlin and Vienna, paying special attention to Physiol. and Pathol. On his return to Can., 1874, he was elected to the chair on these subjects in McGill Univ. In 1883 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Coll. of Phys. of London, and, in 1884, was elected Galstonian Prof. for the year at the same institution. In Oct., 1884, he left Montreal, being apptd. to the chair of Clinical Med. in the Univ. of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. There he remained until 1889, when he was called to Baltimore to take the professorship of the Principles and Practice of Med. in Johns Hopkins Univ. and become

Physician to the Johns Hopkins Hospital. These positions he still holds. He was Cartwright lecturer in the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs., N. Y., 1887, and was elected Presdt. of the Can. Med. Assn., 1885. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from McGill Univ., 1895, his name being mentioned at the same time in connection with the principalship of that institution. Besides being the author of numerous monographs and journal articles, he has published "Cerebral Palsies of Children" (1889); "The Principles and Practice of Med." (1892); "Teacher and Student," an address (1892); "Oliver Wendell Holmes," an address (1894). In 1897 he read a paper before the Brit. Med. Assn. in Montreal on "Brit. Med. in Gt. Brit." OSWALD, Lt.-Col. William Robert, was b. at Seabank, Aberdeenshire, Scot., Jan. 10, 1848, and is the descendant of an ancient Scottish family. Ed. at Bellevue House, he came to Can., 1866, and not long afterwards established the well-known firm, still existing, of Oswald Bros., stock brokers and ins. agents, Montreal, becoming a mem. of the Montreal Stock Exchange, 1869. Mr. O. joined the Montreal Garr. Arty. as lieut., 1868, and saw service with that corps, at Trout River, during the Fenian invasion, 1870. Later, he was gazetted to the Field Batty., but returned to the Garr. Arty., June 24, 1881, as lt.-col. He commanded the regt. while on active service during the N.-W. rebellion, 1885 (medal), and on retiring from the service, 1888, was presented with a handsome oil painting of himself as a mark of the regard and affection entertained towards him by the officers and men. To Lt.-Col. O. belongs the credit of organizing the first arty. team sent from Can. to compete at Shoeburyness. This team, which proceeded to Eng., 1881, and won the Marquis of Lorne's prize in the contest between Eng. and Can., he commanded. Lt.-Col. O. was the first life-mem. of the Dom. Arty. OTTER, Lt.-Col. William Dillon, Can. permanent mil. service, is the eld. s. of the late Alfred Wm. Otter, who came to Can., 1841, by Anne, his wife, dau. of the Rev. Jas. De la Hooke, formerly Rector of Gravenhurst, Bedford, Eng. The family is descended from Wm. Otter, of Welham, Co. Nottingham, who d. about 1572, of which family Dr. Wm. Otter, afterwards Bp. of Chichester, was a mem. B. near Clinton, Ont., Dec. 3, 1843, he was ed. at Goderich Grammar Sch., at the Model Sch., Toronto, and at U. C. Coll. His mil. service dates from 1861, in which year he joined the militia force, Toronto. Promoted to a lieutenancy in the Queen's Own Rifles, 1864, he served in that rank on the Niagara frontier during the winter of 1864-65, in the 2nd Adminis. Batt. In Aug., 1865, he was apptd. Adjt. of the Queen's Own, and was present throughout the Fenian raid, 1866, including the action at Limeridge, or Ridgeway. He became Major, June, 1869, and received his bt. lt.-colonelcy, June, 1874. In 1873 he went to Eng. as second in command of the Wimbledon team, and, in 1874, he succeeded to the command of the Queen's Own. Lt.-Col. O. commanded his regt. during the

"Pilgrimage riots," Toronto, 1875, and also during the Grand Trunk Ry. riots, Belleville, 1877. In 1883 he was chosen commandant of the Wimbledon team, and was subsequently sent to Aldershot to acquire information in connection with the conduct of mil. schs. He received the appt. of Commandant of the Sch. of Infy., Toronto, Dec., 1883, and organized "C" Co. of the Royal Regt. of Can. Infy., with the Sch. of Instruction attached thereto. During the rebellion in the N.W.T., 1885, he commanded the centre or Battleford column, making therewith a forced march across the prairie from Saskatchewan Landing to Battleford, a distance of 190 miles, in 5 days and a half. Subsequently, he was in command of the successful reconnaissance against the Indian Chief "Poundmaker," and in the action at Cut Knife Creek, which prevented the chief's junction with "Big Bear" and their projected assistance to Riel (medal, mentioned in despatches and recommended for the C. M. G.). Towards the close of the rebellion, he commanded the Turtle Lake column sent in pursuit of "Big Bear." In Apl., 1886, he was presented with a purse of $700 by the citizens of Toronto, accompanied by an address expressive of the public appreciation of his mil. services. In the same year he was apptd. Dist. Offr. Commanding Dist. No. 2, having the charge also of the Royal Sch. of Infy., Toronto. This office he still retains, and since May, 1896, he has been also Inspr. of Infy. In 1895 he, with certain other officers, was attached for 7 mths. to the regular army in Eng., and underwent a course of instruction in the 3 arms of the service. Lt.-Col. O. on this occasion passed exams. as a Lt.-Col. in the Brit. army. He took part in the autumn manœuvres at the New Forest, and attended likewise the autumn manœuvres of the German army in the vicinity of Cologne and Strasburg. In his younger days he filled the office of Presdt. of the National Lacrosse Assn. of Can., and he has generally taken the greatest interest in all athletic sports. He is now V.-P. of the Country and Hunt Club. He is the author of "The Guide," a manual of mil. interior economy (1881), and took a leading part, in 1890, in founding the Can. Mil. Inst., Toronto. In religion, he is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He is also a Freemason. He m. Oct., 1865, Mary, 2nd dau. of the late Rev. Jas. Porter, Toronto.—Stanley Barracks, Toronto.

OUIMET, Hon. Joseph Alderic, judge and jurist, is the s. of Michel Ouimet, and was b. at Ste. Rose, P.Q., May 20, 1848. Ed. at the Semy. of Ste. Thérèse de Blainville, P.Q., he graduated LL.B. at Victoria Coll., Cobourg, 1869, and was called to the bar the following year. While a student he served on the reporting staff of La Minerve. He practised throughout at the bar of Montreal, and became one of the Crown Prosecutors for that dist. In 1880 he was apptd. a Q. C. by the Marquis of Lorne. His political career commenced 1873, when he was returned to Parlt. for his native co., Laval, which he continued to represent in the Ho. of Commons up to the close of the 7th Parlt., 1896. He was Speaker during the 6th Parlt., 1887-91, and entered the Abbott Cabinet, Jan., 1892, being entrusted with the portfolio of Public Works, which he kept until the formation of the Tupper Admn., May, 1896, being then apptd. a Puisne Judge of the Ct. of Queen's Bench, P. Q. His name is familiar in mil. circles, and his long connection with the 65th Batt., which he commanded as Lt.-Col. during a portion of the N.-W. campaign, 1885 (medal), will associate him with the history of the Can. militia. He was at one time Chairman of the Council of the Dom. Rifle Assn., and he commanded the

Can. Wimbledon team, 1887. He was also for some yrs. one of the Cath. Sch. Comnrs. for Montreal, and is a dir. of the Montreal City and Dist. Savings Bank, a dir. of the Manufacturers' Life Ins. Rose, P.Q., June 3, 1823, he was ed. at the Colls. of St. Hyacinthe and Montreal, and was called to the bar, 1844. Practising almost continuously at the Montreal bar, he rose to eminence in his profession, was created a Q.C., by Viscount Monck, 1867, and filled subsequently the office of Bâtonnier. Entering political life he sat, in the Con. interest, for Beauharnois, in the Can. Assembly, 1857-61; and for Two Mountains, in the Quebec Assembly, after Confederation, 1867-76. He was Atty.-Genl. in Mr. Chauveau's Provl. Admn., 1867-73, and succeeded him as Premier in the latter year, taking the offices of Mr. of Public Instruction and Provl. Secy. After the Legislature had re-established the office of Supdt. of Education, 1875, he was apptd. thereto, and continued to discharge the duties connected therewith up to Apl., 1895, when he retired on a pension, and was apptd. to a seat in the Leg. Council. Among the other expressions of regret which his resignation evoked, was one from the Prot. Comte. of Public Instrn. In the resolution adopted by this body on the occasion, they bore testimony to Dr. O.'s devotion to duty, to his courtesy of manner, and to the perfect impartiality with which he had assisted the Comte. in their endeavours to solve the complex problems arising from a mixed population differing widely in origin and religious views. As a public man his Province is indebted to him, among other Acts, for a Municipal Code, and for a work on Dist. Magistrates. He was for some yrs. Presdt. of the St. Jean Bapt. B. in Halifax, Oct. 22, 1855, he was ed. at the Halifax Grammar Sch. (Dux), at Dalhousie Univ. (B.A., with honours in Phil., 1874), and at Harvard Univ. After graduating LL.B. at the Univ. of Halifax, he was called to the bar, 1878, and practised in his native city for 5 yrs. During that period he edited 3 vols. of "N. S. Decisions" and 1 vol. of "Young's Admiralty Decisions." He also contributed to the Am. Law Rev. Mr. O. went to Ottawa, Mch., 1883, as legal adviser to the Dept. of Marine and Fisheries. He resigned this office, Oct., 1891, to enter the service of the Sun Life Assur. Co. Since 1892 he has been the mangr. of this co. at the head office, Montreal. Mr. O. had always an inclination towards literature, but it was not until his removal to Ottawa that he gave himself seriously to a literary career. Commencing as a contributor to the Continent he has since written for over 50 periodicals, including Scribner, the Popular Science Monthly, the Forum, the North Am. Rev., the Mag. of Am. History, the Cosmopolitan, Lippincott, the American, Harper's Young People, the Youth's Companion, Macmillan, etc. His articles deal with a variety of subjects and cover a wide field, in connection chiefly with Can. history and adventure. In 1885 he began to write for the younger generation, entering a field which he has made peculiarly his own. His first book, "Bert Lloyd's Boyhood," appeared in Philadelphia, 1887. Since then he has produced in rapid succession a large number of other books, all of which have been well received on both sides of the Atlantic, and have added greatly to his reputation. He has been spoken of by a well-known critic as "probably the most prolific and versatile writer in Can.," and as "a man of wide reading, thorough information and discrimination." Among his best known works are: "Up Among the Ice Floes" (1890); "The Chore Boy of Camp Kippewa" (1891); "The Wreckers of Sable Island" (do.); "Donald Grant's Development" (1892); "Fergus McTavish" (do.); "Diamond Rock" (1893); "Archie McKenzie, the Young Nor'-Wester" (1894); "My Strange Rescue" (do.); "In the Wilds of the West Coast" (do.); "The Boy Tramps" (1896); "The Romance of Commerce" (do.); "On the World's Roof" (do.); "Baffling the Blockade" (do.); and "In the Swing of the Sea" (1897). In 1885 he won a money prize offered by Literary Life of Chicago, for the best condensation of a famous novel, with a synopsis of "The Scarlet Letter." Five yrs. later he won another prize of $100, in a competition offered by S. S. McClure for the best article for boys and girls, and, in 1896, he won the prize offered by the Montreal Star for the best article, of about 1500 words in length, dealing with the bicycle, its origin, its uses and its future. In religious faith, Mr. O. is a Meth. He was for some yrs. a Sunday Sch. teacher, and is now a V.-P. of the Epworth League, Montreal. He m. June, 1880, Mary, dau. of Jas. B. Morrow, of the firm of S. "His latest work will maintain, if not enhance the reputation he has already gained. PANTON, James Hoyes, educationist, is the s. of the late Jas. H. Panton, formerly of Cupar of Fife, Scot., and latterly of Toronto. B. in Cupar of Fife, May 7, 1847, he came to Can. with his parents, and was ed. in the local schs. When 17 yrs. of age, he commenced teaching sch. north of Whitby, Ont., and was subsequently employed as Asst. Master in the Oshawa High Sch. From this he proceeded to Toronto Univ. (B.A., and silver med. in Nat. Science, and McMurrich med. for best essay upon original work, 1877; M A., 1878). On leaving the univ. he was appt'd. almost immediately to the staff of the Ont. Agricul. Coll., Guelph, and he has retained his connection with that institution almost continuously up to the present time, the exception being during the yrs. 1883 and '84, which were spent in Winnipeg, whither he had gone to accept a more lucrative position. Since 1885 he has been Prof. of Nat. History and Geol. in the Coll., and has done much to make his dept. particularly popular and attractive. Prof. P. has been described as being pre-eminently a teacher, in that he possesses, among other gifts, the art of rendering the technicalities of science simple, clear and attractive, and imparts to his pupils much of his own enthusiasm for the study of nature. He is well known as a public lecturer, and has made frequent tours through the provinces as a del. to Farmers' Insts., imparting instruction to those bodies on the principles of agricul. science. He has personally visited and explored the most noted portions of Am., and, in 1890, made a scientific tour through Yellowstone Park; but undoubtedly, Man. and the N. W. T. of Can. are most indebted to him for bringing before the world their scientific aspect and great natural resources. Besides "Insect Foes and How to Destroy them" (1895), he has written other useful pamphlets, and has contributed to the "Trans. of the Brit. Assn.," and to the scientific press generally. He is a mem. of the Brit. Assn., a Fellow of the Geol. Soc., and a Fellow also of the Philosophical Soc. of Gt. Brit. As a Bible-class teacher his services and merits are known and recognized in the Presb. Ch., in which body he is an elder. He m. 1st, 1880, Mary J., dau. of the late Donald Cattanach, Glengarry, Ont. PAPINEAU, Louis Joseph Amédée, Seigneur, is the eld. and only surviving s. of the Hon. Louis Joseph Papineau, a Can. statesman who became leader of the insurrection in L. C., 1837. B. in Montreal, July 26, 1819, he was ed. at 2 private schs., at the Coll. of Montreal, and at the Coll. of St. Hyacinthe, and early turned his attention to lit. and journalism. He wrote the legend of "Chatean Bigot" for L'Echo de Pays, and besides organizing several literary societies, contributed to La Minerve and the Vindicator on political subjects. Articled as a law student, 1835, the insurrectionary movement led by his father, and in which the son fully participated, interfered with the prosecution of his studies. During the progress of the revolt he founded the body of patriots known as "Les Fils de la Liberté." After the overthrow of the rebels, he joined his father in the U. S., and for 3 yrs. read law under Chancellor Walworth, at Saratoga. Although an alien, he was admitted to the bar, by special Act of the Legislature of N. Y., and for 2 yrs. followed the practice of his profession in N. Y. City. After visiting his father at Paris, he returned to Can., 1843, and, in the following year, was apptd. joint Prothy., with Messrs. Monk and Coffin, of the Ct. of Queen's Bench, L. C. This office he retained for 32 yrs., then resigning it to indulge in foreign travel. Returning to Can., 1881, he has since resided on the seigniory on the Ottawa River, which he inherited from his father, 1871. In a letter, addressed to Archbp. Duhamel, Sept., 1893, Mr. P. renounced his allegiance to the R. C. Ch., in which he had been baptized, and announced his intention of joining the Presb. Ch., which was, he stated, the religion of his late wife (Dame Mary Eleanor Westcott) and was the religion also of his children. —The Manor House, Montebello, P.Q.

PAQUET, Mgr. Benjamin (R.C.), is the s. of the late Etienne Paquet, by his wife, Ursule Lambert. B. at St. Nicholas, P.Q., Mch. 27, 1832, he was ed. at the Quebec Semy. and at Laval Univ. (B.A., 1854), and ordained to the priesthood, 1857. After serving as a priest at the Basilica, Quebec, he became a prof. in the Quebec Semy. In 1863 he went to Rome to complete his theol. studies, and received the degree of D.D. from the Roman Coll. On returning to Quebec, 1866, he was apptd. to the chair of Moral Theol. in Laval Univ., and subsequently became Superior of the Semy. and Rector of the Univ. PARKER, Horatio Gilbert, novelist, is the s. of Joseph Parker, formerly a non-commd. offr. in the R. Arty., and afterwards a capt. in the Can. militia. B. at Camden East, Addington, Ont., 1859, he obtained a teacher's cert. at the Normal Sch., Ottawa, and was employed in schs. at Frankford and Seaforth. In 1882 he was ordained deacon by Archbp. Lewis (Ch. of Eng.) after exam. in certain specified subjects, and, in the following year, matriculated into Trinity Univ., Toronto. He remained there for 2 yrs., attending lectures in divinity and giving lectures himself in elocution. For a short period he was curate to the late Rev. Canon Bleasdell, at Trenton, and before or subsequent thereto held a position as Prof. in the Deaf and Dumb Inst., Belleville. About this time he commenced to write for the press, his contributions consisting of Easter hymns and many fine ballads and poems, some of which have been published under the title of "A Lover's Diary." In his review of this book, Richard H. Stoddard says that one must look to the Elizabethan lyrists to find poems so full of luscious life as those by Parker. Ill-health compelled him, in 1886, to go to Australia, where, in addition to being associate ed. of the Sydney Evening Herald, he turned playwright. One of his pieces was an adaptation of Goethe's "Faust," which enjoyed an unprecedented run at a local theatre. Another piece was a drama called "The Vendetta." There he also wrote a book called "Around the Compass in Australia." Removing to Eng., he entered on a regular literary career in that country, at first writing short stories and afterwards undertaking more ambitious works, a dramatic piece from his pen—"The Wedding Day"—being produced in a London theatre. He found acceptance with the public, and has since then issued books in rapid succession. By his work, "Pierre and His People" (1892), he earned the title of "The literary discoverer of the Can. North-West." He subsequently continued these sketches in the sequel entitled "An Adventurer of the North," with the last story of which ends the career of Pierre. Among the best-known of his other works are: "The Translation of a Savage"; "The Chief Factor"; "Mrs. Falchion"; "A Trespasser"; "The Trail of the Sword"; "When Valmond Came to Pontiac"; "The Seats of the Mighty" (which was dramatized); and "The Pomp of the Lavillettes." He also writes occasionally for the reviews and mags. Mr. P. has now taken up his permanent abode in London, but he frequently visits Can. In Apl., 1896, he was entertained at a public banquet given at the National Club, Toronto. He m. Dec., 1895, Amy, dau. of the late A. A. Van Tine, New York.—7 Park Place, St. James's, London, Eng.

PARKIN, George Robert, author and educationist, is the youngest of the 13 children of John and Elizabeth Parkin, the former of Yorkshire and the latter of Nova Scotian birth, and was b. at Salisbury, Co. Westmoreland, N.B., Feb. 8, 1846. He studied until 16 at the local schs., then attending the Normal Sch., St. John, where he obtained his first cert. as a school-master. After serving as a teacher under the common sch. system of N. B., he entered the Univ. of N. B. There he took the Douglas gold medal, 1866; was Science prizeman, 1867-68; and graduated B.A., 1868, and M.A., 1873. From 1868 to 1872 he was Head-master of Bathurst Grammar Sch., following which he took a special course in Classics and History at Oxford Univ., and came much under the influence of Ruskin, Liddon, Nettleship and other thinkers of the period. While there he was Secy. of the Oxford Union, under the presidency of Mr. Asquith, afterwards Home Secy. in the Imp. Govt. Mr. P. studied at this time the Eng. public sch. system, and travelled in Italy for classical study. On his return to Can., he m. 1878, Annie Connell, dau. of Wm. Fisher, Fredericton. He remained for 15 yrs. Principal of the Coll. Sch., Fredericton, the leading sch. of the Province, and had for pupils C. G. D. Roberts, Bliss Carman, J. D. Hazen and others. He was Presdt. of the Alumni Soc. of N. B. Univ., 1882-83. In 1889, upon the invitation of the various branches of the Imp. Federation League in Can. and the Australian colonies, he made a prolonged tour of these countries, studying and discussing the question of Imp. unity. He addressed audiences in New Zealand, Tasmania, Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria, and in most of the principal towns and cities of Can. He also spoke in places all over Gt. Brit. Everywhere he was received with favour and attention, and his eloquent and forceful presentation of national ideas is believed to have profoundly affected Brit. opinion on colonial questions. Later, he was chosen special correspondent of the London Times in Can., and wrote a series of letters to that journal which were among the best ever written descriptive of the physical features, the social and political condition, and the probable future of his native country. As correspondent for the Times he attended the Intercl. Conf. that met in Ottawa, 1894, when for the first time dels. from all the self-governing colonies in the Empire met together in a colony for consultation on national affairs. In London Mr. P. was for some time on the Council of the Royal Col. Inst. He is now on the Council of the Brit. Empire League. In Aug., 1895, he was apptd. to his present position, Principal of U. C. Coll. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from his Alma Mater, 1894. He has written numerous articles for the Century, Nation, and other first-class periodicals. Of his separate works and publications the principal ones are: "Reorganization of the British Empire" (1882); "Round the Empire," a sch. book to which Lord Rosebery contributed a striking preface (1892); "Imp. Federation: The Problem of National Unity" (1892); "Geographical Unity of the Empire" (1894); "The Great Dom.: Studies of Can.," being the reprint of his letters to the Times (1895); and the "Life of Dr. Edward Thring" (1897). Principal P. is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. His views on the political situation are summed up in the following document, which was published by the Globe at the time of the Dom. g. e. 1896: "A higher standard of public life is, in my judgment, by far the most urgent need of Can. to-day. Parlt. should secure a much larger proportion than it now does of men conspicuous for their ability, as well as for unquestioned honesty. To this end voters of all parties should feel a deeper sense of responsibility in selecting, steadily supporting and honouring only able and trustworthy men. With this higher standard of public life would naturally come all material good—credit sound, because based on public confidence—enterprise vigorous without being imprudent—a larger judgment and wiser action on all national issues. The whole moral tone of the country would be raised, and Canadians would learn to think less of party and more of patriotism."—*Principal's Residence, Upper Can. PARTRIDGE, The Very Rev. Francis, Dean of Fredericton (Ch. of Eng.), was b. at Dursley, Gloucestershire, Eng., Apl. 2, 1846, and is the s. of Chas. Partridge, by his wife, Catharine Gilmour. Ed. at Lady Berkley's Grammar Sch., Wolton, and at St. Augustine's Coll., Canterbury, of which he is now an hon. Fellow, he became classical master in the first-named institution. Coming to Can., he was admitted to the diaconate, 1869, and advanced to the priesthood, 1870, by the late Bp. Medley. Apptd. Head-master of the Grammar Sch., St. Andrew's, N.B., 1869, he remained there till 1872, when he accepted the rectorship of Rothesay. While there he was made a canon of Fredericton Cath. and Secy. of the Diocesan Synod. These positions lapsed, on his removal to Halifax, to become Rector of St. George's Ch. there, 1882. Not long afterwards he identified himself with King's Coll., Windsor, and in connection with it prosecuted his own higher studies, receiving by exam. from that institution, the successive degrees of B.D. and D.D. He was elected clerical Secy. of the Diocese, and apptd. a canon of St. Luke's Cath., 1889, and assumed the duties of Examr. in Classics and Hebrew, as well as Lecturer in Canon and Ecclesiastical Law in King's Coll. Later, he became a mem. of the Council of King's Coll. Dr. P. took a prominent part in bringing about the union of the Ang. Ch., and was 1 of 4 from his diocese to represent it in the first Genl. Synod that met in Toronto, 1893. In 1895 he was apptd. Dean of Fredericton, and his name since then has been mentioned in connection with the proposed appt. of a coadjutor to Bp. Kingdon. The Dean, while in Halifax, was V.-P. of the Ch. of Eng. Inst., Presdt. of the Ch. S. S. Teachers' Assn., of the St. George's Benefit Soc., and of the Halifax Emigrants' Home. He holds exalted rank in the Masonic body. He is what is called a moderate High Churchman, believing thoroughly in the doctrines and position of his own Ch., but recognizing the good in all. He m. 1868, Maria Louisa, young. dau. of J. J. PASCAL, Mgr. Albert, O. M. I. (R. C.), was b. at St. Genest de Bauzon, dept. de l'Ardèche, France, Aug. 3, 1848. Ed. there, he came to Can., and was ordained priest at Montreal, 1873. He laboured first in the lumber shanties on the Upper Ottawa, but, in 1875, left for the far distant mission field of Arthabaska, Mackenzie, N.W.T. On the erection of a portion of the Saskatchewan Dist. into a Vicariat-Apost., 1891, Mgr. P. was apptd. thereto, with the title of Bp. of Mosynopolis, and was consecrated at Viviers, France, June 28, 1891.—Prince Albert, Sask., N. W. T.

PATERSON, Alexander Thomas, capitalist, was b. at Irvine, Ayrshire, Scot., July 10, 1833. Ed. there, he came to Can., Apl., 1850, and was for a considerable period a partner in the house of Gillespie, Moffatt & Co., genl. merchants, Montreal. He now represents the Phœnix Fire Assn. of London, Eng., in Can., and is interested in a great many business ventures, being especially a large dealer in wool. He served on the Council of the Montreal Bd. of Trade, 1877-81, became V.-P. of the Can. Fire Underwriters' Assn., 1890, and Presdt. of that body, 1892. In addition thereto he has been for several yrs. Presdt. and Mang. Dir. of the Londonderry Iron Co., and a dir. of the Bank of Montreal. He was one of the charter govs. of the Royal Victoria Hospital. Mr. P. is a mem. of the Ang. Ch., and m. 1858, the dau. of the late Major Peter Macdougall, H. M.'s 25th Regt. Their 3rd s., Somerled Lorn Paterson, graduated from the Royal Mil. Coll., Kingston, 1891, and was gazetted the same year to a lieutenancy in the Royal Dublin Fusiliers. PATERSON, Rev. Daniel (Presb.), is the s. of Danl. Paterson, by his wife, Elizabeth Craig, both natives of Ayrshire, and was b. at Greenock, Scot., Dec. 14, 1830. Ed. at the Grammar Sch. there, at Glasgow Univ. (M.A., 1851), and in the Divinity Hall of the United Presb. Ch., at Edinburgh, he was ordained to the ministry at St. Andrew's, P.Q., 1860, and inducted as asst. and as successor to the Rev. A. Henderson, min. at that place. The cong. at St. Andrew's was formed by Mr. Henderson in 1818, and was the first Presb. ch. to be established in Argenteuil, and as Mr. Henderson was immediately succeeded in the pastorate by Mr. P., the charge has not been one day vacant throughout its long existence. He was one of the original trustees of the Presb. Coll., Montreal (D.D., 1892), and now remains a mem. of its Bd. of Management and a mem. of its Senate. Dr. P. was also one of the examrs. for degrees in the same institution, 1882-90. He took part in the Campbell heresy case on the side of the Confession of Faith. While not a politician, he is in sympathy with the Lib. party. He strongly favours Imp. federation and the extinction of the liquor traffic, and is opposed to the introduction of women into the political arena. He m. 1868, Miss Barbara A. Sharpe, St. Andrew's, P.Q.—St. Andrew's East, P.Q.

PATERSON, John Andrew, barrister, is the s. of the late Rev. Dr. Paterson (Presb.), and was b. in Scot., Jan. 22, 1846. Ed. at U. C. Coll. ("Head Boy," 1861), and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and silver med. in Math., 1866; M.A., 1867), he was for a time Math. Master in U. C. Coll., and was called to the bar, 1872. He has practised throughout in the city of Toronto, and has been for some yrs. a mem. of the firm of Kerr, Macdonald, Davidson & Paterson. He is an elder of Erskine Presb. Ch., a Senator of Knox Coll., and has occupied important positions on comtes. of the Genl. Assembly of the Presb. Ch. He has been likewise a prominent mem. of the Ont. Lord's Day Alliance (elected Presdt., 1897), and of many kindred assns., including the Soc. for the Suppression of Vice, of which he is a V.-P., and the Ont. Sunday Sch. Assn., of which he was, in 1895 and '96, Presdt. He is on the directorate of the Can. Land Law Amendment Assn., and is Presdt. of the Ont. Astron. and Physical Soc. In 1897 he read a paper on "Unification of Time," before the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, Toronto, in which he urged that the astron., nautical and civil day be made the same all over the world. In religion, a Presb., he m. PATERSON, Hon. William, legislator, is the s. of the late Jas. and Martha Paterson, who came to Can. from Aberdeen, Scot. B. in the city of Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 19, 1839, he remained there until the death of his parents, from cholera, 1849. He was then adopted by the late Rev. Dr. Ferrier (Presb.), and removed with him to Caledonia, Co. Haldimand. Ed. in Hamilton and at Caledonia, he received his business training in the house of Ignatius Cockshutt, Brantford. In 1863 he formed a partnership in that city with H. B. Leeming, and began the manufacture of biscuits and confectionery. On Mr. L.'s retirement, 1876, Mr. P. became sole prop. of the business, which is described as being at present among the most extensive and thriving existing in the Dom. A Lib. throughout, Mr. P., before entering political life, served as Depty. Reeve of Brantford, 1869-71. In 1872 he was elected to the mayoralty, and at the g. e., in the same year, was returned to the Ho. of Commons, for South Brant, defeating Sir Francis Hincks, then Mr. of Finance (Vote: W. Paterson, L., 1378; Sir F. Hincks, C., 1106). He continued to sit for South Brant up to the g. e. 1896, when he was defeated by Mayor Henry, who was afterwards unseated (Vote: Robt. Henry, C., 2538; Wm. Paterson, L., 2447). On the formation of the Laurier Admn., July, 1896, he was apptd. to the office of Controller of Customs. In that position he had much to do with the framing of the new fiscal tariff introduced by Mr. Fielding, 1897. He found a seat in North Grey, at a by-election, held Aug. 25, 1896. He was called to the Privy Council and apptd. Mr. of Customs, June 30, 1897. Mr. P. is noted for his business aptitude as well as for his oratorical gifts. PATON, Hugh, forwarder and carrier, is the s. of the late Wm. Paton, Kilbirnie, Ayrshire, Scot, by his wife, Mary Shedden, and was b. at Johnstone, Renfrewshire, Oct. 5, 1852. Ed. at the Paisley Grammar Sch., he came to Can., 1871, and was for some yrs. in the employ of his uncle, the late John Shedden, ry. contractor, Toronto. After the latter's death, 1873, he removed to Montreal, where he became Secy.-Treas. of the

Shedden Co., genl. forwarders and carriers. In 1879 he succeeded to the office of Mangr. and Secy. of the co., which he still holds, he being also the principal shareholder therein. Since then he has extended the operations of the co., which now carries on business in many portions of the Dom., as well as in the western States. Mr. P. is known throughout the Dom. for his love of horses, and his services looking to the improvement of the turf. He was for 4 yrs. hon. Secy.-Treas. of the Quebec Province Turf Club, and also hon. Secy. of the Montreal Tandem Club. He has run his own horses at many annual meetings, and has more than once carried off the Queen's Plate. From 1879 to 1886 he was hon. Secy.-Treas. of the Montreal Hunt, and, in 1887, was elected Master of the Fox Hounds. He is a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Soc. for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. In 1895 and '96 he was elected V.-P. and, in 1897, Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc. In commercial concerns, he is on the directorate of the Shedden Co., the Bell Telephone Co., the Sincennes-McNaughton Co., and the Montreal Gas Co. An adherent of the Presb. Ch.; politically, he is a Lib.-Con. He m. 1884, Bella, dau. of the late Andrew Robertson, Montreal. —*911 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; St. James's Club; Manhattan Club, N. PATON, Lt.-Col. John, retired banker, is the eld. s. of the Rev. John Paton (Presb.), of Ancrum, Scot., and was b. in the manse, Lasswade, May 26, 1831. Ed. at Edinburgh Acad. and Univ., and on the Continent of Europe, he proceeded to N. Y., as agent of the Bank of B.N.A., 1851. In 1854 he resigned that position to become Comnr. of the Trust and Loan Co. of Can., at Kingston, Ont. While there he was a trustee and Secy. of Queen's Coll., a mem. of the Presb. Synod's Comte. on Foreign Missions, and of the Ont. Univ. Comn. In 1864, shortly after the formation of the 14th Batt., Princess of Wales' Own Rifles, he was gazetted Major of that corps, and succeeded to the command in the following year. He retired retaining rank (1869). He was on active service with his regt. during the first Fenian troubles. He subsequently founded the banking firm of John Paton & Co., N. Y., from which he retired, 1892. A Lib.-Gladstonian in politics, he unsuccessfully contested St. Andrew's Burghs, in that interest, for the Eng. Ho. of Commons, g. e. 1895. He has lectured on "Religious Life in London," and has written numerous papers, embodying notes of travel and religious experiences, for the N. Y. and London press. He represents Ont. in the Council of the Imp. Inst.; was V.-P. of the Can. Club, N. Y.; and has recently presented St. Andrew's Ch., Kingston, with the clock in its tower. He m. PATTERSON, Rev. George (Presb.), historian, is the paternal grands. of John Patterson, who came to Pictou, N.S., in the first emigrant vessel that arrived there, 1773, and became the founder of the town. He is the s. of Abram Patterson, an active local public man, by Christiana, dau. of the Rev. Jas. McGregor, D.D., first Prot. min. in the eastern part of N. S., and who was distinguished by his apostolic labours. B. at Pictou, Apl. 30, 1824, he was ed., first at Pictou Acad., and afterwards at Dalhousie Coll., Halifax (LL.D., 1896). Ordained to the ministry, 1849, he was apptd. pastor of the cong. of Green Hill, Pictou, where he remained for 27 yrs.; he then became pastor at New Glasgow, but subsequently retired. For some yrs. he was Secy. of Home Missions and also of the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund. He is now and has long been Secy. of the Ministers' Widows' Fund. He is most widely known as a literary man. Commencing as a journalist, 1843, he has since written a great number of important works and papers, bearing on local history. Chief among these are memoirs of the Rev. Jas. McGregor, D.D.; of the Rev. John Geddie, D.D., first mission. to the New Hebrides; of the Hon. Saml. Vetch, first Eng. Gov. of N.S.; and of Sir Wm. Alexander; the "History of the County of Pictou"; "The Portuguese on the North-east Coast of Am."; "The Red Indians of Nfd."; "The Magdalen Islands"; and "Sable Island, its History and Phenomena." He has received the degree of D.D. from Princeton Semy., N. J., and is a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can. Politically, he has been a Free Trader from his youth. At Confederation he sympathized with union with Can., but condemned the mode in which N.S. was forced into it. Since the "Pacific Scandal" he has repudiated Sir John Macdonald and all his works, and now is a sympathiser with and supporter of the Lib. party. He m. Mch., 1851, Margt., dau. of Hugh McDonald, Antigonish, N.S. Their s., Geo. G. Patterson (B.A., 1882; M.A., 1887; LL.B., 1889, Dalhousie Coll.), has published a history of that institution. PATTERSON, Rev. Isaac Matheson (Presb.), was b. in Pictou, N.S., of Scottish parentage, Nov. 30, 1832. Ed. at the West River Theol. Semy., and at Princeton, N.J., where he graduated, 1859, he was ordained the same year. After preaching in Baltimore, he was settled over the cong. of the 1st Presb. Ch., Annapolis, Md., 1861, remaining there throughout the Am. civil war. He officiated at Camp Parole and at the Mil. Hospital for several mths., and was brought into personal contact with many of the leading men of the U. S. He was also elected Chaplain of the State Senate, which position he continued to hold during the 5 yrs. of his pastorate. Later, he was elected Chaplain of the State Constitutional Convention at which steps were taken for abolishing slavery in the State of Maryland, in advance of Lincoln's proclamation. Mr. P. became pastor of Emmittsburg and Piney Creek, and of Milford and Holland, and was apptd. to his present charge at Bloomsburg, 1889. He has been a frequent contributor to the religious and secular press. Politically, he is a Rep. He m. Sept., 1863, Miss Frances G. Linton, Baltimore.—Bloomsburg, Pa.

PATTERSON, His Honour the Hon. James Colebrooke, Lt.-Gov. of Manitoba, is the s. of the late Rev. Jas. Patterson, formerly of Kingston, near Dublin. B. at Armagh, Irel., 1839, he was ed. in Dublin, came to Can., 1857, and studied law at Windsor, Ont. Subsequently, he entered the Can. C. S., and was for some time Private Secy. to W. H. Griffin, late Depty. Postmaster-Genl. of Can., but resigning this position returned to the legal profession, was called to the bar, 1876, and became a mem. of a law firm in Windsor, Ont. He was Reeve of Windsor for about 10 yrs., and became Warden of Essex. Later, he was Inspr. of Schs., Windsor. A Con. in politics, he sat in that interest, for North Essex, in the Legislature from 1874 to 1878, when he resigned, and was returned for the Co. of Essex to the Ho. of Commons. On the division of the county, 1882, he was returned for North Essex, and sat for that constituency until 1891, when he was defeated on the Unrestricted Reciprocity cry. He was invited by Sir John Abbott to join his Admn., Dec., 1891, though at the time without a seat in Parlt. After some negotiations, in which Mr. (now Sir) W. R. Meredith and Mr. D'Alton McCarthy took part, Mr. P. finally accepted the invitation, was sworn in as Secy. of State, Jan. 25, 1892, and was a few weeks later elected to the Ho. of Commons for the West Riding of Huron.

Upon the retirement of Sir John Abbott he was invited by Sir John Thompson to be a mem. of his Cabinet, and was made Mr. of Militia and Defence therein, a portfolio he retained under Sir Mackenzie Bowell, until Mch. 25, 1895, when he resigned, remaining a Minister without portfolio until Sept. 2, when he was sworn in as Lt.-Gov. of Man. and Keewatin. As Mr. of Militia he had monuments erected commemorating some of the battle-fields of Can., and before his retirement from the Govt., had the satisfaction of having these monuments unveiled at Lundy's Lane, Chrysler's Farm and Chateauguay. He also negotiated and carried through arrangements with Gt. Brit. for the erection and maintenance of the fortifications at Esquimalt, and secured the services of Imp. troops at that point. This is the first instance in which Can. has contributed her quota to the defence of the Dom., and has risen to the true conception of the Imp. idea on the question of defence. Although a large expenditure was involved in carrying out this arrangement, no opposition was offered to it in Parlt., Mr. P. having not only negotiated with the Imp. authorities, but also with the leading members of the Opposition in Parlt., who approved of the project and loyally permitted the necessary expenditure to go through without criticism, so that the attention of foreign nations might not be unnecessarily attracted to the works. These fortifications, when completed, will prove one of the strongest links in the chain of the defence of the Empire. He also inaugurated a movement for granting long service medals to the mil. force of the Dom., and paid special attention to the strengthening of our little permanent force, of which he was a strong advocate, sending offrs. and non-commd. offrs. each year to Eng. to be trained along with the Imp. troops, so that the volunteer offrs. attending the various schs. of instruction in Can. might be able to take for models offrs. thoroughly trained and familiar with their duties as understood in the most rigid and exact training schs. in the Brit. army. Mr. P. was identified with the Con. Union of Ontario from the time of its formation, first as V.-P., and upon the resignation of D'Alton McCarthy, as Presdt. In these responsible positions he proved himself a zealous and skilful party manager, enjoying the confidence not only of the leaders, but also of the rank and file of the party. He was for many yrs. a close personal friend of the late Sir John Macdonald, and was one of the few who enjoyed the inner confidence of the Old Chieftain. He has always been a friend to Can. literature, being not without some experiences of his own in that direction. He was one of the founders of the Can. Mag., and is Presdt. of the Ont. Publishing Co., who are the proprietors of that mag. A mem. of the Ang. Communion, he m. PATTESON, Thomas Charles, Dom. civil service, is the s. of the Rev. Thos. Patteson (Ch. of Eng.) and nephew of the late well-known judge, the Rt. Hon. Sir John Patteson, whose s., Bp. Patteson, was massacred in the Melanesian Islands, 1872. B. at Patney, Wilts, Eng., Oct. 5, 1836, he was a King's scholar and capt. of his div. at Eton, whence he proceeded to Merton Coll., Oxford, where he had won an open postmastership, and graduated in honours in 1858. Coming to Can.

immediately afterwards, he studied law, first in the office of the late Hon. J. H. Cameron, and, subsequently, in the office of the late Hon. Jas. Cockburn, at Cobourg. He was called to the bar, 1863, and entered into partnership with the late Hon. John Ross. He was apptd. a Comnr. to the Paris Expn., 1867, and, in the same year, became Asst. Provl. Secy. for Ont., he being the first to hold that office under the new Constitution. On the establishment of the Mail newspaper by the Con. party, 1872, he resigned his office to take the management of the new organ, and occupied that position till his appt. as Postmaster of Toronto, Feb. 12, 1879. Mr. P. is regarded as a graceful and forcible writer, and during his connection with the Mail wrote largely for its editorial columns, but it was as a special correspondent that he first became known to the press. He is the author of numerous anonymous brochures, including "The Race for the Mitre" (1866). He has long taken a deep interest in the character and status of the turf in Ont., and with that view founded the Ont. Jockey Club, a new departure that has been attended with the most desirable results. He is the owner of a large stock farm at Eastwood, where for the last quarter of a century his family has lived, and he himself has been engaged in the raising of shorthorn cattle, Shropshire sheep, and horses. But perhaps the achievement on which he most prides himself is having played as captain of the Internl. Cricket Eleven on more than one occasion in the early sixties. Coming to Am. when 17 yrs. of age, he lived for a time in the southern States, but eventually took up his residence in Ont., where he engaged in mercantile pursuits. Originally an Episcopalian in religion, he became a Meth. under the spiritual guidance of the late Rev. Dr. Douglas, and, later, studied for the ministry at Victoria Univ., Cobourg, where he had already entered in the Arts dept. His period of probation was passed on circuit at Markham and other places, and while at Thorold, 1861, he was received into full connection and ordained. His first appt. as a min. was to North St. Ch., London, as asst. to the Rev. Rich. Jones. From there, at the expiration of his term, he was sent to Bloor St. Ch., Toronto, and associated with the Rev. Dr. Dewart, then at Elm St. Ch. Such was the estimation in which the young clergyman was held that, in 1866, he was chosen to be first pastor of a new ch. in Hamilton, to commemorate the centenary of Am. Methodism, and thus became, within the short space of 10 yrs., the min. in a cong. of which he had formerly been a mem. and Sunday Sch. teacher. "Mr. P.'s acceptance of this charge," we are told by Mr. Rose, to whose work on "Can. Biography" we are indebted for nearly all the facts embraced in this article, "was at first opposed by the Conf. Stationing Comte.; but their misgivings as to the ability of the young clergyman to fill the ch. soon proved to be groundless, for such were his talents and popularity and so forcible was his preaching that Sunday after Sunday multitudes flocked to hear the Word spoken by his mouth." While at Hamilton, Mr. P. was invited to Toronto to take charge of the ch. in Adelaide St., but fearing that the time he would have to devote to the superintendence of the building of the Metropolitan Ch., then in course of erection, would interfere with what he considered to be strictly ministerial work, he declined the call, and accepted that of St. James St., Montreal, which had been simultaneously placed at his disposal, in succession to his old friend, the Rev. Dr. Douglas. Equal success attended Mr. P. in this his new field, and after a space of 3 yrs. he returned to Toronto and was placed in charge of the Metropolitan Ch. in that city, where he rapidly increased the number of the cong. At the close of his ministration there he was again removed to Elm St. Ch. Mr. P. is a staunch supporter of Temp., having first advocated its cause when only 15. He is also connected with the Y. M. C. A. and the Bible Soc. He is one of the Dom. representatives on the Internl. Comte. which selects the lessons for Sunday Schs. all over the world. A mem. of the Bd. and Senate of Victoria Univ., he is likewise a mem. of the Bd. of the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal, and also a mem. of the comte. which has charge of the publishing interests of the Methodist Ch. In 1878 he was elected the first Presdt. of an assn. which was then formed in Toronto, embracing ministers of all denominations. In July of that year the Wesl. Univ. of Ohio admitted him to the degree of D.D. On the death of Dr. Topp, he was apptd., in 1879, to succeed him as Chairman of the Home for Incurables. At the Genl. Conf. of 1886, Dr. P. was elected Genl. Secy. of Education for the Meth. Ch., which office he holds at the present time. At the Convocation of Victoria Univ., 1894, the degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the unanimous vote of the Senate. Dr. P. was stationed twice in St. James Ch., Montreal, twice in the Metropolitan Ch., Toronto, and twice in Elm St. Ch , Toronto. Upon many occasions he has been asked to represent Can. Meth. in the U. S. A Meth. of the Methodists, he is a man of the most liberal views; believing that true religion is hedged in by no sectarian prejudices, he willingly assists to the utmost of his power all fellow-workers, irrespective of creed, in the service of the Great Master, and cordially holds out the right hand of Christian fellowship and brotherly love to all who, like himself, go about doing good and are endeavouring to ameliorate the spiritual and temporal condition and welfare of their fellow-men. At the present time he is a dir. of the Ont. Ladies' Coll., a dir. of the Central Can. Loan and Savings Co., a V.-P. of the U. C. Bible Soc., a V.-P. of the Burial Reform Assn., a V.-P. of the Evangel. Alliance, Toronto, and Chairman of the Internl. Sun. Sch. Lessons Comte. POWELL, Col. Walker, late Adjutant-General of Can., was b. at Waterford, Ont., May 20, 1828. He is the eld. s. of the late Israel Wood Powell (U. E. L. descent), who represented Norfolk in the Can. Parlt., 1840-47, by his wife, Melinda Boss. Ed. at the Co. Grammar Sch. and at Victoria Coll., Cobourg, he was engaged for some yrs. in mercantile life. After serving in the Co. Council for some yrs. and filling various local offices, he was returned to Parlt. as mem. for the co. at the g. e. 1857, continuing therein up to 1861. Apptd. Depty. Adjt.-Genl. of Mil. for U. C., Aug., 1862, he continued to hold that office during the whole of the Am. civil war, and subsequently. At Confederation, 1867, he became Depty. Adjt.-Genl. of the Mil. of Can., and as such took over additional duties and responsibilities on the withdrawal of the Imp. troops from Can., 1871. Later, in Apl., 1875, under the new system, he was apptd. Adjt.-Genl. of Mil., and remained in that office up to his retirement from the public service, Jan., 1896. Col. P. entered the mil. service as an offr. in the 1st Regt. Norfolk Militia, 1847, and was promoted to the rank of col., 1873. He did much, perhaps more than any one else, to build up the present militia system of Can. On various occasions, especially during the Trent affair, during the Fenian raids, 1866 and subsequently, and, again, during the N.-W. rebellions, 1869-70 and

1885, he rendered important services to the country in addition to his regular official duties. At the close of the campaign in the North-West, 1885, he was recommended by the Maj.-Genl. commanding, Sir F. Middleton, for appt. to a C.M.G. He had likewise much to do with the establishment of the Royal Mil. Coll., at Kingston, and was for many yrs. Presdt. of its Bd. of Visitors. He was sent on a trade mission to the Hawaiian Islands, 1887, and in the following year, was apptd. a mem. of a Mil. PROUDFOOT, Alexander, M.D., is the s. of Alex. Proudfoot, Montreal, by his wife, Amelia Jarvis, dau. of Col. Starr Jarvis, Toronto (U. E. L. descent). B. in Trafalgar, near Toronto, June 23, 1847, he was ed. at Rockwood Acad., and prepared for coll. by the Rev. Chas. Dade. He entered McGill Coll., for the study of med., 1863, but after completing his studies there, found himself too young to graduate. He therefore went to N. Y., where he took a summer course at Bellevue Hospital Coll., and attended the eye and ear clinics, conducted by Drs. Agnew and Noyes, at the Eye and Ear Infirmary. In the autumn of 1868 he went to Boston, where he was apptd. House Surg. of the Discharged Soldiers' Home, under Surg.-Genl. Barnes, U.S.A. During his residence there he took a full course at Harvard Med. Coll. Subsequently, he passed a severe competitive exam. at the Boston City Hospital, and was apptd. Asst. Ophthalmic Surg. there under Prof. H. W. Williams. Returning to Montreal, he graduated at McGill Univ., 1869, and on resuming his former position at Boston, was soon given, in addition thereto, that of House Surg. His ability as a surg. was recognized by his being permitted to perform many delicate operations not usually entrusted to so young a man. On the termination of his period of service at the Boston Hospital, he went to Europe. Volunteering for service as a surg. during the Franco-German war, he was first employed in the mil. hospital, Darmstadt, where he met the Princess Alice daily. Later, he joined an ambulance corps that followed the army of the Crown Prince into France, and he remained with the Prussians, in active service, during the remainder of the war. Afterwards, he visited the principal cities of Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, Italy and Austria. In Vienna he followed a special course of studies under the celebrated oculists, A. Von Yaeger and Arlt, and, in London, he attended the clinics of Sir Wm. Bowman, Mr. Critchett and others, at the Royal Ophthal. Hospital. After declining an appt. on the staff of the Boston City Hospital, he returned to Montreal, Nov., 1872, and entered on a general practice. He has, however, for many yrs., confined himself exclusively to the treatment of the diseases of the eye, ear, throat and nose. Dr. P. was for some time Lecturer and Prof. of Ophthal. and Otol. in Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, and he has been for a considerable period oculist and aurist to the Montreal Dispensary, to the Montreal Genl. Hospital, the Prot. Infants' Home, etc. He is a life-mem. of the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, a mem. of the Council of the local branch of the Brit. Med. Assn., and of the Montreal Med.-Chirurg. Soc., an hon. mem. of the Northern N. Y. Med. Assn., a gov. of the Montreal Genl. Hospital, etc. In his younger days he graduated from the Mil. Sch. He has contributed to the med. press, and was one of the first aurists to advocate the application of ice in acute inflammatory affections of the ear for the prevention of mastoid disease. Politically, he is a Con., a firm believer in protection for Can. industries, and a strong supporter of Brit. connection and Imp. Federation. Fraternally, he is a mem. of the Caledonian Soc., a United Workman, a Select Knight, a mem. of the Mystic Circle, and a Freemason. He m. PROUDFOOT, Hon. William, retired judge, a younger bro. of the preceding, was b. near Errol, Perthshire, Scot., Nov. 9, 1823. Coming to Can. with his parents, 1832, he was ed. at London, Ont., by his father. He studied law with Messrs. Blake and Morrison, and was called to the bar, 1849. After practising in Toronto for a short period, he accepted the appt. of Master and Depty. Regr. of the Ct. of Chancery at Hamilton. These offices he resigned 3 yrs. later, to enter into partnership with Messrs. Freeman and Craigie, he (Mr. P.) taking exclusive charge of the Equity business of the firm, which attained large dimensions, and became one of the most profitable in western Can. He withdrew from the firm, 1862, and although subsequently forming other business connections, continued to devote himself entirely to Equity. He was created a Q. C., by the Ont. Govt., 1872, declining a confirmation of the appt. by the Dom. Govt. He was apptd. a Vice-Chancellor of the Ct. of Chancery for Ont., May 30, 1874, and continued to act as such up to his retirement from the bench, May 8, 1890. His Lordship was elected Presdt. of the Hamilton Assn., 1871; was apptd. Presdt. of a Royal Comn. to investigate certain charges of bribery and conspiracy laid against Messrs. Bunting, Meek, Wilkinson and Kirkland, 1884; and, the same year, was apptd. to the chair of Roman Law Jurisprudence and History of Eng. Law in Toronto Univ. He is also Presdt. of the Industrial Sch. RAND, Benjamin, author, is the s. of Ebenezer Rand, Collr. of Customs, Cornwallis, N.S., by his wife, Ann Isabel Eaton. B. at Canning, N.S., July 17, 1856, he was ed. at Acadia Coll. (B.A., 1875; M.A., 1879), at Harvard Univ. (where he gained the Walker fellowship and graduated Ph.D. and A.M., 1885), and at the Univ. of Heidelberg. He was an honour student at both Acadia Coll. and Harvard Univ., and having resided abroad for the study of Phil. travelled extensively in Europe, from Gibraltar to the battlefields of the Crimea, and from Edinburgh to Rome. Dr. R. has contributed notes on history and travel to the N. S. press. Of separate works from his pen there have been published the following: "Life of Rev. Aaron Cleveland" (1888), "Selections Illustrating Economic History Since the Seven Years' War" (1888; 3rd ed., 1895), "Bibliography of Economics" (1895). The latter work was published simultaneously in Eng., French and German. He is a mem. of the Phil. dept. of Harvard Univ.—Cambridge, Mass.

RAND, Henry W., M.D., was b. at Cornwallis, N.S., 1851. Ed. at Acadia Coll. (B.A., 1873; M.A., 1877), he pursued his med. studies at Bellevue Hospital Med. Coll., N.Y. (M.D., 1877), and was resident phys. and surg. at Brooklyn Hospital, 1877-78; attending surg. Orthopedic Infirmary, 1878-81; surg. Long Island Coll. Hospital Dispensary, 1881-84; and has been surg. to the Long Island Coll. Hospital since the latter year. He is also surg. to the St. John's Hospital and King's Co. Hospital, consult. surg. to the King's Co. Insane Asylum, and phys. to the Mutual Aid Assn. He was Presdt. of the Brooklyn Surgical Soc., 1891-92, and has been apptd. Prof. of Diseases of the Genito-urinary Organs, and Lecturer on the Principles of Surgery in the Long Island Coll. Hospital. He is the author of numerous articles and monographs on surgical subjects. RAND, Theodore Harding, educationist, is the s. of Thos. W. Rand, Cornwallis, N.S., and was b. at that place, 1835. Ed. at Horton Coll. Acad. and at the Univ. of Acadia Coll. (B.A., 1860; M.A., 1863), he became an asst. teacher at Horton. Soon after he was apptd. to the chair of Eng. and Classics in the Provl. Normal Sch., Truro. Here he gave himself to his work with the zeal and enthusiasm which have marked his entire career. He took an active part in the preparation of the Free Sch. Act, 1864, which wrought a great reform in the public sch. system of N. S., and was subsequently made Supdt. of Education. His task was for a time an arduous one, for at the first the Act was misunderstood, and consequently unpopular. Subsequently, however, all difficulties were overcome, and Mr. R., in 1871, felt free to take up similar work in N. B., where he had accepted the office of Supdt. of Education for that province. In 1874 the hon. degree of D.C.L. was conferred upon him by his Alma Mater. He resigned his provincial office, 1883, to accept the chair of Education and History in Acadia Coll. Here he remained until 1885, when he removed to Toronto to take the chair of Apologetics and Didactics in McMaster Hall. After a year spent in this work he consented, at the solicitation of the late Senator McMaster and others, to assume the principalship of the Baptist Coll., Woodstock. He discharged the duties of this position until 1888, when he returned to the work in McMaster Hall, which had been reorganized, and, by Act of Parlt., raised to the rank of a univ. The Toronto and Woodstock colls. became constituent parts of the Univ. The coll. year, 1889-90, which intervened before the opening of the Arts dept. of the Univ., in which he had been designated as Prof. of Education and Ethics, was spent in Eng., whither he had gone for purposes of study and observation in connection with univ. work. In 1892 he succeeded Dr. M. MacVicar as Chancellor, but was compelled to resign the office, owing to ill-health, May, 1895. Since then he has filled the chair of Education and Eng. History in the Univ. While in N. S. he established the Journal of Education there. In N. B. he organized an Educational Inst. for the Province, of which he became Presdt. He was also a mem. of the Senate of the Univ. of N. B., and was Presdt. of the Bapt. Convention of the Maritime Provinces, 1875-76. In 1897 he published "At Minas Basin and other Poems," a volume which has earned for him the title of "The Browning of Can." This work has reached a 2nd ed. His wife, Mrs. Emeline A. Rand, has published some gracefully written descriptive articles upon Italian Art, under the title of "In the National Gallery: four letters on the development of Italian Art" (1894).—17 Madison Ave., Toronto.

RANKIN, Arthur McKee, actor, is the eld. s. of the late Arthur Rankin, M.P. for Essex, in the Can. Assembly, before Confederation, and was b. at Sandwich, Ont., Feb. 6, 1844, and ed. at U. C. Coll. He made his début as an actor, at Rochester, N.Y., 1861, but did not at that time remain on the stage. Returning to it for good, 1863, he has since gained considerable reputation in his profession. One of his original characters is "Rip Van Winkle," which has made him famous all over the Am. Continent. He has also played with success in "The Danites," and, in 1880, took over a company to play that piece in London. More recently he has distinguished himself in a play written by his bro., Geo. R., called "L'Habitant, or the Canuck," and in a play written by himself called "True to Life." He m. early in life, Miss Kitty Blanchard, an actress.—Players' Club, New York.

RANKIN, Colin, Hudson's Bay Co.'s service, was b. in N. B., July 29, 1829. Ed. there, he came to the Upper Provinces of Can., June, 1842, entering the H. B. Co.'s service, in which he is now a Chief Factor. He has been stationed successively at Mattawa, Fort Coulonge, St. Maurice, King's Posts (St. Lawrence), Lake Superior, Saguenay, Simcoe, and at Temiscamingue. At present he resides at Mattawa, of which town he is Mayor. Mr. R. has written occasionally for the press articles descriptive of his adventurous life, and is regarded as a high authority on all subjects relating to the resources and capabilities of the dists. in which he has lived. He m. 1st, Aug., 1856, Miss Scott, Quebec (she d.); and 2ndly, Miss Deacon, Lindsay, Ont.—Mattawa, Ont.

RAPHAEL, William, R. C. A., is a native of Prussia, and was ed. as an artist in the Royal Acad., Berlin, under Wolf, Begas and others. Coming to Can., 1860, he has since resided in Montreal. He usually paints figures and landscapes, and many of his works, some of which possess great merit, are in private collections. Mr. R. was one of the originators of the Royal Can. Acad., to the membership of which he was apptd. by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880.—39 Victoria St., Montreal.

RATHBUN, Edward Wilkes, manufacturer, is the eld. s. of the late Hugo B. Rathbun, founder of Deseronto, Ont., by his wife, Louisa Storm. B. at Auburn, N.Y., Oct. 5, 1842, and ed. in N. Y., he gained his business training in the house of Storm, Smith & Co., East India merchants, same city. In 1861 he joined his father, who had been carrying on lumber operations at Descronto. He took charge of the business under the firm name of H. B. Rathbun & Co., which, in 1883, by Act of Parlt., became "The Rathbun Co." Of this co. he is Presdt. He is also Presdt. of the Bay of Quinte Ry. Co., and has been Mayor of Deseronto. The Rathbun Co., under his management, has become the pioneer in many industrial enterprises in Can., including the roller process flour mill. In 1897 he was included in the Royal Comn. apptd. to examine and report upon the forests of Can. Politically, Ind.; in religion, he is a Presb. RATTENBURY, Francis Mawson, architect, is the s. of John Rattenbury, by his wife, M. A. Mawson, and is the grands. of the Rev. John Rattenbury, a well-known Meth. min. B. in Leeds, Eng., Oct. 11, 1867, he was ed. at the Leeds Grammar Sch., and subsequently studied for his profession with the firm of Lockwood & Mawson, the designers of the town of Saltaire, and of most of the principal public buildings in Bradford, Eng. He remained with them for 9 yrs., and, in 1886, carried off the prize of the Architectural Assn., Bradford. He was a successful exhibitor at the Royal Aead., 1891. Coming to Can., he settled at Vancouver, 1892. In 1893 he was successful, in open competition, in securing the acceptance of his designs for the new Parlt. buildings at Victoria, B.C., which are now in course of erection.—Victoria, B.C.

RAWLINGS, Edward, insurance manager and president, was b. in London, Eng., 1839. Ed. in Eng. and France, he commenced his business career in the service of the European Life and Guarantee Co. of London, Eng., Sept., 1853. Ten yrs. later he was chosen to establish and manage a branch of the co. in Montreal. This was the first introduction of the system of "guarantee" to the Am. Continent, and the business was naturally of a very slow growth and somewhat difficult to inculeate. Mr. R. continued to manage the European Co. in Can. until its retirement in 1868, by which time a large and extensive clientèle and prosperous business had been acquired. The European Co., which at first confined its business to guarantee and life, ventured subsequently upon other branches of ins., which proved disastrous, and the cessation of the co. in Eng. resulted in the transfer of its Can. guarantee business to the Citizens' Ins. Co. of Can., a local eo., likewise a mixed one; but it was, however, the only organization in Can. then prepared to take up the business. Mr. R. continued for some yrs. in charge of the guarantee branch of the Citizens' Co., but it being evident that the association of other branches of ins. was detrimental to the interests of guarantee clients, he determined upon the establishment of an independent co. for the transaction solely of guarantee business, upon the same lines as the original Guarantee Soc. of London, which had been in existence for over 45 yrs., and had witnessed the surrender of numerous inexperienced and over-venturesome competitors. His plan was successfully accomplished in 1872 by the organization of the Can. Guarantee Co., now the Guarantee Co. of North Am., whose career from the outset has been one of complete success. In 1873 the eo. made its first contract for the guarantee of the employés of U. S. corporations. It met with such favour that later the co. formally entered the U. S. by making the required deposit of $200,000 with the Ins. Dept. at Albany. It now possesses branches in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto and other chief cities of Can. and the U. S., as well as in Mexico and in London, Eng. Mr. R. is also Presdt. of the U. S. Guarantee Co., established in N. Y. for similar purposes to the Guarantee Co. of North Am., and working in unison therewith. Mr. R. is the author of a paper containing suggestions as to how defalcations by bank employés may be averted, which has been highly praised by ins. and business men generally all over the Continent. He is a J. P. for the Province of Quebec, and has held office as Presdt. of the St. George's Soc. of Montreal. In Nov., 1895, he was elected V.-P. of the Am. Bankers' Assn. Politically, he is Ind., with a leaning towards a good Con. policy. In religious faith, an Ang., he m. 1865, Lucretia, dau. of the Rev. "To his efforts in the development and successful management of this class of ins. is chiefly due the present public appreciation upon this side of the Atlantic, of the many advantages of corporate over private suretyship for persons in positions of trust, and the general recognition of guarantee ins. as an important factor in financial affairs."—Ins Times.

RAYMOND, Lt.-Col. Lorenzo Clarke, barrister, is the s. of the late Lorenzo D. Raymond, barrister, by his wife, Mary J. Cochrane. B. at Welland, Ont., Oct. 7, 1859, he was ed. at Welland High Sch., and was called to the bar, 1886. He has practised throughout at Welland, and at present is head of the firm of Raymond & Cohoe. He served upon two occasions as Depty. Co. Ct. Judge of Welland, and was recommended for appt. as a Q. C., by the Tupper Admn., 1896. Col. R. holds a 1st class R. S. G. Infantry cert., and has held a comn. in the V. M. for many yrs. He was apptd. Major 44th Batt., Mch., 1889, and succeeded to the command of that corps, Mch., 1897. RAYNOR, Townsend Garratt, reformer, is the s. of Geo. Raynor, by his wife, Edna Garratt. B. near Rosehall, Ont., May 5, 1863, he was ed. at the High Sch., Picton, at the Ont. Agricul. Coll., Guelph (gold medal), and at the Toronto Univ. (B.S.A., 1889), since when he has devoted himself, as a speaker and writer, to the work of the Central Farmers' Inst., Ont., of which body he is a V.-P. He has also filled the offices of Presdt. of the Prince Edward Co. Farmers' Inst. and Presdt. of the Ont. Agricul. and Experimental Union. Politically, a Lib., he has taken an active part in the local campaigns, and been elevated to the presidency of the Reform Assn. of Prince Edward. In religion, a Meth. and a local preacher, he has likewise been prominent in the work of the Temp. body.—Rosehall, Ont.

RAZA, Alphonse, architect, is the s. of H. P. Raza, builder and contractor. B. in Montreal, Oct. 7, 1846, he was ed. at Archambault's Commercial Acad., after which he studied for his profession with Messrs. Fowler & Roy, and with the late W. T. Thomas. At the termination of his indentures, 1872, he entered into active practice in Montreal, and has for many yrs. held a prominent position among Can. architects. Besides many important private commissions, he has executed several for the Dom. and Quebec Govts. He holds office as V.-P. in the Architects' Assn. In religion, a R. READ, David Breakenridge, Q.C., author, is the 3rd s. of John Landon Read, merchant, Merrickville, Ont., by his wife, Janet, dau. of David

Breakenridge, Chairman of the Quarter Sessions, Grenville, U.C. Paternally, he is descended from an offr. under Cromwell, who, on the Restoration, left Eng. for Am., and finally settled at Norwalk, Conn. On both sides he comes of U. E. L. stock. B. in Augusta, Ont., June 13, 1823, he was ed. partly under Mr. Elms at Brockville, and partly at U. C. Coll. Called to the bar, 1845, he has practised for many yrs. in Toronto, of which city he became Mayor, 1858. In the same year he was created a Q. C., by Sir E. W. Head, and he was for nearly 30 yrs. a Bencher of the Law Soc. of U. C. He served formerly as a Crown Counsel, and was on several occasions a Royal Commr. He was apptd. a comnr. for the revision of the Consolidated Statutes of Can. and U. C., 1856. Of late, Mr. R. has given considerable attention to biographical and historical literature, and besides contributing to the Green-Bag, the Mag. of Western History, the Barrister, the Week and other journals, has published "The Lives of the Judges of Upper Canada" (1888); "The Life and Times of Genl. John Graves Simcoe" (1890); "The Life and Times of Maj.-Genl. Sir Isaac Brock, K.B." (1894), and "The Rebellion of 1837" (1897). He has also published "Lectures on the Judicature Act" (1881). He holds the office of Historian of the Co. York Law Assn., is a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Pioneer and Hist. Soc. of Ont., a V.-P. of the York Pioneers, and an hon. mem. of the Women's Can. Hist. READ, George, merchant and legislator, is the s. of the late Guy Carleton Read, by his wife, Anna Buell, and was b. in Augusta, Ont., Aug. 13, 1819. Ed. there, he for many yrs. followed a commercial life. As a volunteer, he served at the battle of the Windmill, Prescott, 1838. He has held a number of local offices, viz., coroner, postmaster, Clk. of the D. C., and Treas. and Clk. of the Tp. of Otonabee, the two latter for a period of 37 yrs. In addition he is one of the oldest magistrates now living in Can., having been on the Comn. of the Peace for over 40 yrs. He also holds a comn. in the militia. Mr. R., who is now a Con., was formerly a Baldwin Reformer. He represented East Peterboro' in the Ont. Assembly during the whole of the 1st and 2nd Legisls. after Confederation, 1867-74, and was throughout a supporter of the Con. party. He m. READE, John, poet and journalist, was b. at Ballyshannon, Co. Donegal, Irel., Nov. 13, 1837. Ed. at Portora Royal Sch., Enniskillen, and at Queen's Coll., Belfast, he came to Can., 1856, and assisted by some friends, established the Montreal Literary Mag. He afterwards became connected for a time with the Montreal Gazette, and spent some yrs. in journalism and private tuition. In 1859 he began the study of law, passing the usual exam., but the head-mastership of Lachute Acad. becoming vacant, he applied for the position, which he held for 3 yrs. Through the influence of the late Archdeacon Gilson, Mr. R. was induced to study Theol., and, in 1864, was ordained by the late Dr. Fulford, Metropolitan of Can. After doing duty as a clergyman in the E. T. for some yrs., he returned to Montreal, 1868, and took charge of an Ang. paper, at the same time retaining his connection with the Gazette, to which he had never ceased to contribute. Since then his time has been devoted mainly to journalism. Since 1870 he has been literary and general asst. ed. to the Gazette, giving his leisure to study, and occasional contributions to the mags. In 1870 Mr. R. published a small volume of verse: "The Prophecy of Merlin, and other Poems." It was favourably noticed in the press. The late Rev. George Gilfillan gave it a cordial welcome in the Dundee Advertiser, and in a letter to a friend then visiting Montreal, wrote: "Tell your friend R. that I read his poetry with pleasure. It has very considerable spirit and genius." The Dublin Univ. Mag. pronounced it "in every way worthy of the Land of the Lakes." The Montreal Witness said it was "one of the prettiest volumes as, perhaps, the sweetest book of fugitive poems which has appeared from the Can. press." The Can. Journal of Science, Lit. and History, the Toronto Globe, the Ch. Herald (Toronto), the Can. Illd. News, the N. Y. World, the Can. Lit. Journal, the Week (at a later date), and several other periodicals and papers reviewed it most favourably. The volume was abundantly used for anthologies, birthday-books and reading-books in the U. S. as well as in Can. Longfellow inserted the two poems ("Devenish" and "Killynoogan") in Volume V. (Irel.) of the series of "Poems of Places," of which he was ed. He likewise wrote a letter of praise to the author, as did also John G. Whittier and Wm. Cullen Bryant. Mr. R.'s translations have been commended by Matthew Arnold, the late ed. of the Eco d'Italia, the late Hon. P. J. O. Chauveau, and other scholars. As a prose writer Mr. R. has always cultivated clearness and a certain reserve—giving emphasis to his thought rather by a careful choice of words than by the multiplication of epithets. He has always refrained from writing on subjects to which he had not given attention. If he had thought less of his rôle as a journalist he would have contributed more to the mags., but he has always given the first place to the duties that lay nearest at hand. As a reviewer, he has always been conscientious, and many letters from men and women of distinction bear witness to his thoroughness and the soundness of his judgment. Mr. R.'s favourite studies (apart from general literature) are philol., ethnol., hist. and folk-lore. With Prof. Penhallow, of McGill Univ., he inaugurated the Montreal branch of the Am. Folk-lore Soc., of which, as well as of the Eng. Folk-lore Soc., he has long been a mem. He was Presdt. of the Montreal branch in 1894, and has been also Presdt. of the Soc. of Can. Literature, of the Soc. of Historical Studies, and the Second Sec. (Eng. Lit. and Hist.) of the Royal Soc. of Can. In 1877 he was made an hon. mem. of the Lit. and Hist. Soc. of Quebec, and, in 1895, he contributed a sketch of the late Hon. Sir L. H. Lafontaine, Bart., to the "Memorial Biographies" of the Historic Geneal. Soc. of New Eng. In 1896 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Lit. of Gt. Brit. Mr. R.'s more noteworthy contributions to the newspaper and periodical press would, if collected, make several volumes. He has long contemplated a series of selections from them, and still hopes, we believe, to put his design into execution. Although in recent yrs. his muse has been comparatively silent, the little volume of 1870 contains but a fragment of Mr. R.'s poetical writings, and, as even that has long been out of print, we may hope that he will ere long give us another book of poems.—270 Laval Ave., Montreal.

REID, Rev. John (Presb.), was b. in St. John, N.B., Nov. 19, 1850. Ed. at the Univ. of N. Y., where he graduated, 1870, he studied Theol. at Princeton, and was ordained to the ministry, 1873. He was pastor of Lower Valley, N.J., 1873-74; of the 3rd Presb. Ch., Paterson, N.J., 1874-76; of the 1st Ch., Hoboken, 1876-79; and since the latter date, has had charge of the 1st Ch., Yonkers, N.Y. He received the degree of D.D. from the Univ. of N. Y., 1888.—Yonkers, N. Y.

REID, Robert, poet, was b. at Wanlockhead, Dumfriesshire, Scot., June 8, 1850. In his 15th year, after receiving a fair education, he migrated to Glasgow, where he entered the counting-house of Stewart & Macdonald, manufacturers. In 1869 he removed to Belfast, but returned to Glasgow shortly afterwards. Here he remained for 7 yrs., in the employment of Wm. Cross, shawl manufacturer. He came to Can., 1877, and has since then filled a responsible position in the dry goods establishment of Hy. Morgan & Co., Colonial Ho., Montreal. Alex. G. Murdoch, in his "Recent and Living Scottish Poets," relates that Mr. R. "early discovered a talent for poetical composition, and indulging his fancy in leisure hours, made rapid and distinct progress in the art." Under the nom de plume of "Rob Wanlock," he contributed with much acceptance to local and other journals, and, in 1874, issued a volume under the title, "Moorland Rhymes," which the Scotsman said was filled with musings "of uncommon beauty and purity." To this volume Mr. R. has added another: "Poems, Songs and Sonnets" (1894), which has greatly added to his reputation. He is included in Edwards' "One Hundred modern Scottish Poets," and is mentioned elsewhere as being next to Hew Ainslie and Thos. C. Latto, "the most tender, and most truly and intensely Scottish singer" of the day. Mr. R. is the poet-laureate of the Montreal Caledonian Soc., and, in 1896, won the Kinnear wreath, a prize offered by the North Am. United Caledonian Assn., for the best song or poem of the year. His lyric, "Kirkbride," which Prof. J. C. Murray considers one of the best productions of recent Scottish poetry, carried the prize. In addition to other positions of a similar kind, Mr. R. is a gov. of the Prot. Hospital for the Insane. He m. some yrs. ago, Miss Mary Lawson, Montreal.—"Rosehill," Outremont, Montreal.

REID, Robert Gillespie, railway contractor, was b. at Coupar Angus, Perthshire, Scot., and went to Australia in 1865, being then engaged principally in gold mining and public works. In 1871 he came to Am., and had charge of the building of the Internl. Bridge crossing Niagara River near Buffalo. In 1874 he had charge of the building of bridges between Montreal and Ottawa, on the Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa Ry., now forming a portion of the Can. Pac. Ry. He contracted for and built the bridge across the Colorado River at Austin, Texas, in 1880, and all the iron and masonry bridges on the first 250 miles of the Southern Pac. Ry., west from San Antonio. He built the Internl. Ry. Bridge between Texas and Mexico, across the Rio Grande, in 1882, and the ry. bridge across the Delaware River at Water Gap, Pa. He contracted for and built the heaviest sec. of the Can. Pac. Ry. north of Lake Superior, which included a tunnel of 450 ft. through solid granite, erected permanent and temporary bridges on 250 miles of the Can. Pac. Ry., east of Port Arthur, and the Lachine Bridge three-fourths of a mile in length—one of the finest bridges in Can.—across the St. Lawrence, for the Can. Pac. Ry., in 1886, fully completing the same in 6 mths. In 1887 he built the "Soo" bridge across the Sault Ste. Marie River and 86 miles of the Can. Pac. Ry., Sudbury branch. He completed 45 miles of the Can. Govt. Ry. and the bridge across Grand Narrows, Cape Breton, in 1889-90. In the latter year he took a contract from the Nfd. Govt. to build the Hall's Bay Ry., 260 miles, completing the same in 1893, and contracted with the Govt. to build the Western Ry., commencing at the terminus of Hall's Bay line and extending to Port-au-Basque on the west coast of the island, a distance of 250 miles. This work was accomplished in Oct., 1897. Under the contract Mr. R. has the right to operate the whole road for a term of 10 yrs., commencing Sept., 1893. The road will be at once opened for passenger and freight traffic between St. John's and the west coast, connecting by steamer with the Can. mainland. Mr. R. is in partnership with his sons, the firm name being R. G. Reid & Sons. In June, 1896, they applied to the Nfd. Legislature for a charter for the construction of an electric street ry. in the city of St. John's. They have also leased coal-fields from the Govt. there. Mr. R. G. R. was admitted an associate of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1887. He is a Fellow of the Royal Col. Inst., and a gov. of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. A mem. of the Presb. REYNOLDS, William Kilby, author and journalist, is descended on his father's side from New Eng. ancestry, the first of whom in Am. was Robt. Reynolds, a freeman of Boston, 1634. His father was the projector and builder of the St. John Suspension Bridge, 1852-53, and also constructed the first street ry. in St. John, 1870. B. in St. John, N.B., June 19, 1848, he was ed. in a private sch., studied law, but, in 1872, embarked in journalism, in which he has remained. He was successively on the ed. staff of the New Dominion, Daily News, Daily Tribune, and Daily Telegraph, in St. John, N.B., and, in 1878, became ed. of the Sackville Borderer. Later, he was on the ed. staff of the Moncton Times. He joined the Am. newspaper press, 1883, and was staff correspondent of the Boston Globe, and night ed. of the Boston Post. Afterwards, he wrote for the St. John Progress. He is now engaged in general journalistic work. He is the author of various official tourist guide books, prepared for the Intercl. Ry., and has likewise written "The Great Issues" (1891), and "Old-Time Tragedies," forming No. 1 of the "Annals of the Provinces" (1895). He was received into the R. C. Ch., 1894, and is unm.—36 Douglas Ave., St. John, N.B.

RICHARD, Edouard, historian, is the s. of the late Hon. Louis Richard, M.L.C., by his wife, Hermine Prince. B. at Princeville, P.Q., Mch. 14, 1844, he was ed. at the Coll., Nicolet, and graduated B.C.L., at McGill Univ. Called to the bar, 1868, he practised for 7 yrs. at Arthabaskaville, in partnership with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Q.C., now Prime Minister of Can. In 1872 he was returned to the Ho. of Commons, for Megantic, in the Lib. interest, and contributed to the political downfall of Sir John Macdonald. Re-elected at the g. e. 1874, he sat to the end of the 3rd Parlt., 1878, giving a consistent support to Messrs. Mackenzie, Dorion and Laurier. Owing to ill-health, he retired from the political arena, accepting the office of Sheriff of the N. W. T. mainly for the benefit to be derived from a change of climate. Resigning the shrievalty, Jan., 1883, he lived in Winnipeg for some yrs., unsuccessfully contesting St. Boniface, for the Legislature, 1882, and Provencher, for the Ho. of Commons, 1889. While a young man Mr. R. wrote some articles dealing with public questions for L'Opinion Publique, which attracted no little attention. After his restoration to health, he resumed his literary labours, taking up the subject of the deportation of the Acadians from their native country by the Eng., in 1755. Being a direct descendant of some of those who were despoiled and expatriated, and having access to much new material on the subject, Mr. R. had a special interest in taking up this "mournful epic." In his work "Acadia," being "missing links of a lost chapter in Am. hist." (2 vols., N. Y. and Montreal, 1895), he has arrived at the conclusion that the deportation of the Acadians was not only cruel but unnecessary, and that it was not ordered by the Home Govt., but was carried out entirely on the responsibility of Gov. Lawrence and for his own purposes. "The book," says the Toronto Globe, "is more fascinating and more stirring than a romance. It approaches in length nearly a thousand pages, large octavo, and though the author's purpose is anything but to please, the interest intensifies with the theme's progression. The style is copious and exuberant, and possesses both grace and lucidity." RITCHIE, Miss Octavia, M.D. (see England, Frank Richardson, M.D.).

RITCHIE, Thomas, merchant, is the s. of the late Robt. Ritchie, one of Wellington's veterans. B. at Bytown (now Ottawa city), 1838, he received his early education in his native place, afterwards matriculating into Toronto Univ. He likewise studied for the ministry, taking the theol. course at Knox Coll., same city. Circumstances led him to embrace a mercantile life, and he has now been for many yrs. at the head of the largest dry goods house doing business in Belleville and the surrounding dist. Mr. R. is an adherent of the Presb. Ch., and has always been prominent in philanthropic work. As a citizen, he has shown himself to be public-spirited and energetic. Besides founding the Belleville Mechanics' Inst. (of which he was for some time Presdt.), he took a leading part in securing the formation of the local Bd. of Trade, of which he was also Presdt. To him is due likewise the construction of the great bridge connecting the mainland with the Co. of Prince Edward, and also largely the erection of the fine new hotel lately opened in Belleville. After declining the offer of municipal and Parliamentary honours on various occasions, he ran in West Hastings, as an Ind. candidate, at the Dom. g. e. 1896, but was unsuccessful (Vote: Corby, C., 1836; Ritchie, Ind., 1591). Several brochures have appeared from Mr. R.'s pen, including: "The Unequal Distribution of Wealth"; "The Fallacy of Insolvency"; and "The Church and the Labour Question." Though an individualist, he holds that all those things which are naturally monopolies ought to be brought under State control as speedily as the advance of social enlightenment will permit, and the income therefrom applied to public revenue. Politically, he is a Reformer. He m. 1873, Mary, dau. of the late Rufus Holden, M.D., Belleville, Ont.—Belleville, Ont.

ROACH, George, capitalist, is the s. of the late Jas. Roach, by his wife, Sarah Robinson. B. in the Isle of Wight, Nov. 30, 1818, he was ed. at Lymington, and devoted himself to a commercial career. Coming to Am., he spent 2 yrs. in N. Y., removing to Can., 1843. Taking up his residence in Hamilton, Ont., 1847, he has continued to reside there ever since. He sat as an Ald. in the City Council for a lengthened period, and was Mayor of Hamilton, 1875-76. Mr. R. has been a dir. of the Bank of Hamilton since its first organization. He is also V.-P. of Hamilton St. Ry. Co. Among various other offices held by him from time to time have been the following: V.-P. of the Ladies' Coll., Presdt. of the Hamilton Cricket Club, Presdt. of the Hamilton Horticultural Soc., Chairman of the Comnrs. of the Hamilton and Milton Road Co., Presdt. of the Anglo-Can. Mortgage Co., Presdt. of St. George's Soc., Presdt. of the Wentworth Land Co., and Presdt. of the Hamilton Central Fair Assn. For yrs. he was a noted breeder of swine, and brought into the country some of the finest Berkshire, Suffolk and Essex breeds ever imported into Can. At the World's Fair, Chicago, he exhibited 4 car loads of his favourite breeds, and carried off all the leading prizes. In religious belief, he is an Ang.; politically, he is a Con., and has been Presdt. of the local Lib.-Con. Assn. He is also a Mason and a Forester. He m. May, 1844, Mary, dau. of the late Wm. Henderson, formerly of Aberdeenshire, Scot.—Barton Street, Hamilton, Ont.

ROBERTSON, James Wilson, Dom. public service, was b. at Dunlop, Ayrshire, Scot., Nov. 2, 1857, and is the s. of John Robertson, by his wife, Mary Wilson. After serving in a commercial house in Glasgow, he came to Can., 1875, and embarked almost immediately in the business of cheese-making. At once his skill became noted, and 9 yrs. later he was mangr. of 8 large cheese factories in Ont. In 1886 he was apptd. Prof. of Dairying in the Ont. Agricul. Coll., and, in 1890, he was apptd. Dairy Comnr. and Agriculturist to the Central Experimental Farm maintained by the Dom. Govt. at Ottawa. He was also hon. resident Lecturer of Dairy Husbandry at Cornell Univ., N. Y., 1888-90. The mammoth cheese exhibited at the World's Fair, 1893, was manufactured under his supervision. Prof. R. has accomplished many noteworthy and important results in connection with his office, one of which is the genl. introduction of the system of making ensilage into Ont. and the other provinces. In 1897 he was apptd. hon. Secy. of the prov. comte. for establishing a fund in connection with the foundation of the Victorian Order of Nurses in Can. In the same year he departed on a mission to Brit. for the purpose of bringing before the bds. of trade, chambers of commerce and produce and provision exchanges in a few of the large cities the improved transportation facilities provided by the Govt. for the carriage of Can. food products to the Brit. markets. ROBERTSON, John Charles, educationist, is the s. of Wm. R. and Fanny A. Robertson, of Goderich, Ont., and was b. at Brampton, Ont., Apl. 2, 1864. Ed. at Goderich and at Toronto Univ. (B.A., and gold med. in Classics, 1883), he was apptd. Fellow in Classics in Univ. Coll., Toronto, a position he filled successfully for the full term of 3 yrs. In 1887 he entered on a post-graduate course in Johns Hopkins Univ., where, in a short time, he was elected to a sch. in Latin and Greek. Following his return to Can., he was successively classical master in Owen Sound Coll. Inst. and first Headmaster of the High Sch., Toronto Junction. While engaged in this work, Mr. R. found time to prepare editions of the books of Cæsar and Virgil, read and used in the High schs., and, in collaboration with Adam Carruthers, prepared a primary Latin book, which has been authorized for use in the High schs. of Ont., N. B., B. C. and the N. W. T. He was apptd. lecturer in Greek in Victoria Univ., Toronto, Aug., 1894. He m. 1889, Eleanor A., dau. of B. B. Toye, Toronto. — Victoria University, Toronto, Ont.

ROBERTSON, John Palmerston, librarian, was b. at Fortingal, Perthshire, Scot., May 23, 1841. Coming to Can., 1845, he resided in Ottawa from that time till 1879. Ed. there, he graduated as a public sch. teacher at the Normal Sch., Toronto. Retiring from the teaching profession, he was engaged for some yrs. in journalism, first in Ottawa, and afterwards in Winnipeg. He was for some yrs. a public sch. trustee and an ald. in Ottawa. He has been Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc., Winnipeg, and is a Depty. Royal Chief of the Order of the Scottish Clans. He is agent of the Can. Associated Press, Winnipeg. He was apptd. Provl. Librarian of Man., July 1, 1884, and is the author of the "Political Manual of Man. and the N. W. T." (1887). In religion, a Presb., he m. July, 1869, Jessie, 3rd dau. of Wm. ROBERTSON, John Ross, journalist and legislator, is the eld. s. of John Robertson, a native of Nairn, Scot., who was for many yrs. head of the firm of John Robertson & Sons, wholesale dry goods merchants, Toronto, by his wife, Margt., dau. of Hector Sinclair, of Stornoway, Island of Lewis, Scot. Mr. R. came to Can., 1833, from Nairn. He was the direct descendant of Duncan R., chief of the clan of Struan Robertson, 1347. B. in Toronto, Dec. 28, 1841, he was ed. at U. C. Coll., and attended that institution for 7 yrs. In 1857, while at the coll., he occupied his spare hours in learning his trade as a printer. He commenced a small office which he established in his father's house, and from which he issued to the boys at school a paper under the name of the College Times, and also the Boys' Times, a monthly publication that existed 1857-60. He also published during a year at the Model Grammar Sch., the Young Canada. He picked up a genl. knowledge of his business in city offices, and his face was a familiar one in the old Guardian office, the Globe office, the Leader, and that of his friend, Alex. Jacques. In 1861 he equipped a newspaper and job office, and issued the Sporting Life, devoted to athletic sports, and subsequently continued the publication of the Grumbler, a weekly satirical paper, at one time edited by W. J. Rattray and Chief-Justice Moss. In 1863-64 he worked on the reportorial and business staff of the Leader, continuing at the same time the management of his printing office. In 1864 he joined the Globe staff, as city ed., and, in 1866, he was one of the founders of the Daily Telegraph, a journal that had a high reputation among the newspapers of Can. during the 5 yrs. of its existence. It ceased publication, 1872, Mr. R. then proceeding to London, Eng., where for 3 yrs. he acted as resident correspondent and business representative of the Toronto Daily Globe. On his return to Can., 1875, he assumed the business management of the Nation, edited by Prof. Goldwin Smith. In 1876 he established the Evening Telegram, a newspaper which met with wonderful success from its first issue, and which paper Mr. R. still owns and conducts. "The immediate success of this paper," said the Globe, in a recent sketch of Mr. R.'s career, "is ample evidence that he has graduated from a good sch. of journalism. Neither accident nor luck had aught to do with his success. He launched out in new and original lines, and the good fortune that attended his efforts was the earning of his energy, enthusiasm and experience, reinforced by a persistence and resource that would admit of no failure. It is these qualities that Mr. R. brings to his every undertaking. This has been publicly demonstrated by his Masonic career and his able management of that great charity—the Hospital for Sick Children." Mr. R. has held, and still holds, high rank in the Masonic order. After having served successively as Grand Senior Warden, as Dist. Depty. Grand Master and as Depty. Grand Master, he became Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Can., 1890, and was subsequently chosen Grand 1st Principal of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Can. He is also Grand Representative of the Grand Lodge of Eng. in Can., having been apptd. to succeed Sir John A. Macdonald in that office on the death of the latter, 1891; indeed, every honour at the disposal of his fellow-craftsmen has been accorded him. Mr. R. was Presdt. of the Can. Copyright Assn., 1888-96, and rendered important services in that regard. He is the author of the "History of the Degrees of the Cryptic Rite in Can.," etc. (1888); of the "History of the Knights Templar of Can. from the foundation of the Order to the present time" (1890); of "Talks with Craftsmen" (1893), and of "Robertson's Landmarks of Toronto" (3 Vols.). He was also a contributor to the U. C. Coll. Memorial Volume, 1893. He is now engaged on a complete history of Masonry in Can. In 1888 the ambulance system in Toronto was unsatisfactory, and with a view of making it efficient, Mr. R. imported from London, Eng., a modern ambulance, fully equipped, and presented it to the city. It marked a new era in this humane work. The city has now 5 ambulances and a staff of offrs. for this special dept. But it is as Chairman of the Bd. of Trustees of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, that he will be most gratefully remembered. For many yrs. he has carried the chief burden of this important charitable institution, bringing to its needs not only much money of his own, but aiding it with the full force of his powers as a financier and organizer. At Christmas, 1896, he asked for public subscriptions to the hospital through the Telegram, and in a few weeks $15,000 were subscribed and paid. At a cost of $30,000 he built and founded, in connection with the Hospital, the Lakeside Home for Little Children, at Lighthouse Point, Toronto Island, with an accommodation for 150 patients and an entire hospital equipment. Here during the summer mths. the suffering little ones are won back to health and strength with the aid of the cool breezes which sweep across Lake Ont. This gift has been amplified by further donations amounting to $40,000, a total of $70,000. At the Dom. g. e. 1896, Mr. R. was returned to the Ho. of Commons, for East Toronto, defeating Emerson Coatsworth, the candidate of the Tupper Con. Admn., by a majority of 1616 votes. He was returned as an Ind. Con., pledged to oppose any Govt. which would interfere with the Man. Sch. question, and pledged to support the "National Policy," and to vote for the general good of the country. His political career, it is believed, will be a creditable one. Mr. R. is an Orangeman and an adherent of the Presb. Ch. He m. 1st, Maria Louisa, dau. of Edward Earle Mathew Gillbee, of Barby, Northamptonshire, Eng. (she d. 1886); and 2ndly, 1888, Jessie Elizabeth, dau. of Geo. B. Holland, Toronto, Ont. From there he passed into the service of the Meteorological Bureau, Toronto, as asst. to the late Prof. Kingston. After a year, he accepted the position of chief math. master and teacher of history in the St. Catharines Coll. Inst., where he has remained up to the present time. He was for 7 yrs. examr. in Metaph., Ethics, Modern Hist. and Political Science in his Alma Mater. He has acted also as examr. for U. C. Coll. and McMaster Univ. He has bestowed much of his leisure to authorship. Besides numerous fugitive articles contributed to the newspaper and periodical press, he has published a "Sketch of Can. Banking and Currency since 1867," with a comparison between Can. Banking and the Am. and Brit. systems; "The Teacher's Relation to the State"; "A Comparison of the Political Institutions of Can. with those of Gt. Brit. and Irel., and with those of the U. S."; and "The Growth of the Can. Constitution." In 1886, in conjunction with Dr. Birchard, Toronto, he published a "High Sch. Algebra," which is now generally used in High schs. of the Province, and during the same year, in conjunction with G. M. Adam, he prepared the "Public Sch. History of Eng. and Can." He and his collaborator, Dr. Birchard, have since issued a "Higher Algebra," which is much used in Ont., and has received high recommendations in Germany. In 1891 Mr. R. prepared the "High Sch. History of Eng. and Can." the Eng. portion being an adaptation of Miss Buckley's "History of Eng.," but the Can. history being entirely original work. The work has been accepted over a wide area in Can. Since then he has written "The Public Sch. History of Eng. and Can.," which is now the authorized text-book in Ont., while the Can. portion is authorized in Quebec. He is now engaged in writing a history of Greece and Rome. From the foregoing it will be seen that the line of his studies has been in the direction of Political Science in all its ramifications and history. In 1892 he was apptd. by the Dom. Educational Assn. the Ont. representative on the comte. for securing and revising manuscripts dealing with the history of Can. from a Dom. standpoint; and, in 1895, he was chosen to be the first Presdt. of the Historical Assn. then formed in Toronto, for the purpose primarily of securing the improvement of history teaching in the schs. and colls. of Ont. He is also Presdt. of the Historical Dept. of the Ont. Educational Assn. In 1892 he was an applicant for appt. to the chair of Political Science in Toronto Univ., and was very strongly recommended for the position. A mem. of the Meth. Ch., he is also a del. to the Genl. Conf. of that body, and is a mem. of the Bd. of Regents and a Senator of Victoria Univ. He has been V.-P. of the Math. Assn. of Ont., and is now V.-P. of the Y.M.C.A. of Ont. and Quebec. In St. Catharines he is Chairman of the Free Library Bd. Politically, Mr. R. is an Ind. Lib. He believes in Free Trade as far as it can be obtained; the political Ind. of Can.; unsectarian schs.; the development of a Can. sentiment and literature; and the moderation of party feeling. ROBIDOUX, Hon. Joseph Emery, Q.C., legislator, is the s. of the late Toussiant Robidoux, and was b. at St. Philippe de Laprairie, P.Q., Mch. 10, 1844. Ed. at the Montreal Coll., and at St. Mary's (Jesuit) Coll., same city, he followed the law course at McGill Univ. (B.C.L., 1866; D.C.L. in course, 1887), and was called to the bar, 1866. He has since practised in Montreal, and was for some yrs. in partnership with Thos. Fortin, M.P. He was created a Q. C., by the Provl. Govt., 1879. Apptd. Prof. of Civil Law in McGill Univ., he filled the chair for over 10 yrs., but was compelled to withdraw from it owing to the increase in his practice. He was elected Presdt. of the McGill Graduates' Soc., 1884; was elected Bâtonnier of the Montreal bar, 1895, re-elected 1896; and was also elected Bâtonnier-Général, 1896. In the same year he was elected Presdt. of the newly organized Can. Bar Assn. A Lib. in politics, Mr. R. was called upon, while his friends were formerly in office, to conduct an enquiry on the subject of the admn. of justice in the Montreal Dist. He was returned to the Legislature for Chateauguay, Mch., 1884, to fill a death vacancy, and continued to hold the seat up to the overthrow of the Mercier Admn. (in which he held office, first as Provl. Secy., and afterwards as Atty.-Genl.), 1892. At the g. e. 1897, he was again elected for Chateauguay, and on the formation of Mr. Marchand's Cabinet, in May, became Provl. Secy. therein. In religion, a R. C., he m. June, 1878, the dau. of Jas. ROBINS, Sampson Paul, educationist, is the s. of the Rev. P. Robins (Bib. Chris.), by his wife, Ann Vickery, and was b. at Faversham, Kent, Eng., Jan. 26, 1833. Coming to Can. with his parents, 1846, he received his primary education at Peterboro', Ont., afterwards entering McGill Univ. (B.A., with 1st rank honours in Math. and Physics, 1863; M.A., 1868; LL.D., 1880). "A born educator," he has been engaged in teaching from an early age. He was on the staff of the Provl. Normal and Model Sch. of U. C. for some yrs., and was, subsequently, Head-master of the Central Sch., Brantford, Ont. On the establishment of the McGill Normal Sch., in Montreal, 1857, he became Prof. of Math. therein, and so continued until his appt. as Principal of the institution, July 12, 1883. Dr. R. was for some time Supdt. of the Prot. Schs. of Montreal, has likewise held office as Presdt. of the Assn. of Prot. Teachers, P. Q., and became the representative of the latter body at the Bd. of the Council of Public Instruction. He was a mem. of the Dom. History Comte. In religion, a Meth., he is also a class-leader and local preacher in that body, and a Senator of the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal. He m. 1st, 1854, Miss Elizabeth Hore, Camborne, Ont. ROBINSON, Andrew Rose, M.D., was b. of joint Eng. and Scottish parentage, at Claude, Ont., July 31, 1845. Ed. at the Brampton High Sch., he graduated M.B. (with honours) at Toronto Univ., 1869, his third year being spent in N. Y., attending the Bellevue Hospital Med. Coll. After graduating, he went to Edinburgh (L.R.C.P. & S.), and thence to London and Paris. Subsequently, he studied in Vienna, for 18 mths. and returning, took up his permanent residence in N. Y., where he has since attained an eminent position, especially as a Pathol. He was Prof. of Histology and Pathol. Anatomy in the Women's Med. Coll. of the N. Y. Infirmary for many yrs., and was one of the founders of the N. Y. Polyclinic, in which, since its foundation, he has been Prof. of Dermat. He is a mem. of the Am. Dermat. Assn. (Presdt., 1896), of the N. Y. Dermat. Soc., and of the N. Y. Acad. of Med., and was Presdt. of the Sec. for Dermat. and Syphilis of the 9th Internl. Med. Congress, held at Washington, 1877. As an original investigator in the field of dermat. enquiry, his writings have been numerous and are everywhere highly regarded by the med. profession. His best known work is "A Manual of Dermat." (N. Y., 1886). In 1895 he wrote on a hitherto undescribed disease of the skin, and called it "hidrocystoriia." At present (1898) he is writing on "Cancer of the Skin." Dr. R. devotes himself exclusively to science, and has no time for politics. He is, however, of the opinion that Can. and the U. S. should be politically united. He was brought up a Presb., but he respects all religions that teach morality, and "to do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." ROBINSON, Miss Augusta Louisa, vocalist, is the young. dau. of the late Hon. John Beverley Robinson, Lt.-Gov. of Ont., 1880-87, by his wife, Mary Jane, dau. of the late Hon. C. A. Hagerman, a Justice of the Queen's Bench, U. C. B. in Toronto, she received her early musical education in her native city, continuing it under Agramonte, in N. Y. She then spent a year in Paris, under Mad. La Borde, and worked hard for 3 yrs. in London, gaining experience under Randegger and Henschel. While in Eng., she made a tour in the provinces with Maud Valerie White (some of whose songs she sings), Plunkett Green and others. Returning to Can., 1895, she achieved great success in the "Creation," and also whilst abroad, in "Elijah" and the "Messiah." In Dec., 1896, she accompanied Mad. Albani on an extended tour in Can. and the U. S., as her chief support. Her voice is a soprano of mezzo quality, well suited to the just interpretation of great oratorio works. She inherits her musical gifts from her mother, who was a talented amateur vocalist.—10 Ross St., Toronto.

ROBINSON, Maj.-Genl. Charles Walker, Lieut.-Governor and Secy. of Chelsea Hospital, is the 4th and young. s. of the late Chief-Justice Sir J. B. Robinson, Bart. (U. E. L. descent). He was b. at Beverley House, Toronto, Apl. 3, 1836, and received his education at U. C. Coll. and Trinity Univ., Toronto, where he took his degree in 1855, being made a D.C.L. (hon. causâ) of the same, 1879. Though originally intended for the army, he had about determined to adopt another career when circumstances combined to confirm his original intention. Can. had contributed generously to the Patriotic Fund during the Crimean war, and H. R. H. the Prince Consort was desirous of acknowledging it by bestowing a commission in his own distinguished regt., the Rifle Brigade, upon some worthy Can. For many yrs. both the public and private life of U. C. had been dignified and adorned by Sir J. B. Robinson, who, alike by official station and public consent, was regarded as the most eminent subject of the Crown in his province. It was, therefore, a fitting and graceful acknowledgment of his undoubted pre-eminence that this commission should have been placed at the disposal of one of the mems. of his family, without purchase, and such having been done, his young. s., under circumstances gratifying to the whole community, began a career which has been watched with interest by all Canadians. Entering the service in 1857 as 2nd lieut. in the Rifle Brigade, he remained in that corps until 1885. He served with the 2nd Batt. of his regt. during the Indian mutiny (medal), and throughout the second phase of the Ashanti war, from Dec. 12, 1873, as Brigade Major to the European Brigade, including the battle of Amoaful, battle of Ordahsu, and capture of Coomassie (mentioned in despatches, Bt. of Major, medal with clasp). He served in the Zulu war, 1879, and was present in the engagement at Ulundi (mentioned in despatches, Bt. of Lt.-Col., medal with clasp). He became a full col., 1885, and went on half-pay in the following year. His merits have been recognized by the many important staff appts. which he has held. He was for a time Mil. Instructor at Sandhurst, then Asst. Adjt.-Genl. at Aldershot, and Brigade Major there. In 1890 he became Asst. Mil. Secy. at the Horse Guards. In 1892 he was apptd. to the command of the troops at the Mauritius, carrying with it the temporary rank of Maj.-Genl., an appt. all the more popular in the service, as it saved Col. R. from the operation of the 57 yrs. rule, to which he would have fallen a victim under other circumstances. The Army and Navy Gazette, in a highly eulogistic article, expressed the satisfaction which was felt in the service that an officer, "zealous, courteous, capable and deserving," should thus escape a regulation which had been disastrous to the hopes and aspirations of so many old and deserving officers, and declared that the whole service would regard it as a healthy sign of the encouragement of merit. He returned to Eng. early in 1895 to assume the duties of Lt.-Gov. and Secy. of Chelsea Hospital, which post he still retains. He is the author of a small vol.: "Observations on the Battle of Sedan" (1871), and has translated a book by the Duke of Wurtemberg on the system of attack of the Prussian Infy. in the campaign of 1870-71. He was apptd. a C.B., 1887, and was awarded a distinguished service pension, 1896. Gen. R. m. 1884, Margt. Frances, eld. dau. of Genl. Sir Archibald Alison, G. C. ROBINSON, Christopher, Q.C., is the 3rd s. of the late Hon. Sir J. B. Robinson, C.B., and was b. at Beverley House, Toronto, Jan. 21, 1828. He was ed. at U. C. Coll. and King's Coll., Toronto, afterwards taking an ad eund. degree at Trinity Univ., Toronto. He was called to the bar, 1850, beginning the practice of his profession in 1852, the two intervening yrs. having been spent in travel. Mr. R. was apptd. Reporter to the Ct. of Queen's Bench, 1856, and continued as such until 1872, when the system being changed and assimilated to that of Eng., he became ed. of the "Law Reports." In 1885 he was elected a Bencher of the Law Soc. of U. C., and retired from the editorship of the "Reports." For many yrs. he travelled the western circuit, only accepting special retainers elsewhere. Devoting himself exclusively to his profession he has been engaged in many cases of great public interest and importance, notably the case of Whelan, convicted in 1868 of the murder of the Hon. T. D. McGee, M.P., when he argued for the Crown the writ of error after the trial (28 U. C. R. 1). He appeared for the defence in the famous political libel suit of the Queen vs. Wilkinson, and made the application to the Court to have the late Hon. Geo. Brown convicted for contempt for his attack on the late Sir Adam Wilson (41 U. C. R. 1). In 1884 he argued before the Judicial Comte. of the Privy Council the case for the Dom. Govt. in the arbitration with the Province of Man., respecting the boundaries of that province. In 1885 he was leading counsel for the Crown in the prosecution of Louis Riel, at Regina, for high treason, and, in 1889-90, he represented the Dom. Govt. in the arbitration with the Can. Pac. Ry., arising out of the construction of that road. In 1890-91 he was senior counsel for the City of Toronto in the arbitration with the Street Ry. Co., which went in appeal to the Privy Council, where Mr. R. argued the case in 1893. In the long litigation known as Conmee vs. the Can. Pac. Ry., Mr. R. acted for the defence (except while engaged elsewhere). He also appeared before the Privy Council in the important cases of Baldwin vs. Kingston, and Tennant vs. the Union Bank. In 1893 he was retained with Sir Chas. Russell, then Atty.-Genl. of Eng. (now Lord Russell of Killowen, Chief-Justice of Eng.), and Sir Richard Webster, formerly Atty.-Genl. of Eng., upon behalf of the Brit. Govt. in the famous Behring Sea arbitration with the U. S., the arbitrators being Lord Hannen and the late Sir John Thompson, selected by Gt. Brit.; Judge Harlan of the Supreme Ct., and Senator Morgan, for the U. S.; the Baron de Courcel (Presdt. of the Tribunal), now French Ambassador in London, apptd. by the French Govt.; Mr. Gram, by the Govt. of Sweden, and Viscount Venesta, by that of Italy; and was specially complimented by the London Times for the "brilliant speech at the conclusion of the argument in which he summarized the whole case, reducing it to a series of concise propositions which, from the Brit. point of view, demonstrated the absurdity of the Am. claims." Upon the conclusion of his labours before this tribunal, Mr. R. was offered knighthood for his services, which for private reasons he respectfully declined. Except in so far as the duties of his profession are concerned, Mr. R. is in no way connected with public life, and is in no sense a public man. It is well known that he has frequently been pressed by Govt. to accept of judicial appts., upon vacancies arising in various cts., but he has steadily declined the highest preferment. He is the acknowledged leader of the bar of Ont., and before the Supreme Ct. and the Privy Council, is recognized as leader of the Can. bar. A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. ROBINSON, Rev. George Livingstone (Presb.), educationist, was b. at West Hebron, N.Y., Aug. 19, 1864. After graduating at Princeton Coll., N. J., 1887, he spent 3 yrs. at Beyrout, Syria, as an instructor in the Syrian Prot. Coll. at that place, and there conceived a special taste for Oriental studies. This was deepened during his theol. course at Princeton Semy., 1890-93. During the vacations he attended the summer sch. at Chautauqua and elsewhere, under the direction of Dr. Harper, in order to perfect himself yet more in these studies. Upon graduating from Princeton Theol. Semy., he was awarded the Fellowship in Old Test. literature, which carries with it an income of $600 and the privilege of spending a year at a foreign univ. in Old Test. study. This was continued to him for a second year, a favour which has been accorded to only one other person. He prosecuted his studies for one year at the Univ. of Berlin, and for one year at Leipsic (Ph. D., 1895). The thesis he presented on this occasion was a defence of the unity of the Book of Zechariah, which has been reprinted. He m. Miss Jessie Patten Lee Harvey, of Cairo, Egypt, before coming home. On his return from Germany, he became pastor of Roxbury Presb. Ch., Boston, and he was still fulfilling the duties of that position when apptd. (June, 1896) to that which he at present holds, viz., the professorship of Old Test. Lit. in Knox Coll., Toronto. He was subsequently apptd. successively Demonstrator of Anatomy, Prof. of Clinical Surgery and Prof. of Surgery, which latter chair he still holds. He stands at the head of his branch of the profession in Can., was formerly on the staff of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, whose med. surgical service he organized and equipped, and is now consulting surg. to that institution as well as to the Montreal Genl. Hospital. For several yrs. he made repeated and prolonged visits to London and other great centres of surgical teaching in Europe. He was one of the very first in this country to receive the personal instruction of Lord Lister, in his methods of dressing wounds antiseptically. He has also been quite familiar with the progress of surgery in N. Y. and other parts of the U.S. His advice has always been eagerly sought after in surgical cases. He joined the V. M. force, 1868, being then apptd. Asst. Surg. to the Grand Trunk Rifle Brigade. Subsequently, he commanded the Univ. ROE, The Venerable Henry, Archdeacon of Quebec (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of the late John Hill Roe, M.D., T.C.D., St. John's, P.Q., by his wife, Jane Ardagh, both belonging to very old Irish families. B. at Henryville, P.Q., Feb. 22, 1829, he was ed. at first in Workman's Sch., and afterwards at Archdeacon Scott's Sch., both in Montreal. Entering McGill Univ., 1843, as Longueuil scholar, he migrated to Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, on its being established, 1845 (B.A., and Mackie prizeman, 1855; M.A., 1867; B.D., 1879; D.D., 1879; hon. D.C.L., 1896). Ordained deacon, 1852, and priest, 1853, by the late Bp. Mountain, he went first as mission. to New Ireland. In 1855 he was apptd. incumbent of St. Matthew's, Quebec, and was apptd. examg. chaplain to the Lord Bp. of the Diocese, 1865. Resigning his city appt., 1868, to throw himself into mission. work, he accepted charge of Richmond and Melbourne in the E. T., which, under his hands, grew into a rectory. From this position he was called, 1873, to take the chair of Divinity and Pastoral Theol. in his Alma Mater. Later, he became Dean of this Faculty, and Vice-Principal of the Coll., 1882. In 1884, through his untiring efforts, $25,000 were raised towards the Harrold Divinity Fund of the Coll., and also endowments were established for the Principal's chair, and the chair of Pastoral Theol. Dr. R. was apptd. Archdeacon of Quebec, 1888, being next in succession (after an interval of 25 yrs.) to the revered Bp. G. J. Mountain. In 1891 he retired from Bishop's Coll., and accepted the appt. of Genl. Mission. Agent of the Diocese. This he resigned, 1894. He then accepted his present charge, the mission of Brompton and Windsor. In 1873 he was one of 5 clergymen who were nominated by the Ho. of Bishops for the Bishopric of Algoma. He has been a del. to both the Provl. and the Genl. synods from their establishment, and has been also on the comte. apptd. by the former to consider the question how best to restore the unity of the Church. During Bp. Williams's absence from the diocese for a year, in 1888, and on some occasions since, Archdeacon R. administered the Diocese as Commissary and V.-G. As such also he presided at the Synod which resulted in the election of Bp. Dunn. He was apptd. by Archbp. Lewis to preach before the Provl. Synod, 1895. He is regarded in all quarters as a learned Biblical authority. Among his published works are: "The Ritual Question" (1858); "The Bicentenary of the Prayer Book" (1862); "Purgatory, Transubstantiation and the Mass Examined" (2nd ed., 1863); "The Place of Giving in the Christian Economy" (1880); "Blessed are the Peacemakers" (1886); "The Place of Laymen in the Spiritual Work of the Christian Ch." ROSAMOND, Bennett, manufacturer and legislator, is the s. of the late James Rosamond, a native of Leitrim, Irel., by his wife, Margt. Wilson, a native of Paisley, Scot. B. at Carleton Place, Ont., May 10, 1833, he was ed. at the Grammar Sch. there, and commenced his business career under his father, who had established flour, woollen and others mills at that village. In 1857 the family moved to Almonte, the father having purchased the ground property and rights of the Ramsay Woollen Cloth Manfy., and built mills there. In 1862 he and his bro. Wm. took a lease of the concern. They doubled the capacity of their mill, and, in 1866, admitted George Stephen (now Lord Mount Stephen) as a partner. Since then the business has continued to grow, and is now known as the Rosamond Woollen Co., Mr. R. being Presdt. thereof. He is also Presdt. of the Almonte Knitting Co., and is interested in the Cobourg Woollen Co., of which his bro. is Presdt. In 1890 he was elected Presdt. of the Can. Manfrs'. Assn. As a public man, he was Reeve and afterwards Mayor of Almonte and Chairman of the Bd. of Education. Politically, a Con., he unsuccessfully contested North Lanark for the Ho. of Commons, as an Ind. member of the party, against Hon. Wm. Macdougall, Nov., 1864, and was again a candidate for the same seat, g. e. 1872. He was also unsuccessful at the Provl. g. e. 1871. He was first returned to the Ho. of Commons, Dec., 1891, replacing Mr. Jamieson, on his appt. as a Co. Ct. Judge, and has been re-elected at every subsequent appeal to the people. He was apptd. a mem. of the Finance Comte. of the Lib.-Con. Union of Ont., 1896. He is a believer in a moderate protective policy, and favours reciprocity with the U. ROSE, Charles Day, banker, is the 2nd s. of the late Rt. Hon. Sir John Rose, Bart., G.C.M.G., for a time Mr. of Finance in Can., by his 1st wife, Charlotte Emmett Temple. B. in Montreal, Aug. 23, 1847, he was ed. at the High Sch. there, and was in his youth a noted athlete, holding the record for the fastest half-mile on snowshoes. He was a capt. in the Montreal Garr. Arty., and served with that corps at Trout River on the occasion of the Fenian invasion, 1870. Entering the banking firm of Morton, Rose & Co., London and N. Y., he succeeded his father therein, and is now head of the firm. In 1880 he joined the present Lord Mount Stephen and the present Lord Strathcona in the syndicate formed by those noblemen for the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry., and remained a mem. of the co. for a considerable period. Mr. R. is a prominent mem. of the Eng. Jockey Club, and has won with his horses some great events on the Eng. turf, including a 2000 guinea race at Newmarket, 1886. In 1893 he took to yachting, and, in 1895, after the race in which Lord Dunraven was unsuccessful, issued a challenge, through the Royal Victoria Yacht Club of Eng., to sail a series of matches for the America's Cup in 1896, with the cutter yacht Distant Shore, which challenge was accepted, but was subsequently withdrawn by Mr. R. in view of "the general impression that his challenge might be construed as an expression of opinion on the result of the last race." In 1897 he was having a new racing cutter built, and it was thought probable that he would issue a challenge for the America's Cup during the yachting season of 1898. Politically, Mr. R. is a Con.; in religious faith, an Ang. He m. 1871, Eliza, dau. of John R. McClean, ex-M.P. for Stafford, Eng. —10 Austinfriars, London, E.C.; "Hardwick House," Reading, Eng.

ROSE, George MacLean, author and publisher, was b. in Wick, Caithness-shire, Scot., Mch. 14, 1829, and learned the art of printing in the office of the John o'Groat Journal. Coming to Can. when a young man, he established a job office in Montreal, proceeding afterwards to Merrickville, Ont., where he became connected with the Merrickville Chronicle, a weekly paper founded by the Rev. Dr. Muir (q. v.). Subsequently, he was city ed. of the London Prototype, under the late Marcus Talbot, M.P. In 1858 he became mangr. for the late Saml. Thompson, Toronto, for whom he published the Daily Atlas, and with whom he went to Quebec, 1859, on the latter's becoming Parliamentary and Department Printer there. Mr. R. remained with Mr. T. until he threw up his contract in the early sixties. A new firm was then formed—the firm of Hunter, Rose & Co.—which took over the contract and secured its renewal. When the seat of govt. was transferred to Ottawa, 1865, Hunter, Rose & Co. went with it, and from that time, in addition to their regular work, devoted some attention to the publication of works of fiction and sch. books. For this purpose they opened a branch in Toronto, to which city the firm removed its entire establishment on the termination of their contract with the Dom. Govt., 1871. They had previously obtained a 10 years' contract for the printing required by the Provl. Govt. They now entered extensively into the business of publishing Can. reprints of Eng. copyrighted books, principally the popular novels of living writers, for which a ready market was found. They also published latterly at their own risk the Can. Monthly and the Rose-Belford Mag. Mr. R. is now the "Nestor" of his profession in Can., and it is satisfactory to know that his industry and enterprise have placed him in a position of pecuniary ind. Widely as he is known to the Can. people in his business relations, he has acquired a still more extended reputation through his efforts as a promoter of temp. and moral reform. A lifelong total abstainer and prohibitionist, he has taken an active part in temp. work in connection with various organizations. He has attained the highest offices in the gift of the Sons of Temp. in the Dom., having been chosen several times to fill the chair of Grand Worthy Patriarch of the order, both in Quebec and Ont., and he has likewise held the second highest position attainable in the order on this continent—that of Most Worthy Associate of the National Div. of North Am. Mr. R. was one of the founders of the Presb. Ladies' Coll., Ottawa, and was the chief promoter of the Temp. Colonization Co., 1882. He is now a dir. of the Ontario Bank. He was formerly Treas. of the Toronto Bd. of Trade, and became Presdt. of that body, 1882. He has been also Presdt. of the Caithness Club, Toronto. He has compiled several useful books of reference, and has published two volumes under the title of "A Cyclopædia of Can. Biography, being Chiefly Men of the Time" (1886-88). In religion, a Unit., he m. 1856, Margt., dau. of the late Wm. Manson, Co. Oxford, Ont. Politically, he is a Lib.—97 St. Joseph St., Toronto; National Club.

ROSEBRUGH, Abner Mullholland, M.D., is the young. s. of the late Thos. Rosebrugh (U. E. L. descent), B. at Branchton, near Galt, Ont., Nov. 8, 1835, he was ed. at Victoria Coll., Cobourg, where he also took his med. degree, 1859. Continuing his studies in N. Y. and London, he has since practised successfully in Toronto. In 1863 he revived the Free Dispensary of that city, which had been closed for want of funds, establishing it upon a firm basis, and, in 1867, he organized the Toronto Ear and Eye Infirmary. Dr. R. has devoted his attention to med. electricity and ophthal., and delivered lectures on the latter subject at Victoria Coll., 1870-71. In 1864 he invented a new demonstrating ophthalmoscope, and in that year photographed the living fundus oculi. In 1865 he photographed the inverted retinal image of an object placed in front of the living eye. In 1878 he, in association with a friend, anticipated Van Rysselberghe in rendering practicable the simultaneous transmission of telephonic and telegraphic messages on the same wire. He has published "An Introduction to the Study of the Optical Defects of the Eye" (1866), "Chloroform, and a new Way of Administering it" (1869), "A Hand-book of Med. Electricity" (1885), and a pamphlet on "Recent Advances in Electro-Therapeutics" (1887). He was a mem. of the Prison Reform Comn., 1890, and has taken an active part in promoting Prison Reform in Canada. In 1883 he discovered a method of duplexing metallic circuit telephone lines; in 1890 this was improved upon by using doubly wound retardation coils, and, in 1894, his method was adopted by the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada. In 1866 he organized the 33rd Batt., and was lt.-col. commanding it from that time up to his retirement, 1886. He was on frontier duty for 4 mths. during the Fenian raids, 1866; and, in 1869, commanded the gunboat Prince Albert, on special service in the Detroit River. In religious belief, a Presb., he m. 1852, Agnes, dau. of Thos. Rydd, late postmaster, Goderich.—3 Walmer Rd., Toronto.

ROSS, Alexander Milton, M.D., philanthropist and scientist, was b. at Belleville, Ont., Dec. 13, 1832. He is the s. of Wm. Ross, by his wife, Frederika Grant, who were descendants of Scottish Highlanders, who came to Can. from Ross-shire, Scot., 1785. Early in life he evinced a great love for natural history. He attended a sch. at Belleville till his 11th year, when the death of his father compelled him to seek employment. Proceeding to N. Y. he became a compositor on the Evening Post. The ed. of the paper was Wm. Cullen Bryant, the poet, who became interested in the boy and remained his friend in after life. During this period he became acquainted with Garibaldi, who was then a resident of N. Y., and, in 1874, Dr. R. was instrumental in securing a pension for the patriot from the Italian Govt. Studying med. under Dr. Valentine Mott, he received his degree, 1855, and was afterwards admitted a mem. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs., both in

Ont. and Quebec. Soon after graduation he was apptd. a surg. in the Nicaraguan army under Walker. In 1856 he became actively engaged in the anti-slavery struggle in the U. S., and was a personal friend and co-worker of John Brown, of Osawatomie. Of his efforts in this cause Mr. Gladstone has said: "No one can deny the skill, forethought and tenacity which you exhibited, or withhold his admiration for the signal courage, disinterestedness and humanity which formed the basis of your whole proceedings." During the Am. civil war he served for a short time as a surg. in the Federal army, and was afterwards employed by Presdt. Lincoln on a confidential mission in Can. He subsequently offered his services to Presdt. Juarez, of Mexico, and received the appt. of surg. in the Mexican army. After the overthrow of the Empire he returned to Can., where he devoted himself to the collection and classification of the fauna and flora of his native country, a work that had never before been attempted by a native Can. He has collected and classified hundreds of species of birds, eggs, mammals, reptiles and fresh water fishes, 3400 species of insects, and 2000 species of Can. flora. He was apptd. an Officier de l'Acad. Français, 1878; and became a Fellow of the Royal Acad. of Science, Italy, 1879. He has also received the honour of knighthood from the Emperor of Russia and from other crowned heads. Among his various publications Appleton mentions the following: "Recollections of an Abolitionist" (1867); "Birds of Can." (1872); "Butterflies and Moths of Can." (1873); "Flora of Can." (do.); "Forest Trees of Can." (1874); "Ferns and Wild Flowers of Can." (1877); "Mammals, Reptiles and Fresh Water Fishes of Can." (1878); "Vaccination a Medical Delusion" (1885), and "Med. Practice of the Future" (1887). During the small-pox epidemic in Montreal, 1885, Dr. R. was a prominent opponent of vaccination, declaring that it was not only useless as a preventative of small-pox, but that it propagated the disease when practised during the existence of an epidemic. In case of vaccination, he strongly advocates the strict enforcement of sanitation and isolation. He maintains that personal and municipal cleanliness is the only scientific safeguard against zymotic diseases. When the authorities attempted to enforce vaccination by fines and imprisonment, Dr. R. organized the Anti-Compulsory Vaccination League, and successfully resisted what he considered an outrage on human rights. Dr. R. is a radical reformer in religion, med., politics, sociology and dietetics, and a total abstainer from intoxicants and tobacco. He m. 1857, Miss Hester E. Harrington. Their only s., Norman Garibaldi Ross, a med. student at Toronto Univ., has been elected to the membership of the Imp. Soc. of Naturalists of Moscow, Russia, and of the Imp. Zool. Soc. of Vienna, Austria, in recognition of his attainments in entomology. [D. at Detroit, Mich., Oct. 27, 1897.]

ROSS, Rev. Andrew W. (Meth.), was b. at Feterangus, Scot., Aug. 13, 1850, and is the s. of Andrew Ross, by his wife, Ann Murray Smith. Ed. at the public schs., by private tuition, and at Victoria Univ., he was admitted as a probationer to the Meth. ministry, 1872, and regularly ordained, 1877. In the following year he was apptd. a mission. to the Indians on Lake Winnipeg, and spent 10 yrs. at Beren's and Fisher River reserves, but failing health forced him to retire from this particular work. He was also med. dispenser for the Indian Dept., 1880-88. He was apptd. Asst. Secy., Man. and N.-W. Conf., 1892; Secy., 1893; and Presdt. of Conf., 1894. In 1892 he became Presdt. of the Theol. Union of the Conf., and, in the same year, was apptd. Chairman of the Portage la Prairie Dist., which position, together with the pastorate of the ch. at that place, he held until recently. He now occupies a superannuated relation. He looks at all political and national questions entirely from the standpoint of the country's highest good. As he is able to grasp clearly that good on the side of any, or connected with any question, he gives all he has therefor, entirely irrespective of party. He m. ROSS, Arthur Wellington, barrister and broker, is the eld. s. of Donald Ross, J.P., Nairn, Ont., and was b. there, Mch. 25, 1846. Ed. there, at Wardsville High Sch., at Toronto Normal Sch. (1st class cert.), and at Toronto Univ. (B.A., 1874), he became Head-master of Cornwall High Sch., 1868, and Inspr. of Public Schs., Glengarry, 1871. While still a law student, he went to Man., 1877, and was called to the bar there, 1878. Elected a Bencher, 1880, he practised his profession in Winnipeg for some yrs. During the "land fever" in Man. he invested largely in real estate, devoting himself almost altogether to that business. He became V.-P. of the Man. and N.-W. Ry. Co., and subsequently, in 1881, joined the Howland syndicate in its offer to build the Can. Pac. Ry. Afterwards he resided for 6 yrs. in B. C., and, while there, was instrumental in securing for the city of Vancouver the use of the mil. reserve, at the entrance of the harbour, for a park. He was also one of the first to press upon the attention of the Ottawa Govt. the desirability of establishing national parks on the line of the C. P. Ry., and prepared a report on the subject. More recently he has become interested in the Rossland gold fields, and is now head of the firm of A. W. Ross & Co., mining brokers, and genl. mangr. of the North Star Mining, Trading and Transportation Co. He sat for Springfield, as a Lib., in the Man. Assembly, 1878-82, and was then returned for Lisgar, in the Ho. of Commons, as a Lib.-Con. This constituency he continued to represent up to the g. e. 1896, when he retired from political life. ROSS, Francis, capitalist, was b. at Carluke, Scot., 1837. Ed. there, he came to Can., 1857, on the invitation of his uncle, the late Hon. Jas. G. Ross, Presdt. of the Quebec Bank, a large portion of whose wealth he afterwards inherited. He was for many yrs. a mem. of the firm of John Ross & Co., genl. merchants, Quebec. He has been Presdt. of the Quebec and Lake St. John Ry. since 1879, and is also Presdt. of the Kingston and Montreal Forwarding Co., and a dir. of the Great Northern Ry. He was one of the promoters of the MacLaren-Ross Lumber Co., and of the North Pacific Lumber Co., 1889. In religion, a Presb.; politically, he is a Con.—"Holland House," Quebec.

ROSS, George James, Hawaiian public service, is the s. of the late Roderick Ross, a native of Dingwall, Ross-shire, Scot., for many yrs. a prominent citizen of Ottawa, by his wife, Christiana C. A. Cummings. B. at Picton, Ont., May 17, 1838, he was ed. in Ottawa, and followed surveying for some yrs. In 1862 he journeyed to B. C., via N. Y., Panama and San Francisco; was engaged in mining at Cariboo, 1863; and afterwards, up to 1866, lived at Puget Sound. Embarking for China, in the latter year, he remained over at Honolulu, where the vessel called, and has since resided there, following a commercial and official life. From Jan. 1, 1888 to Apl. 1, 1894, he was Auditor-Genl. of the Hawaiian Kingdom.—Honolulu, H.I.

ROSS, Hon. George William, statesman, of Celtic origin, is the s. of the late Jas. Ross, by his wife, Ellen McKinnon, both natives of Ross-shire, who came to Can., 1832. B. near Nairn, Co. Middlesex, Ont., Sept. 18, 1841, he received his early education in the public schs. After receiving a 1st class Co. Bd. cert., empowering him to teach, he took a course at the Normal Sch., Toronto, and, in 1871, secured a 1st class Provl. cert. At a later period he matriculated in law at Albert Univ., graduated LL.B., 1883, and was called to the bar, 1887. In 1871 he was apptd. Inspr. of Public Schs. for the Co. of Lambton, and acted subsequently in a similar capacity for the towns of Petrolea and Strathroy. When the establishment of additional Normal schs. was agitated in Ont., he took a leading part in the creation of the Co. Model Sch. system. After their organization, he prepared a syllabus of lectures for their direction, and for a time filled the position of Inspr. From 1876 to 1880 he was a mem. of the Central Comte. of Examrs. He steadily contended for the uniformity of text-books, and favoured the limiting of Normal schs. to professional work. A Lib. in politics, he was elected in that interest to the Ho. of Commons, for West Middlesex, g. e. 1872, and continued the representative of that riding at Ottawa up to Nov., 1883, when he entered the Mowat Admn. in Ont., as Mr. of Education. This office he retains under Mr. Hardy, being also mem. for West Middlesex in the Legislature. He devoted some yrs. to journalistic work, being at one time ed. of the Strathroy Age, and at another time part prop. of the Huron Expositor. He was also the conductor of the Ont. Teacher, a publication which proved of great service to educationists in all parts of the Province. For many yrs. he was prominently identified with the temp. cause. He was elected Most Worthy Patriarch of the Sons of Temp. of North Am., 1879; founded the Temp. Colonization Co., 1882; attended the Brit. and Col. Temp. Congress, held in London, 1886; was elected Presdt. of the Temp. and Genl. Life Assur. Co., 1885, and was elected a V.-P. of the Ont. Prohibitory Alliance, 1896. As a legislator and admnr. his record is one of no little merit. In 1882 he introduced a resolution in the Ho. of Commons asking for the opening of negotiations looking to the establishment of reciprocal trade between Can. and the U. S., which resolution subsequently gave rise to the agitation in favour of reciprocity. In 1885 he introduced a bill in the Legislature providing for the consolidation of the Public Schs. Act, the High Schs. Act, the Sep. Schs. Act, and the Act respecting Mechanics' Insts. In 1887 he introduced a bill authorizing the federation of the Univ. of Toronto, and the affiliation of the denominational colls. with that national institution. He was also instrumental in placing on the statute book a bill respecting truancy and compulsory attendance at sch. He wrote (1892), in conjunction with Mr. Wm. Buckingham, a biography of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie. Among his other books may be mentioned, "The History of the Sch. System of Ont.," written for the Internl. Series of Educational Works, published by the D. Appleton Co., N. Y.; "A Report of the Schs. of Eng. and Germany"; and "Patriotic Recitations for the Use of Schs. and Colls." In 1893 he was apptd. Chairman of the comte. having for its object the preparation of a history of Can., for the use of the schs. of this country; and, in 1897, served as a V.-P. of the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science. He was also Presdt. for some yrs. of the Dom. Educational Assn. In acknowledgment of his eminent services in behalf of education, he received the degree of LL.D. from St. Andrew's Univ., Scot., 1888. A similar honour was conferred upon him by Victoria Univ., Toronto, 1892, and by Toronto Univ., 1894. In 1896 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can., and, in the same year, was apptd. one of the Comnrs. for the revision of the Ont. Statutes. He is a mem. of the Council of the Toronto Astron. and Phys. Soc., and is likewise interested in the Dom. Sanitarium Assn., of which he was one of the founders. In 1886 he served as an hon. Comnr. to the Ind. and Col. Exhn., held in London. As a public speaker, Mr. R. takes high rank. Among the best known of his efforts from the lecture platform are the following: "Literary Factors in our Can. Life"; "Formative Forces of Can. History"; "Our National Outfit"; "Citizenship and Higher Culture," and "Preferential Trade." In religious belief, he is a Presb., and holds the office of elder in St. Andrew's Ch., Toronto. In 1896 he was elected a del. from the Genl. Assembly, Can., to the Pan-Presb. Conf., held that year in Glasgow. He has been twice m., 1st, 1862, to Christina, dau. of Duncan Campbell (she d. 1872); and 2ndly, 1875, to Catharine, dau. of Wm. Boston.—1 Elmsley Place, Toronto, Ont.

During 1873 he acted as resident engr. of the Wisconsin Central Ry., and subsequently held a similar position on the Lake Ont. Shore Road. He was then apptd. Chief Engr., and was elected Genl. Mangr. of the Victoria Ry. In 1878-79 he built the Credit Valley Ry., and was apptd. after its construction its Genl. Mangr., and was Consulting Engr. of the Ont. and Quebec Ry. In 1883 he took control of the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. west of Winnipeg, and, in 1885, completed for the co. their line over the Rocky Mts., Selkirk and the Gold Range. In 1886 he undertook for the Can. Pac. the settlement of their location, east of Montreal, and their legislation in Maine, etc., and on completion of this work took the contract for the construction of the remaining portion of their line not already provided for. At the same time he had an option to construct rys. in the Argentine and Chili, amounting in all to over twenty millions of dollars. He was also interested in important contracts in Chicago and elsewhere. In 1888 he took up his permanent residence in Montreal, not abandoning, however, his active work, but contracted and built the Regina and Long Lake rys., some 250 miles in length, and, in 1889, the Calgary and Edmonton Ry., some 300 miles in length. In 1892 he joined Wm.

Mackenzie (q.v.), in purchasing the Toronto Ry. from the City of Toronto, and afterwards rebuilt its tracks, making it an electric line. In 1892 he undertook the re-organization of the Montreal St. Ry., changing it from a horse line to an electric service. Mr. R. has also in the same way converted the st. rys. of Winnipeg and St. John. In 1896 he and Mr. Mackenzie acquired the tramway systems of Birmingham, and formed the City of Birmingham Tramways Co. (Ltd.) for the operation of the road under an electric system, and, in 1897, he, with Mr. Mackenzie and others, secured a charter and franchise from the Govt. of Jamaica to build electric tramways on the Island. He is V.-P. and Mang. Dir. of the Montreal St. Ry.; V.-P. of the Toronto Ry. Co.; Presdt. of the Winnipeg and St. John St. Rys.; Presdt. of the Dom. ROULEAU, Hon. Charles Borromée, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late Joseph Rouleau, by his wife, Euphrosine Patouël-DesRosiers, and was b. at Isle Verte, P.Q., Dec. 13, 1840. Ed. at Laval Normal Sch., he filled the position of Inspr. of Cath. Schs., Dist. of Ottawa, from 1861 to 1873. Called to the bar, P. Q., 1868, he was apptd. Dist. Mgte. for the Dist. of Ottawa, July 12, 1876, and remained in that office up to his appt. as a stipendiary mgte. and a mem. of the Ex. Council for the N. W. T., Sept. 28, 1883. On the organization of a Supreme Ct. for the N. W. T., Feb., 1887, he was promoted to be Judge of the Northern Alberta Jl. Dist., and continues to hold that office. He is also an Extradition Commr. for the Dom., and was formerly a legal expert, with a seat in the N.-W. Assembly. He was likewise a mem. of the Bd. of Education, N. W. T., from 1885 to 1893. When at the bar, Judge R. was a frequent contributor to L'Ordre and La Minerve, Montreal, and he is the author of a pamphlet: "Notre Système Judiciaire." He unsuccessfully contested Ottawa Co. for the Quebec Assembly, in the Con. interest, g. e. 1875. A R. C. in religion, he is also Grand Depty. in the N. W. T. for the C. M. B. A. He m. ROUTH, Edward John, educationist, is the s. of the late Commy.-Genl. Sir R. J. Routh, K.C.B., by his wife, Marie Louise, sister of H. E. Cardinal Taschereau. B. in Quebec, 1831, he accompanied his parents to Eng., at the age of 11, and subsequently was sent to Univ. Coll. Sch., where he stayed only a year before entering Univ. Coll. Here he made rapid progress in math. studies, under Prof. De Morgan. He passed through the higher classes, gaining the math. prizes at the yearly exams. This encouraged him to attend the matriculation exam. in the Univ. of London, 1847, and afterwards the B. A. exam., 1849, gaining the math. scholarship at each. He received also the gold medal at his M. A. exam., 1853. In Oct., 1851, he entered Peterhouse, Cambridge. He studied for a year under Mr. Todhunter, of St. John's Coll., and for the remaining 2 yrs. and a quarter under Mr. Hopkins, of Peterhouse. In 1854 he graduated as Senior Wrangler, and at the Smith's prize exam. he was bracketed equal with Mr. Maxwell, afterwards Prof. of Experimental Phil. at Cambridge. He was then elected a Fellow of Peterhouse, and adopted the profession of teaching as his career in life. From 1861 to 1885 (with one exception, 1883) the Senior Wrangler was every year his pupil, besides twice before that date; in all 26 times. He has also had amongst his pupils 41 Smith's prizemen. This success is without precedent. In 1855 Mr. R. wrote a book in conjunction with Lord Brougham. In 1859 he was apptd. examr. in Math. in the Univ. of London, and, after the necessary interval of a year, he held the office for a second quinquennial period (1865-70). Soon after his graduation he was elected a mem. of the Cambridge Phil. Soc., of the Geol. Soc., and of the Royal Geog. Soc.; subsequently, he became a mem. of the Astronom. Soc. and a Fellow of the Royal Soc. He is also an original mem. of the London Math. Soc., having been one of those who helped to establish it. In 1860 he was moderator, and, in 1861, examr. for the Math. Tripos at Cambridge. In 1864 he m. the eld. dau. of Sir G. B. Airy, K.C.B., the late Astronomer-Royal. In 1867 he gained the Adams prize for his essay on the "Stability of Motion." The hon. degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him in 1879 by the Univ. of Glasgow. In 1883 he was one of the first to take the degree of Doctor of Science, then established in the Univ. of Cambridge for those who have "given proof of distinction by some original contribution to the advancement of science." He was elected hon. Fellow of Peterhouse the same year. In 1884 Dr. R. was apptd. by the Crown a Fellow of the Univ. of London, and has since been a mem. of the governing body of that univ. He has written a book on "Rigid Dynamics"

(5th ed., 1891-92); a "Treatise on Statics" (1st ed., 1891-92); and has contributed numerous papers on math. subjects to the Math. Messenger, the Quart. Journ. of Math., the "Proceed. of the Royal Soc.," and the "Volumes of the London Math. Soc."—Newnham Cottage, Newnham, Cambridge, Eng.

ROUTH, Francis Alexander, consular service, bro. of the preceding, was b. at Ste. Marie, Beauce, P.Q., June 8, 1843. Ed. in Eng., he returned to Can., 1859, and, in 1870, entered into partnership with Felix Carbray (q.v.), as steamship and commission merchants, at Montreal and Quebec. He was apptd. Consul for Portugal at Montreal, 1876, and has been a mem. of the Montreal Bd. of Trade and of the Corn Exchange since 1873. In politics, a Con.; he is, in religion, a R. C. He m. ROUTHIER, Hon. Adolphe Basile, judge and jurist, is the s. of Chas. Routhier, a farmer, whose ancestors came to Can. from Saintonge, France. B. at St. Placide, P.Q., May 8, 1839, he was ed. at the Coll., Ste. Thérèse, and at Laval Univ. (B.A., 1858). He also graduated B.C.L. at the last-named institution, and was called to the bar, 1861, commencing the practice of his profession at Kamouraska. A Con. in politics, he was on two occasions, in 1869 and in 1872, an unsuccessful candidate in that party's interests for the representation of the Co. of Kamouraska in the Ho. of Commons. Created a Q. C., by the Earl of Dufferin, 1873, he was, in Sept. of the same year, raised to the bench, as a Puisne Judge of the Sup. Ct., P. Q. His Lordship was at first assigned to the Saguenay Dist., but in Dec., 1889, he was transferred to the Dist. of Quebec, where he still resides. He is regarded as "a painstaking judge, having a profound knowledge of law, and whose decisions are marked by great clearness and soundness." Before his call to the bench, Mr. R. had disclosed marked talents as a public writer. Had he remained in journalism he would undoubtedly have won renown as one of the most brilliant and aggressive political writers of his time. It was at this period that he published his "Causeries du dimanche," and his "Portraits et Pastels Littéraires," the latter under the nom de plume of "Jean Piquefort." He is not less noted for his powers of oratory. In 1875 he made a tour of the Brit. Isles and of Belgium, France and Italy, and while at Rome was apptd. by the Pope, a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory. On his return to Can. he delivered a course of lectures at Laval Univ. (in which institution he is Prof. of Internl. Law), which added greatly to his reputation as an observer, a thinker and a speaker. His later discourses in connection with the celebration of St. Jean Baptiste, the visit of Albani and the Centenary of Christopher Columbus, have all been notable utterances. His Lordship received the hon. degree of Lit.D., from Laval Univ., 1880; and that of LL.D., from the same seat of learning, 1883. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Soc. of Can. His magnum opus, as a literary man, is undoubtedly "A Travers l'Europe" (2 vols., 1882-83). Among his other works are: "En Canot" (1881); "Les Échos" (poèmes, 1883); "A Travers l'Espagne" (1889); "Les Grands Drames" (1890); "Conférences et Discourses" (do.); "De Québec à Victoria" (1863). In 1893 he wrote the introduction to a new edition of the Repertoire National, which served at once as an introduction and a commentary. He was apptd. Judge of the Ct. of Vice-Admiralty, Quebec, vice Irvine, May, 1897, and was elected, the same year, Genl. Presdt. of the St. Jean Bapt. Soc. In 1897 he declined appt. to the Lt.-Governorship of the N.W. T. A mem. of the R. C. Ch., he m. 1862, Marie Clorinde, only dau. of the late J. O. Mondelet, ROY, Rev. James (Ep. Ch.), was b. in Montreal, of Scottish parentage, Nov. 12, 1834. Ed. at the local schs., he matriculated into Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, but subsequently, for domestic reasons, entered Victoria Coll., Cobourg, where he took the degree of B.A., as valedictorian of his class, 1868. He proceeded to the M.A. degree, 1871. Continuing his studies, he added to his knowledge by paying short visits to Europe and the Pacific coast of Can., and to the U. S. Connecting himself with McGill Univ., he took the degree of LL.D., in course, at that institution, 1883. For some yrs. he taught in private schs. in Montreal. Subsequently, he taught in the Cobourg Grammar Sch., which, under his management, became successively a High Sch. and a Coll. Inst. He was also for a time, Principal of Ingham Univ., a ladies' coll. at LeRoy, N.Y. He was an examr. in different subjects in Victoria Univ., and in French at Toronto Univ. Ordained to the Meth. ministry, 1854, he entered the Cong. Ch. (supported by his cong. in Montreal), 1877. Later, in 1882, he entered the Ch. of Eng., and was for 7 yrs. curate of St. Peter's Ch., Cobourg. Removing to the U. S., he did duty in Philadelphia, Rochester, Scottsville, Lewiston and LeRoy, and is now Rector of the Ch. of the Epiphany, Niagara Falls, N.Y. Dr. R. has been twice m., his present wife being an Am. lady. Besides the pamphlet which was the occasion of terminating his connection with Methodism, he has written articles in "McClintock and Strong's Cyclopædia," a thesis on law in language, and various articles on Church Union, the French language, and on Philol. and Geol. He has prepared a dictionary of the Gospel of St. Matthew in Frisian, which is not yet published.—1619 Whirlpool St., Niagara Falls, N.Y.

ROYAL, Hon. Joseph, advocate, journalist and legislator, was b. at Repentigny, P.Q., May 7, 1837. Ed. at that place, he completed his studies at St. Mary's (Jesuit) Coll., Montreal. He commenced his journalistic career on La Minerve, Montreal, 1857; established L'Ordre, 1859; and founded Le Nouveau Monde, 1857. He likewise assisted in founding, 1864, La Revue Can., one of the ablest conducted periodicals ever established in Can., and contributed to it many interesting political papers, including his "Vie Politique de Sir Louis H. Lafontaine." Called to the bar, 1864, he did not for the moment follow the active practice of the legal profession, his whole time being devoted to literary and newspaper work. He took an active part in organizing the Papal Zouave brigade, sent from Quebec to the assistance of the Holy Father, 1867-68. Removing to Man., 1870, he established, at Winnipeg, the paper Le Métis, which, in 1882, became Le Manitoba. From this time until 1880 he was in active practice at the local bar, and was retained in many notable cases, including the defence of the prisoners Lépine and Naud, who were tried at the Man. Criminal Assizes, Oct., 1874, for the murder of Thos. Scott by the Provisional Govt. of Louis Riel. Elected to the first Legislature given to Man., 1870, he remained a mem. of that body up to Dec., 1879, when he was returned to the Ho. of Commons. He was elected to fill the office of Speaker in Man., and was subsequently a mem. of several local admns., being successively Provl. Secy., Atty.-Genl., and Mr. of Public Works therein. He continued to sit in the Ho. of Commons till apptd. Lt.-Gov. of the N.W.T., July 1, 1888. While in Man., he introduced and carried through the Legislature much useful legislation, including the Sch. Law, 1871, and the Acts for the abolition of the Leg. Council, and the creation of the Univ. of Man. He likewise secured a readjustment of the financial arrangements with the Dom. He was elected Vice-Chancellor of the Univ. of Man., 1877, and was apptd. a Comnr. for the revision of the Statutes the same year. He was awarded the Confederation medal by Lord Lansdowne, 1885, and was elected to the Royal Soc. of Can., 1893. On ceasing to be Lt.-Gov., 1893, Mr. R. came east, and was apptd. ed.-in-chief of La Minerve, Dec., 1894, in succession to the late Hon. Joseph Tassé. This position he still fills. He has published several political brochures which have attracted wide attention. One of these: "Considerations on the New Constitutional Changes in B. N. A.," was written during the early Confederation period; another, "A Republic or a Colony? Some Remarks on the Present Crisis," on his return from the N.-W. In this latter pamphlet, Mr. R. discusses the question, How best to settle the sch. question in Can. for all time to come. Without pledging himself to the Ind. of Can., as being the only effectual remedy, he yet is of opinion that the country can only escape the most violent political commotions by a revision of the B. N. A. Act. A leading feature in his argument in favour of political Ind. is his own repugnance to annexation. He has been throughout a Con., and was elected Presdt. of the Lib.-Con. RUTHERFORD, John, M.E., is the s. of Robt. Rutherford, by Mary, his wife. B. at Swallwell, Durham, Eng., June, 1823, he was ed. at a private sch., and at 16 was placed with a civil engr. of considerable repute, and passed thence to the engine building shops of Thos. Richardson & Sons, where he gained a practical knowledge of machinery. A dullness in trade and other circumstances leading to the abandonment of civil engineering as a profession, he was next articled to Mr. (now Sir Geo.) Elliott, the eminent mining engr. and coal owner, and was his first pupil. On leaving him he was for a time at the Seaham and Seaton collieries, then being opened by the Marquis of Londonderry, and was shortly afterwards apptd. a mining asst. in Lord Durham's extensive collieries. In 1865, a delegation from N. S. having arrived in Eng. to secure the services of a competent person for the office of Inspr. of Mines for that province, Mr. R. was selected for it. After 6 yrs. he resigned, and became Genl. Mangr. of the Genl. Mining Assn. of London, the oldest, and at one time the only, coal co. in N. S. This position, after 5 yrs., he also resigned. Entering into private practice as a mining engr., he was consulted and employed as such in many places, including N. B., Utah and Spain. After the explosion at the Albion Mines, N.S., in 1880, he was sent out to assist in replacing the mines in a productive condition. Subsequently, he was apptd. mangr. there, and remained until the Vale and Halifax cos. were amalgamated with the Acadia Coal Co. He has been a mem. of the North of Eng. Inst. of Mining Engrs. since its formation, 1852, and has contributed to its "Trans.," as well as to various other publications, articles on the coals and minerals of N. S. He was for some yrs. RYAN, Hugh, contractor and capitalist, was b. in Limerick, Irel., July, 1832. Coming to Can. with his parents, 1841, he lived with them near the city of Montreal, until 1850. In that year he commenced his business career, being employed on the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Ry. (now forming a portion of the Grand Trunk system) then being built under Sir C. S. Gzowski. Not long afterwards, he undertook, in partnership with his bro., a contract for the construction of a portion of the Brockville and Ottawa Ry., running from Smith's Falls to Perth, and also for the sec. of the same road between Arnprior and Bonnechere. Contracts in Michigan, Ill., Kentucky, N. S., Maine, and N. B. followed, Mr. R. being associated in some of his works with the late A. Brooks, of Brockville, and with the late P. Purcell, of Cornwall. Among his most important and successful undertakings were twenty miles of the Intercl. Ry., including the heavy work connected with the bridges over the Miramichi River; the sec. of the C. P. Ry. from Fort William west to the Eagle River, over 230 miles; the Red River Valley Ry., from Winnipeg; and the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, the latter of which before completion occupied 6 yrs. of his active and useful life. Mr. R. also undertook the management during construction of the C. P. Ry. line from Toronto to Perth. He was one of the promoters of the Dom. Cable Co., 1882, and was elected an assoc. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., 1888. Some yrs. ago he removed his residence from Perth to Toronto. In Nov., 1895, he gave evidence of his philanthropic spirit by erecting and fitting up a wing to St. Michael's Hospital, in the latter city, for the use and benefit of patients of all denominations, at a cost of $40,000. Mr. R. is a Govt. trustee of the Toronto Genl. Hospital. He is also a dir. of the Freehold Loan and Savings Co., of the Can. Genl. Electric Co., of the

SADLIER, Mrs. Mary Anne, author, is the eld. dau. of Francis Madden, of Cootehill, Co. Cavan, Irel. B. there, Dec. 21, 1820, she was ed. partly by private tuition and partly at a private sch. When scarcely 18, she began to contribute to La Belle Assemblée (Lond.), a mag. published under the patronage of the late Duchess of Kent. After coming to Can. she m. Nov., 1846, Jas. Sadlier, a younger mem. of the firm of D. & J. Sadlier, publishers, N. Y., Boston and Montreal (he d. 1869). One of her first works was a collection of traditionary stories, published in Montreal, entitled "Tales of the Olden Time." In one of her numerous tales of Irish immigrant life and adventure, called "Eleanor Preston," there are some sketches of Lower Can. rural life and scenery, which go to show that the faculty of close observation had developed itself very early in her case. Mrs. S.'s literary works may be divided into three classes: (1) The historical Irish romance, of which the "Confederate Chieftains" is the best and most elaborate; (2) her didactic and religious works, original and translated, of which "De Ligny's Life of the Blessed Virgin" may be cited as an example; and (3) a dept. or sub-dept. of fiction, in which Thos. D'Arcy McGee considered her wholly unrivalled, and which may be called the romance of Irish immigration. Under this last head may be included her "Willy Burke," "The Blakes and Flanagans," "Con O'Regan," "Eleanor Preston," "Aunt Honor's Keepsake," etc. In all, Mrs. S. is the author of some 60 works, original and translated. One of the latest of her productions is "The Poems of Thos. D'Arcy McGee, with an introduction and biographical sketch" (1886). Mrs. S. was the ed. for some yrs. of the N. Y. Tablet newspaper, and had for associates Dr. Orestes Brownson, Dr. Ives, formerly Ang. Bp. of Charleston, and Thos. D'Arcy McGee. Some yrs. ago she returned from N. Y. to live in Montreal, and in Mch., 1895, she was presented with the "Laetare Medal" by the Univ. of Notre Dame du Lac., Ind., in recognition of distinguished services rendered to the Am. Cath. public. In 1897 a movement was instituted in Montreal, under the leadership of Sir Wm. Hingston, M.D., to make some general recognition of her services.—57 Park Ave., Montreal.

ST. PIERRE, Henri Cesaire, Q.C., is the s. of the late Joseph St. Pierre, a patriot of '37, by his wife, Domitilde Denis. B. at Ste. Madeleine, P.Q., Sept. 13, 1844, he was ed. at the Montreal Coll., and, subsequently, studied law with City Atty. Agnew, of Kingston, Ont. The Am. civil war was then at its height, and young St. P., yielding to a desire for a mil. life, joined the Northern forces. He served in the 76th N. Y. Volunteers, but being wounded in Va., in the autumn of 1863, was captured by the enemy, and remained a prisoner of war in the South until the close of the war. Resuming his law studies in the office of the late Sir Geo. Cartier, Montreal, he was called to the bar, 1870, has since practised his profession in Montreal, and is now regarded as "probably the leading criminal lawyer of the Province" (Toronto Mail). It has been stated that he has defended more than 30 persons accused of capital offences, and that he has been successful in all but 3 or 4. None of those he defended, excepting Shortis, the Beauharnois murderer, were condemned for execution. In 1887 he defended Caza for murder, and, in 1897, he was chief counsel for the Hon. J. I. Tarte in the Grenier libel case. He was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Derby, 1889, and is now a mem. of the firm of St. Pierre, Pelissier & Wilson. In politics, he is a Lib., and unsuccessfully contested Jacques Cartier in that interest, for the Que. Assembly, g. e. 1878. Since then he has devoted himself exclusively to the calls of his profession, and has persistently declined all invitations looking to political or other honours. Mr. St. P. is gifted with fine powers of eloquence, and on occasions when he has appeared in public, has won unstinted praise from all classes of the Can. population, for his liberality of sentiment and broad-minded patriotism. On this account, his speech at the unveiling of the Chenier monument, Montreal, Dec., 1895, attracted considerable attention. Addressing more particularly his French-Can. countrymen, on that occasion, he said he would like an end put to exclusiveness, for why should not a French-Can. be just as much at home in Toronto as in Montreal? Can. was a great deal more to them than the Province of Quebec. He would say to all: "Be English, be Scotch, be French, be Irish if you will, but above and before all, let us be Canadians." ST. PIERRE, Telesphore, journalist, was b. at Lavaltrie, P.Q., July 10, 1869, and was ed. there. As a printer, he has followed his trade both in Can. and the U. S., and while in Michigan was the publisher of one or more weekly papers issued in the French language. Since his return to Can., 1889, he has been employed on the Montreal daily press. He is the author of "Histoire des Canadiens du Michigan" (1895), and of "Histoire du Commerce Can. Français de Montreal, 1535-1893," (do). He has been prominently identified with the labour movement, and was twice French Secy. of the Dom. Trades and Labour Congress. In 1896 he travelled as special correspondent of the Montreal Herald to investigate the actual condition of the schs. of Quebec. In the same year he was elected Presdt. of the Legislative Press Gallery, Quebec.—1209 St. Denis St., Montreal.

SANDHAM, Alfred, author and numismatist, was b. in Montreal, Nov. 19, 1838, and ed. at private schs. in that city. When very young he left home to take a situation in N. Y. On his return he entered the service of the Montreal Telegraph Co., and was subsequently in that of the Grand Trunk Ry. A change in his religious views led to his appt. as Genl. Secy. of the Y.M.C.A., with headquarters at Montreal. He held this position for 10 yrs., and whilst holding it employed his leisure in literary work. Among Mr. S.'s publications are: "Ville Marie; or, Montreal, Past and Present," a work which will always be valuable for its painstaking research; "Coins, Tokens and Medals of Can.," the pioneer work on Can. numismatics, and several interesting historical and numismatic works published chiefly for private circulation. Among these, some of which are now exceedingly rare, are: "McGill Coll. and its Medals"; "Medals Commemorative of the Visit of the Prince of Wales to Can."; "Historic Medals of Can."; "The Trade Tokens of Montreal"; and "Montreal and its Fortifications." All are illustrated. Mr. S. also originated the Can. Antiquarian and Numismatic Journal, of which he was for over 2 yrs. the chief ed., the greater portion of the material used, and the illustrations, being prepared by him personally. In 1880 he removed to Toronto at the request of the Y.M.C.A., and for 4 yrs. fulfilled the secretarial duties of the Assn. in that city. He retired from this office to take the editorship of the several publications of the Toronto Willard Tract Depository. In this position he remained till the transfer of the business to other hands, when he decided to continue on his own account the publication of a religious paper, to which were subsequently added, by purchase, the mags. he had edited for the Willard Co. He m. 1856, Christina, young. dau. of the late W. Houston, Montreal. While not engaged in any special historic labours, Mr. S. has given much attention to book illustrating, and possesses some unique extra illustrated volumes, such as a Bible containing over 20,000 illustrations; a Biographical Cabinet of about 5000 portraits, alphabetically arranged; Morgan's "Tour of the Prince of Wales," copiously illustrated; Hart's "New France"; Dent's "Last 40 Years"; McCarthy's "History of Our Own Times"; and many others containing thousands of illustrations.—372 Berkeley St., Toronto.

SANDHAM, Henry, R.C.A., bro. of the preceding, was b. in Montreal, May 24, 1842, and was ed. there. After spending some mths. in the country with his father, he returned to Montreal and entered the employ of the late W. Notman, photographer to the Queen, whose partner he subsequently became. From his earliest yrs. young S. was fond of drawing, but he had never received any artistic tuition. By Mr. Notman he was placed under the charge of J. A. Fraser (q.v.), then at the head of the Art Dept. of Notman's establishment, and who has since so highly distinguished himself as a painter. He had also the advantage of personal instruction from Vogt, Way and Jacobi. Mr. S. at once took a leading place in all branches of his profession. Later, he proceeded to Europe for further study, and on his return, 1880, took up his residence in Boston. Here he is much in request, both as a portrait painter and as a painter of battle scenes and historical occurrences. He excels as an illustrator of books and mags., examples of his work being frequently seen in the high-class publications of London, Boston and N. Y. Of portraits, one of his best is that of the late Sir John Macdonald, Prime Minister of Can., which was executed for the Dom. Govt., Ottawa. Of historic paintings, his "Battle of Lexington," executed for the town of Lexington at a cost of $4,000, his "March of Time," and his "Founding of Maryland," are probably the best known. On the formation of the Royal Can. Acad. of Art, 1880, he was chosen to be an Academician by the founders, the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise. SANDYS, Edwin William, littérateur, is the 2nd s. of the late Ven. Francis Wm. Sandys, Archdeacon of Huron, by his wife, Elizabeth A. B. Moreau. B. at Chatham, Ont., June 9, 1860, he received his education principally under his father. Always an enthusiastic sportsman, he has contributed for many yrs. to that dept. of literature a great variety of articles and sketches, illustrating his experiences with the big game of the forest or the lordly quarries of the stream. He wrote formerly over the signature of "Nomad." On the completion of the C. P. Ry., he was engaged to write the literature on hunting and fishing published by that co., from time to time. Since then he has written a great deal for Outing (N. Y.), and is, we believe, on the editorial staff of that paper. A Can. paper speaks of his being "head and shoulders above any other sporting writer of Am." He is a mem. of the Am. Authors' Guild.—"Outing" Office, New York.

SANFORD, Miss Mary Bouchier, author, is of U. E. L. descent, her great-grandfather, Capt. Sanford, having been an offr. in the Queen's Rangers under Simcoe. B. and ed. at Barrie, Ont., she was a frequent contributor to Grip, 1878-82, and she also wrote poems and sketches for the Can. Monthly. Removing to Cleveland, Ohio, Aug., 1882, she took a position as Secy. of the Internl. Inst., an Egyptological Soc., was placed on the Publication Comte. of the mag. issued by the Inst., called the Internl. Standard, and wrote reports, notes and reviews for it. On the death of the Presdt. of the Inst., to whom she acted as Private Secy., Miss S. removed to Baltimore, July, 1889, and thence, in 1890, to N. Y., where she still resides, and is in active employment. With the exception of what she did for the Standard, Miss S. wrote little for publication till 1889-90, as she had no time for original work. Since the end of 1889, however, she has written a large number of essays and miscellaneous articles and pieces for the Am. press. For the N. A. Review she wrote: "In Favour of the Jew" and "Rescue Work Among Fallen Women"; for Kate Field's Washington she wrote: "The Pretty Type writer," "Chinese Sunday Schools," "An Ode to the Starlit Sky," and "Ban Vibber's Tragedy"; for the N. Y. Independent: "Religion and Public Education in Can."; for the N. Y. Tribune: "Nagging," "Obstinate Children," "The Can. Woman," "Humour and Pathos of the Almshouse," etc.; for the McClure Syndicate: "Tares and Wheat"; for Puck: "Bridget O'Flanagan on Christian Science and Cockroaches"; for the Boy's Own: "De Leet'l Feller"; for Far and Near: "The Story of Dorothie Lamourette." We might add very largely to this list, which serves rather to show the variety of ways in which this talented lady has advantageously occupied her time than to sum up what she has accomplished. She has contributed squibs innumerable to the comic press, and to the comic depts. of other periodicals. In addition to the journals and mags. mentioned she has also written for the N. Y. Christian Advocate, the N. Y. Critic, the Churchman, the Herald, Harper's Bazaar, Harper's Young People, Woman's Cycle, Demorest's Mag., the New Peterson, the Eng. Illustrated, the Epoch, Arthur's Mag. and others. In 1897 she published an historical novel: "The Romance of a Jesuit Mission," which attracted much attention. She is evidently on the high road to literary popularity and eminence.—45 Cedar St., New York.

SANFORD, Hon. William Eli, Senator, was b. in N. Y., 1838. He is of Eng. descent, though the branch of the family to which he belongs has been long settled in Am. Losing his father in early life, he was brought up and ed. by his uncle, the late Edward Jackson, of Hamilton, whose only dau. he afterwards married. He obtained his early business experience in N. Y. Subsequently, he entered into partnership with Murray Anderson and Edward Jackson, in London, Ont., as iron founders. The death of his wife led to his withdrawal from this firm. He was afterwards in the wool business, and was known as the "Wool King of Can." In 1861 the firm of Sanford, McInnes & Co., Hamilton, engaged in the wholesale clothing trade, was founded. It existed for 10 yrs. when Mr. McInnes withdrew, and Mr. S. continued at its head. This firm, it is claimed, completely revolutionized the ready-made clothing trade in Can., giving to its customers articles of clothing in no way inferior in quality, cut or finish, to the best custom work. Only first-class workmen are employed, and the best of material used. The firm has branches in many places, employs a cash capital of about $1,000,000, and gives employment to over 2000 persons. Mr. S. has been Presdt. of the Hamilton Bd. of Trade and Presdt. of the Hamilton Ladies' Coll. He was also for some yrs. V.-P. of the Hamilton Provident Bank. A prominent mem. of the Meth. Ch., he is also a Senator and mem. of the Bd. of Regents of Victoria Univ., and founded in connection with that institution, the Sanford gold medal in Math., and the Sanford gold medal in Divinity. He has given largely to ch. and philanthropic objects, one of the best known of his works being the Chinese mission on the Pacific coast, called the "Sanford Mission," and the Convalescent Hospital known as "Elsinore," Hamilton. More recently he has become warmly interested in the National Sanitarium, Gravenhurst, Ont., of which he is one of the trustees. He is a dir. also of the Royal Can. Humane Soc. He has been for many yrs. associated with the Con. party in politics. A personal as well as a political friend of the late Sir John Macdonald, he was, on the recommendation of that statesman, called to the Senate by the Earl of Derby, Feb. 8, 1887. He was also a warm friend of the late Sir John Thompson, and accompanied that statesman's remains to this country on H. M. S. Blenheim, after Sir John's sudden death at Windsor Castle, Dec., 1894. It should be added that Mr. S. was engaged negotiating a trade treaty with the Rt. Hon. Cecil Rhodes, of the Cape Colonies, at the time of Sir John Thompson's death in London. In 1896 he was apptd. a mem. of the Advisory Bd. of the Lib.-Con. Union of Ont. He m. 2ndly, 1866, Sophia, young. dau. of the late Thos. Vaux, Accountant of the Ho. of Commons, Ottawa. Mrs. S., in addition to being connected with various local charities and works of improvement, is Presdt. of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Wentworth Historical Soc., and Presdt. of the Local Council of Women, Hamilton. —Cor. Jackson and Caroline Sts., Hamilton, Ont.; Hamilton Club; Albany Club; Rideau Club.

SANGSTER, John Herbert, M.D., is the s. of the late John Alex. Sangster, by his wife, Jane Hayes. B. in London, Eng., Mch. 26, 1831, he was ed. at U. C. Coll. and at Victoria Univ., Cobourg (M.A. hon., 1861). He graduated M.D. at the same institution, 1864. Entering the teaching profession, he became connected with the Provl. Model Sch., Toronto, 1848. In 1853 he went to Hamilton to organize the public schs. in that city, returning to Toronto, 1858, as 1st master in the Provl. Grammar Sch. He became Lecturer in Science and Math. in the Normal Sch., 1859, and Head-master, 1865. This latter position he retained till 1871. He was also Prof. of Chemistry and Botany in Victoria Univ. In 1874 he unsuccessfully ran as teachers' candidate for the Council of Public Instrn., being defeated by Prof. Goldwin Smith. Later, he removed to Port Perry to enter on the active practice of his profession, and was elected to the Ont. Med. Council, Nov., 1894. In that body he is the leader of the Med. Defence Assn. Between 1858 and 1871, Dr. S. prepared and published a number of sch. books, which became the exclusively authorized text-books for the public schs. of the Province. He is noted for his talents as a writer on public questions as well as for his powers as a public speaker. He was the orator of the day at the "hoisting of the flag" demonstration, London, Ont., July, 1892, taking for his subject, "One Century's Transformation in Can. Life"; and at the Normal Sch. Jubilee celebration, Toronto, Nov., 1897, delivered an able address on "Progress in Education." He was the author of a series of letters in the Mail over the signature "Gracchus" during the Equal Rights movement, 1890. In religious faith, an Ang., he m. 1st, 1851, Miss Mary Price, Toronto (she d.); and 2ndly, 1871, Miss Caro-SANTOIRE, The Very Rev. Camille Amable (R.C.), was b. July 18, 1849. Ed. at the Montreal Coll., he was ordained to the priesthood, 1884, and became Secy. of the Jacques Cartier Normal Sch., and, later, curé at Valleyfield. On the erection of the new Diocese of Valleyfield, 1892, he was apptd. V.-G., an office he still retains, though forced to resign his other charge as parish priest, owing to ill-health, July, 1895. He has served as Admnr. of the Diocese during the absence of Bp. Emard at Rome.—Bishop's Palace, Valleyfield, P.Q.

SAUNBY, Rev. John W. (Meth.), was b. at Manotick, Ont., Aug. 25, 1858. After the death of his father, his early yrs. were spent in London, Ont. Later, he learned the trade of miller, but gave up this to enter the ministry, 1880. He studied at Victoria Univ. (B.A., 1887), was ordained, and joined the mission field in Japan. He returned from there, 1892, and, in 1894, published a work: "Japan, the Land of the Morning." He has sinee devoted himself to home work. Politieally, he is a Lib. He m. 1887, Miss Eliza M. SAUNDERS, Rev. Jabez Beer (Meth.), was b. in Kingsbridge, Devonshire, Eng., 1847. Ed. at the Duncombe Classical Sch., where he was prepared for matriculation into the Univ. of Oxford, he subsequently studied med. in conneetion with London Univ. (M.D., C.M., Bishop's Coll. Univ., Lennoxville, 1885). Coming to Can., he entered the Meth. ministry, 1868. In 1872 he was ordained in Montreal by the late Dr. Punshon. He has held appts. in Montreal, Pembroke, Broekville and other plaees, and, in 1895, assumed pastoral charge of the Dom. Meth. Ch., Ottawa. He is a Senator of the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal, and, in 1897, received the hon. degree of D.D. from Victoria Univ., Toronto, and was elected Presdt. of the Montreal Conf. In 1898 he accepted a call to Dundas Centre Ch., London, Ont.—243 Lisgar St., Ottawa, Ont.

SAUNDERS, Miss Margaret Marshall, author, is the dau. of the Rev. E. M. Saunders, D.D. (Bapt.), Halifax, N.S., by his wife, Maria Kisborough Freeman, dau. of a W. I. merchant. B. in Milton, Queen's Co., N.S., Miss S. was ed. in her native province, in Scot. and in Franee. She has travelled extensively in Europe and the U. S., and has given the results of her wanderings in various newspaper and mag. articles. She has also written short stories for Frank Leslie, Our Home, Dumb Animals, the Union Signal, the Writer, etc. Of her larger works: "My Spanish Sailor," a novelette, appeared in London, 1889; "Daisy," a tale, in Philadelphia, 1892, and "Beautiful Joe," the autobiography of a dog, with an introductory note by the Countess of Aberdeen, in Philadelphia, 1894. The last-named work, which has passed through numerous editions and has reached a circulation of over 200,000, won the $200 prize offered by the Am. Humane Education Soc. for the best story illustrative of the kind or cruel treatment of domestic animals and birds in the northern States. Miss S. is W. C. T. U. Supdt. of Band of Mercy Work in Halifax, and this book is designed to do for pet animals what "Black Beauty" has done for the horse, teaching the reader to look at his acts from the standpoint of the dumb animal. It has been translated into German and Japanese. Since its publication, Miss S. has published: "Daisy," "Charles and His Lamb," "For the Other Boy's Sake," "The House of Armour," and "The King of the Park," the latter inculcating kindness to the eat tribe. Miss S. is a mem. of the Bapt. Ch. She lives much in Boston but has not ceased to be a Can., and she believes emphatically in "Can.

SAUNDERS, William, Dom. public service, was b. in Devonshire, Eng., June 16, 1836. Coming to Can. 1848, he settled in London, Ont., where he subsequently carried on a manufacturing chemical business. He took a prominent part in founding the Ont. Coll. of Pharmacy, and was for 2 yrs. Presdt. of that institution. In 1882 he was apptd. Public Analyst for the western sec. of Ont. In the same year he joined the Med. Faculty of the Western Univ. He assisted in founding the Entomol. Soc. of Ont., and was Presdt. thereof, 1883-86. For 13 yrs. he was ed. of the Can. Entomologist. He was also Presdt. of the Ont. Fruit Growers' Assn., and, in 1895, was elected Presdt. for the Promotion of Agricul. Science. For 10 or 11 yrs., beginning with 1868, he carried on farming near London, where he had planted some 60 acres of trees and vines, which afforded the opportunity of ascertaining which varieties were most suited to that sec., while he made use of this opportunity of observing and studying the insect pests which affect the different sorts of fruit. His work, entitled: "Insects Injurious to Fruit" (1882; 2nd ed. 1893), was largely an outgrowth of the study of those years. He is also a successful hybridist, and has originated many promising varieties of fruit and grains. He did valuable work in preparing exhibits of Can. fruits, etc., for several of the world's great exhns. In 1881 he was apptd. one of the 20 Fellows who formed the Biol. sec. of the Royal Soc. of Can., of which sec. he was finally elected Presdt. He was also a Fellow of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, and has been an active mem. of the Am. Forestry Assn. since its organization. In 1880 he was apptd. one of 13 comnrs. to enquire into the condition of agricul. in Ont., and under his direction the information on fruit growing, forestry, insectivorous birds, insects and bee-keeping, was collected and published. In 1885 he was instructed by the Dom. Govt. to visit the Experiment Stations of the U. S., and to make enquiries regarding agricul. experimental work in Europe and Am. Following this an Act was introduced by the Mr. of Agricul. which provided for the 5 Experimental Farms which now exist in the Dom., and to the control of which he was apptd., Oct., 1886. Since that time these institutions have gone on apace, affording much appreciated help to farmers throughout the whole Dom. Reports and bulletins relating to agricul. and horticul. have been sent out, giving advanced methods as they are being learned through experimental work. He declined appt. as Chief Ex. Comnr. on behalf of Can. to the World's Fair, 1893, and received the hon. degree of LL.D. from Queen's Univ., 1896, having been previously awarded the Mantua gold medal for distinction in scientific knowledge. He is a Fellow of the Royal Microscopical Soc. of London, a Fellow of the Entomol. Soc. of London, and a corr. mem. of the Am. Entomol. Soc., of the Buffalo Soc. of Nat. Sciences, and of the Royal Botanic Soc., London. In religion, a Meth., he m. early in life the dau. of the late Rev. J. H. Robinson (Meth.), Their 3rd s., Chas. Edward Saunders, graduated with honours at the Univ. of Toronto, 1888, and, subsequently, received a fellowship in his post-graduate course at Johns Hopkins Univ., together with the degree of Ph.D. He has published several important papers on original chemical researches, is a Fellow of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, and was apptd., 1892, Prof. of Chemistry at the Central Univ., Ky. He m. 1892, Mary, dau. of John Blackwell, Toronto. The 4th s., Arthur SAUVALLE, Paul Marc, journalist, was b. in Havre, France, Feb. 21, 1857. Ed. at the Univ. of France, where he took the degree of Bachelor of Sciences, he entered the Mil. Sch., St. Cyr, 1875, which he left with the rank of lieut. in the 5th Regt., Cuirassiers. Resigning his comn., 1889, he travelled in Am., going first to New Orleans, where he became connected with L'Abeille newspaper. After a residence of 2 yrs. he left that city to accept the editorship of the Trait l'Union, of Mexico. At the expiration of Genl. Gonzalez's presidential term, he took an active part in Genl. Parfirio Diaz's election, became implicated in a pronunciamento, and was summarily arrested, and deported to N. Y. He came to Can., 1884, and, in the following year, was apptd. ed.-in-chief of La Patrie (Lib.), Montreal, resigning 1895. He is now (1898) on the staff of La Presse. He was also ed.-in-chief, during its existence, of the well-known anti-clerical journal, Le Can. Revue. Mr. S. was naturalized as a Brit. subject, 1887, and, during Mr. Mercier's Admn. held the post of Depty. Proty., Montreal. He has published: "Manuel des Assemblées Déliberantes" (1890), and "Louisiane, Mexique, Canada" (1892). In 1895 he recovered judgment for damages against Mr. Tardivel for calling him "a Methodist" in the columns of La Vérité.—617 Ave. de l'Hotel de Ville, Montreal.

SAVARY, His Honour Alfred William, Co. Ct. Judge, N. S., is the s. of the late Sabine Savary (who changed the spelling of his name from "Savery," which is the more ancient and general orthography of the family name), by his wife, Olivia Marshall, dau. of an Am. Loyalist from N. Y., who was a mem. of the N. S. Legislature, 1812-15. B. at Plympton, Weymouth, Digby, N. S., Oct. 10, 1831, he was ed. under private tuition, at the Windsor Coll. Sch., and at the Univ. of King's Coll., N. S. (B.A., 1854; M.A., 1857). He graduated with honours, distinguishing himself specially in Classics. He was prizeman for Latin poetry throughout nearly his entire course, was gold med. in Mod. Languages, and, on one occasion, in his coll. course, prizeman for best general scholarship. Called to the bar of N. B., 1857, he practised in St. John, chiefly in commercial law, his most important case being that of McGivern vs. Stymest, in which he established for the first time in N. B. some important principles of the law of Marine Ins. While at St. John he was connected for a short time with the ed. management of the New Brunswicker newspaper. In 1861 he was called to the bar of N. S., and in June, 1862, removed to Digby, where he resided up to 1890. He held for some yrs. the office of Inspr. of Schs. for the co.; was apptd. a master of the Supreme Ct., N. S., 1868; and was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Dufferin, 1872. In 1863 he was an unsuccessful candidate for a seat in the N. S. Assembly. Elected for Digby to the first Parlt. of the Dom., he sat on the "cross benches" during the sessions of 1867-68 and 1869, after which the petition for Repeal from N. S. having proved unsuccessful and the financial terms of the union as they affected N. S. having been rearranged, he heartily joined the Lib.-Con. party as being, in his view of the public interests, the one he could most consistently support. He moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, 1870, in a speech which was spoken of in terms of warm eulogy by all, including H. R. H. Prince Arthur, who was present at its delivery. Mr. S. remained in the Ho. of Commons up to the g. e. 1874, when he suffered defeat. He claims the credit of having been the first to press upon the Govt. and Parlt. the necessity of a vigorous protection of the fisheries, and to have been an active and successful diplomatist on behalf of Maritime interests generally. He was apptd. Judge of the Co. Cts. of the Cos. of Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth, N.S., by the Mackenzie Lib. Admn., Aug. 21, 1876. As a judge several open questions arising out of the Can. Constitution have come before him, in which he has asserted the right of a Co. Judge to decide boldly, even if his judgment should strike at the validity of a statute or the exercise of the prerogative. He was thus the first in the Dom. to judicially pronounce illegal the appt. of Justices of the Peace by the local Govts. in the absence, at all events, of a statute under the authority of the local Legislature to constitute cts., and he held the Can. Temp. Act intra vires after the Supreme Ct. of N. B. had held the contrary, and before their judgment was reversed by the Supreme Ct. of Can. His Honour has published a family history and genealogy of the Savery and Severey families, and has edited for publication a history of Annapolis Co., and a volume of genealogical and biographical notes of the early Eng. settlers of Annapolis Co., left unpublished by the late W. A. Calnek. In religion, he belongs to the Ch. of Eng., and is an active and useful mem. of the Ch. synods. He is a mem. of the N. S. Hist. Soc., the Wiltshire Arch. Soc., and of the Am. Hist. Assn. He m. 1st, Feb., 1877, Bessie Crookshank, dau. of Hy. P. Otty, St. John, N.B. (she d. Oct., 1887); and 2ndly, June, 1892, Eliza Theresa, dau. of the late Abraham Spurr Hunt.—Annapolis Royal, N.S.

SAWYER, Rev. Artemas Wyman, educationist, was b. in Rutland Co., Vt., Mch. 4, 1827, and was ed. at Dartmouth Coll., graduating 1847. He subsequently took a 3-years' course at Newton Theol. Semy., and became pastor of a New Eng. Bapt. ch. He first joined the staff of Acadia Coll., 1855, as Prof. of Classics, but left in 1860 to become pastor of a ch. in Saratoga. He was fulfilling the duties of Principal of the New London Inst. when the Rev. Dr. Cramp d. in 1869, leaving vacant the presidency of Acadia Coll. Dr. S. was immediately called thereto, and continued to occupy the position up to his resignation, June, 1896. He continues as Prof. of Psychol. and Christian Evidences. SAXBY, Mrs. Jessie Margaret, author, is the dau. of Lawrence Edmonston, M. D., by his wife, Eliza Macbrair, author of several works, and was b. at Halligert, Unst, Shetland Isles, June 30, 1842. Ed. at home, Mrs. S., upon the death of her husband, Dr. Henry L. Saxby, author of "The Birds of Shetland," devoted herself to authorship. She has written over 30 volumes, comprising poetry, tales for boys, novels, sketches and memoirs. In 1888 she visited Can., having previously written a good deal in the cause of emigration to this country in the Scotsman, Chambers's Journal, Boy's Own Paper, and the Scottish Parish Magazine. She has 2 sons settled in the N. W. T., and regards the Dom. as the nation of the future. She adds that "if admiration for, and thorough appreciation of, a country can give one a claim to be a Canadian, I am that person." Among her works is "West-Nor'-West," a pleasantly and thoughtfully written volume, describing the physical aspects and social conditions of, and the outlook for, settlers in the great North-West of Can., which she calls "Greater Scotland." SCADDING, Rev. Charles (Ch. of Eng.), is the eld. s. of Hy. Simcoe Scadding, formerly of Orillia, Ont., by his wife, Elizabeth Winder Wedd. B. in Toronto, 1862, he was ed. at Trinity Univ., in that city, where he was ed. of the Trin. Univ. Review. Ordained to the ministry, 1886, by the Bp. of Toronto, he was apptd. to St. John's parish, Buffalo, where he showed peculiar fitness for mission. work. In 1885 he became asst. to the Rev. Dr. Rainsford at St. George's, N.Y., and for more than 2 yrs. had charge of St. George's chapel, in the heart of a crowded tenement dist., where life was in its lowest form. Ill-health compelled him to retire from this position. Apptd. Rector of Grace Ch., Middletown, N.Y., he was subsequently Rector of Trinity Ch., Toledo, Ohio, and was apptd. to his present post, Rector of Emmanuel Ch., La Grange, Ill., Apl., 1896. While in N. Y. he was the means of interesting a large number of young people in Christian work, and he has always kept in close touch with the young. He is a mem. of the Ex. Comte. of the Ch. Temp. SCADDING, Rev. Henry (Ch. of Eng.), author, is the young. s. of the late John Scadding, for many yrs. factor to Maj.-Genl. Simcoe (afterwards Lt.-Gov. of U. C.), on his estates in Devonshire, Eng. B. at Dunkeswell, Devonshire, Eng., July 29, 1813, he joined his parents in Can., 1821. He received his early education at U. C. Coll., where he was "head-boy" of the institution in the first year of its existence, 1830. In 1833 he was apptd. a king's scholar, which enabled him to obtain a free course at an Eng. univ. He proceeded to St. John's Coll., Cambridge. While there he shared in the influence resulting from 2 movements which were then stirring to their depths the minds of young and old, viz., the revival of reality in ch. life and usage, consequent on a renewed exam. of ch. records and documents anterior to the division into East and West; and the Brougham movement in behalf of less antiquated methods of education and the diffusion of "useful knowledge" among all classes. Graduating B.A., 1837, he returned to Can., 1838, to become at once a busy pioneer in the promotion of the "new learning" in both its branches, handing on the torch in 2 capacities: 1st, as a teacher of youth in the institution where he had himself been formerly trained; and 2ndly, as organizer and incumbent of the first free ch. in Toronto, the now important ch. of the Holy Trinity. After many yrs. of labour in these 2 posts of public usefulness, he was compelled, by a threatened breakdown of physical and mental powers, to retire into comparative privacy. He had proceeded to his M.A. degree, 1840. On revisiting Cambridge, 1852, he received the degree of D.D. from his Alma Mater, and, in 1867, he was admitted D.D. (comitatis causa), at Oxford. Dr. S. was for some yrs. ed. of the Journ. of the Can. Inst., Toronto, and while occupying that position, and since, contributed to its pages many interesting and important papers on philol., numismatics and Can. and aboriginal archæol. His "Toronto of Old, or Collections and Recollections Illustrative of the Early Settlement of Canadian Life in Ontario" (1873), first appeared in successive numbers of this journal, as did, subsequently, his annotated edition of D. W. Smith's "First Gazetteer of the Province of Upper Can." His "Four Decades of York, Upper Can.," formed the first part of Dent's memorial volume, entitled "Toronto, Past and Present" (1884). He also ed. with G. M. Adam, another memorial volume in 1891, entitled "Toronto, Old and New—Historical, Descriptive and Pictorial," designed to mark the 100th anniversary of the passing by the Brit. Parlt. of the Constitutional Act of 1791. Of his other writings, the best known are: "Shakespeare—the Seer—the Interpreter" (1864); "Truth's Resurrections" (1865); "The First Bishop of Toronto, a Review and a Study" (1868); "A Memoir of King's Coll., Toronto" (1887); "Early Pioneer Life in Can." (do); "Some Lapsed Names in Canadian Local Nomenclature" (1897); "Seneca's Prophecy and its Fulfilment: a Memorial of A.D. 1897, the 400th Anniversary of the sighting of the north-east coast of North America by John and Sebastian Cabot, sailing under a commission from Henry VII. King of Eng." (do). His publications have all been most favourably received in the Dom., while several of them have been reviewed in a kindly spirit by high-class Eng. critics. Dr. S. was elected Presdt. of the Can. Inst., 1870, and retained that office up to 1876. He was one of the founders of the York Pioneers, and first Presdt. of that body. He is also hon. Presdt. of the Pioneer and Hist. Soc. of Ont. Many papers from his pen, dealing with local history and traditions, have been read before these bodies. In 1885, in acknowledgment of his literary services, he was awarded the Confederation Medal by the Gov.-Genl. in Council. He m. Aug. 14, 1841, Harriet Eugenia, eld. dau. of John S. SCAIFE, Arthur H., author and journalist, is Eng. by birth and education. Coming to B. C. some yrs. since, he took part in establishing the Province, a weekly review of current events, which has since attained a wide circulation and influence. In addition to editing this paper, Mr. S. gave much of his attention to the publication of a series of charts, entitled "Scaife's Comparative and Synoptical System of History, Applied to all Countries," which have been published by a co. in Victoria. He has also produced several works of fiction under the nom de plume of "Kim Bilir." One of these: "As It was in the Fifties" (1895), has been pronounced a very strong story. In Dec., 1897, he accepted the position of Mang. Dir. of the Comparative Synoptical Chart Co., and removed to Toronto. —310 Huron St., Toronto.

SCARTH, William Bain, Dom. public service, is the s. of the late Jas. Scarth, of the family of Binscarth, Orkney Islands, by his wife, Jane Geddes. B. in Aberdeen, Scot., Nov. 10, 1837, he was ed. there and in Edinburgh, and came to Can., 1855. After being engaged in mercantile life in Hamilton and London, he removed to Toronto, 1868, where he became Mangr. of the North Brit. Can. Invest. Co. and of the Scottish Ont. and Man. Land Co. He was a High Sch. trustee, and likewise sat in the City Council. Proceeding to Man., 1884, he was apptd. the representative there of the Can. North-West Land Co., and, at the g. e. 1887, was returned in the Con. interest, to the Ho. of Commons for the city of Winnipeg, sitting till the close of the Parlt., 1891. In 1894 he was elected Presdt. of the Winnipeg Industrial Exhn. Assn. and Presdt. of the Winnipeg Bd. of Trade, and, in Dec., 1895, was apptd. to his present office, Depty. SCHOFIELD, William Henry, educationist, is the young. s. of the late Rev. W. H. Schofield, M.A., Brockville, Ont., and was b. Apl. 6, 1870. He first attended the Peterboro' Coll. Inst., and from there matriculated into Victoria Univ., Cobourg, where he graduated, when barely 19 yrs. of age, valedictorian and gold med. in Eng. and Mod. Languages. In the autumn of 1889 he went to the Sch. of Pedagogy in connection with the Hamilton Coll. Inst., and at the close of the session was chosen to fill the position of Mod. Language master in the same institution. There he remained until 1892, when he resigned to take up graduate study in Harvard Univ. During his stay in Hamilton, he published a syllabus and gave a very successful series of Univ. Extension lectures on Shakespeare's "King Lear." In Harvard he also met with great success, winning the degree of A.M., 1893, and that of Ph.D., 1895, being apptd. for two successive terms the Morgan Fellow in Eng. and a travelling Fellow for 4 yrs., and being chosen Presdt. of 2 of the most prominent clubs in the city, the Harvard Graduates' Club, and the Cambridge branch of the Am. Folk-lore Soc. In 1895 he became Instructor in charge of the Anglo-Saxon in the Summer Sch. of the univ., and, subsequently, proceeded to Paris and Christiana for further study. In the "Harvard Studies and Notes in Phil. and Literature," Vol. II., appeared Mr. S.'s first important contribution to scholarship in the shape of an article on "The Source and History of the Seventh Novel of the Seventh Day in the Decameron." This article received the enthusiastic commendation of leading scholars in almost every country in Europe, and has been most favourably reviewed by the foreign periodicals. In 1895 appeared his dissertation: "Studies on the Libeaus Desconus: an Investigation of the Middle Eng., Old French, Italian and Middle High German Poems of the Fair Unknown, and their relations to one another." SCHREIBER, Collingwood, C.E., Dom. civil service, is the s. of the late Rev. Thos. Schreiber, of Bradwell Lodge, Essex, Eng., by his wife, Sarah, dau. of Admiral Bingham, and was b. in Essex, Dec. 14, 1831. Ed. in Eng., he came to Can., 1852, and obtained a position almost immediately upon the engrg. staff of the Hamilton and Toronto Ry., continuing in this employment until the completion of the road, 1856. He was in private practice in Toronto, as a mem. of the firm of Fleming, Ridout & Schreiber, till 1860, when he entered the service of the old Northern Ry. On the termination of this engagement, 1863, he became div. engr. for the N. S. Govt., on the Pictou Ry., and remained in charge of the works up to their completion, 1867. He was subsequently connected with the Intercl. Ry., first in charge of the surveys for the route via Lake Temiscouata; then, in 1869, in charge of the Eastern Extension Ry. as Supdg. Engr.; and afterwards as Supdg. Engr. and Comnrs.' Agent for the entire length of the road. In 1873 he was apptd. Chief Engr. of Govt. rys. in operation, and, in 1880, he succeeded Sir Sandford Fleming as Chief Engr. of the survey for the Can. Pac. Ry. The duties of both these positions he continued to discharge for a considerable period. Mr. S. was admitted a mem. of the Can. Soc. of C. E., Feb., 1887. He was a mem. of the Royal Comn. on Rys., 1886; and was apptd. Chief Engr. of the Dept. of Rys. and Canals, and Depty. Mr. of Rys. and Canals, Nov. 30, 1892, which positions he still holds. He was created a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, June 3, 1893. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and m. Caroline, dau. of the late Lt.-Col. A. H. SCHURMAN, Jacob Gould, educationist, was b. at Freetown, P.E.I., May 22, 1854. He is descended from an old Dutch family that came to New Amsterdam about the middle of the 17th century. His grandfather was b. in New Rochelle, N.Y., 1782, and was carried by his father, who was a Tory, to the Brit. provinces when 2 yrs. of age. Young S. lived on his father's farm till 12 yrs. of age, attending sch. uninterruptedly. In 1867 he became clk. in a general store at Summerside, a position which he held for over 2 yrs. Resolving then to obtain an education, he attended for a year the Summerside Grammar Sch., and, in 1870, won the first of the 6 scholarships established by the Govt. at Prince of Wales Coll., Charlottetown. Late in 1873 he entered the Sophomore class of Acadia Coll., N.S., where he remained for a year and a half, leading his class in all subjects, and winning several money prizes. In 1875 he won the Can. Gilchrist scholarship in connection with the Univ. of London, which was worth $500 a year for 3 yrs. Two yrs. later he graduated at the Univ. of London with the Univ. scholarship ($250 a year for 3 yrs.) in Phil. He was also first man in Greek, Eng., Logic, Phil. and Political Economy in Univ. Coll., winning in the latter a scholarship of $100 a year for 2 yrs. In 1877-78 he was a student in Paris and Edinburgh. He took his doctor's degree in Phil. in 1878, being the only successful candidate of the 5 who applied. In June, 1878, he won the Hibbert travelling Fellowship ($1000 a year for 2 yrs.), which is open to all graduates of Brit. univs., and was competed for by over 60 men from Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburgh, Dublin, etc. He spent the next 2 yrs. studying as Hibbert Fellow at Heidelberg, Berlin and Göttengen, as well as in Italy. In 1880 he made the acquaintance of Presdt. White, who was then Am. Mr. to Germany, and who, in 1885, recommended him for a chair at Cornell. From 1880 to 1882 he was Prof. of Eng. Lit., Political Economy, and Psychol. at Acadia Coll., N. S., and from 1882 to 1886, Prof. of Metaph. and Eng. Lit. in Dalhousie Coll., Halifax. From that date he was head of the Phil. Dept. at Cornell Univ., Ithaca, N.Y.—first as Sage Prof. of Phil., and afterwards as Dean of the Sage Sch. of Phil. He was called to the presidency of the Univ., a position he still fills, 1892. In the work of instruction at Cornell, Prof. S. has always had large and enthusiastic classes. His influence has been gradually extending, and since the establishment of the Sage Sch. of Phil., advanced students have gone there from foreign and from other Am. univs. to complete their studies. At the founding of the Stanford Univ. he was apptd. non-resident Lecturer in Ethics. As an educationist his students speak first of his powers of clear and entertaining exposition, and of his earnest, moral eloquence. He was elected a Fellow of the Am. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, 1895. As an author Presdt. S. has become known by his "Kantian Ethics and the Ethics of Evolution" (1881), his "Ethical Import of Darwinism" (1887), his "Belief in God: Its Origin, Nature and Basis" (1890), and his "Agnosticism and Religion" (1896), all of which evince original thought and disclose the possession of a vast store of erudition. In religion, he is a Bapt. He m. Oct., 1884, Barbara F., eld. dau. of the late Geo. Munro, the well-known publisher, N. Y. Although a non-resident of Can. for so many yrs., Dr. S. still takes the warmest interest in all that concerns his native country. In 1896, in addressing the students of Cornell on the Venezuela matter, he spoke of the future "emancipation of all Am. commonwealths by the withdrawal of European powers from this commonwealth," and predicted that when that came, Can. would use its newborn independence to seek admission to the Am. SCOBLE, Lt.-Col. Thomas Clarkson,

C.E., is the s. of the late John Scoble, a native of the Co. Devon, Eng., who represented West Elgin in the Can. Ho. of Commons, 1860-67, by his wife, Mary Anne, dau. of Joseph Stainburn, of Winmore, Yorkshire. B. at Kingsbridge, Devonshire, Eng., June 12, 1840, he is a gods. of Thos. Clarkson, M.P., the successful advocate of the abolition of negro slavery in the Brit. W. I., and was ed. at private schs. in Eng. and Can. First employed in the Dept. of Education, where he afterwards compiled a useful series of maps, he studied civil engrg. at Toronto, 1857, and was employed on the construction of the Grand Trunk Ry. Later, he was engr. for Gzowski & Macpherson, in the construction of the Internl. Bridge at Fort Erie. He joined the V. M. force at the Trent affair, 1861; became staff adjt. and town major, Toronto, Mch., 1866; Brig. Maj. 4th Div., U. C., do., do.; and made mil. reconnaissance map of the Niagara frontier, July, 1866. He remained Brig. Maj. and Inspr. of Drill Sheds till June, 1870, when he commanded a mixed garrison at Port Colborne, and, in the same year, was made Brig. Maj. to Col. (now F. M. Viscount) Wolseley, and both before and after was employed on secret service. He organized the D. R. A. matches at Laprairie, 1868, and was Secy. of the Ont. Rifle Assn., 1869-74; commanded the 2nd Dist. Engr. (Field) Co., 1875-81; and became Brig. Maj. and Dist. Q. M. at Winnipeg, 1885. Meantime, he was employed in various capacities by the Ont. Govt., being at one time Depty. Inspr. Asylums and Prisons; at another, Asst. Provl. Secy.; and at another, a special Comnr. to London and Paris to report on the Ont. boundary. He organized the Ont. Sch. of Agricul., and was in charge of the Engrg. and Sanitary Works of the Ont. public institutions, 1872-77. In Man., in 1884, he was Secy. of the Special Comte. of the Legislature to enquire into the feasibility of constructing a ry. to the Hudson Bay as a route for the commerce of the N.-W. Lt.-Col. S. has written largely for the Can. periodical and newspaper press, and is the author of the "Can. Volunteers' Hand-book for Field Service" (1868). He was ed. of the Nor'-Wester (Winnipeg) newspaper, 1894-95. He has always been a strong "Canada First" man. He believes in country before party, and has sacrificed his personal welfare to his political belief all his life. He thinks excessive partyism the curse of Can., and has always written and spoken in this strain. He opposed the Can. Pac. Ry. monopoly as threatening the liberties of the State, and is opposed to the indiscriminate extension of the franchise. He believes in purity of election and the representation of minorities, a revenue tariff and national feeling, and not sectionalism, religious bigotry or partisan animosities. He believes in Brit. connection, but not Imp. Federation. He will accept Ind. when the time comes, but till then regards himself as much a Brit. subject and as loyal as any Englishman in London. SCOTT, Hon. David Lynch, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late John Scott, formerly of Aberdeenshire, Scot., and was b. at Brampton, Aug. 21, 1845. Ed. at the Brampton Grammar Sch., he shortly afterwards entered the office of his bro., the late A. F. Scott, afterwards a Co. Ct. Judge, and after a successful course of study, was called to the Ont. bar, 1870. He practised for some yrs. at Orangeville, of which town he was mayor, 1879-80. In 1882 he removed to Regina, N.W.T., where he was likewise called to the bar, and was elected mayor by acclamation. He entered into partnership there with W. C. Hamilton, was Crown prosecutor for the Dist. of Western Assiniboia, 1885, and legal adviser to the N.-W. Govt., 1886, holding both positions up to his elevation to the bench of the N. W. T. (as the successor of the late Mr. Justice MacLeod), Sept. 28, 1894. Mr. S. was one of the counsel for the Crown at the trial of Louis Riel and the other State prisoners, 1885, and was created a Q.C., in the same year, by the Marquis of Lansdowne. He saw considerable mil. service. In 1866, during the Fenian invasion, he joined the 36th Peel Batt. as a private, and passed successively through the various ascending grades of rank until gazetted lt.-col., July, 1879. He held the command of the batt. till Aug., 1883, when his professional duties compelled him to retire therefrom, which he was allowed to do, retaining his rank. SCOTT, Rev. Frederick George (Ch. of Eng.), poet, is the s. of the late Dr. W. E. Scott, Montreal, for many yrs. Prof. of Anatomy in McGill Univ. B. in Montreal, Apl. 7, 1861, he was ed. at the High Sch. there, at Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville (M.A., 1884), and at King's Coll., London. Ordained deacon by the Bp. of Quebec, 1884, and priest, 1886, by the Bp. of St. Alban's, he was apptd. to the rectorship of Drummondville, 1887, and became curate of St. Matthew's, Quebec, 1896. Mr. S.'s poetical pieces first appeared in the Montreal Gazette and other Can. journals. Since then he has published 3 volumes of poetry, each of which has attracted wide and favourable notice: "The Soul's Quest and other Poems" (1888); "My Lattice and other Poems" (1894); and "The Unnamed Lake and other Poems" (1897). He has also published a dramatic life-story of considerable merit: "Elton Hazlewood" (N.Y., 2nd ed., 1893). Some of his poems are included in Wetherall's "Later Can. Poems." His second volume shows that Mr. S. has taken time to mature his verses, with the result that he is continually gaining in strength of imagination and fulness of tone. It is of "Samson," one of his more recent poems, that the London Speaker has said that "it is the finest Am. poem that has appeared in years." In Jan., 1898, he was presented with the gold medal of the Royal Can. Humane Assn. for promptitude and heroic conduct in rescuing a man from drowning at Quebec not long previously. Mr. S. m. SCOTT, Marshall Owen, journalist, was b. at Newport, Monmouthshire, Eng., Aug. 5, 1844, and received his education in private schs. in Eng. and France. In the early days of Confederation he was for some yrs. mang. ed. of the Ottawa Free Press ; more recently, he filled a similar position on the Ottawa Journal. He founded the Weekly Review (Ottawa) ; subsequently, the Canadian (London, Eng.) ; and, in 1896, the Flag (Ottawa), the latter the first newspaper ever printed in Brit. Am. devoted exclusively to Brit. connection, Brit. news and Can. trade with Gt. Brit. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he m. Elise, dau. of Duncan Macdonald, St. Marthe, P.Q.—555 Somerset St., Ottawa.

SCOTT, Miss Mary McKay, journalist, is the dau. of the late Alex. Scott, in his lifetime a prominent business man in Ottawa, by his wife, Alison McKay, niece of the late Hon. Thos. McKay, M.L.C. B. in Ottawa, Aug. 17, 1851, she was ed. in her native city and at Bute Ho., Montreal, and very early gave herself to the work of social and moral reform. Joining the W.C.T.U., she founded, in 1884, the Woman's Journal, as the organ of that body. This paper, of which she is the ed. and business mangr., began with one subscriber, and now enjoys a circulation exceeding 4000, and is found everywhere, from New Zealand and Japan to Nfd. Miss S., who is described in the Dom. Illustrated as a lady of high literary attainments, has been a frequent contributor to other journals, both in Can. and the U. S. She also holds office as custodian of the Dom. W. C. T. U. Lit. Depository. In 1896 she declined nomination as a public sch. trustee. In religious belief, she is a Presb., and is known to be a valuable helper to the pastor of St. Andrew's Ch., Ottawa.—26 Albert St., Ottawa.

SCOTT, Capt. Peter Astle, late Dom. marine service, is the s. of the late Jas. Scott, Paymaster R. N., belonging to a Loyalist family in Virginia. B. at Gillingham, Kent, Eng., Feb. 25, 1816, he was ed. at the Rochester Classical and Math. Acad., and entered the R. N. as a 1st class volunteer, Feb., 1829. Passing his exam. for lieut., Sept., 1835, he served on the North Sea and Mediterranean stations until 1839, when, in May of that year, he joined H. M. S. Terror, consort of the Erebus, of the Antarctic expedition, commanded by Sir Jas. Ross. After spending a winter at Desolation Island (Kerguelen's Land), the expedition reached Hobart Town, V. D. L., Aug., 1840, and here Mr. S. was landed to assist in making magnetical observations under the orders of Sir John Franklin, then Lt.-Gov. of Tasmania. Promoted lieut., 1843, he was detained at Tasmania constructing vessels of war for the defence of the colony, and only got back to Eng., May, 1845, a few days too late to accompany Sir John Franklin to the Arctic regions. In the autumn he joined H. M. S. Columbia, Capt. W.

Owen, employed on the survey of the Bay of Fundy, returning to Eng. from that service, 1848. In May of the following year the Columbia was recommissioned for the N. A. survey under Com. P. F. Shortland, and Mr. S. went out in her as 1st lieut. and asst. surveyor. Continuing in this service, during which the survey of the Bay of Fundy and s.-w. coast of N. S. was completed as far as Sambro, Lieut. S. was promoted Commander, 1862, and, in 1865, assumed charge of the survey on the retirement of Capt. Shortland. In May, 1866, he returned to Eng., and soon afterwards took his retirement as Capt. Not long idle, however, he came out to Can. again, Apl., 1869, to take command of the Druid, employed in the protection of the fisheries, and remained in the service of the Dom. Govt. as commodore of their fleet in the St. Lawrence and along the Atlantic coast from the year mentioned up to 1888, when failing health compelled his retirement. Both as Commodore and as Chairman of the Bd. of Examrs. of Masters and Mates, Capt. S. rendered most valuable services to Can. and the Mother Country. Capt. S. m. Mch., 1847, Maria A., dau. of Geo. Hobbs, Eastport, Me.—"The Limes," Croone's Hill, Greenwich, Eng.

SCOTT, Hon. Richard William, Q.C., statesman, is the s. of the late W. J. Scott, M.D., who, after serving under Wellington in the Army Med. Dept., came to Can. and was apptd. Regr. of the Co. Grenville, Ont., by his wife, Sarah Ann, dau. of the late Capt. Allan McDonnell, formerly an offr. in "The King's Royal Yorkers." B. at Prescott, Ont., Feb. 24, 1825, he was ed. there under a private tutor. He studied law in the office of Crooks & Smith, Toronto, and was called to the bar, 1848. He entered on the practice of his profession in Ottawa, and soon became one of the leaders of the local bar. Elected Mayor of Ottawa, 1852, he was, at the g. e. 1857, returned to the Legislature, as mem. for the city. After suffering defeat in 1863, he remained out of public life until the Union of 1867, when he was elected to represent the Federal Capital in the first Legislature of Ont. He continued at Toronto until 1873. In Dec., 1871, he was elected Speaker of the Ont. Assembly, and became subsequently Commr. of Crown Lands under Mr. Blake in the Admn. formed by that statesman. He also held the same office under Sir Oliver Mowat, who succeeded Mr. Blake in the premiership of Ont. On the formation of the Mackenzie Admn. at Ottawa, Nov. 7, 1873, he was sworn of the Privy Council, and, in Jan., 1874, he was apptd. Secy. of State and Regr.-Genl. of Can. He was called to the Senate by the Earl of Dufferin, Mch. 13, 1874. Mr. S. remained a mem. of the Mackenzie Govt. throughout its existence, retiring therefrom with his leader and colleagues, Oct. 16, 1878. During the whole of that period he was one of the Govt. leaders in the Senate, becoming afterwards leader of the Opposition in that body, conjointly with the Hon. Mr. Pelletier, C.M.G. On the formation of the new Lib. Cabinet under Sir W. Laurier, July, 1896, he again accepted office as Secy. of State and Regr.-Genl. of Can., and continues in the same at the present time (1898). Mr. S. possesses a marked and ready adaptability for administration, and has been called upon at one time or another during his ministerial career, to discharge the duties of almost every position in the Cabinet, the duties being frequently cumulative in his hands. The legislative enactment by which he is most widely known, and which it has been said forms his highest title to a place among Can. law-makers, is the Can. Temp. Act, 1875, otherwise known as "The Scott Act." This measure was the outcome of a long agitation on the part of the temp. people for an advance in some way upon the license laws and the old "Dunkin Act," until then the only ones in force. The "Dunkin Act" was a local option measure, but was of so defective a character that it was but lightly considered by the Prohibitionists, and was not of much use as a guide in framing another law based upon the local option principle. The Can. Temp. Act, therefore, is a pioneer in the path of local option legislation in regard to the liquor traffic, and as a local historian has observed, "it is a remarkable tribute to the sagacity and legal ability of its framer that in the 22 yrs. since it was passed, although it has been the subject of the fiercest legal disputes, not only has its constitutionality been upheld by the highest court of the Empire, in spite of the determined efforts of the greatest pleaders to overthrow it, but so perfect have its details been found that even now some half dozen amendments are all that the Prohibitionists are asking, and of these some arise out of an advance in the temp. sentiment of the country which could not have been legislated for in the first place." Another important Act which owes its origin to Mr. S., and which now forms part of our constitutional system, is the Separate Sch. Law of Ont., prepared and carried through Parlt. by him as a private mem., in 1863; a measure which was the means of removing a vexed question from the political arena and of allaying much public irritation. Both personally and politically Mr. S. is exceedingly popular — in Toronto Mr. Blake called him "the most popular mem. of the House." He entered political life as a Con., but since 1871, has been a Lib. In religion, he is a R.C., and has rendered important services to his Ch. He was for some yrs. Presdt. of the St. Patrick's Lit. Assn., Ottawa, was a trustee of St. Patrick's Ch., Ottawa, at the time of its erection, was one of the originators of the Ont. Catholic League, and was apptd. afterwards Chairman of the local comte. having for its object the relief of the Pope. He is also a Senator of Ottawa (Cath.) Univ., and one of its Law Faculty (LL.D., 1889). He was created a Q. C., by Viscount Monck, 1867, and was elected a mem. of the Council of the Dom. Law Soc., 1879. In Oct., 1896, he was apptd. a mem. of the Sub-Comte. of the Privy Council empowered to deal with the Man. Sch. question. He m. 18—, Mary, dau. of the late John Heron, Ottawa, a lady of high and varied accomplishments, who has for some yrs. filled the office of V.-P. of the Local Council of Women of Can. under the presidency of the Countess of Aberdeen. Their eld. s., Wm. Louis Scott, LL.B., b. in Ottawa, Oct. 3, 1862, and called to the bar, 1887, was appointed Master in Chancery at Ottawa, Oct., 1896.— 274 Daly Ave., Ottawa; Rideau Club.

SCOTT, Snowdon Dunn, journalist, is the s. of the late John C. Scott, Parrsboro', N.S., and was b. at Westbrook, in that province, Jan. 6, 1851. Ed. at Dalhousie Coll., at Halifax Univ. (B.A., 1880) and at Mount Allison Univ. (M.A., 1890), he almost immediately entered on a journalistic career. His first editorial charge was the Chignecto Post, 1882, whence he proceeded the same year to the Halifax Evening Mail. On this paper he remained until 1885, when he assumed his present position as ed.-in-chief of the St. John Daily Sun, a position in which he has greatly distinguished himself. He now ranks as one of the ablest political writers in the Dom. Mr. S. is a mem. of the Bd. of Regents of Mount Allison Univ., and has held the vice-presidency of the N. B. Historical Soc., and of the St. John branch of the Imp. Federation League. As ed. of the Sun he supported the Macdonald, Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper Govts., but not all their measures. He has advocated the abolition of property qualification for the suffrage, and has supported Prohibition and the "Scott" Act. He favours Imp. Federation with colonial self-govt. He is a moderate Protectionist and an earnest supporter of a strong federal policy in Can. affairs. He is of opinion that the Senate of Can. cannot permanently continue as at present constituted. SCOTT, Lt.-Col. Thomas, Dom. public service, was b. in the Co. Lanark, Ont., 1841, his parents having emigrated from Co. Antrim, Irel., 1836. Ed. at Perth High Sch., he entered journalism at an early age. In 1861 he founded the Perth Expositor, which he ed. and published, in the Con. interest, up to his removal to Man., 1873. At the time of the Trent affair, 1861, he enlisted in the Perth Infy. Co.; was gazetted capt., Nov., 1865, and Major, 42nd Batt. (on the absorption of his co. in the latter), 1866. He was on active service on the frontier for 3 mths. during the Fenian raid, 1866. In 1870 he was apptd. to a co. in the 1st Ont. Batt. of Rifles, forming part of the Red River Expeditionary Force, commanded by Col. (now F. M. Viscount) Wolseley, and returned with his batt. to Ont. in the winter of 1871. Later, in the last-named year, he was selected to command the 2nd mil. expedition sent to Man. in consequence of the threatened Fenian invasion of that province, and was highly complimented by the mil. authorities for the successful manner in which he discharged this duty. He was gazetted lt.-col., 1871, and for some yrs. remained attached to the Prov. Batt. of Rifles in garrison at Fort Garry. On the outbreak of the N.-W. rebellion, 1885, he organized the 95th Batt., commanding it throughout the campaign (medal). He retired, retaining rank, May, 1887. Lt.-Col. S. was Mayor of Winnipeg 1877-78, and sat in the Man. Assembly for Winnipeg (having previously been an unsuccessful candidate for the same seat, 1874), from g. e. 1878 to Sept., 1880, when he resigned to contest Selkirk for the Ho. of Commons and was elected (Vote: Thos. Scott, C., 735; Hon. D. A. Smith, L., 577). At the g. e. 1882 he was returned for Winnipeg, and continued to represent that city at Ottawa up to his appt. as Collr. of Customs, Winnipeg, Mch. 16, 1887. For some yrs. he was Presdt. of the Con. Assn. of Man. He m. 1863, the 2nd dau. of Robt. Kellock, Perth. His s., Robt. Kellock Scott, was ed. at the R. M. Coll., Kingston; was commissioned 2nd lieut. R. SCRIMGER, Rev. John (Presb.), educationist, is the s. of John Scrimger, by his wife, Jeannette McKenzie, and was b. at Galt, Ont., 1849. Ed. at Galt Coll. Inst. and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1869; M.A., 1871), he studied Theol. at Knox Coll., same city, graduating 1873. He was ordained to the ministry the same year, and apptd. pastor of St. Joseph's St. Ch., Montreal, and lecturer in the Presb. Coll., Montreal, 1874. He was apptd. Prof. of Theol. in the same institution, 1882. He received the degree of D.D. from the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal, 1892. Dr. S. has contributed many articles on ch. questions and theol. to religious weeklies and coll. journals. He took a prominent part in favour of "Equal Rights" while the Jesuit question was under discussion some yrs. ago. He m. Apl., 1874, Miss Charlotte C. SCRIVER, Julius, merchant and legislator, is descended from U. E. Loyalists who came to Can. from Dutchess Co., N.Y., at the close of the Am. revolutionary war. His father served in the war of 1812-15 as a militiaman at Isle aux Noix and Lacolle, and took part in the engagement near the former place, which resulted in the capture of the Am. schooners Julia and Growler. In Nov., 1838, his father, then a major in the militia, commanded the Loyalists who defeated and drove back over the Am. frontier the body of patriots and insurgents who had invaded Can., capturing from them a 6-pounder and a large number of small arms. Major Scriver received on the field the thanks of Sir John Colborne for his gallantry and skill, and was soon after promoted to the rank of lt.-col. He d. 1873, aged 81. B. at Hemmingford, P.Q., Feb. 5, 1826, he was ed. there, at Workman's Sch., Montreal, and at the Univ. of Vermont, after which he entered commercial life, and was for many yrs. a prominent merchant at his native place. He entered public life at the Union of the Provinces, 1867, as mem. for Huntingdon in the Quebec Assembly, but retired from that body, Sept., 1869, and was thereupon elected by acclamation to succeed the late Sir John Rose as the representative of the co. in the Ho. of Commons. He has continued to hold the seat up to the present time, and is now one of the "Fathers" of the Ho. of Commons. He was re-elected 5 times by acclamation. In his early days he gave an independent support to the Con. Govt., but the "Pacific Scandal" drove him and others into the Lib. ranks, and he is now regarded as one of the Reform leaders in the E. Tps. He was an ardent supporter of Mr. Mackenzie throughout his Admn., and since then has rendered able and willing service, both as a speaker and a party mangr., to his successors. He was one of the "Noble 13" who voted for the disallowance of the Jesuits' Estates Act, 1888. On the meeting of the New Parlt., 1896, he was apptd. Chairman of the Standing Comte. on Private Bills. Besides holding various local offices, Mr. S. is a V.-P. of the Quebec branch of the Dom. Alliance, and Presdt. of the Quebec Frontier Ry. He is an adherent of the Presb. B. in St. John, Jan. 22, 1861, he was ed. at the Galt Coll. Inst., and graduated from the R. M. Coll., Kingston, 1881. Gazetted to a lieutenancy in the South Staffordshire Regt., he served throughout the Egyptian campaign of 1882, was present at the reconnaissance in force at Kafr-el-Dwar, on the 5th Aug., the surrender of Damietta by Abdulal, and the subsequent occupation of Cairo (medal and Khedive's star). After visiting the Holy Land he returned to Can., and was apptd. lieut. and adjt. in the Royal Regt. of Can. Infy., Toronto. He served in the N.-W. rebellion, 1885, as Brigade-Major of the Battleford column, and was present at the battle of Cut Knife Creek, and subsequently commanded the scout corps of the Turtle Lake column in the pursuit of "Big Bear" (thrice mentioned in despatches; medal and clasp). He rejoined his regt., 1888, was promoted capt., 1889, and, in 1892, was apptd. Adjt. 1st Volunteer Batt., Standsworth, which appt. he still holds.—Care Messrs. Cox & Co., London, Eng.

SEATH, John, educationist, was b. in Auchtermuchty, Fifeshire, Scot., 1844. His parents removed to Monaghan, Irel., 1847, and he received his preliminary education at Corlatt Sch., in that town. He matriculated at Glasgow Univ., 1858, attending one session, and completed his Arts course at Queen's Coll., Belfast. There he stood first in Nat. Science, taking prizes in that and other depts. of study, and on graduating, 1861, took honours in genl. proficiency, besides winning the gold medal and exhibition in Nat. Science. Coming to Can., 1861, he was apptd., Jan., 1862, Head-master of the Brampton High Sch. From this position he was transferred, 1869, to be Head-master of the Oshawa High Sch.; from there, in 1871, to be Head-master of the Dundas High Sch.; and from there, in 1874, to be Head-master of the St. Catharines Coll. Inst. He remained at St. Catharines till Aug., 1884, when he was apptd. by the Mr. of Education to his present office, Inspr. of High Schs., his appt. being highly approved by the High Sch. teachers of Ont., one of whom has pronounced Mr. S. to be "the leading High Sch. master—the dux of the profession—in the Province." It is understood that he has thrown much energy and strong common-sense into his work, and that, without neglecting any dept. of study, he has given special attention to Science and Eng., which, till his time, had been much neglected. The result of his admn. is seen in the fitting up and equipment of special science-rooms for practical work by the pupils in chemistry and physics, and in the greatly improved status of the science masters. Not only chemist. and physics, but botany and zool. are now taught by observation and experience, and the univs. have recognized the ability of the schs. to cope with this work by accepting Science in lieu of French or German at matriculation. There have also been formed science teachers' assns. Since his appt. Mr. S. has visited the schs. of New Eng. and N. Y., and prepared a paper on these institutions, which has been published with the report of the Mr. of Education. He is the author of a High Sch. grammar, and has published also a sch. ed. of Milton. Mr. S. was a mem. of the Central Comte. on Education, while it lasted. Elected by the graduates of Toronto Univ. to the Senate of that institution, 1893, he did not offer for re-election, but was apptd. thereto by the Govt., 1895. He is a mem. of the Presb. Ch., and m. July, 1873, Caroline Louisa, dau. of the late Thos. H. McKenzie, Dundas, Ont.—Dept. of Education; 507 Huron St., Toronto.

SEDGWICK, Hon. Robert, judge and jurist, is the 3rd s. of the late Rev. Robt. Sedgwick, D.D., for many yrs. pastor of the Presb. Ch. at Musquodoboit, N.S., by his wife, Jessie Middleton. B. in Aberdeen, Scot., May 10, 1848, he accompanied his parents to Can. in childhood, and was ed. at Dalhousie Coll., Halifax (B.A., 1867; LL.D., 1893). His legal studies were followed under the late Hon. John Sandfield Macdonald, formerly Atty.-Genl. of Ont. He was called to the bar of Ont., 1872, and to that of N. S., 1873. Taking up the practice of his profession in Halifax, he became head of the firm of Sedgwick, Ross & Sedgwick, with an extensive business connection, and speedily attained a high place in the ranks of the legal fraternity. He was created a Q. C., by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880; became recorder of Halifax, 1885; and was elected V.-P. of the N. S. Barristers' Soc., 1886. A gov. of the Univ. of Dalhousie Coll., and Presdt. of its Alumni Assn., he also held for some yrs. the lecturership on Equity Jurisprudence in its Law Faculty. He was prominently identified with civic affairs, having served for 5 yrs. as a sch. comnr., and for an almost equal length of time as an ald. He was for some time the Secy., and afterwards the Presdt., of the North Brit. Soc. of Halifax, the oldest national and social organization existing in the B. N. A. colonies. At the g. e. 1874 he unsuccessfully contested Halifax, in the Lib.-Con. interest, for the Local Legislature. He became Depty. Mr. of Justice of Can. under the late Sir J. S. D. Thompson, Feb. 25, 1888, and held that office up to his appt. as a Puisne Judge of the Supreme Ct. of Can., Feb. 18, 1893. As Depty. Mr. of Justice he argued before the Imp. Privy Council the case between the Dom. and B. C. as to the ownership of the precious metals in the ry. belt in B. C. In 1891 he went on a special mission to Washington in connection with the Behring Sea question; he codified the laws on the subject of bills of exchange and promissory notes, 1890; and he gave a great deal of attention to the drafting of the criminal code of Can., which was passed into law, 1892. SELLAR, Robert, author and journalist, is a native of Elgin, Scot. He has been for many yrs. ed. and prop. of the Can. Gleaner (Huntingdon, P.Q.). In this paper was first published the stories written by him, known as the "Gleaner Tales," which have since appeared in book-form (2nd ed., 1895). Some of these tales are based on actual incidents in the lives of the early settlers in the old Co. of Huntingdon, and the scenes of all are laid in the wedge-shaped territory which forms the south-western extremity of the Province of Quebec, with the St. Lawrence on one side and the U. S. on the other. They display a high degree of literary merit. Indeed, it has been said of some of them, that no Can. writer surpasses Mr. S. in his charm of narrative and delicacy of style. Later, he published "Hemlock: a Tale of the War of 1812," which is also a contribution to the semi-historical literature of Can. Mr. S. is likewise the author of "The History of the Co. of Huntingdon and of the Seigniories of Châteauguay and Beauharnois from their First Settlement to the year 1838" (1888). As a journalist, Mr. S. has been for several yrs. the accepted interpreter of the feelings and aspirations of the Prot. minority in Quebec. He was the author of the pamphlet signed "Quebec Loyalist," describing "The Disabilities of Protestants in the Province of Quebec," which was published by the Equal Rights Assn. of Ont., during the agitation raised by Mr. Mercier's Jesuits' Estates Bill, 1888; of a letter addressed to Sir H. G. Joly, "In Defence of the Quebec Minority" (Feb , 1894), and of various papers communicated to the Toronto Globe and other journals in reference to the Man. Sch. question. As a lecturer he has won more than a local reputation, one of the best of his efforts in this line being "The Scottish Pioneers of Can." Politically, a Lib.; in religious faith, he is a Presb. SHAW, Thomas, educationist, was b. of Scottish parentage, at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Jan. 3, 1843. Ed. at Woodburn, Ont., he began life as a public sch. teacher. Becoming the possessor of a farm in the Co. Wentworth, covering about 400 acres, he devoted himself for some yrs. to agricul. He carried his studious habits into his work, and, while gaining the practical knowledge which the successful farmer must possess, he brought to bear a great deal of information gleaned from books and from the experience of others. His special knowledge of live stock he imparted to many throughout the Dom. through the columns of the Live Stock Journal, of which he was the founder and for yrs. the ed. He placed this journal upon a successful footing, giving it the rank it now holds, as one of the leading agricul. papers of the Dom. During his career, Mr. S. has taken a keen interest in every way in the welfare of the farmers, using every means in his power to give to all the special knowledge possessed by each. To this end he was active in organizing Farmers' Insts. in every part of Ont., and was Secy. of the Central Farmers' Inst. from its organization, 1887, until apptd. in the following year Prof. of Agricul. and Farm Mangr. in the Ont. Agricul. Coll. Previous to this, Prof. S. won for 6 yrs. in succession the 1st prize in essay writing offered by the Ont. Agricul. and Arts Assn. for the best essay on some specified agricul. topic. Among his other writings were the greater portion of the "First Principles of Agricul.," published by Mills and Shaw, 1890; "Weeds and Modes of Eradicating them" (1893); "Sheep," in "Johnson's Encyc." (1893); and "The Rape Plant: its Growth and Uses" (1893). He was apptd. Prof. of Animal Industry in the Agricul. Dept. of the State Univ. of Minnesota, Sept., 1893, and still holds that appt. He m. SHAW, Rev. William Isaac (Meth.), educationist, is the s. of the late John Shaw, an ald. of Kingston, Ont., by his wife, M. C. Whitley. B. in Kingston, Apl. 6, 1841, he was ed. at Queen's Coll., Kingston, at Victoria Univ., Cobourg (B.A., 1861; M.A., 1864; LL.B., 1864), and at McGill Univ., Montreal (M.A. ad eund., 1880; LL.D., in course, 1887). Intended for the legal profession, he studied with that object, first with the late Judge Burrowes, Kingston, and subsequently with Mowat (Sir O.) & Maclennan, Toronto; but abandoning that design, he entered the ministry, 1864, and was ordained, 1868. He laboured successively at Brewer's Mills, Belleville, Lachine, Hemmingford, Odelltown and Montreal, becoming, 1864, an instructor in the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal, an institution he assisted to found. In 1877 he was apptd. Prof. of Greek therein, and, in Mch., 1894, he was called on to succeed the late Rev. Dr. Douglas as Principal of the Coll. Dr. S. has been a del. to each Quadrennial Conf. of the Meth. Ch. since 1874, and was elected Presdt. of the Montreal Conf., 1878. He was apptd.

a mem. of the Council of Public Instrn., P. Q., 1888, and of the Bd. of Prot. Sch. Comnrs. for Montreal, 1890. Besides many articles in reviews and quarterlies, chiefly exeg. or theol., he has published: "A Plea for Toleration" (1893) and a "Digest of the Doctrinal Standards of the Meth. Ch." (1895). He formerly held high office in the Orange order. As a mem. of the Council of Public Instrn. he was prominent in dealing with the Prot. commutation grant in the Jesuit Estates' settlement, some yrs. ago, contending that the Council had no discretionary power in accepting the grant, and, on the other hand, moving a resolution demanding that the Govt. restore the Superior Education Fund, made up of the proceeds of Jesuit Estates, which the Settlement Act proposed should be diverted from Imp. education to the Provl. Treasury. To this demand the Govt. acceded, and replaced the trust thus constituted for superior education. In politics, Dr. S. is non-partisan, but believes in uncompromising loyalty to the Brit. Crown and friendly relations with the U. S. He is a V.-P. of the Lord's Day Alliance. He m. 1869, Sarah, dau. of the late Capt. Robt. Patterson, Kingston, Ont.—*Wesleyan Theol. SHEA, The Hon. Sir Ambrose, statesman, is the s. of the late Hy. Shea, merchant, of St. John's, Nfd., and was b. there, 1818. Ed. in his native city, he entered mercantile life and ran a successful business career. Entering the Nfd. Assembly, 1850, he was Speaker of that body, 1855-61, and an unofficial mem. of the Ex. Govt., 1864-69. He was sent as a del. to the Quebec Union Conf., 1864, presided over by the late Sir E. P. Taché, and was on several other missions. He was Comnr. from Nfd. to the Fisheries Exhn., London, 1883, and drew up an exhaustive report on the results of the display in so far as they affected the interests of his colony. Created a K.C.M.G. the same year, Sir A. became Gov. and Commander-in-Chief of the Bahama Isds., July 11, 1887. On leaving there, 1895, he was presented by the people with a service of plate, "as a testimony of his signal services to the colony by the establishment of the now famous fibre industry, and of the marked ability of his general administration." He is now living in London, where he is a dir. of several public cos., and in one or two instances is Chairman of the Bd. Some excitement prevailed in Nfd., 1886, over a rumour that Sir A. had been apptd. Gov. of that colony, and, no doubt, the appt. would have been unpopular at that time. Sir A., who is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., was m., 1st, 1851, to Isabella, dau. of Joseph Nixon, Edinburgh (she d. 1877); and 2ndly, 1878, to Louisa, relict of the late Alex. SHEPPARD, Edmund Ernest, journalist, is the s. of the late Rev. Edmund Sheppard (Disciples), who was a native of Newark, Eng., by his wife, Nancy, dau. of the late John Bentley. B. in South Dorchester, Elgin, Ont., Sept. 29, 1855, he was ed. at the local schs. and at Bethany Coll., West Va., afterwards spending some time in Texas and Mexico. While in the south he contributed to the press, thus paving the way for his future career. Returning to Can., 1878, he at once sought newspaper employment, and was for a short time on the London Advertiser. In June, 1878, he joined the Toronto Mail staff, and worked for it during the famous election campaign of that year. In Dec. he went to the London Standard. Afterwards he was night ed. of the London Free Press, and, later, for 8 mths., city ed. of the Toledo Commercial. After this short absence Mr. S. was for 2 yrs. ed. of the St. Thomas Journal. He then joined the Toronto News as chief ed. This paper finally passed entirely into his hands, and was published with the following platform: "National independence; the election of a chief magistrate for Can. by and from amongst Canadians; an elective Senate; the abolition of all exemptions from taxation; the complete separation of Church and State; manhood suffrage in all Parliamentary affairs; a revision of the constitution, so as to define more strictly the respective powers of the National and Provl. Govts.; the abolition of the veto power now possessed by the Federal authorities over Provl. legislation; all questions as to the constitutionality of National and Provl. Acts to be decided by the Supreme Court; all paper money to be issued by the National Govt. instead of by the banks; the abolition of all official superannuation funds; such changes in the laws as will make the existence of a permanent office-holding class impossible; the reorganization of our provincial systems on a more economical and democratic basis; the election of provincial governors, etc., by the people; the election of county officers, such as sheriffs, registrars, clerks of the court, division court clerks, inspectors of schools, etc., by the people; the election by the teachers of the Province of a council and chief superintendent of public instruction." During his connection with the News he was tried at Montreal for having libelled the 65th Batt., and although it was shown at the trial that he was not the author of the article complained of, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $400. He addressed the jury in his own behalf, and created a favourable impression as a speaker. At this time he became prominent as an advocate of the labour movement, and at the Dom. g. e. 1887, presented himself as a candidate in that interest in West Toronto. He polled 3438 votes to 3895 cast for his successful opponent, the late Lt.-Col. F. C. Denison. Subsequently, in 1890, he unsuccessfully contested Haldimand for the Legislature, and, in 1893, he was a candidate for the Toronto mayoralty. In the autumn of 1887 he sold out his interest in the News, and for 8 yrs. retired from daily journalism. Forming the Sheppard Publishing Co., he commenced the publication of Saturday Night, a literary and society paper still in vigorous existence. A leading feature in this journal was a series of comments in paragraphic style, written by Mr. S. himself under the pseudonym of "Don." "From this column," says the Printer and Publisher, "has issued during the last 8 yrs. the most fearless and pungent criticism in Can. Every abuse, political, social, or municipal, has been held up to scorn and ridicule." Mr. S.'s latest journalistic enterprise is the Toronto Evening Star, which he purchased, Dec., 1895, and has since published, he being the sole prop. and ed. All his articles in the Star are signed with his initials. He also continues his connection with Saturday Night. Mr. S., in addition to his newspaper work, has published three novels: "Dolly" (which has reached a 3rd ed.), "Widower Jones," and "A Bad Man's Sweetheart." He is an Orangeman, and also past Grand Master of the Sovereign Great Priory of the Knights Templar of Can. Politically, he is an Ind. Con., with strong leanings towards the Laurier Govt. He is a mem. of the Knights of Labour, and has always conducted a union establishment from garret to cellar. In 1897 he was sent on a trade mission to Southern and Central Am. by the Laurier Govt. SILCOX, Rev. John B. (Cong.), is the s. of Wm. Silcox, by his wife, Nancy Phillips, and was b. at Frome, Ont., Sept. 17, 1847. Ed. at the local schs., and at the Normal Sch., Toronto, he pursued his theol. studies in the Cong. Coll., Montreal, whence, after admission to the ministry, 1876, he accepted a call to the Western Cong. Ch., Toronto. He subsequently ministered, with great success, in Winnipeg and San Francisco, holding several pastorates. In 1892 he was called to Emmanuel Ch., Montreal, where he remained till his appt. to the pastorate of Leavitt St. Cong. Ch., Chicago, Apl., 1895. While in Montreal he held the office of V.-P. of the Prot. Ministerial Assn., and was largely instrumental in promoting revival work. He likewise distinguished himself as the friend of the working classes, as an enemy of the drink traffic, and as an earnest advocate of religious tolerance. His departure from the commercial metropolis was viewed with regret by all classes. Mr. S. has preached and lectured a good deal on social problems, and his sermon on "Labour and Capital" has been read by thousands. He m. 1870, Miss Esther A. SIMPSON, Rev. Albert Benjamin (Christ. Alliance), of Scottish origin, is the s. of the late Jas. Simpson, by his wife, the dau. of the late Wm. Clark, Darnley. B. at Bay View, P.E.I., 1846, he was taken to western Ont. by his parents when about 3 yrs. of age. The family took up land in the Co. Kent, and the future clergyman received his early education at Chatham High Sch. Desiring to enter the Ch., he and his bro., the late Rev. W. M. Simpson, studied with that object at Knox Coll., Toronto, A. B. S graduating 1865, and his bro., 1866. Ordained to the ministry the same year, he was for 9 yrs. pastor of the United Presb. Ch., Hamilton (succeeding the Rev. Dr. Ormiston in that position). Subsequently, he accepted a call to a ch. in Louisville, Ky., and finally went to N. Y. as pastor of 13th Presb. Ch. in that city. Finding himself too much hemmed in by the conservative people there, he resigned his charge in order that he might the better be enabled to reach the unchurched masses. He hired tents and halls in different parts of N. Y., and the outcome of about 14 years' labour was, the Christian Alliance and the Internl. Mission. Alliance, organized about 1888, which has sent to different parts of the world over 300 missionaries — 50 to Africa, 70 to Central India, 80 to China, and many to Japan, Palestine, South Am., the West Indies, etc. The ch. he thus formed is understood not to be a new sect, but an undenominational union of Christians of all sects. In connection with the work carried on there is a mission. training inst., where hundreds of missionaries and evangelists have been trained for work in home and foreign lands. Mr. S. is pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle; ed. of the Christian Alliance, the official organ of the movement, which is devoted to missions, holiness teaching and "Divine healing"; and Genl. Secy. and Supdt. of Missions of the Mission. Alliance. He has travelled extensively, and is said to hold the record as a money-raiser for religious purposes, no less a sum than $125,000 having been obtained by him as the result of one day's appeal. He m. early in life, the dau. of — Smith, Toronto. Mrs. S. is Financial Secy. to the Alliance.—692 8th Ave., New York.

SINCLAIR, Rev. Alexander Maclean (Presb.), is a s. of the late John Sinclair, a native of Strath-Halladale, Sutherlandshire, Scot., who came to N. S., 1831, by Christy, dau. of John Maclean, a well-known Gaelic poet. B. in Glen Bard, Antigonish, N.S., Mch., 1840, he was ed. at the Pictou Acad., at the Truro Semy., and at the Presb. Coll., Halifax. Licensed to preach by the Presby. of Pictou, May, 1866, he was ordained and inducted into the pastoral charge of the cong. of Springville, East River, July 25, same year. In May, 1888, he was translated to the cong. of Belfast, P.E.I. He has been for many yrs. an indefatigable worker in the domain of Gaelic literature, and has produced collections of poetry, the value of which has been greatly enhanced by the brief accounts he has given of every author respecting whom it was possible to obtain any information. His latest work upon the Peoples and Languages of the World is ethnological in character, in that his treatment of the subject proceeds upon the lines of history and comparative philol., while the bearings of physiol. and geog. are taken into account. The book, while containing many things that are comparatively new, also shows evidence of elaborate research and of a high degree of literary excellence. Mr. S. m. Aug., 1882, Mary, dau. of John Campbell, East River, N.S. We append a list of his works: "Letters on the Anglo-

SKINNER, Thomas, who has for many yrs. been well known as the founder and ed. of several standard works upon financial and stock exchange subjects, was b. in Bristol, Eng., 1840, and early in the history of the Joint Stock Co. enterprise, which followed the passage of the Limited Liability Act of 1862, became established in London as a writer upon financial and stock exchange subjects. In 1875 he compiled the "Stock Exchange Year Book," and, in 1880, the "Directory of Directors." In 1880 he acquired the copyright of the "London Banks," a half-yearly hand-book which has since been in constant use in the London money market. In 1881 Mr. S. was invited to interest himself in Can., then making what proved to be the final and successful effort to fulfil one of the most important conditions of the federation of the various provinces of B. N. A. into the Dom. of Can., namely, the construction of a ry. to the Pacific coast. To assist in this object the Can. Gazette was established as "a weekly journal of information and comment upon matters of use and interest to those concerned in Can., Can. emigration, and Can. investment." This journal is regarded as having done good work for Can., and is still enjoying vigorous life. In the meantime Mr. S.'s interest in Can. grew apace. He became successively Dir. of the C. P. Ry. Co., of the Can. North-West Land Co., of the Hudson's Bay Co., the Commercial Cable Co., and the Halifax and Bermuda Cable Co., and a mem. of the London Comte. of the Bank of Montreal, and all these positions he still holds. SMITH, Goldwin, author and professor of history, was b. Aug. 23, 1823, at Reading, Eng., where his father was a practising physician. His family originally resided at Wybunbury in Cheshire. He received his early education at Eton. On proceeding to Oxford, he first entered as an undergraduate of Christ Ch., but being elected to a demyship in Magdalen, completed his course in that coll. He gained, in 1842, the Hertford scholarship for Latin, and, in 1845, the scholarship founded by Dean Ireland for Latin and Greek. In the latter year he graduated B.A. as 1st class in Classics, and subsequently, he proceeded to the degree of M.A. He gained the Chancellor's prizes for Latin Verse, 1845; for the Latin Essay, 1846; and for the Eng. Essay, 1847. In the latter year he was elected a Fellow of Univ. Coll. In the same year he was called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn, but he has never practised law. He is an hon. Fellow of Oriel Coll. and of Univ. Coll. In 1850 he was apptd. by the Govt., Asst. Secy. of the Royal Comn. on the state of the Univ. of Oxford. He was also Secy. to the 2nd Oxford Comn., and was a mem. of the Popular Education Comn. apptd. in 1858. The same year he was apptd. to the Regius professorship of Mod. Hist. at Oxford, and he held that chair till 1866. During the Am. civil war, he became an active champion of the North, and in furtherance of that cause, wrote "Does the Bible Sanction Am. Slavery?" (1863), "On the Morality of the Emancipation Proclamation" (do.), and other pamphlets on the same subject. In 1864 he visited the U. S. He met everywhere with a warm and enthusiastic reception, and had the degree of LL.D. conferred upon him by Brown Univ. On his return to Eng. he published "England and America" (1865), and "The Civil War in America" (1866). In Nov., 1868, having resigned his chair at Oxford, he again visited the U. S., and gave lectures on Eng. Constitutional History at the newly-founded Cornell Univ., Ithaca, N.Y. In 1871, having exchanged this post for that of a non-resident professorship, he removed to Toronto, where he has since resided. On coming to Can., Prof. S. at once took a prominent position in literary and educational circles. He was apptd. a Senator of Toronto Univ., and, in 1874, was elected to the Council of Public Instrn., Ont., as the representative of the public sch. teachers of the Province (Vote: Prof. Smith, 1612; J. H. Sangster, 1335). He became also Presdt. of the Provl. Teachers' Assn. In these and other public positions to which he was called, he found opportunity for rendering useful and important services as well to education and letters as to the cause of political morality. For some yrs. he contributed articles on "Current Events" to a mag. published at Toronto under the name of the Can. Monthly. Later, he was the mainstay of the Nation, a weekly journal devoted to literature and politics, and, subsequent thereto, he published several series of a periodical conducted entirely by himself, called the Bystander. In 1884 he founded the Toronto Week, and was, up to 1887, a frequent contributor to its pages. He now writes for the Farmers' Sun, the organ of a farmers' assn. called "The Patrons of Industry." "It was impossible," said Mr. Le Sueur, from whose article on Prof. S. in the N.Y. Sun, 1891, we have taken some of our facts, "that so much journalistic work of the very highest class should not have a beneficial effect upon the character of the Toronto press, and to some extent also, upon that of journalism throughout the Dom." Continuing, he observed: "For some time after coming to Can. Prof. S. retained the conviction, expressed in his letters on 'The Empire,' that the true destiny of Can. was Ind. A careful study, however, of the relations between Can. and the U. S. led him before long to a different conclusion, and for some yrs. past he has not hesitated to declare that Can. is destined to merge her political life in that of the U. S." He has always expressed himself in favour of a moral federation of the Eng.-speaking people. Prof. S. was the 1st Presdt. of the National Club, Toronto. He was elected Presdt. of the Commercial Union Club, Toronto, 1887. Since then, he has served also as V.-P. of the Can. Land Law Amendment Assn., as Presdt. of the Mod. Language Assn., as Chairman of the Loyal and Patriotic Union formed in Can. to aid in defending the integrity of the United Kingdom against Home Rule, as Presdt. of the Lib. Temp. Union (in opposition to the "Scott" Act), and as Chairman of the Citizens' Comte., Toronto, composed of citizens at large, having for its object municipal reform, both in elections and in legislation. Among his published works, in addition to those already mentioned, are: "Irish History and Irish Character" (1861); "Lectures on Modern History" (do.); "Rational Religion and the Rationalistic Objections of the Bampton Lectures for 1858" (do.); "The Empire" (1863); "A Letter to a Whig mem. of the Southern Ind. Assn." (1864); "Three English Statesmen, Cromwell, Pitt and Pym" (1867); "Essays on Reform" (do.); "The Reorganization of the Univ. of Oxford" (1868); "The Irish Question" (do.); "The Relations between Am. and Eng." (1869); "A Short History of Eng. down to the Reformation" (do.); "William Cowper" (1880); "Lectures and Essays," printed for private circulation (1881); "The Conduct of Eng. to Irel." (1882); "False Hopes" (1883); "Can. and the Canadian Question" (1891); "A Trip to Eng." (1892); "History of the U. S." (1893), "Oxford and Her Colleges" (1894); "Bay Leaves: Translations from the Latin Poets" (do.); "Specimens of Greek Tragedy" (do.); "Essays on Questions of the Day" (do.); and "Guesses at the Riddle of Existence" (1896). In 1897 he was preparing for publication a "Political History of Eng." In 1882, on the formation of the Royal Soc. of Can., by the Marquis of Lorne, Prof. S. was apptd. to a fellowship therein, but resigned shortly after. The degree of D.C.L. was conferred upon him by Oxford, 1882, and that of LL.D. by Princeton, 1896. In the same year he declined receiving a similar degree from the Univ. of Toronto, In 1894 the Oxford friends of Prof. S. commissioned Mr. Grier, of Toronto, to paint a portrait of him, to be hung on the walls of the Bodleian Library. SMITH, Marcus, C.E., was b. near Berwick-on-Tweed, Eng., July 16, 1815. Ed. there he also studied for his profession in Eng. His first work, lasting about 6 yrs., was in surveying portions of the country in Eng. and Wales under the provisions of the Commutation of Tithes Act. Thereafter, he was engaged for some yrs. in ry. work, and more especially in the survey and construction of the Oxford, Worcester and Wolverhampton Ry., and the Rugby, Derby and Manchester Ry. Coming to Am., 1849, Mr. S. was, in the 16 months following, principally employed in making maps and plans of several towns and cities in the U. S. Removing thence to Can. he continued this work, making surveys and maps, which he also published, of Hamilton, Dundas, Brantford, Galt and St. Catharines. In 1852 he was engaged on the Great Western Ry., chiefly in the location of the Sarnia branch, and on the preliminary surveys of the Hamilton and Toronto branch, and, in 1853, was apptd. resident Chief Engr. on that line. During 1857-60 Mr. S. was Depty. Chief Engr. and had charge of the field work of the Niagara and Detroit Rivers Ry., the construction of which was abandoned in the latter year. Returning to Eng. he was, not long afterwards, sent to the Cape of Good Hope to take an important position on the Cape Town and Wellington Ry. In 1862 he was apptd. Chief Engr. to construct a short suburban ry. from Cape Town to Wynberg, which was completed in 1865. He was next engaged for a time in Eng. and Wales in work on the Worcester, Bromyard and Leominster Ry., and the Carnarvon and Llanberis Ry. Called to Can., 1868, he was apptd. on the staff of the Chief Engr., Mr. (now Sir) Sandford Fleming, on the construction of the Intercl. Ry., and was given charge of the Restigouche div., stretching from Bathurst to Lake Metapedia. This position he resigned, on the completion of the greater part of the work, in 1872, to accept that of Depty. to the Engr.-in-Chief of the Can. Pacific Ry., and was immediately despatched to take charge of the surveys in B. C. In 1876-78 he acted as engr.-in-chief during the absence in Eng. of Sir S. Fleming. Mr. S. was then apptd. to locate the line for construction from the Red River to Yellowhead Pass by a change of route, and was so engaged till 1881, when, the Can. Pac. Ry. Co. assuming charge of the work, that survey was dropped. He next took charge till completion of the Div. in B. C. from Port Moody to Emory's Bar. In 1886 his connection with this ry. ceased, and from that time up to 1892 he was a Consulting Engr. in the public service. Mr. S. was elected an associate of the Inst. of C. E., Eng., 1866. A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. Anne, dau. of the late Thos. R. Brock, Guelph, Ont. His 2nd s., Arthur Gordon Smith, was b. at the Cape of Good Hope, May 15, 1865, and was ed. at Upper Can. SMYTHE, Albert Ernest Stafford, is of German ancestry on his father's side, while his mother was the last of the direct line of the Carys of Redcastle, descendants of Lucius Cary, Lord Falkland. B. at Gracehill, Co. Antrim, Irel., Dec. 27, 1861, he was ed. at Gracehill Acad., at Ballymena Model National Sch., and at the Belfast Inst. He holds certificates in science from the Science and Art Dept., South Kensington. He was formerly engaged in journalism for some yrs. in Belfast, Chicago, Toronto, etc., but latterly has become a contractor by occupation. He published "Poems, Grave and Gay" (1891), and is the author of various sketches and short stories. Mr. S. introduced theosophy into Can. in connection with the present Oriental revival, and was the first Presdt. of the Toronto Theosoph. Soc. He writes much on the subject, and is the ed. of the Lamp, a paper devoted to theosophy. He is of opinion that national development can best be understood by a knowledge of the laws governing historical cycles. Am. is developing a civilization akin, though on a much higher scale, to the ancient Egyptian. An entire abolition of all interest and usury, legal or otherwise, would largely simplify, if not solve, the difficult economic questions of the day. He m. SMYTHE, Col. Terence Weatherley Waverly, late H. M.'s 100th Regt., is the s. of the late Terence Smythe, and the great-grands. of Dr. Geo. Smythe, Asst. Surg. of H. M. S. Royal George, which sunk at Spithead, June 28, 1782. B. at Brockville, Ont., Oct. 28, 1822, he was ed. in his native town, under the Rev. Rossington Elms, and graduated M.D., at McGill Univ., 1846. His mil. life commenced in 1838 at the battle of Windmill Point, Prescott, Ont., where he served as a volunteer. Soon afterwards he entered the 9th Batt. Can. Mil. ("King's Royal Borderers") as an ensign, and was promoted to a lieutenancy in the 3rd Provl. Batt., 1839. Later, he was apptd. to the 5th Batt. Incorporated Mil., with which he served until 1843. Under the new Mil. Act, 1854, he was the first to raise a volunteer rifle corps in Can. West (now Ont.), to which he afterwards added a gun detachment having a 6-pounder field-piece attached thereto. On the outbreak of the Indian mutiny, 1857, Col. S. offered the services of his co. to the Imp. Govt. for active service. In the following year, on the formation of the 100th Regt. ("Royal Canadians"), he raised a co. for service therein. Gazetted to a captaincy, he accompanied the regt. to Eng., and afterwards served with it at Gibraltar, Malta, in Can., Eng., Irel., Scot. and India. Promoted to a majority, July, 1872, and to a lt.-colonelcy, Dec., 1878, he attained a full colonelcy, July, 1881, and not long afterwards retired from the army, being the last to leave the 100th Regt. of the 44 officers who were apptd. to it on its formation. Col. S. was in command of the Sealcote Brigade in India for nearly a year during the war in Afghanistan, 1878-79, and later of the Umballa Brigade. He is spoken of by his former commdg. offr. (Col. the Baron de Rottenburg, C.B.) as having been the best duty offr. he had ever met with during his long period of service—"never on the sick list, nor seeking by leave of absence to escape either duty or climate." SPENCER, Joseph William, geologist, is the s. of Joseph Spencer, Dundas, Ont., by his wife, Eliza Eleanor Coe, and was b. at Dundas, Mch. 26, 1850. Several of his ancestors were U. E. Loyalists, and he likewise claims descent, on the paternal side, from John Winthrope, 1st Gov. of Mass., and the founder of the city of Boston. He pursued his scientific studies first at McGill Univ. (B.A.Sc., with 1st rank honours in Geol. and Mineral., 1874), and afterwards at Göttengen Univ. (M.A.; Ph.D., 1877). In the same year, he was elected a Fellow of the Geol. Soc. of London, Eng. He is a Fellow also of the Geol. Soc. of Am. and of other learned bodies. He was Science Master in Hamilton Coll. Inst., 1877-79; Prof. of Chemistry in King's Coll., N.S., 1880-82; Prof. of Geol. in the Univ. of Missouri, 1882-87; State Geologist of Georgia, 1888-93; and is now (1898) conducting geol. investigations in the West Indies. His observations on the interesting geol. phenomena of his native valley, near Dundas, gave rise to enthusiasm in scientific work at an early age, and from his coll. days to the present time he has been engaged in original geol. researches. After leaving coll., he was temporarily connected with the Geol. Survey of Can., having, in 1874-75, acted as field and office asst. under Dr. Bell, one of the asst. directors (q.v.). Of his Can. publications, mention should be made of "The Geol. of the Region about the Western End of Lake Ontario" (Can. Nat., Vol. X., Nos. 3 and 4, 1882), supplemented by "Niagara Fossils" ("Trans. St. Louis Acad. of Science," Vol. IV., 1884, with 9 plates), which contains descriptions of about 50 new species of graptalites and other fossils of the Niagara formation, found at Hamilton. In the same region he commenced his more important investigations, of internl. character, upon the origin and history of the Great Lakes and of Niagara Falls. Many papers on these researches from his pen, dating from 1881 to the present time, have appeared in the publications of the Am. Phil. Soc., the Royal Soc. of Can., the Geol. Soc. of London, the Am. Jour. of Science, the Bulletins of the Geol. Soc. of Am., etc. These papers and his "Glacial Erosion in Norway" ("Trans. Royal Soc. of Can.," 1887), contain the data gathered in the field, which "have been of the highest value in dispelling mistaken ideas and leading to true conclusions in questions of the greatest interest and importance" (Prof. T. G. Bonney), as, for example, in the supposed sufficiency of glacial erosion alone, for the creation of lake-basins and other physical features. The author has been able to restore the outlines of several great river and valley systems of the past, which are now buried beneath the drift or drowned under the waters of the modern lakes; and he was the first to solve the mysteries of the origins and the changing episodes of the Great Lakes and Niagara Falls. Estimates of a conjectural character as to the age of the Falls have been made by other writers, but Dr. S.'s computation of 32,000 yrs. was the first based upon the discovery of their true history. His investigations have developed the evidence of the stupendous changes of level of land and sea, such as the oscillation of the eastern part of the Am. continent from a table-land elevated 8,000 or 12,000 ft. above the sea ("Reconstruction of the Antillean Continent," Bull. Geol. Soc. of Am., 1894), and extending across and beyond the present region of the West Indian waters to the recent depression of New Eng., so that only a few small islands were above the oceanic waters, followed by the return of the land to the present elevation. Dr. S. has shown that these changes of level have perhaps occurred within the human period. These complicated problems form "pages in the new history of the continent, inaugurated in a great measure by the author, and they involve some of the most important points in the final theory of the Am. continent" (Prof. J. P. Lesley). They also develop or modify our views of the non-permanency of land and sea, of ocean currents and climatic changes, and of the causes of the distribution of animal and vegetable life. Dr. S.'s reports upon the geol. of Georgia, although of a general character, are largely of an economic nature, but they show the same analytical and synthetical methods as his other scientific works. They are embraced in three volumes, published in 1890, '91 and '93. He m. Apl., 1896, Katherine Sinclair, dau. of the late I. M. Thompson, Toronto.—1751 18th St., Washington, D.C., U.S.

S., in his lifetime solicitor of the Superior Cts. of Scot., and freeman of the city of Edinburgh, by his wife, Grace Buchanan, dau. of Sir Colin Campbell, of Auchinbreck, Argyleshire. His mother was a woman of marked character and fine talent, who contributed to Blackwood's Mag., and was the author of several novels. B. in Edinburgh, Feb. 25, 1822, he finished his literary education at Edinburgh Univ., came to N. B., 1840, was called to the bar, 1847, and practised his profession at St. Stephen, N.B. He sat for Charlotte, in the N. B. Assembly, 1861-65, when he was defeated on the question of Confederation, which he favoured, and sat again from 1866 until his elevation to the bench, June 19, 1867. He was created a Q. C. in the latter year. He is the author of "An Analytical Digest of the Decisions of the Supreme Cts. of N.B. from 1825 to 1873 inclusive" (1873); of a further digest of the same reports, 1873-87 (1887); of an "Index to the Statutes, Rules, Orders, Regulations, Treaties and Proclamations of the Dom. of Can." STEVENSON, Lt.-Col. Alexander Allan, retired list, V. M. service, is the s. of the late Jas. Stevenson, Riccarton, Ayrshire, Scot., by his wife, Janet Frances Allan, a cousin of the poet Burns and aunt of the late Sir Hugh Allan. B. at Riccarton, Jan. 29, 1829, he was ed. at his native place and came to Can., 1846, taking up his residence in Montreal. He devoted himself to the printing business, and, in 1853, entered into partnership with Messrs. Moore and Owler, under the firm name of Moore, Owler & Stevenson. They were for many yrs. well-known printers and publishers in the commercial metropolis. On the retirement of the 2 senior mems. of the firm, Col. S. carried on the business by himself, but since 1879 it has been merged in the Montreal Printing Co. He entered the Montreal City Council, 1861, sitting therein until 1867, when he retired. Re-entering that body, 1882, he has continued to be re-elected as an ald. from that up to the present time. As a mem. of the Council he has been chiefly identified with the Fire Brig., which he has been instrumental in bringing to a high state of perfection. As Chairman of the Fire Comte. he accompanied, in 1896, a detachment of the Montreal Fire Brig. to London, Eng., whither they were sent to take part in the World's Fire Congress. He had also to do with the establishment of the Fire Alarm system; but his greatest service, as a citizen of Montreal, was in securing Mount Royal for a public park. His mil. record dates from the organization of the Montreal Field Batty., 1855. Rising through the various grades in the service, he attained the command of the Batty., Apl., 1857, and was with it in 1858, when the Batty. marched through the streets of N. Y. and Boston carrying the Brit. flag, this being the first occasion on record when a Brit. mil. organization had appeared in those cities since the Am. revolution (Borthwick). He commanded the Batty. while it was on active service on the Huntingdon frontier during the Fenian raids in 1866 and 1870 (medal). He retired with the rank of lt.-col., Apl. 24, 1891. Lt.-Col. S. holds high rank in the Masonic body, having been Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Can., 1868-70, and, later, having been apptd. by the Prince of Wales head of the Knights Templar in Can.

In 1883 he was apptd. a Comnr. to enquire into the public service of Quebec, and, later, he was named chairman of the comte. formed of those mems. of the V. M. who had served during the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870, who prayed for some recognition from H. M.'s Govt. for their services. Of other positions filled by him at various times may be mentioned the following: Presdt. of the Montreal Curling Club; Presdt. of the Mechanics' Inst.; Presdt. of the Caledonian Soc.; Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc.; and Presdt. of the Council of Arts and Manufactures, P. Q. In religion, a Presb.; politically, he is a Con., and was for many yrs. on terms of closest intimacy with Macdonald, Cartier, Galt, McGee, Rose, Howe, and all of the Con. leaders and public men of the past. At the Dom. g. e. 1874, he unsuccessfully contested Montreal West in the interests of his party.—122 Mackay St., Montreal.

STEWART, George, author, publicist and journalist, is the s. of the late Geo. Stewart, merchant, St. John, N.B., by his wife, Elizabeth Dubuc. B. in the city of New York, Nov. 26, 1848, he came with his parents to Can., 1851, living in London, Ont., till 1859, when he removed to St. John, N.B. Becoming a chemist and druggist, he gave up that occupation, after a few yrs., to devote himself entirely to journalism and letters. In 1865 he founded the Stamp Collectors' Monthly Gaz. This he relinquished, 1867, to found Stewart's Literary Quarterly Mag., which has been well described as "one of the best national mags. Can. has ever possessed." After 5 yrs. it ceased to exist, and he was thereafter successively city ed. of the St. John Daily News, literary ed. and dramatic critic of the Weekly Watchman, and ed.-in-chief of Rose-Belford's Can. Monthly (Toronto). In 1879 he removed to the city of Quebec, and from that year up to Sept., 1896, when he retired therefrom, he filled, with conspicuous ability, the chief editorial chair of the Daily Chronicle. In addition to being a frequent contributor to all the leading Can. mags. and reviews of his time, Dr. S. has written on Can. literary, biographical and historical topics in many of the Brit. and Am. newspapers and periodicals, including the Scottish Rev., the Speaker, Chambers's Journal, Arena, the Forum, the New Eng. Mag., the Mag. of Am. History, the Am. Hist. Rev., the Atlantic Monthly, the Cosmopolitan, the Independent, Harper, and the *North Am. STOWE, Mrs. Emily Howard, the pioneer woman physician of Can., is the dau. of Solomon Jennings, by his wife, Hannah Lossing, and was b. in South Norwich, Co. Oxford, Ont., May, 1831. Ed. at the Provl. Normal Sch., Toronto, she became a teacher at 15. Later, she commenced to study for the med. profession, and, according to the official record, was in practice prior to 1850. She received her degree from the N. Y. Med. Coll. for Women, 1867, and was registered as a mem. of the Coll. of P. and S., Ont., July 16, 1880. She practises in Toronto, and is now one of the principal physicians in that city, with a yearly increasing clientèle. She m. 1856, John Stowe, Norwichville, Ont. Mrs. S. has long been known as one of the leaders in the Woman Suffrage movement. In 1877 she organized the Toronto Woman's Lit. and Science Club, which, after some yrs., resolved itself into a suffrage club, inviting gentlemen to be mems. thereof. Through this organization municipal suffrage was obtained, in 1883, for widows and spinsters in Ont., and many other practical reforms were effected. She was the first woman to knock at the door of Toronto Univ. for admission to the classes of Chemistry and Physiol. She was refused by the Senate, but predicted at the time that the doors of the Univ. would open some day to women, and they have done so. She is now Presdt. of the Dom. Woman's Enfranchisement Assn., which was incorporated, 1893. Her career has been one of struggle, attended by that sort of persecution which falls to the lot of everyone who pioneers a new movement or steps out of line with established custom. As a public lecturer, her principal topic has been "Woman's Sphere." Mrs. S. was brought up in the Soc. of Friends, but she has outgrown all religious creeds. She now stands in the broad field of enquiry, a truth-seeker, desiring knowledge from the interior life, and that truth which alone maketh free. She calls herself "a mental scientist," and likewise "a scientific socialist."—463 Spadina Ave., Toronto.

He spent 13 yrs. of his life on the Labrador coast, and was afterwards stationed in the Great N.-W., with whose after history and development he had much to do. Promoted step by step through various positions, he became at length a Chief Factor. Subsequently, he was named Resident Gov. and Chief Comnr. of the Co. in Can., a position he still holds. As a public man he first came into prominence in connection with the insurrection at the Red River settlement (now included in the Province of Man.), 1869—being, in Dec. of that year, apptd. a Special Comnr. by the Dom. Govt. to enquire into the circumstances thereof. He manifested great tact, prudence and ability in the discharge of the duties of his mission, and for his services received the thanks of the Gov.-Genl. in Council. In the following year, after the organization of the Province of Man., he was returned to the Legislature for Winnipeg and St. John. He was also called to the N.-W. Territorial Council, and was returned for Selkirk to the Ho. of Commons. In 1874 he resigned his seat in the Legislature, but remained a representative of the Province at Ottawa up to 1880, when he suffered defeat at a by-election. Mr. S. re-entered the political arena at the g. e. 1887, being then returned to the Ho. of Commons for Montreal West by a majority of 1450. He was re-elected at the g. e. 1891, by a majority of 3706. In Mch., 1896, during the last days of the Bowell Admn., he served as a del. to the Man. Govt. along with Messrs. Dickey and Desjardins, in reference to the Sch. question. In Apl. of the same year he retired altogether from political life in Can., being then apptd. to represent the Dom. in London, as High Comnr. He was at the same time sworn of the Queen's Privy Council of Can. He was a Comnr. to the Pacific Cable Conf., London, Nov., 1896, and also attended the sittings of the Commercial Congress, held there in 1892 and 1896. At the outset of his public career he was a supporter of Sir John Macdonald, but went over to the Liberals at the time of the "Pacific Scandal," 1873. After Sir John Macdonald's return to power, 1878, he gave him an ind. support, principally in connection with his fiscal and ry. policy. Although a Free Trader in Eng., and a Protectionist in Can., "he has always sought to free himself from mere partyism." During the existence of the Imp. Federation League, he served as V.-P. of that organization for Quebec. He is now one of the Council of the Brit. Empire League. His Lordship's name is indissolubly associated with the history of ry. development in Can. (see Hill, J. J., and Mount Stephen, Lord); and Sir Chas. Tupper has placed on record his opinion that "the Can. Pac. Ry. would have no existence to-day, notwithstanding all that the Govt. did to support that undertaking, had it not been for the indomitable pluck and energy and determination, both financially and in every other respect, of Sir Donald Smith" (vide speech at St. George's Club, London, Jan., 1897). Mr. J. J. Hill has also said that "the one person to whose efforts and to whose confidence in the growth of our country our success in early ry. development is due, is Sir D. A. Smith" (vide speech at St. Paul, 1893). In acknowledgment of his services in this regard, Her Majesty was pleased, in 1886, to create Mr. S. a Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George; 10 yrs. later he was advanced to a Knight Grand Cross in the same Order (being privately invested by Her Majesty at Windsor Castle); and, in 1897, on the completion of the 60th year of Her reign, the Queen bestowed a further mark of favour upon him by raising him to the Peerage, as Baron Strathcona and Mount Royal, of Glencoe, in the Co. of Argyll, and of Montreal in the Province of Quebec and Dom. of Can. One of the largest shareholders in the Bank of Montreal, he became V.-P. of that institution, 1882, and Presdt., 1887. Lord S. was early chosen a gov. of the Fraser Inst., and of McGill Univ., and was elected Chancellor of the last-named institution, 1889. Of other bodies with which he remains connected may be mentioned the Trafalgar Inst., of which he is a trustee; the Sailors' Inst. and the Highland Soc., of which he is a dir.; the Royal Coll. Inst., of which he is a mem. of the Council; the local branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn., the Montreal Natural Hist. Soc., and the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science, of all of which he is a V.-P.; the Dom. Sanitarium Assn., of which he was a founder, and is now Presdt.; and the Players' Club, the Christopher Columbus Assn., the Can. National League and the Can. Bankers' Assn., of which he is hon. Presdt. Of industrial, commercial, ry. and other similar undertakings with which he has or has had to do, they are almost without number. In Dec., 1897, he was elected Chief of the Camanachd Club, of Grantown-on-Spey, Morayshire, and at the same time he accepted the presidency of the London Article Club for 1898. His Lordship has been a most generous patron of art. Together with Lord Mount Stephen, he endowed a Can. scholarship in the Royal Coll. of Music, London, and, subsequently, endowed a second scholarship on his own account. He paid $45,000 for Breton's painting, "The First Communion," the highest price ever paid for a modern picture sold at auction. He has also in his collection, which has been pronounced "the most catholic and abundant" in Can., examples of Raphael, Titian, Turner, Reynolds, Gainsborough, Romney, Millais, Rosa Bonheur, Constable, Constant, Alma Tadema, etc. Apart from other considerations, Lord S. will always be gratefully remembered in Can. for his unostentatious private charities for the relief of the distressed, and his princely munificence in other respects. On the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee, 1887, he, with Lord Mount Stephen, gave a million dollars for the building and endowment of the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, which sum was supplemented in 1896 with a further donation of $800,000 for maintenance. To McGill Univ., he has given in all at different times, the sum of $406,462, made up as follows: Current expenses, $8000; Boodle Library, $200; T. D. King, Shakespeare collection, $1000; books, French dept., $200; endowment of pension fund (Arts), $50,000; chair of Botany, $1200; botanic garden, $362; sessional lecturers, $23,500; Donalda endowment for higher education of women, $120,500; endowment of pension fund (Applied Science), $50,000; Leanchoil endowment (Med.), $50,000; Campbell memorial, $1500; endowment, chair of Path., $50,000; do. (dept. of Hygiene), $50,000. To the Trafalgar Inst., he gave $30,000. In 1896 he added to his benefactions by erecting and endowing, in Montreal, an institution to be known as the Royal Victoria Coll. for the higher education of women. In 1895 he purchased the Highland estate of Glencoe for a private residence. He received the hon. degree of LL.D. from the Univ. of Cambridge, 1887, and the same from Yale Coll., Am., 1892. He was apptd. hon. Lt.-Col., Victoria Rifles, Montreal, 1898. His name has been mentioned of late in connection with the Gov.-Generalship of Can. An adherent of the Presb. Ch., he m., early in life, Isabella, dau. of the late Richard Hardisty.—17 Victoria St., Westminster, London, Eng.; Locknell Castle, Glencoe, Scot.; 1157 Dorchester St. West, Montreal; "Norway House," Pictou, N.S.; "Silver Heights," Winnipeg; St. James's Club; Rideau Club; Athenæum Club, London.

STRATON, Barry, poet, is the s. of F. A. H. Straton, barrister, Judge of Probate and Clk. of the Ex. Council of N. B., by his wife, a mem. of the Bliss family. B. at Fredericton, N.B., Dec. 27, 1854, he studied at various schs. and completed his education at the Coll. Sch. in his native city. He began writing when very young, publishing poems in local papers, and afterwards poems and sketches in Can. and Am. mags. On leaving sch. he was engaged for some time in a law office, but the confinement proving detrimental to his health, he removed to a farm where he now resides. He is a warm devotee of canoeing, and he takes long outings on the beautiful River St. John, whence are drawn the inspiration for some of his finest poems. He has published "Lays of Love, and miscellaneous Poems" (1884); the "Building of the Bridge: an Idyl of the St. John" (1887), and the "Hunter's Hand-book," the latter an outcome of his outings. He still contributes to the mags., and selections from his various productions have appeared in the "Windsor and Canterbury" poets series. He m. Oct., 1889, Miss Leonora Margt. Harris. Politically, he is a Con., and is looking for the higher education, socially, politically and morally, of the people. He favours "Canada First," "Brit. Connection," and the "Consolidation of the Empire." In his opinion annexation would be a degrading sacrifice of national self-respect. He hopes to see the establishment of a national congress of arbitration.—Hanwell, N. B.

STRATON, Robert Brookes, railway engineer, bro. of the preceding, was b. at Fredericton, N.B., Nov. 4, 1868. Ed. at the High Sch. there, he took a special course in engineering at the Univ. of N. B. He entered the ry. service, 1887, and after having been engr. on preliminary STRONG, The Right Hon. Sir Samuel Henry, Chief-Justice of Canada, is the s. of the late Rev. Saml. Spratt Strong, D.D., D.C.L., sometime acting chaplain to the forces, Quebec, and afterwards Rector of Bytown (now Ottawa) and of Hull, and Rural Dean, by his wife, Jane Elizabeth, dau. of John Gosse, Poole, Eng. B. at Poole, Dorsetshire, Eng., Aug. 13, 1825, he accompanied his father to Can., 1836, and received his education at the High Sch., Quebec, and under private tutors. He studied for his profession at Bytown, under the late Augustus Keefer, and afterwards at Toronto, under the late Hy. Eccles, Q.C., and was called to the bar, Hilary term, 1849. The future Chief-Justice entered on the practice of his profession in Toronto, where he was in partnership with Hy. Eccles, and afterwards, at different times, with the present Chief-Justice Taylor of Man., with Hon. Jas. D. Edgar, now Speaker of the Ho. of Commons, and with John Hoskin, Q.C. From the first he seems to have been drawn toward the Equity branch of the law, and he speedily won distinction therein. In 1856

he was apptd. a mem. of the Comn. for the Consolidation of the Statutes of Can. and of Upper Can.; in 1860 he was elected a Bencher of the Law Soc. of U. C.; and, in 1863, he was created a Q. C., by Viscount Monck. On Dec. 27, 1869, he was apptd. to the bench of the Ct. of Chancery as one of the Vice-Chancellors. While sitting in that ct., he was named a mem. of the Comn. to enquire into the constitution and jurisdiction of the cts., with a view to the effecting of important legal reforms, and a possible union of the Law and Equity cts. In 1874 he was called to the Ct. of Error and Appeal of Ont., and, in the following year, was chosen by Lord Dufferin to become a Puisne Judge in the newly constituted Supreme Ct. of Can. His Lordship was promoted to the Chief-Justiceship of this ct. on the demise of Sir W. J. Ritchie, Dec. 13, 1892, and received the honour of knighthood, June, 1893. Since then he has upon several occasions filled the office of Depty. Gov., during the absence from the seat of Govt. of the Gov.-Genl. He was apptd. a mem. of the Jl. Comte. of H. M.'s Most Honourable Privy Council, Jan., 1897, and, proceeding to Eng., was sworn as a Privy Councillor before the Queen at a council held at Windsor Castle, July 14, 1897. On the following day he took his seat in the Jl. Comte., and sat there for several days. An authority, eminently reliable, has said of the Chief-Justice of Can., that in the capacity for grasping the vital and substantial points of a case, he has had, and probably has now, no peer, either at the bar or on the bench of Can. There is no keener intellect on the Can. bench. He is specially distinguished for his knowledge of law as a science and of the principles of jurisprudence generally. His faculty for legal expression and exact phraseology is conspicuous. He was elected a mem. of the Council of the Brit. Empire League, 1897. The Chief-Justice is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. STUART, Maj.-Genl. Edward Andrew, retired list, is the 2nd s. of the late Sir James Stuart, Bart., Chief-Justice of Lower Can., by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Alex. Robertson, and was b. in Quebec, Dec. 20, 1832. Ed. in Eng., he entered the army, May 21, 1852, as ensign 1st Royal Regt. of Foot; was promoted lieut., 1854; capt., 1858; major, 1871; lt.-col., 1876; col., 1881; maj.-genl., 1890. Proceeding to the East during the Crimean war, he served at the siege of Sebastopol from Apl. 22, until severely wounded, June 7, 1855 (medal with clasp, 5th class of the Medjidie, and Turkish medal). He served also throughout the war in China, 1860, including the taking of Sinho and Tangku, the occupation of Tientsin, and the surrender of Pekin (medal with 2 clasps). He was apptd. Lt.-Gov. and Secy. of Chelsea Hospital, Mch. 13, 1885, and retained this position till Dec., 1894.—Army and Navy Club; United Service Club.

STUART, George W., M.E., of Scottish descent, was b. at Musquodoboit, N.S., 1842, and ed. at the Waverly common sch. He early identified himself with the gold mining industry in N. S., and since 1862, has been largely instrumental in its development, particularly in the dists. of Montague, Cariboo, Salmon River and Shellag. He believes that the resources of the Province in this respect are capable of immensely extended proportions. Mr. S. has been a J.P. since 1879, and is an ex-councillor of the town of Truro. He has also been V.-P. of the Mining Soc., and Presdt. of the Gold Mines Assn. of N. S. He has contributed occasionally to mining and other journals on matters and questions affecting the mining industry. A Con. in politics, he has of late supported men rather than party. In his opinion the nation can now afford to lower her barriers, and show the world that Can. possesses resources and has ability to cope with them. He m. Hannah R., dau. of Watson Eaton, Wolfville, N.S.—Truro, N.S.

STUART, Gustavus George, Q.C., is the s. of the late Sir Andrew Stuart, Chief-Justice of the S. C., P. Q., by his wife, Charlotte Elmire, dau. of Phillippe Aubert de Gaspé, and was b. in Quebec, 1856. Ed. at the High Sch. there, and at McGill Univ. (B.A., and gold med. in Mental and Moral Phil., 1875), he was called to the bar, 1877. He has practised throughout in his native city, first in partnership with the late Hon. D. A. Ross, Q.C., and subsequently with Sir A. P. Caron. He was apptd. a Q.C., by the Earl of Derby, 1889, and is now one of the leaders of the bar in the Province of Quebec. He was one of the Crown counsel in the Mercier-Pacaud case, Nov., 1892, and his speech on the occasion has been pronounced as among the best and most finished displays of the sort ever witnessed in Quebec (vide Quebec Chronicle). Apart from his profession, Mr. S. is much interested in stock-raising, and possesses a fine farm at Quebec well stocked with Jerseys. He was a dir. of the Com du Haras National, 1889, and is now a dir. of the Quebec Exposition Co. He served formerly as an offr. in the 8th Batt., "Royal Rifles," V. M. He m. STUART, Rev. Henry Coleridge (Ch. of Eng.), was b. in London, Eng., where his family has resided for 250 yrs., Sept. 14, 1844. Ed. at Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville (B.A., 1869; M.A., 1874), he was ordained to the ministry at Quebec, 1871; was curate at St. Matthew's, in that city, 1871-74; and, subsequently, had charge of Shigawake, Gaspé, and Bourg Louis, at the latter of which he conducted a small private sch., where boys were prepared for the public schs. and univs. In 1890 he was apptd. rector of the Crown parish of Three Rivers, where he still is. He published, 1889, a "Divine Memorial of the Holy Eucharist" (N.Y.); and, 1893, the first instalment of a history of the Can. Ch., entitled "The Church of Eng. in Canada, 1759-1793. From the Conquest to the Establishment of the See of Quebec" (Montreal), a book which brought to light many facts relative to the early history of the Ch. of Eng. in Can. not generally known. The second instalment of this interesting work, covering the episcopate of Dr. Jacob Mountain, 1793-1825, is now (1898) about to be issued. The work has been most favourably reviewed by the religious and secular press everywhere. Mr. S. m. Apl., 1883, Miss Annie M. Colston, Quebec. — The Rectory, Three Rivers, P.Q.

STUART, John, capitalist, is the s. of the late Jas. and Margt. Stuart, and was b. at Keith, Banffshire, Scot., June 24, 1830. Ed. in his native place, he afterwards spent several yrs. in a law office, and came to Can., 1848. He entered mercantile life in Toronto, where he lived till 1864. Since that date he has resided in Hamilton, where for many yrs. he has been at the head of the firm of John Stuart, Son & Co. (Limited), wholesale grocers. He came into prominent notice some yrs. ago in connection with ry. development in the West. He was a dir. of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce, and of the Hamilton and Lake Erie roads during construction, and was Presdt. of the Hamilton and North-western Ry. continuously. In 1880 he was one of the Howland syndicate that offered to construct the Can. Pac. Ry. He has been also for a lengthened period on the directorate of the Can. Life Assur. Co., and of the Can. Landed and National Invest. Co. He was one of the founders of the Bank of Hamilton, 1872, and became successively V.-P. and Presdt. of that institution, retaining the last-named position up to the present time.

Politically, a Lib., he was returned in that interest to the Ho. of Commons, for South Norfolk, g. e. 1872, but was afterwards unseated on petition, and defeated on a fresh appeal to the people. Mr. S. was formerly an adherent of the Presb. Ch., but now worships in the Ch. of Eng., and is a trustee of St. Peter's Home for Incurables. SULLIVAN, The Rt. Rev. Edward, late Bishop of Algoma (Ch. of Eng.), was b. at Lurgan, Irel., Aug. 18, 1832. Ed. at Bandon and Clonmel, he proceeded afterwards to Trinity Coll., Dublin, where he graduated, 1857, being third of the "Respondents" for that year. Coming to Can., 1858, he was ordained as deacon, in that year, and to the priesthood, 1859, by the Bp. (Cronyn) of Huron. Apptd. mission. in the Tp. of London, he laboured in that field up to 1862, when he became asst. at St. George's, Montreal, to the present Bp. Bond. While there, he established a reputation for pulpit oratory, which led to his appt., in 1868, as Rector of Trinity Ch., Chicago, where he became a great favourite with the large and influential cong. worshipping under him in that parish. He was recalled to Montreal, 1878, to take over the rectorship of St. George's, and remained there until his elevation to the episcopate, as 2nd Bp. of Algoma, June 29, 1882. His Lordship was consecrated in Montreal, in that year, by Archbp. Lewis, of Ont., acting for the Metropolitan, assisted by several other prelates, including Bp. Coxe, of N. Y. "The record of Bp. Sullivan in the Diocese of Algoma," says the Rev. Dr. Mockridge in his "Lives of the Can. Bishops," "is one of singular devotion to duty, with an entire disregard of personal comfort and ease. In a mission. diocese, he was truly a mission. bishop. His first year's record was 11,000 miles of travel by land and water in promoting the interests of his charge. When he accepted office the diocese had 16 missionaries, which number had increased in 1895 to 30. But a little more than a year after becoming Bp. of Algoma, Dr. S. was elected by a very large majority to the vacant chair of his old Diocese of Huron. His reply ('My duty to Algoma compels me to decline') was characteristic of that zeal and devotion which in recent years broke down the vigorous health which had enabled him to achieve marvellous results in his field of labour. Before failing health compelled him to take needed rest, in 1893, 26 new chs. built, 10 others rebuilt, and a roll of 68 chs., all free of debt, was the splendid monument which he had erected." His Lordship went to Europe, 1894, being apptd. by the Col. and Cont. Ch. Soc. chaplain of Christ Ch., Mentone, France, for the winter season. Resuming his labours in Can., he finally resigned his See on his appt. as Rector of St. James's Ch., Toronto, in succession to Bp. Dumoulin, Nov., 1896. While in Chicago the degree of S.T.D. (Doctor of Sacred Theol.) was conferred upon him. His Lordship is also a D.C.L. of Lennoxville and Dublin, and a D.D. of Trinity Univ., Toronto. He is a mem. of the Council of Trinity Univ., Toronto, and a V.-P. of the Burial Reform Assn. He belongs to the Evangel. sch. of churchmen. He m. Oct., 1866, Frances Mary, 2nd dau. of Ed. Renaud, of Neufchatel, by his wife, Mary Ann Campbell. SULLIVAN, Hon. William Wilfred, judge and jurist, is the s. of a farmer, and was b. at New London, P.E.I., Dec. 6, 1843. Ed. at Central Acad., and at St. Dunstan's Coll., Charlottetown, he commenced his career as a writer for the press, becoming later one of the eds. of the Charlottetown Herald. Called to the bar, 1867, he was retained as one of the counsel for the Provl. Govt., in the interest of the tenants, before the Land Comnrs.' Ct. under "The Land Purchase Act, 1875." He was apptd. a Q. C., by the Provl. Govt., 1876, and received the same honour from the Marquis of Lorne, 1879. Entering public life, in the Con. interest, he held office for some yrs. as Atty.-Genl. of his Province, and was local Premier, 1879-89. He was apptd. Chief-Justice of P. E. I., Nov. 13, 1889, and is also local Judge in Admiralty. He served as Admnr. of the Govt., 1890. His Lordship is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., and m. 1872, Alice Maud Mary, dau. of J. F. SULTE, Benjamin, poet and historian, Dom. public service, is the only surviving s. of the late Benj. Sulte, navigator, by his wife, Marie Antoinette Lefebvre, and was b. at Three Rivers, P.Q., Sept. 17, 1841. His earliest ancestor in Can. was Jean Sulte, a soldier in Montcalm's army, who settled in Three Rivers immediately after the capitulation of Montreal. Owing to the death of his father, who perished at sea, 1847, young S. was taken from sch. at an early age, and found employment as clk. in a country store. Thereafter, he was successively purser on a steamer, book-keeper, and a dealer in clothing. He graduated at the Mil. Sch., Quebec, and was on active service with the volunteers upon 3 occasions during the momentous period (1865-66). His connection with the press dates from 1860, in which year he commenced to write for the newspapers both in poetry and prose. In July, 1866, he became ed. of Le Canada (Ottawa), retaining the position until apptd. an asst. translator in the Ho. of Commons, Nov., 1867. In May, 1870, he was transferred to the Dept. of Militia and Defence as a 1st class clk., and he was for some time Private Secy. to the late Sir Geo. Cartier, while that statesman was a mem. of the Govt. at Ottawa. It is, however, as a literary man that Mr. S. is best known to the people of his native country. As a poet he early attracted the attention of the late Hon. Dr. Chauveau, who took pleasure in reproducing some of his verse in the Journal de l'Inst. Pub. Later, Mr. S. assisted in founding La Revue Can. (Montreal), to which he is a contributor to this day. Quite recently he was entertained at a banquet given by the proprietors in celebration of the publication in the Revue of his hundredth article. His contributions to the periodical press and to the transactions of various literary bodies, both French and Eng., on literary, scientific and historical subjects, have been numerous, and would, if collected, form a small library. Of separate works from his pen there have been in verse: "Les Laurentiennes" (1870), and "Les Chants Nouveaux" (1880); and in prose: "Histoire des Trois-Rivières" (1870); "Melanges d'Histoire et de Littérature" (1876); "Le Coin du Feu" (1877); "Chronique Trifluvienne" (1879); "La Poésie Française au Can." (1881); "Album de l'Histoire des Trois-Rivières" (do.); "Histoire des Canadiens-Français," 8 vols. (1882-84); "Histoire de St. François-du-Lac" (1886); "Pages d'Histoire du Can." (1891); "Causons du Pays et de la Colonisation" (do.). In Aug., 1897, he read a paper on the "Origin of the French-Canadians," before the Brit. Assn., Toronto. Mr. S. has likewise appeared on the public platform as a lecturer on literary and historical subjects. He has held office as Presdt. of the Cercle Littéraire, Three Rivers; as Secy. and afterwards as Presdt. of the St. Jean Bapt. Soc., Ottawa; as Presdt. of the St. Thomas Ben. Soc., do., and as Presdt. of the 1st Sec. of the Royal Soc. of Can. (of which body he was apptd. a Fellow, on its formation, by the Marquis of Lorne, 1882). He is also an hon. mem. of various other organizations of a similar character, including the Lit. and Hist. Soc. of Quebec; the Wisconsin State Hist. Soc.; the Quebec Geol. Soc.; the Inst. Can., Quebec; the Soc. de Géograph. de Normandie; the Inst. Ethnologique de Paris; and the Cercle Artistique et Littéraire, Brussels. Mr. S. was one of those who early advocated the formation of the Royal Soc. of Can. He also urged the publication by the educational authorities of a suitable text-book of Can. history for schs., and was a mem. of the Comte. composed of literary men and educationists from all portions of the Dom. who were authorized to have such a text-book prepared. In religious belief, a R. C.; politically, he is neutral. He m. May 3, 1871, Augustine, young. dau. of the late Etienne Parent, a veteran journalist, and for some yrs. SUTHERLAND, Rev. Alexander (Meth.), is the young. s. of the late Capt. Nicholas Sutherland, a native of Dundee, Scot., who came to Can., 1832, by his wife, Mary Henderson.

B. in the Tp. of Guelph, Ont., Sept. 13, 1833, and ed. in the local schs., he, in early life, became a printer. He joined the Meth. Ch., 1852, and became a preacher, afterwards attending Victoria Coll., Cobourg, and was ordained to the ministry, 1859. His pastoral charges were successively: Niagara, Thorold, Drummondville, Hamilton, Yorkville, Richmond St., Toronto, and St. James St., Montreal. He has been twice Secy. and also Presdt. of the Toronto Conf., and Chairman of the Montreal Dist. In 1872 he was sent, with the Rev. Dr. Sanderson, as a del. to the Genl. Conf. of the Meth. Epis. Ch. of the U. S., which met at Brooklyn; in 1881 he was one of the Can. representatives at the Meth. Œcumenical Conf. assembled in London, Eng., and was elected one of the joint secretaries of that important gathering; and, in 1886, he was apptd. a fraternal del. to the Brit. Wesl. Conf., held in London, Eng. At the first Genl. Conf. of the Meth. Church of Can., 1874, he was elected to the office which he still fills with so much acceptance to his brethren, viz., Genl. Secy. and Clerical Treas. of the Mission. Soc., replacing the late Dr. Lachlan Taylor therein. In the furtherance of his duties Dr. S. (he received the hon. degree of D.D. from Victoria Univ., 1879) has travelled throughout the whole of Brit. Am., the Bermudas and Japan superintending the missionary work and stimulating the missionary zeal of the great body of Christians to which he belongs. Within a few years he succeeded in raising the annual income of the Soc. from $118,000 to almost $200,000. In 1891 he declined the principalship of Mount Allison Univ., N. B. In 1897 he was selected by the Theol. Faculty of Vanderbilt Univ., Nashville, Tenn., to deliver the next course of lectures on the "Coll. Foundation." Throughout his career Dr. S. has been very active in Sunday Sch. and temp. work. He was for some yrs. Presdt. of the Ont. Temp. and Prohibitory League, and was afterwards Presdt. of the Prohibition Third Party in that province. Both in the pulpit and through the press, he has seized every seasonable opportunity of promoting the interests of the temp. cause. In addition to being the ed. of the Missionary Outlook, he has written largely for the general newspaper press and for the mags., and has given to literature several works of permanent value, including: "A Summer in Prairie Land" (1882), which has been highly eulogized. SUTHERLAND, James, legislator and party organizer, is the s. of the late Alex. Sutherland, a native of Caithness-shire, Scot., who came to Can., 1841, by his wife, Allison, dau. of the late John Renton. B. in the Tp. of Ancaster, Wentworth, Ont., July 17, 1849, he was ed. at the Grammar Sch., Woodstock, and entered business in that city, in partnership with his bro., as grocers and crockery merchants. Elected to the Town Council, he became Reeve, holding the office for several terms, and was also elected Mayor of Woodstock, 1880. He likewise served on the Coll. Inst. Bd. He has sat in the Ho. of Commons for North Oxford since Dec., 1880, and has been chief "Whip" for the Lib. party in that Chamber since the death of Jas. Trow, 1892. He was apptd. Chairman of the Standing Comte. of Railways and Canals, 1896. Mr. S. is a V.-P. of the Golden Ring Consolidated Mining Co., B.C. He was formerly Royal Chief of the Order of Scottish Clans. He has long been an offr. in the 22nd Batt., Oxford Rifles, and was granted the rank of hon. major in the militia service, 1895. He voted for the disallowance of the Jesuits' Estates Act, 1888,

SWEATMAN, The Rt. Rev. Arthur, Bishop of Toronto (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of the late Dr. John Sweatman, of the Middlesex Hospital, London, by his wife, Anne Sweatman. B. in London, Eng., Nov. 19, 1834, he received his early education at the hands of private tutors and at Univ. Coll. Sch., London. Subsequently, he entered Christ's Coll., Cambridge (B.A., with honours in Math., 1859; M.A., 1862), and after being ordained to the ministry by the Bp. (Tait) of London, became curate of Holy Trinity Ch., Islington, and afterwards a master in the Islington Proprietary Sch. and curate of St. Stephen's, Canonbury. His early Christian work was begun as a teacher in Christ Ch. Sunday Sch., Marylebone, 1849. While at Islington, he founded the Islington Youths' Inst. He came to Can., 1865, to fulfil the duties of Head-master of Hellmuth Boys' Coll., London, Ont. In 1871 the authorities of U. C. Coll., having learned of his gifts as a teacher, offered him the Math. mastership in their institution. He accepted their offer, but after a short time resigned this position to become Rector of Grace Ch., Brantford, where he ministered for 2 yrs., when, in 1874, he returned to Hellmuth Coll., whose success and welfare he always had much at heart. He was apptd. a canon of the London Cath., 1875, and, later, was named Archdeacon of Brant. He was apptd., in 1876, asst. min. and acting Rector of Woodstock. In 1872 the Bp. of Huron made him his exam. chaplain, and, in the same year, he was elected clerical Secy. of the Diocese and Secy. to the Ho. of Bishops. During the absence of the Bp., he served as admnr. On the death of Bp. Bethune, he was elected to succeed him as 3rd Bp. of Toronto, his consecration taking place in Toronto, May 1, 1879. His Lordship received the degree of D.D., jure dignitalis, from Cambridge Univ., the same year, and that of D.C.L. from Trinity Univ., Toronto, 1882. He was one of the founders of the Ch. of Eng. Lit. and Publishing Co., and is Presdt. of the Council of St. Hilda's Coll., Toronto; Presdt. of the Toronto Ch. Sch.; Presdt. of the Bishop Strachan Sch. for Girls; Presdt. of the Toronto Ch. of Eng. S. S. Assn.; and a mem. of the Corporation of Trinity Univ., Toronto. He attended the Lambeth Conf., 1888, the Winnipeg Union Conf., 1890, and the 3rd Lambeth Conf., 1897. In June, 1887, he laid the corner-stone of the new Cath. of St. Alban the Martyr, Toronto. He m. TAILLON, Hon. Louis Olivier, statesman, is the s. of Aimé Taillon, by his wife Marie Josephte Daunais, and was b. at Terrebonne, P.Q., Sept. 26, 1840. Ed. at Masson Coll., he studied law under Fabre, Lesage and Jetté, and afterwards with the present Mr. Justice Girouard, and was called to the bar, 1865. He commenced the practice of his profession in Montreal, where he has since remained, and is now head of the firm of Taillon, Bovin & Morin. Mr. T. was created a Q. C., by the Marquis of Lorne, 1882; was a comnr. under the Municipal Loan Fund Act, 1880-82; and was elected Bâtonnier of the bar, 1892. He was one of the originators of the great French-Can. national demonstration at Montreal, 1874, and at the Provl. g. e. in the following year entered public life as mem. for Montreal East, defeating Joseph Duhamel, Q.C., the Lib. candidate, by a majority of 357 votes. He was elected Speaker of the Assembly, 1882, and held that post for one year. On Jan. 23, 1884, he was sworn a mem. of the Ex. Council with the portfolio of Atty.-Genl., the Hon. J. J. Ross being Premier. After the g. e. of 1886, when the Riel agitation had been the means of carrying the late Mr. Mercier and his friends into power, Mr. T. resigned his portfolio, and 5 days afterwards, Jan. 25, 1887, undertook the task of forming an Admn. to meet the new Assembly, in which his party would be in a minority. Two days afterwards he and his colleagues resigned, and Mr. Mercier became Premier. Mr. T. acted as leader of the Opposition up to the g. e. 1890, when he was defeated in Montreal East by L. O. David (q.v.). Upon the dismissal of the Mercier ministry by the Lt.-Gov., in Dec., 1891, Mr. T. accepted a seat in the de Boucherville Cabinet without portfolio, and acted as leader of the Govt. in the Assembly during the session, having in Mch., 1892, obtained a seat in Chambly. In Dec. of the following year he succeeded Mr. de Boucherville as Prime Minister, and continued to hold office till May 1, 1896, when he entered the Tupper Admn. at Ottawa as Postmaster-Genl. At the ensuing Dom. g. e. he ran for the new constituency of Chambly-Verchères, and was defeated by Mr. Geoffrion by a majority of 394. He retired with his colleagues in July, and is now in private life. It is understood that he declined a seat on the bench in 1891. He is a V.-P. of the Lib.-Con. TARDIVEL, Jules Paul, author and journalist, is the s. of Claudius Tardivel, a native of France, by his wife, Isabella Brent, an Eng. lady, and was b. at Covington, Ky., U.S., Sept. 2, 1857. Coming to Can., 1868, he was ed. at St. Hyacinthe Coll., and has been for over 20 yrs. engaged in active journalism in the Province of Quebec. After serving on the staff of Le Courrier de St. Hyacinthe, on La Minerve, and Le Canadien, he founded, 1881, La Vérité (Quebec), of which he remains ed. and prop. Like his journal Mr. T. is Ind. of all political parties or organizations, is strongly pro-Catholic, and favours the secession of the Province of Quebec from Confederation, looking to the eventual Ind. of New France. He has travelled extensively in Europe, and has twice had audience with the Pope. Besides several pamphlets on literary subjects he is the author of: "Vie du Pape Pie IX. Ses Œuvres et ses Douleurs" (1878); of "Notes de Voyage" (1890), and of "Pour la Patrie: roman du XXe siecle" (1895). Of the latter work, which reflects the political views and objects of the writer, 500 copies were purchased by the Quebec Govt. for distribution as prizes in the R. C. schs. Mr. T. m. TARTE, Hon. Joseph Israel, journalist and statesman, is the s. of the late Joseph Tarte, farmer, and a dir. of the Berthier Agricul. Soc. B. at Lanoraie, P.Q., Jan. 11, 1848, he was ed. at L'Assomption Coll., and was admitted to the notarial profession, May 3, 1871. After practising at L'Assomption for a short period, he drifted into journalism, becoming ed. of Les Laurentides (St. Lin). Called to Quebec to occupy a similar position on Le Canadien and L'Evénement, he continued therein for a lengthened period. In Dec., 1875, he offered himself as a candidate in a contest for the representation of Quebec Centre in the Ho. of Commons, but withdrew before the day of polling. In his address to the electors he declared himself "the uncompromising enemy of jobbery and corruption," explaining that his sole desire "as a journalist and a citizen was for good govt." He was at this time, and for years subsequently, one of the chief organizers of the Con. party in the Dist. of Quebec. He was returned, in that interest, for Bonaventure, to the Quebec Assembly, Feb. 23, 1877. In 1878 he was presented with a testimonial by Sir N. F. Belleau, Hon A. R. Angers and others, "in acknowledgment of his constant and untiring efforts to secure the triumph of the Con. party, more particularly in the Dist. of Quebec." Re-elected at the g. e. 1878, he continued to sit in the Assembly up to the close of the Legislature, 1881. Returned to the Ho. of Commons for Montmorency, g. e. 1891, as an Ind. Con., "he," says the Globe, "declared war against the corrupt influences which he knew to be ruling the Quebec end of Sir John Macdonald's Govt." Continuing the narrative of his career at this time, the Globe says: "He had sought to get Sir John to clean out his Cabinet, but had failed, no doubt because the old Premier believed it would break up and destroy his Admn. Mr. T. announced, therefore, that he would go to Ottawa and do in Parlt. what his loyalty to his party had prompted him to have done in a way to injure the Govt. as little as possible. It was in the early part of the session of 1891 that he launched his first bolt. He set himself at the earliest moment to the mission to which the electors of Montmorency had apptd. him. The proceedings which followed his motion for an enquiry are remembered by everybody—the crowded sittings of the committee, where opposing partisans and hired lawyers battled throughout 4 torrid summer mths.; the daily discoveries of fraud; the life and death fight of the discredited Govt.; the storm of shame and indignation which swept over the country. The central figure of that exciting summer was the man whom ever since the Con. press of Ont. has pursued with untiring vindictiveness. In the face of a storm of abuse, and in spite of the alienation of life-long friendships, he stood to his guns. He fought out his fight to a finish, and every Can. who was not blinded by partisanship honoured his courage and determination. He proved his charges, but for that very reason his old leaders would not forgive him. He compelled them to send away the men he laid his charges against, but when it was all over he found that he could no longer work with his old party. He became a follower of Mr. Laurier." Unseated on petition for Montmorency in the early part of 1892, he was returned for L'Islet, at a by-election, Jan. 5, 1893, and remained the representative of that co. till the end of the Parlt., 1896. Mr. T. is regarded as one of the ablest political organizers Quebec has ever had, and to his exertions in large measure were due the triumph of the Lib. party at the g. e. 1896, though he himself was defeated in Beauharnois where he was a candidate. On the formation of Sir W. Laurier's Cabinet, in the month of July, he was apptd. to the office of Mr. of Public Works—an office he still retains. Mr. T. was one of the promoters of the Temiscouata Ry., 1885; became a mem. of the permanent comte. for the Provl. Agricul. and Industrial Expns., 1887; a dir. of the Quebec Bridge Co. (resigned, 1897); and was apptd. a mem. of the Council of Agricul., P. Q., same year. He was apptd. a mem. of the Internal Economy Comte., Ho. of Commons, 1896. In addition to other political brochures he is the author of "Procès Mercier. Les causes qui l'ont provoqué. Quelques faits pour l'histoire" (1892). For some time up to Sept., 1896, he was ed. of Le Cultivateur (Montreal), which he founded. Since then he has written for La Patrie, of which paper, as well as of Le Cultivateur, his sons, L. J. and E. Tarte, are now the props. In Sept., 1897, he brought an action for criminal libel against W. A. Grenier, the publisher of a paper called La Libre Parole, securing his conviction and imprisonment. Mr. T. was the only leading politician of the French-Can. race who openly espoused the Imp. Fed. cause. He is in favour of total prohibition of the liquor traffic, "believing drunkenness to be a greater evil than prostitution." He is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., and m. 18—, Miss Ayloutre.—Russell House, Ottawa; 502 St. Denis St., Montreal; Montreal City Club.

TASCHEREAU, His Eminence Elzéar Alexandre, Cardinal Priest of the Roman Catholic Church and Archbishop of Quebec, is descended from Thos. Jacques Taschereau, a gentleman who came to New France from Touraine, France, in the early part of the 17th century, and whose descendants have occupied some of the most prominent positions in the public, judicial and ecclesiastical life of Can. The Cardinal's grandfather was the late Hon. Gabriel Elzéar Taschereau, a mem. of the L. C. Legislature, while his father,

Hon. Jean Thos. Taschereau, was a Judge of the King's Bench, of the same Province. His mother was Marie, dau. of the Hon. Jean Antoine Panet, first Speaker of the first Assembly elected in the Province of Quebec. B. at Ste. Marie de la Beauce, P.Q., Feb. 17, 1820, he was ed. at the Quebec Semy., after which he spent 16 mths. (1836-37) travelling in the United Kingdom, and in Belgium, France and Italy. On his return to Quebec, 1837, he entered the Grand Semy., and, having followed the prescribed course in theol., was ordained priest in his native parish, Sept. 10, 1842. He remained in the Semy., first as a prof. and afterwards as dir., 29 yrs., and while there compiled several educational works for the use of the students. none of which, however, have been printed. While still discharging his duties at the Semy., he volunteered for service to attend the sick and dying Irish immigrants at Grosse Isle, during the prevalence of the ship-fever, 1847, and was himself prostrated by the disease. In 1854 the future Cardinal went to Rome, where, after 2 yrs., he took his degree of D.D. In 1860 he was elected Superior of the Semy., and became ex-officio Rector of Laval Univ., an institution in whose interest he afterwards journeyed to Rome on 2 occasions, namely, in 1862 and in 1864. In 1869 he attended Archbp. Baillargeon during the sittings of the Vatican Council, as his secy. and theologian. He had previously, in 1862, been apptd. a V.-G. of the Archdiocese. The duties of his several offices he continued to discharge up to the death of his venerated predecessor in the Episcopate, Oct., 1870, when he was chosen as his successor. Dr. T. was duly consecrated in the Basilica of Quebec by the late Most Rev. J. J. Lynch, Archbp. of Toronto, Mch. 19, 1871, and forthwith entered upon his duties. As 16th Archbp. of Quebec, one of his first efforts was directed towards freeing the Coll. at Ste. Anne de la Pocatiére from its financial difficulties. After 7 years' labour, with the assistance of his clergy, whose zeal and generosity in this as in other matters he has always been glad to acknowledge, he succeeded. Soon after his elevation, His Grace went to Montreal as Apostolic Del. to enquire into and report upon some unforeseen difficulties arising out of the erection of certain parishes in that city, and, at the end of 1872, he proceeded to Rome with a view of procuring a final settlement thereof. In the same year he founded in Quebec the Hotel-Dieu du Sacré-Cour, a hospital which has since become of great local benefit. He also adopted measures for the reconstruction of the ch. at Ste. Anne de Beaupré, a shrine which for 250 yrs. has been the Mecca of devout pilgrims seeking restoration of health. In the following year he began the construction of a semy. at Chicoutimi; in 1874 he took part in the 200th anniversary of the foundation of the Episcopal See of Quebec; in 1873, and, in 1878, he presided at 2 Provl. Councils; in 1879 he enlarged the curriculum of the Coll. of Lévis, by giving it a classical course. In 1882, and, in 1884, he was again at Rome. On June 7, 1886, he was created a Cardinal Priest of the Holy Roman Church, with the title of Sainte Marie de la Victoire. His Eminence being the first native of Can. to be elevated to the Sacred Coll., and being a prelate personally popular and beloved by all classes, his appt. was received with great rejoicing throughout the country. He was presented with an address of congratulation from the Legislative Assembly of Quebec and the Mayor and City Council of Quebec, and was afterwards feted in that city, in Montreal, Toronto and elsewhere. He received the chapeau from the Pope's hands, Mch. 17, 1887. In Sept., 1894, His Eminence retired from the administration of his diocese, and Mgr. Bégin, his coadjutor, was apptd. admnr. thereof. One of his latest acts was to sign a petition, with the other archbishops and bishops of his Ch. in Can., praying Parlt. to disallow the Public Schs. Act of Man. and also to redress certain grievances complained of by the Catholics of the N. W. T. on account of the sch. ordinance of 1892. He is the author of "Remarques sur le mémoire de l'Évêque des Trois-Rivières sur les difficultés religieuses en Can." (1882).—Cardinal's Palace, Quebec.

THOMAS, Cyrus, author, was b. in Troy, N.Y., June 15, 1836. Two yrs. after his birth his parents removed to Quebec, which province had formerly been the home of his father, who was a farmer. Ed. at the acads. of Richford and Swanton Falls, he subsequently spent 2 yrs. in the Troy Conf. Semy., but was obliged to give up the design of completing a coll. course and to abandon the study of law owing to ill-health. He followed teaching for 22 yrs., during which time he had charge of some of the best known acads. in the E. T. and in northern Vermont. For 3 yrs. he was principal of a large public sch. in Staten Island, N.Y. An early contributor to the press, he produced, 1866, a small volume, entitled: "Contributions to the History of the Eastern Townships." Some yrs. later, while Principal of the Waterloo Acad., he published "A History of the Township of Shefford." Subsequently, finding his health too delicate to continue sch. work, he devoted himself almost entirely to a literary career. Among his latest publications are: "The Frontier Schoolmaster," a volume dealing with the experiences of a teacher's life; and "The History of Argenteuil and Prescott" (1896), both of which have been most favourably received. Mr. T. has held office as Secy.-Treas. of his tp. and as a mem. of the Prot. Bd. of Examrs. for Sch. Teachers. He m. Dec., 1861, Miss Mary A. Spencer, Missisquoi, and belongs to the Free-Will Bapt. THOMAS, Francis Wolferstan, bank manager, is the s. of the late Rev. F. W. Thomas, R.D., and Rector of Parkham, North Devon, Eng., by his wife, Frances Shearme, of Woodlands, Cornwall, Eng. B. at Moorwinstow, Cornwall, Jan. 9, 1834, he was ed. at King Edward VI. Sch., Sherborne, Dorsetshire, and was intended first for the ch. and afterwards for the army. Before a commission was procured for him, however, he embarked for Can., arriving here, 1851. His banking career was commenced in the service of the Bank of Upper Can., now defunct. After a year in its service he joined the Bank of Montreal, and, in 1865, was promoted mangr. of the London branch. While fulfilling the duties of that position, he was called, in 1870, on the recommendation of the "Prince of Can. Financiers," the late E. H. King, to the office which has given him so wide a reputation in banking annals, the general managership of the Molsons Bank, Montreal. Under his management this institution has grown to its present importance, with a paid-up capital of $2,000,000, a rest fund of $1,400,000, and with branches and agencies in all portions of the Dom., as well as in Europe and the U. S. Outside of his profession, Mr. T.'s name is well known throughout the country as that of a public-spirited citizen, who has never been found wanting when his time, money, services or talents were needed for works of improvement or the general good. Probably no other man in his walk of life has led so active and useful a life in this respect. The number and variety of the public positions he has been called upon to fill from time to time, is proof of this. In Montreal he has been for yrs. a prominent mem. of the Good Govt. Assn., a dir. of the Art Assn., a mem. of the Council of the Bd. of Arts and Manufactures, a mem. of the Comte. of Management of the Montreal Genl. Hospital, and of the St. John Ambulance Assn., a dir. of the Mount Royal Cemetery Co., Treas. of the Church Home, Treas. of the Prot. Hospital for the Insane, V.-P. of the Can. Soc. for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Treas. for the Andrew's Home, Treas. for the Murray Bay Convalescent Home, and Presdt. of the Mackay Inst. for Prot. Deaf Mutes and the Blind. He is also a dir. of the Can. Life Assur. Co., a mem. of the Council of the Montreal Bd. of Trade, and Chairman of the Bankers' branch of the Bd. of Trade. In 1894 he was elected Presdt. of the Montreal Genl. Hospital; in 1895, Presdt. of the St. George's Soc.; and, in 1896, Presdt. of the Dom. Bankers' Assn. When the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science visited Montreal, 1884, he was apptd. Chairman of the local Finance Comte. One of the most successful of his efforts—the erection of the Montreal Genl. Hospital Jubilee Training Home for Nurses at a cost of $30,000—was carried out in 1897, in connection with the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. In religion, he is an active mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and has been for a lengthened period a del.

to the Diocesan and Provl. synods of that body. He is also a Freemason of high degree. Politically, he belongs to the Lib. sch., and enjoys the personal friendship and regard of his party leaders. He m. 1861, Harriet Amelia, 3rd dau. of the late Hon. G. J. Goodhue, M.L.C., by his wife, a dau. of Major Matthews, R. A., who came to this country as A.D.C. to the Duke of Richmond. Mrs. T. has most ably seconded her husband in his philanthropic and beneficent efforts. She was for yrs. Treas. of the Ladies' Benevolent Soc., and is the 1st Directress of the Mackay Inst. for Deaf Mutes and the Blind. After the institution of the Montreal Sch. of Cookery, by the Princess Louise, she became Presdt. of that institution. — "Llangorse House," 730 Sherbrooke St., Montreal; St. James's Club; Forest and Stream Club.

THOMSON, Edward William, author and journalist, is the s. of Wm. Thomson (q.v.). B. in the Tp. of Toronto, Co. Peel, Ont., Feb. 12, 1849, he was ed. at Trinity Coll. Grammar Sch., Weston. At the age of 16 he enlisted in a Penn. cavalry regt., and served with the army of the Potomac during the closing scenes of the Am. civil war. On returning to Can. he served in the field with the Queen's Own Rifles, Toronto. Admitted a P. L. S., 1872, and subsequently a D. L. S., he filled for some yrs. the position of engr. on the Carillon Canal. At 30 he turned to political journalism, and in 1889-90 was chief editorial writer on the Toronto Globe. He resigned, 1890, and, in the following year, removed to Boston to take a lucrative post on the Youth's Companion, in that city. This position he still fills. In 1885 he won the 1st prize in a competition for the best story of adventure, offered by the Youth's Companion, and he has since then written a large number of other sketches and stories, some of which were included in a volume, entitled "Old Man Savarin, and other Stories" (1895). Since then, he has published "Walter Gibbs, the Young Boss, and other Stories" (1896), "Between Earth and Sky" (1897), and, in collaboration with M. S. Henry, "Aucassin and Nicolette" (1896). While on the Globe, he was described as the "best literary critic Can. had produced." In his new field of labour, John Reade places him among the masters of the art of story-telling. "Indeed," says the ed. of Old and New, "some of his short stories may be said to be unsurpassed in narrative skill, character drawing, humour and pathos." As a delineator of French-Can. character he has created a field which is almost entirely his own. Mr. T. m. Mch., 1873, Adelaide, dau. of the late Alex. St. Denis, of Point Fortune, P.Q., a lady of high intellectual attainments, who has herself won no inconsiderable reputation as a writer. Politically, Mr. T. was bred a Tory and Free Trader. After the "Pacific Scandal" he followed Mackenzie, but is now out of politics. He has always favoured Can. ind. of Gt. Brit., preferring that the country should become an auxiliary or equal kingdom, by the monarch taking the title of Queen or King of Can., and being advised solely by native ministers in all Can. affairs. Such a relationship to the Crown, he thinks, would make Can. as ind. as Eng. or Gt. Brit., and would be perfectly consistent, as history shows, with either Can. or Gt. Brit. remaining uninvolved in wars in which the other might be engaged. By this plan Canadians could retain the invaluable boon of responsible govt., the monarchical system and all the traditions of their race, and be joined in a peace league, but not in a war league, with the Mother Country.—201 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass.

THOMSON, James Fitch, vocalist, was b. near Cayuga, Ont., and is the s. of the late Jas. Fitch Thomson, merchant, of that place. He gave early proof of possessing a voice of rare beauty, but the opposition of his family prevented his adopting the profession of music until it was apparent that his happiness could be secured in no other way. He made his first professional appearance in the Chicago Auditorium, Sept. 11, 1892, and appeared with Gilmore's band, at the Acad. of Music, N. Y., 1894. Later, he enjoyed the distinction of being allotted a rôle in 5 different German operas under the baton of Walter Damrosch, and appeared in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Washington. He has made great progress in his profession, and is now considered one of the most finished baritone singers in Am. His wife, Mrs. Agnes Thomson, a native of Dallston, London, Eng., who possesses a remarkably pleasing soprano voice, accompanies her husband in his concert tours, and has attained eminence as a singer equal with his.—Philadelphia, Pa.

THOMSON, John Stuart, whose recent book of poems, "Estabelle and other Verse," has been so favourably received, is a native of Montreal, and quite a young man. Ed. in Montreal, he studied for the ministry at the Presb. Coll. there, and during 1 or 2 summers conducted services near Brighton, Ont., where his eloquence as a preacher made a lasting impression. Abandoning his intention of a clerical life, he is now devoting his main strength to letters in the city of N. Y.—New York.

THOMSON, William, author, is the s. of the late Col. E. W. Thomson (U. E. L. descent), Toronto Tp., who held many important public positions in Can. B. in Ont., Apl. 27, 1824, he was ed. at U. C. Coll., thereafter spending much of his time in travel and adventure. He has circumnavigated the globe more than once, has traversed our own great plains, and has been in almost every part of the world wherein the precious metals exist. Though he had for many yrs. previously contributed stories, sketches and verses to various sportsmen's journals, including the Am. Angler, it was not until 1890 that he adopted light literature as a profession. Since then, his stories, mostly detailing actual personal adventure, have appeared in the leading Am. mags., in almost every one of the prominent story papers in the U. S., and likewise in several well-known Eng. periodicals. He generally writes over his own signature. He wrote for the U. C. Coll. memorial vol. (1893) the interesting chapter on "The College and the Rebellion." He m. early in life, Margt., sister of the late Hon. M. H. Foley, at one time Postmaster-Genl. of Can. —West Bay City, Mich.

THORBURN, James, M.D., is the s. of the late D. Thorburn, M.P. for Lincoln in the old Can. Assembly, and was b. at Queenston, Nov. 21, 1830. Before entering the Toronto Univ. he was a pupil of the late Dr. Russell, of Stamford. He continued his studies at Edinburgh Univ., graduating 1855. He has since practised in Toronto, and for some yrs. filled the chair of Pharmacol. and Therap. in the Med. Faculty of Toronto Univ. He is physician to U. C. Coll., Consult. Physician to the Toronto Genl. Hospital and Boys' Home, and holds various appts. of a like character in other institutions. He was for a considerable period surg. to the Queen's Own Rifles, and was present with that corps at Ridgeway, 1866. He retired as Surg.-Major, 1879. He became an examr. of the Coll. of Phys. and Surgs., 1879, and was elected V.-P. of that body, 1896. In 1895 he was elected Presdt. of the Can. Med. Assn., and, in 1897, Presdt. of the Ont. Med. Council. Besides contributing to the med. press, Dr. T. has published a "Manual of Life Insurance Exams." (1889; 2nd ed., 1896). He is the Med. Dir. of the North Am. Life Assur. THORBURN, John, Dom. public service, is the s. of the late John Thorburn, by his wife, Mary Wilson. B. at Quotquan, Lanarkshire, Scot., Oct. 10, 1830, he received his early education at Quotquan and at West Libberton, subsequently matriculating at Edinburgh Univ., where he took a full course of study. After leaving coll. he taught in the Grammar Sch., Musselburgh, and in the Western Institution, Edinburgh. His health failing, he came to Can., 1856, on a visit, but liking the country, he decided to make it his home. He taught sch. for a short time in Yarmouth, N.S., and was then apptd. Principal and Prof. of Classics in St. Francis Coll., Richmond, P.Q., an institution affiliated to McGill Univ. In 1862 he received the appt. of Head-master of the Ottawa Grammar Sch. (now the Coll. Inst.). This position he held till the beginning of 1882, when finding the work telling upon his health, he resigned. Shortly after leaving the Inst. he was apptd. Librarian of the Can. Geol. Survey, and a few mths. later, Chairman of the Bd. of C. S. Examrs. In 1876, at the request of the Govt., he drew up a scheme for the exam. of candidates for admission to the Royal Mil. Coll., Kingston, and when the Headquarters Bd. of Examrs. of that institution was constituted, he was asked to take the chairmanship, which position he still holds. He has been Presdt. of the St. Andrew's Soc., of Ottawa, and for 4 yrs. was Presdt. of the Ottawa Lit. and Scien. Soc. In 1896 he was elected Presdt. of the Queen's Univ. Graduates' Assn. He is a trustee of the Coll. Inst., Presdt. of the Univ. Extension Assn. of Ottawa, and dir. of several cos. He has written on a variety of subjects—educational and literary—taking an active and intelligent interest in all that relates to the welfare and advancement of the country. Dr. T. is an hon. mem. of several literary and scientific societies. He took the initiative some yrs. ago towards securing the preparation of county histories in the Dom. He is an hon. M.A. of McGill Univ., and an hon. LL.D. of Queen's Univ., Kingston. In religion, a Presb., he is also an elder in St. Paul's Ch., Ottawa. He m. 1859, Maria J. I., young. dau. of Dr. Hy. THORBURN, Hon. Sir Robert, statesman, is the s. of the late Robt. Thorburn, of Juniper Bank, Peebles, Scot., by his wife, Alison, dau. of the late Robt. Grieve, of Kielator, Perthshire, Scot. B. at Juniper Bank, Mch. 28, 1836, he was ed. at Edinburgh, and coming to Nfd., 1852, received his early business training in St. John's. He became a partner in the firm of Grieve & Co., on its formation, 1862, and was the mang. partner in that firm for many yrs. Since 1887 the business of the firm has been merged in that of Thorburn & Tessier, of which Sir R. is at present the senior partner. Apptd. to the Leg. Council, Nfd., 1870, he remained a mem. of that body until 1885, when he became Premier and entered the Assembly. He ceased to be Premier, 1889, and has since then been reapptd. to the Leg. Council. In 1887 he was a del. to the Imp. Govt. on the subject of the Colonial "Bait Act," which had been disallowed, but was subsequently assented to. In the same year he represented the colony at the Colonial Conf. in London—the year of the Queen's Jubilee—and had the honour of being selected to present the address of congratulation from the Conf. to Her Majesty at Windsor Castle. In the same year he was created a K.C.M.G. He m. 1865, Susanna Janetta, dau. of the late Andrew Milroy, Hamilton, Ont.—"Devon Place," St. John's, Nfd.

THORBURN, Walter Miller, Indian civil service, is the s. of the late Rev. Walter Thorburn, pastor of the Eng. Presb. Cong. at Warwick, Bermuda, 1853-81, and was b. at Hamilton, Bermuda, May 22, 1853. Ed. at Dalhousie Coll., Halifax, N.S. (B.A., 1870), and at Edinburgh Univ., he has been a mem. of the Indian civil service since July, 1875, and has served as Mgte. in the dists. of Kurnool, Kistna, Godavari, Cuddapah, Corinbatore, Avantapur, Tinnevelly and North Arcot, and as Dist. THORNELOE, The Rt. Rev. George, Bishop of Algoma (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of Rev. Jas. Thorneloe, sometime mission. at Georgeville, P.Q., and afterwards incumbent of St. Luke's, Montreal. B. at Coventry, Eng., Oct. 4, 1848, he was ed. at Bishop's Sch. and Coll., Lennoxville, and ran an academical career which it is believed has not been surpassed in Can. He took the Mackie prize for Eng. essay, 1870; the Genl. Nicholls scholarship in Math., 1871; the Mackie prize a second time, 1872; and graduated the same year, B.A., with 1st class Classical honours, the Prince of Wales medal for classics, and the S. P. G. jubilee scholar. He proceeded to his M.A., 1882; received the hon. degree of D.C.L., 1895, and the D.D., jure dignit., 1896. Ordained deacon, 1874, and priest, 1875, by the Bp. (Williams) of Quebec, he was apptd. to the parish of Stanstead, 1874. He became Rector of St. Peter's Ch., Sherbrooke, 1885, and was apptd. a canon of Quebec Cath., 1888. He was also an examr. in Divinity at Lennoxville, and was Univ. preacher, 1890. He was a del. to the Winnipeg Union Conf., 1890, and was elected Clerical Secy. of the Provl. Synod of Can., 1895. In 1892 his name was brought prominently forward for the Bishopric of Quebec, and, in 1894, he was nominated for the Bishopric of New Westminster. In Nov., 1896, he was elected 3rd Bp. of Algoma, succeeding Dr. Sullivan who had resigned. His consecration took place in Quebec Cath., Jan. 6, 1897. His Lordship attended the Lambeth Conf., 1897. THORNLEY, Mrs. May Rowland, is the dau. of Rev. G. N. A. F. T. Dickson (Meth.), by his wife, Fanny Baker, dau. of an Eng. Meth. min., and was b. at Drummondville, Ont., 1857. Ed. at the Ladies' Coll., Hamilton, she took a post-graduate course at Victoria Univ., Cobourg, and, in 1884, m. Joseph H. Thornley, Philadelphia, Pa. (he d. Sept., 1889). While living in the U. S. she became a prominent W. C. T. U. worker, occupying a position in the National Union. On returning to Can. she threw herself into the work here. She became Presdt. of the London Union, and, in 1894, was elected Presdt. of the Ont. Union. She has been re-elected every year up to the present time. Mrs. T. has political convictions, the strongest of which lie in the direction of the total suppression of the liquor traffic, the enfranchisement of women, and the betterment of the condition of the working classes.—843 Dundas St., London, Ont.

THORNTON, Rev. Robert MacAlpine (Presb.), is the s. of the late Rev. R. H. Thornton, D.D., Oshawa, Ont., and was b. in East Whitby, Ont., Oct. 3, 1841. He received his early education at the Whitby Grammar Sch., and, later, entered the Univ. of Toronto, his course there being interrupted for 3 yrs. by illness (B.A., with 1st class honours in Hebrew, Logic, Ethics and Metaph., 1869). He studied Theol. at Knox Coll., Toronto, the closing session of the course being taken at Edinburgh, where he attended a summer session at the United Presb. Divinity Hall, and also a winter session at the Free Ch. New Coll. He next spent 4 mths. at Berlin Univ., but had to return home on the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war. In Sept., 1870, he was licensed as a min. of the Gospel by the Edinburgh Presby. of the United Presb. Ch. Returning to Can., he preached in 4 vacancies in the Can. Ch. before the end of the year, and received unanimous calls to 3 of them. Accepting the invitation of Knox Ch., Montreal, he was inducted Mch., 1871, and laboured there for about 4 yrs., during that time having the pleasure of seeing a debt of $10,000 on the ch. buildings provided for. Receiving a unanimous call to the Wellpark Free Ch., Glasgow, he accepted it, and entered on the charge, Dec., 1874. His work in Glasgow was characterized by a forward movement among the young people, and halls for Sunday Sch. and Bible-class work were erected at a cost of $14,000. The Presby. of Glasgow apptd. him Convener of its Foreign Missions Comte., and it was he who originated the great annual mission. meetings, which were held in the largest hall in the city, and which afterwards became recognized institutions. In 1881 Mr. T. was one of two deputies apptd. by the Free Ch. of Scot, to visit and report upon her mission stations in South Africa, and on his return he was mainly instrumental in raising close upon $50,000 for new mission buildings in Cape Colony and Natal. After 8 and a half years' labour in Glasgow he accepted an invitation to the Presb. Ch., Camden Road, London, beginning his labours, Sept., 1883. A debt of $10,000 has been paid off during his ministry. In the Presb. Ch. of Eng. he has already rendered good service. The Presby. of London (North) apptd. him Convener of its Foreign Missions Comte., and one of his early acts was to make arrangements for the visitation of every ch. in the Presby. by foreign mission deputies. This was followed by the establishment of a great annual meeting for Presb. missions, held in the month of May in Exeter Hall. The substantial advance in the mission. revenue from the London chs. has, in a great degree, been due to the work of this comte. He is also Convener of the North London Presby.'s Temp. Comte., and as such founded the Ministers' and Office-bearers' Total Abstinence Soc., which has recently led to the formation of a Total Abstinence Soc. for the whole Presb. Ch. of Eng., of which he is V.-P. He was Moderator of the North London Presby., 1892, and besides being a mem. of the Religious Tract Soc. of London, is a dir. of the Brit. and Foreign Sailors' Soc., London. He received the degree of D.D. from Knox Coll., Toronto, in connection with its jubilee, 1894. Dr. T. is a Gladstonian Lib. in politics. He m. 1871, Elizabeth, 3rd dau. of the Rev. Robt. TRAILL, Mrs. Catherine Parr, author, is the dau. of the late Thos. Strickland, of Reydon Hall, Suffolk, Eng., and is now the only survivor of the five Strickland sisters, all of whom attained distinction in literature. B. in London, Eng., Jan. 9, 1802, she was the first of the sisters to commence writing, and it was the favour with which the young girl's first stories and sketches were received by the Eng. public that led her older sisters to enter the same field. In 1832 she m. Lieut. Thos. Traill, an Orkney gentleman, and immediately emigrated to Can. with him, being followed soon afterward by her sister, Susanna, whose husband, Major Moodie, had been a bro. officer of Lieut. T., in the 21st Fusiliers. The Traills settled near Rice Lake, Ont., where the family has continued to reside ever since. Here Mrs. T. continued to contribute to the Eng. mags. and carry on her other literary work. Her "Backwoods of Can." was published, 1835, and "The Can. Crusoes, a Tale of the Rice Lake Plains," "The Female Emigrant's Guide," "Lady Mary and Her Nurse," and "Rambles in the Can. Forest" appeared in subsequent yrs. Among the works of Mrs. T.'s later life are "Pearls and Pebbles, or the Notes of an Old Naturalist," "Cot and Cradle Stories," and "Studies in Plant Life in Can., or Gleanings from Forest, Lake and Plain," the latter with chromo-lithographs from drawings by her niece, Mrs. B. Chamberlin (q. v.). During Lord Palmerston's Admn. a grant of £100 was made to Mrs. T. in recognition of her work as a naturalist, and, more recently, the Dom. Govt. acknowledged her services by presenting her with a little island in the Otonabee River.—"Westove," Lakefield, Ont.

TRANT, William, journalist and publicist, is the s. of Wm. Trant, of Leeds, Eng., by his wife, Isabella, dau. of Joseph Hirst, of Dewsbury. B. in Leeds, Mch. 13, 1844, he was ed. chiefly at the Leeds Mech. Inst. (where he occupied the 2nd position in the sch.), and at the Leeds Free Grammar Sch. At this early period he attracted attention by a collection he made and exhibited of the postage stamps of all nations, and he is believed to be the first philatelist. Taken from sch. at 14 yrs. of age, he continued his education at the evening classes of the Y.M.C.A., and at 16 competed in the Soc. of Arts Exams., where he took the highest position in the kingdom in Astron. and the highest for his age in Geom. At this time he founded the Leeds Astron. Soc., which established an observatory under the guidance of Sir John Herschel and Prof. Airy (Astronomer Royal), and which is still in existence. His first employment was as a clk. by the Leeds Con. Assn. He was then 14, and at 16 he entered the office and warehouse of a ry. stores contractor and foreign shipper, with whom he became mangr. and cashier. His first connection with the press dates from 1866, when he became asst. reader on the Yorkshire Post, but an article he wrote on "The Eclipse of the Sun" (his first contribution to the press), attracted much attention, and he became a reporter. In 1869 he went to London, and became a reporter on the metropolitan press, also obtaining the prize for an essay on "A Cheerful Disposition," offered by the Assn. for the Education of Adults (founded by the Prince Consort). Mr. T. now began to take part in politics, and became an active mem. of the Education League, founded by Joseph Chamberlain, the present Colonial Secy. On the downfall of Napoleon, 1871, during the Franco-German war, he was co-del. with Geo. Odger, bearing the congratulatory address from the Brit. proletariat to the new French Republic. They escaped from Paris after it was invested by the German troops, and while bearing the manifests from the French Govt. to the people of Eng. were arrested as German spies, but on discovery of their mission were released, and arrived safely in London. Mr. T., however, immediately returned to the seat of war as a special correspondent, and was in Paris during the whole of the Commune. On the suppression thereof, his letters having been intercepted, he was arrested, imprisoned, sentenced to death, and had a narrow escape. On again returning to Eng. he became lecturer and Parliamentary organizer for the Financial Reform Assn., and published a successful book on "Financial Reform." He also won the £50 prize essay on "Trade Unions," which has gone through 2 editions and has also been published in the U. S. and Australia. In 1874 he was asked to enter the Brit. Ho. of Commons, but having accepted an appt. in India, was unable to offer himself as a candidate, and became special correspondent for the Times of India (Bombay). He was present throughout the imbroglio that ended in the deposition of the Gaekwar of Paroda, and was the only "pale-face" allowed to be present at the native installation of his successor, the present Gaekwar. In India, at the Saburmuttee floods, Mr. T.'s life was again in jeopardy, when trying to swim across a broken culvert to get off his telegram, but he was gallantly saved by a ry. fireman, to whom the Royal Humane Soc. of Eng. awarded a medal for his bravery. He next accompanied the Prince of Wales on his tour throughout India and Ceylon, and received many marks of Royal favour. He was present in Delhi at the proclamation of the Queen as Empress of India. In India, Mr. T. was Govt. lecturer to the Sassoon Inst., and also founded and ed. the Masonic Standard (Bombay), which he relinquished on becoming ed. of the Madras Athenæum, and in this Presidency was a lieut. in the Madras Volunteer Guards. He returned to Eng., 1879, and became letter and leader writer from the press galleries of the Houses of Parlt., and afterwards ed. of the Huddersfield News, but, 1883, was again in the political world of London, where he founded the present Radical Federation, over which he presided for 2 yrs., and under which John Burns may be said to have entered public life. He was once again asked to enter Parlt., but for private reasons declined. Shortly afterwards he was sent on a press mission to France, Spain, Algeria, Morocco, the U. S. of Am. and Mexico, and, 1889, came with his family to the Can. North-West, settling at Cotham, Assa. Here his wonted activity did not desert him. He was chiefly instrumental in obtaining for Cotham a sch., a ch. and a post-office. He was a sch. trustee, is a J. P., and has been requested to stand for the Dom. Ho. of Commons, but has refused. Mr. T. has occupied high positions on many newspapers, and his contributions to the leading mags. always attract attention. One, "On the Punishment of Criminals," was thus spoken of by Chief-Justice Coleridge: "You have said, and said well, what all my life I have been trying unsuccessfully to say." For a syndicate of Eng. newspapers, Mr. T. wrote his experiences in Can., under the title: "From the Pen to the Plough." In Cassell's Mag. he described life on the plains under the title: "Pickings from the Prairie"; he wrote of "Prairie Philosophy" in the Westminster Rev., and a recent article in the same mag. on "The Treatment of the Can. Indians" has been widely noticed in many countries in both hemispheres. Mr. T. m. 1872, Jane, dau. of Edward Trood, Bridgewater, Eng.—Regina, N. W. T.

TUCKETT, George Elias, manufacturer, was b. in Exeter, Eng., Dec., 1835, and came to Can., 1842, where he was ed. Entering mercantile life in Hamilton, he subsequently became a tobacco manufacturer there in partnership with John Billings. With the extension of his business, he formed a co. with his sons under the name of Geo. E. Tuckett & Son Co., at the head of which he still is. Their business is one of the most extensive in the Dom., and Mr. T. has earned the reputation of being an ideal employer of labour. "He encourages thrift, industry and steadiness among his employés," says the Can. American, "by dealing out substantial rewards at stated periods. The profits of his business are in part shared by the wage-earners of his great factory. Old hands, after a given time, receive handsome checks to enable them to build homes. Every year there is a meeting between employer and employés that is marked by gifts which make glad the heart of the wage-earner." In other ways Mr. T. shows his interest in the material welfare of those who are on his pay-roll, "and hence it has come to pass," continues the paper referred to, "that when a Can. wishes to point out the best representative of the manufacturers as regards their attitude to employés Mr. T. takes first place in the roll-call." He was elected Mayor of Hamilton, 1896, but was defeated on appealing for a 2nd term, 1897. He became Presdt. of the St. George's Soc., 1898. He is a dir. of the Hamilton Steamboat Co., and has been on the directorate

TULLY, Kivas, C.E. and architect, is the 2nd s. of the late Commander John P. Tully, R. N., and was b. in Queen's Co., Irel., 1820. He studied for his professions in Limerick, and was employed thereafter in superintending the erection of workhouses in Irel. under Mr. Wilkinson, architect for the Poor Law Comnrs., and during the latter portion of 1843, as Inspr. of Buildings. Coming to Can., 1844, he opened an office in Toronto. The Custom House and the Bank of Montreal, the latter recently pulled down, were constructed from his designs. Trinity Coll., Toronto, St. Catharines Town Hall, Welland Co. Ct. House, and the Victoria Hall, Cobourg, were also designed by him. Shortly after the Confederation of the Provinces, 1867, he was apptd. architect and engr. of the Dept. of Public Works, Ont., and remained in that position up till quite recently. He is now consulting architect and engr. During his long period of official service he prepared the plans for a great many public institutions, all of which were erected under his superintendence and direction. Among the best known of these works are : The wings and hospitals of the Toronto Asylum ; the asylums for the Insane at London, Hamilton and Brockville, also additions to the Kingston Asylum. The Blind Inst., Brantford, and the Asylum for Idiots, Orillia, were designed by him ; as well as additions to the Provl. Reformatory, Penetanguishene ; Deaf and Dumb Inst., Belleville ; Sch. of Practical Science, Osgoode Hall, Normal Sch. and Govt. House, Toronto. Mr. T. was a charter mem. of the Can. Inst., and has held office therein as first Secy., mem. of Council, first V.-P., and is now an hon. mem. He has likewise served as a public sch. trustee, a councilman and an ald. He was apptd. a del. to the Deep Water-ways Convention, Toronto, 1894. He holds high rank as a Freemason, and is the representative of the G. L. of Irel. near the G. L. of Can. The latter has a studio in the Toronto Arcade.—176 Roxborough St., Rosedale, Toronto.

TUPPER, Hon. Sir Charles, statesman, is the eld. s. of the late Rev. Chas. Tupper, D.D. (Bapt.), Aylesford, N.S., by his 1st wife, Miriam Lockhart Low, of Parrsboro', N.S. This branch of the family is descended from Thos. Tupper, who emigrated to Am., 1635, landed at Sangus,

Mass. (now called Lynn), and, 2 yrs. later, removed with others to Sandwich, in the same State, of which town they were the incorporators (see "Burke's Peerage"). B. at Amherst, N.S., July 2, 1821, he was ed. at Horton Acad., and graduated M.D. at Edinburgh Univ., 1843. In the same year he was admitted a mem. of the Royal Coll. of Surg., Edinburgh. Dr. T. commenced the practice of his profession in his native co., and speedily secured an extensive business. He entered public life at the g. e. 1855, being then returned to the local Assembly as mem. for Cumberland. The unsuccessful candidate was no less a person than the late Hon. Joseph Howe, then leader of the Lib. party in N. S., and afterwards Lt.-Gov. of the Province. On entering Parlt. the new mem., conscious, it is said, of the weak points in the old Con. programme, drew up and was allowed by his seniors, to adopt a new, a more progressive and a more lib. policy. It is also recorded of him that, "like Disraeli, he educated his party; he brought them round to take a more comprehensive view of affairs, he attracted to himself the more moderate men of the opposite side, and with so much effect that, in the following year, the reconstructed party came into power, and 'the young doctor,' as he was called, became Provl. Secy." From that time till the Confederation of the Provinces, 1867, he was, perhaps, the most prominent figure in local politics, having succeeded to the premiership in 1864. In the accomplishment of Confederation, and the establishment of the Dom. of Can. he bore a conspicuous part, attending the Charlottetown and Quebec Confs. and afterwards going to Eng., when the question was settled at the Westminster Palace Hotel Conf. For his services in this regard he was created a C. B., and, on the formation of the first Govt. in and for the Dom. of Can., was invited to take office therein, but declined in favour of Sir Edward Kenny, to meet obstacles arising in other Provinces of the Dom. He was sworn of the Privy Council, June, 1870, taking the office of Presdt. of the Council. Transferred to the Dept. of Inl. Revenue, July, 1872, he succeeded Sir Leonard Tilley, as Mr. of Customs, in the early portion of 1873, and he was still holding that office when the Macdonald Admn. resigned in the autumn of that year. During the 5 yrs. that the Con. party was in Opposition, Dr. T. was Sir John Macdonald's principal organizer and adviser, and to no one was the Con. party more indebted than to him for their return to power in 1878. While in Opposition he elaborated and brought before Parlt. the scheme of moderate protection for home industries, known as the "National Policy," which was subsequently adopted and put into force by the new Admn. In that Govt. Dr. T. became Mr. of Public Works. Afterwards he created the Dept. of Rys. and Canals, and was its first minister. As such, he carried out the policy of the Govt. in reference to the enlargement of the Welland Canal, the deepening of the St. Lawrence channel, the improvement of the Intercl. Ry., and the construction, by a private co., of the Can. Pac. Ry. He retired from the Ministry, May, 1884, and he was, from that period, up to 1887, and again afterwards, the representative of the Dom. in London, holding the office of High Comnr. for Can. In the early part of the last-named year, as the general elections approached, he was invited by Sir John Macdonald to return to Can. He again entered the Govt. and was Mr. of Finance therein up to May, 1888, when he resigned that office and resumed duty in London as High Comnr. In Jan., 1896, he entered the Bowell Admn. as Secy. of State and leader of the Ho. of Commons, and on the retirement of Sir M. Bowell, 4 mths. afterwards, succeeded him as Prime Minister of Can. The policy of his Govt., as outlined in an address issued by him to the electors of Can., included protection to Can. industries, preferential trade with Gt. Brit., the strengthening of the national defences, the promotion of a fast Atlantic steamship service, the admission of Nfd., and the encouragement of a large and desirable immigration. After the defeat of his party at the polls, June 23, 1896, he resigned office, and at the meeting of the new Parlt., in Aug., was elected leader of the Opposition, a position he still fills. He is also Presdt. of the Lib.-Con. Union of Ont. Dr. T. was created a K.C.M.G., 1879, a G.C.M.G., 1886, and a Baronet of the United Kingdom, 1888. He is an hon. D.C.L. of Acadia Coll., N. S., an hon. LL.D. of Cambridge Univ., Eng., and of Edinburgh Univ., Scot., and an hon. Fellow of the Royal Scottish Geog. Soc. He was formerly Surg.-Genl. of N. S., Surg.-Maj. of the 1st Brig. of Halifax Arty., and became Presdt., on its organization, of the Can. Med. Assn., a position he continued to hold for many yrs. Sir Chas. T. is a Forester. He was formerly a mem. of the Ex. Council of the Imp. Fed. League (under Lord Rosebery), and is now a mem. of the Council of the Brit. Empire League. He is also a dir. of the Brit. Empire Financial Corporation, Chairman of the New Goldfields of B. C. (Ltd.), and Chairman of the Klondyke Mining, Trading and Transport Corporation. He served as an Ex. Comnr. for Can. at the Internl. Exhn., Antwerp, 1885, and at the Col. and Ind. Exhn., London, 1886, being also a Royal Comnr. at the last-named Exhn. In 1887 he was apptd. one of H. M.'s Plenipotentiaries to the Fisheries Conf., at Washington, which resulted in the signing of a treaty for the settlement of the matters in dispute between Can. and the U. S. in connection with the Atlantic fisheries. In 1888 he was apptd. a mem. of the Royal Comn. for the purpose of carrying out a scheme for the colonization in Can. of crofters and cotters from the Highlands of Scot. He was also apptd. a Royal Comnr. for the organization of the Imp. Inst. He represented Can. at the Intercl. Conf., Paris, for the protection of submarine cables, 1883; at the Internl. Conf., Brussels, relating to Customs; at the Internl. Postal Union, Vienna, 1891; and at the Internl. Ry. Conf., London, 1895. In 1893 he was apptd. a plenipotentiary jointly with Lord Dufferin, and negotiated the Franco-Can. Treaty with M. Hanotaux, the present Foreign Mr. of France. Among the public measures placed upon the statute book by Sir Chas. T. during his lengthened public career have been the following: In N. S., the jury law; the Education Act providing free schs.; the Equity Judge Act; the Windsor and Annapolis Ry. Act; the representation Act; the executive and legislative disabilities Act; and an Act reducing the number of Parliamentary representatives. TUPPER, Hon. Sir Charles Hibbert, statesman, 2nd s. of the preceding, was b. at Amherst, N.S., Aug. 3, 1855. He received his education at Windsor Acad. and at McGill Univ., Montreal, where he won the Gov.-Genl.'s scholarship. He graduated LL.B., at Harvard Univ., 1876, and 2 yrs. later was called to the bar of N. S. He was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Derby, 1890, was called to the Ont. bar, 1895, and was elected a mem. of the Ex. Council of the Can. Bar Assn., 1896. He practised his profession at Halifax, in partnership first with the present Chief-Justice of N. S., and, subsequently, with the late Sir John Thompson and the present Mr. Justice Graham. In Oct., 1897, he removed to B. C. as a mem. of the legal firm of Peters, Tupper & Cassidy, having offices at Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster. Elected Presdt. of the Junior Lib.-Con. Assn. of Halifax, 1878, he was returned to the Ho. of Commons, as one of the mems. for Pictou, at the g. e. 1882, by a majority of 284 over Mr. Carmichael, the Lib. candidate. In 1883 he moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. At the g. e. 1887 he was re-elected for Pictou by a majority of 595 votes; at the g. e. 1891 his majority was 725 votes, and at the g. e. 1896 his majority was 288. He entered Sir John Macdonald's Cabinet as Mr. of Marine and Fisheries, May 31, 1888, and continued to hold that office under the two succeeding prime ministers, Sir John Abbott and Sir John Thompson, up to the death of the latter, Dec. 12, 1894. On the formation of the Bowell Admn., the same month, he became Mr. of Justice and Atty.-Genl. therein. In his father's short-lived Admn., 1896, he was Solr.-Genl. During 1891 he was selected to assist the Brit. Ambassador at Washington in the discussion of regulations respecting fur seals; and, in June, 1892, he was chosen to represent H. M. as agent for Gt. Brit. in the Behring Sea Arbitration which met at Paris, Feb., 1893. The unremitting zeal and ability displayed by him in the preparation of the case elicited the warm acknowledgments of H. M.'s Govt., and led to his appt. as a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George. It is seldom that such a compliment has been paid to any servant of the Crown as was contained in the following message from Lord Ripon, the then Secy. of State for the Colonies, to the then Gov.-Genl. of Can.: "Without waiting the official text of arbitration award, I will not delay congratulations to Can. upon Tupper's success as British agent, in asserting the freedom of the sea, and in maintaining the legal rights of Canadian ships." As Mr. of Marine and Fisheries he carried through Parlt. several measures of importance to the mercantile and shipping classes, chief among which was an Act providing for the further security, health and safe transportation of cattle from Can. to ports across the Atlantic; an Act providing for the marking of deck load lines; an Act providing for the hulls and equipment of sailing vessels being kept in a good sea-worthy condition; an Act to amend the Safety of Ships Act; and an Act for the amendment of the Steamboat Inspection Act. As Mr. of Justice, he had to do more particularly with the Man. Sch. question, and his report on the petition of the Cath. minority in regard to separate schs. and the O. C. based thereon, were regarded by his party friends and others as State papers of exceptional merit. It should be mentioned that he was one of the comnrs. apptd. in 1892 to meet a delegation of Nfd. ministers at Halifax, with a view of arranging a settlement of the matters in dispute between the Dom. and the colony, and that in Jan., 1895, he declined appt. as High Comnr. for Can. in London. In his earlier yrs. he served as an offr. in the Halifax Rifles. In 1895 he was elected Commodore of the Ottawa Canoe Club. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and m. Sept., 1879, Janet, dau. of Hon. Having volunteered for service in India, he was apptd. to the Indian Frontier Ry., and served in that dept. in Beluchistan, Scinde and Punjaub. In Jan., 1890, he was ordered on the Kabul River reconnaissance, N.-W. frontier of India under Capt. Macdonald, R. E., which was completed, Sept., same year. He then joined the expedition under Maj. Scott for survey of the Zhob and Gomal valleys, which was completed, Oct., 1891. Towards the close of the year he was specially selected by the Govt. of India, with 3 other R. E. officers, to carry out a survey of the country between Mombasa, Brit. East Africa, and Lake Victoria Nyanza and Uganda, for H. M.'s Treasury, with a view to finding a possible route for a ry. between these points. The expedition, under Capt. Macdonald, R. E., left Mombasa, Dec., 1891, and returned to the coast, Oct. of the following year, having surveyed 2725 miles of routes. Returned to Eng. in Nov., 1892, Capt. T. was elected a Fellow of the Royal Geog. Soc. of Eng., and, in Sept., 1893, he was selected for the appt. of Instructor of Mil. Engineering, Royal Mil. Coll., Can. In Sept., 1895, he was advanced to the professorship of Mil. Engineering in the same institution, which position he still holds. He has lectured before the Mil. Inst., Toronto, and has published several papers. He m. June, 1897, Miss Louisa Daly, Napanee, a lady highly accomplished as a vocalist.—*Royal Mil. TYRRELL, Henry Grattan, C.E., is the s. of Wm. Tyrrell, of Weston, Ont., a native of Kildare, Irel., who is now the oldest municipal offr. in Ont., by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of the late Rowland Burr, Toronto, and was b. at Weston, Nov. 8, 1867. Ed. at the Weston Sch., he graduated C.E., at Toronto Univ., 1889, and has since become a mem. of the Am. and Can. socs. of Civil Engrs. At present he is designing engr. for the Berlin Iron Bridge Co., Conn. Since the commencement of his professional career he has been actively connected with the following works, viz.: Philadelphia and Reading Terminal at Philadelphia, Pa.; Hartford Depot; Chateau Frontenac, Quebec city; 10-story office building for the Providence Life Ins. Co., Philadelphia; 10-story fire-proof warehouse, at 10th and Washington sts., N. Y.; bridge over the Monongahela River, at McKeesport, Pa., length 1400 ft.; steel arch bridge over Salmon River, B.C.; steel construction for new railroad terminal at Providence, R.I.; Union Elevated Rd., Brooklyn; and highway bridge over Connecticut River at Middletown, Conn., length 1300 ft. He has had responsible charge of engineering work to the value of a million dollars. Mr. T. is preparing for publication a genealogical history of the Tyrrell family in Am. He is a mem. of the Meth. Ch., and m. Jan., 1890, Alicia, eld. dau. of Geo. Bryant, formerly Mayor of Sherbrooke, P.Q.—New Britain, Conn., U.S.

TYRRELL, James Williams, C.E., bro. of the preceding, was b. in Weston, Ont., May 10, 1863. He was ed. at a private sch., and then at a High Sch., both in the above village. In 1880 he entered the Sch. of Practical Science, Toronto, where he took a course in Civil Engrg., graduating 1883. In 1885 he obtained his diploma of P.L.S.; in 1887 that of D.L.S.; and, in 1889, was granted the degree of C.E. by the Univ. of Toronto. In 1883, 1884 and 1885 he was engaged as Topographer on the Geol. Survey of Can., during which yrs. he made a survey of the Lake of the Woods with its 3000 islands. In the spring of the latter year he joined the Hudson Bay Expedition under the late Commander Gordon, and during the summers of 1885 and 1886, he acted as hydrographer on the D. S. S. Alert, in the survey of Hudson Bay and Straits, while the intervening winter was spent taking meteorol. and tidal observations at Ashe Inlet on the north side of Hudson Strait, and making a survey of the surrounding coast. All the maps of this expedition were prepared by him either on board the Alert, or in Toronto during the succeeding winter. In 1887 and 1888 he was engaged as one of the engrs. on the Maine Internl. Ry. while that road was under construction. In the autumn of the latter year he settled in Hamilton, Ont., to practise as a Civil and Sanitary Engr. and Land Surveyor. In the spring of 1893 he accompanied his brother, J. B. Tyrrell, as Topographer and Eskimo Interpreter on the expedition from Lake Athabasca through the Barren Lands to Chesterfield Inlet, already described. He published, 1897, "Across the Sub-Arctics of Can.," the narrative of this exploratory journey. He m. June, 1890, Miss Isabel Macdonald.—Hamilton, Ont.

TYRRELL, Joseph Burr, geologist and explorer, bro. of the two preceding, was b. at Weston, Ont., Nov. 1, 1858. He was ed. at Weston High Sch., at U. C. Coll., and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., 1880; M.A., 1889). In the latter year he also received the degree of B.Sc. from Victoria Univ. He was apptd. to the staff of the Can. Geol. Survey as an explorer, Aug., 1881. In this capacity he accompanied Dr. G. M. Dawson, 1883, on his exploration of the Rocky Mountains, and, in 1884, began the exploration of the country lying north of Calgary between the Bow and Saskatchewan rivers. This occupied 3 yrs., and the report on it, with 2 maps, was published 1888, by the Geol. Survey. The yrs. 1887-8-9 were spent exploring N.-W. Man.; 1890-91, on and around Lake Winnipeg; and 1892 in the previously unexplored region south-east of Lake Athabaska. In 1893 he crossed the Barren Grounds from Lake Athabaska to Chesterfield Inlet, and came down the west shore of Hudson Bay in canoes, travelling in all 3200 miles, 1650 of which were previously unsurveyed or not reported on in any way. On this occasion Mr. T. walked on snowshoes from Churchill to the north end of Lake Winnipeg, a distance of 600 miles. He was absent about 8 mths. In 1894 he again crossed the Barren Lands, on this occasion travelling from the north end of Reindeer Lake to the west coast of Hudson Bay, reaching it about 200 miles south-west of Chesterfield Inlet; thence he followed the coast in canoes to Churchill. After the winter had set in, he travelled overland, via Split Lake and Norway House, to Selkirk, at the south end of Lake Winnipeg. He was absent 6 mths. and 22 days, during which time he had travelled 2900 miles, 1750 of which were in canoes and 725 on snowshoes, most of this distance being through unexplored country. In 1895 he explored some of the rivers in the little-known country lying north-east of Lake Winnipeg. Reports of Mr. T.'s various journeys and explorations are embodied in the official reports of the survey. In addition, he has published numerous papers on scientific subjects in the Am. Jour. of Science, the Am. Geologist, the Bulletin of the Am. Geol. Soc., the Can. Record of Science, the Geographical Jour., the Geological Mag., Science, the "Proceed. of the Royal Geog. Soc.," the "Trans. of the Can. Inst.," etc. The latest of his published papers is one on "The Topographical Work of the Geol. Survey of Can." He was elected a F. G. S., 1882, and, in 1896, was awarded the Back Grant by the Royal Geog. Soc. Since July, 1891, Mr. T. has ranked as a Geologist in the Dept. of the Geol. Survey. He is a capt. in the Gov.-Genl.'s Foot Guards. A mem. of the Presb. Ch., he m. Feb., 1894, Mary Edith, dau. of Rev. G. M. W. Carey (q.v.).—52 Alexander St., Ottawa; Rideau Club.

TYRWHITT, Lt.-Col. Richard, V. M., legislator, is the s. of Wm. Tyrwhitt, who came to Can., 1838, and a grands. of Richard Tyrwhitt, of Nantyr Hall, Denbighshire, barrister-at-law, and Recorder of Chester, Eng. B. in the Co. Simcoe, Ont., Nov. 29, 1844, he was ed. by private tuition and at Dinan and Rouen, France. He is a practical farmer and a leading agriculturist in his Province. He has represented South Simcoe in the Ho. of Commons, in the Con.

interest, since Feb. 16, 1882; has been for many yrs. closely identified with the V. M. service; was on active service on the Niagara frontier, as a lieut. in a provisional batt., 1866; became capt. 35th Batt., Aug., 1866; major, Jan., 1874; bt. lt.-col., Aug., 1876; lt.-col. commanding 36th Peel Batt. of Infantry, Feb., 1886; and served throughout the N.-W. campaign, 1885 (medal). Lt.-Col. T. also commanded the Can. Wimbledon team, 1886. In 1896 he was elected V.-P. of the Can. Mil. Inst., and, in 1897, he was present at the celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee in London on invitation of the mil. authorities. In addition to being a Con., he is an Imperial Federationist. He was one of the "Noble 13" who opposed Mercier's Jesuits' Estates bill, 1889, and frequently acts and votes independently of his party. He voted against the expenditure connected with Sir John Thompson's funeral, 1895. He was also opposed to any interference by the Dom. Govt. with the Man. Sch. Act of 1890, being of opinion that if any remedial legislation were necessary in the premises, it should be provided by the local Legislature rather than by the Federal Parlt. He has always been opposed to separate schs., believing that the youth of the country should be educated together. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and an Orangeman, he m. UMNEY, Herbert Williams, C.E., educationist, is the 3rd s. of Chas. Umney, of Lawrie Park, Sydenham and Southwark, Eng., and was b. at Sydenham. Ed. at Dulwich Coll. and at the City of London Coll., he obtained a 1st class honours cert. in engineering and a Science and Art honours cert. in machine construction from the City and Guilds of London Inst. Subsequently, he took the engineering course at Yorkshire Coll., Victoria Univ., and was for 3 yrs. articled with Messrs. R. Waygood & Co., Hydraulic Engrs., London. Later, he was in the employment of Messrs. Middleton & Co., of the Pickerings, Stockton-on-Tees, and of Messrs. Stothert & Pitt. In Aug., 1896, he was apptd. Asst. Prof. of Engineering, in McGill Univ., Montreal. He is an assoc. mem. of the Inst. of Civil Engrs., of the Inst. of Mech. Engrs., of the Soc. of Engrs., Eng., and of the Can. Soc. of C. E. USSHER, The Rt. Rev. Brandram Boileau (Ref. Ep. Ch.), was b. in the city of Dublin, Irel., Aug. 6, 1845. The youngest of the family, he came to N. Y. City, 1863. He is the s. of Capt. Richard Beverly Ussher, late H. M.'s 86th Regt., who was descended directly from Richard Neville, Earl of Warwick, "the King-maker." For political reasons one of the Neville family, holding the office of Usher of the Black Rod, exchanged his name for that of his office, and in the reign of King John, the second "s" was added to the name, to distinguish it as a family name from the office in which it originated. Bp. U. comes from a distinguished line of churchmen headed by the 2 great archbps., James, Archbp. of Armagh and Lord Primate of Irel., and Henry Ussher, Lord Archbp. of Armagh and also Primate of Irel. Ed. as a boy at the celebrated Dr. Daniel Flynn's sch., the "Rugby" of Irel., he passed from there to Delgany Coll., Co. Wicklow, from which institution he entered the Royal Dublin Soc. at 16, taking the competition exam. and securing the diploma and sixth place out of 76 successful candidates. Financial losses coming upon his father, young U. was unable to continue his scholastic career, and at the age of 18 decided to visit the U. S. Adopting the med. profession, he studied at the Univ. of Michigan, but lacking means, was obliged to defer taking his degree, which he afterwards attained by passing his exams. before the Bd. of the State of Illinois Ecl. Med. Soc. He finally pursued a 3 years' course at the Allopathic Univ. Med. Coll., Kansas City, Mo., taking his degree as M.D. from that coll. Practising for a number of yrs., he was respected and esteemed alike as a citizen and practitioner of med., holding high positions amongst his med. confreres in the U. S., and obtaining a large and lucrative practice. His heart, however, was in another sphere of work, and he abandoned med. for the Ch. He was a candidate for orders in the diocese of Bp. Henry J. Whitehouse, D.D., of the Protestant Ep. Ch. in Ill., under whose direction he pursued theol. studies, holding the Bishop's license as a lay reader for a considerable time, in which capacity he did some very effective mission work. As a man of strong evangel. views he could not see his way to proceed with his ordination in the Prot. Epis. Ch., much to Bp. Whitehouse's regret, that prelate offering him many inducements to remain; but on June 9, 1874, Dr. U. was ordained the 1st deacon of the Reformed Epis. Ch. by Bishop C. E. Cheney, of Chicago, and, by the same bp., Presbyter in Emanuel Ch., Ottawa, July 16. He became Rector of Christ Ch., Toronto, and, in 1878, Rector of St. Bartholomew's Ch., Montreal, where he remained for 11 yrs. During his incumbency of St. Bartholomew, he was elected bp. by the Can. Synod of the Reformed Epis. Ch., having 2 yrs. previously been elected to the same office by the Genl. Synod in Eng., and declined to be consecrated at that time. Finally, after being 8 yrs. in charge of the Diocese of Can. and Nfd., the Ch. in the U. S. was very desirous that he should plant the R. E. Ch. in the Missouri valley, which he did successfully at Kansas City, Missouri. He is now Rector of Christ Ch., Peoria, Ill., the oldest of the denomination in the U. S. and in the second largest city of Ill. Still Bp. of the Ch. in Eng., he has preferred to remain without any episcopal diocese in the U. S., as he will ultimately return to Eng. He is Chairman of the Standing Comte. of the Jurisdiction of the West. Bishop U. m. 1st, July, 1867, Elizabeth Leonora, dau. of Rev. Skeffington Thompson, Rector of Kellad, Co. Antrim, Irel. (she d. June, 1891); and 2ndly, to Mrs. Mary Reed Pelton, Dedham Centre, Mass.—Peoria, Ill., U.S.

VAIL, Lt.-Col. Hon. William Berrian, statesman, is the s. of the late John Cougle Vail, Sussex, N.B., long a Judge of the Co. Ct., and also M.P.P. for King's Co., in the N. B. Assembly, by Charlotte H., dau. of the Rev. Oliver Arnold, formerly of Conn., U.S., and subsequently, Rector of Sussex; and the grands. of Robert Vail, a U. E. Loyalist, who came to N. B. at the close of the Am. revolutionary war. B. at Sussex, N.B., Dec. 19, 1825, he was ed. there and at the Kingston Grammar Sch. He entered Can. public life, 1867, as one of the representatives for Digby in the N. S. Assembly. He was then a Con., but left that party and joined the Liberals on the refusal of the former to submit the terms of union with Can. for the approval of the electors. Joining the Annand Govt., as Provl. Secy., he became leader of the Govt. in the Assembly, and continued in those positions up to Sept., 1874, when he joined the Mackenzie Govt., at Ottawa, as Mr. of Militia and Defence, being then returned for Digby to the Ho. of Commons. He continued in the latter chamber up to the close of the 3rd Parlt., 1878, when he declined nomination. He was again elected to the Ho. of Commons, g. e. 1882, and sat there until g. e. 1887, being then defeated by the late John Campbell. Mr. V.'s opposition to union with Can.

was withdrawn after the submission of the "better terms" granted by Sir John Macdonald. From that time he threw the weight of his influence in favour of Confederation, and the ultimate acceptance of the scheme by the Legislature was largely due, as has been acknowledged, to his loyalty, tact and popularity. Among the various public measures which Mr. V. introduced and carried through the Provl. Legislature, while a mem. of that body, were: The Ballot Act for the election of mems. to the Ho. of Assembly; the Yarmouth and Annapolis Ry. Act; the Eastern Extension Ry. Act, for building a line from New Glasgow to the Strait of Canso; and an Act for establishing co. cts. in the Province. He was the first mem. of the Ho. of Commons to be elected under the Dom. Ballot Act. As a departmental chief at Ottawa, perhaps his most important achievement was the putting into operation the Act establishing the Royal Mil. Coll., at Kingston. He took the greatest interest in the undertaking, and gave much of his time to a personal supervision of the plans and works connected with the coll. buildings. He had also much to do with the selection of a suitable staff of officers to take charge of the new institution. Mr. V.'s latest official act was to serve as a del. to Eng., 1882, for the N. S. Govt., in connection with the construction of the Western Counties Ry. Co. On that occasion he was given the requisite authority to sign Provl. bonds to the extent of 5 million dollars. He is Lt.-Col. of the 2nd Regt. Digby Militia. An Ang. in religion, he is also a del. to the Diocesan and Provl. synods of the Ch. He m. Charlotte Leslie, eld. dau. of Chas. Jones, Weymouth, N.S.—Halifax, N.S.; Halifax Club.

VALIN, His Honour Joseph Alphonse, Dist. Judge, is the s. of the late Hyacinthe Valin, lumber operator, Ottawa, and was b. in that city, 1856. Ed. there, he was called to the bar, 1884, and practised in Ottawa, in partnership with Mr. Code. Mr. V. was apptd. Judge of the Provl. Jl. Dist. of Nipissing, by the Earl of Aberdeen, Mch. 13, 1895. His Honour is a mem. of the R. C. Ch., and in Oct., 1896, went on a mission to Rome in connection with the erection of the Dist. of Nipissing into a new bishopric.—North Bay, Ont.

VALLEAU, Miss Marie, actress, was b. in Napanee, Ont., and early in life m. Wm. G. Fraleck, who was afterwards on the ed. staff of the St. Paul (Minn.) Globe. After his death, Miss V. studied for the stage. She made her début in N. Y., 1893, in "Old Kentucky," and, later, accompanied and acted with M. B. Curtis, in "Sam'l of Posen." In 1896 she appeared at the Garden Theatre, N. Y., and is now a prominent and popular figure on the Am. stage.—New York.

VANDER SMISSEN, William Henry, educationist, is the s. of Hy. Vander Smissen, a native of Altona, Holstein, Germany, by his wife, Louise, a native of Hanover. B. at Toronto, Aug. 18, 1844, he was ed. at U. C. Coll. and at the Univ. of Toronto (B.A., and silver med. in Classics, 1864; M.A., 1866). In Jan., 1866, he was apptd. Lecturer in German at his Alma Mater; and, in 1892, Prof. of German. Prof. V. was also Librarian of the Univ., 1873-91. He was elected Presdt. of the Can. Inst., 1886; Presdt. of the Ont. Modern Language Assn., same year; and a mem. of the Univ. Senate, 1892. He is the author of a grammar of the German language, and has ed. several German text-books for High schs. While a student he entered the mil. service of Can., and was present with the "Queen's Own" at the engagement with the Fenians at Ridgeway, June 2, 1866, where he was severely wounded. He became lieut. in the Univ. Co., 1872, and was promoted capt., 1875. He m. Elizabeth Sarah, dau. of J. H. Mason, Toronto.—75 Grosvenor St., Toronto; Can. Military Institute.

VAN HORNE, Sir William Cornelius, President Canadian Pacific Ry., is the s. of the late Cornelius Cavenhoven Van Horne, a lawyer, who was the descendant of one of the old patron families of New Amsterdam, now the city of New York. B. near Joliette, Ill., Feb. 3, 1843, he was in his 14th year forced, by the death of his father, to find employment in order to provide for the wants of the other members of the family. He began at the foot of the ladder as office boy at the ry. station in his native town. Later, he became a telegraph operator on the Ill. Central Ry., and, in 1858, joined the Michigan Central Ry. Co. Here he served in various capacities till he reached the age of 21, when he accepted an appt. as ticket agent and telegraph operator on the Chicago and Alton Ry. He was afterwards for 3 yrs. train despatcher, 1 year Supdt. of the Telegraph, and 3 yrs. Div. Supdt. on this road. Rising in the service as his merits became more widely known, he was, in 1872, offered the position of Genl. Supdt. of the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Ry. From there he went in 1874 to the Southern Minnesota Ry., as its Genl. Mangr. The line was then in the hands of a receiver, but he quickly extricated it from its financial difficulties, and by extending and improving the property placed it in its present prosperous condition. His success was rewarded by his elevation to the presidency of the co. In 1878 he returned to the Chicago and Alton Ry., and accepted the position of Genl. Supdt. of the line, at the same time retaining the presidency of the Southern Minn. Two yrs. later he was called to the position of Genl. Supdt. of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ry., at that time the most extensive ry. in the U. S., with more than 5000 miles of track in Iowa, Wis., the Dakotas, Minn. and Missouri, and 316 miles in Ill., from Chicago west to the Mississippi, and north into Wis. He entered upon this office, Jan. 1, 1880, only to relinquish it in the following year, when he was selected by the directors of the Can. Pac. Ry. to take control as Genl. Mangr. of what was then projected, and has since become, the greatest ry. organization in the world. The last rail was laid in the transcontinental line of ry. 54 mths. after the work of construction was commenced by the co., and in much less than half the time required by the contract between the Govt. and the co. The system built up by the co. during the 18 yrs. of its existence embraces 9000 miles of ry., extending almost everywhere in the Dom. and through the States of Maine, Mich., Wis., Minn. and Dakota, and its steamship lines reach to China and Japan. The soul of this wonderful organization, the man whose spirit animates its activities, and imparts a character of absolute business perfection to all its ramifications, who even in his dreams may be said to work out its future still more wonderful destiny, is Sir W. C. Van Horne, who, from a poor boy, has risen to the proud eminence he occupies by the sheer force of genius. Upon the retirement of Duncan McIntyre from the vice-presidency of the co., 1884, Mr. Van H. was elected to that office; and on the retirement of Lord Mount Stephen, Sept., 1888, he became Presdt., which office he still retains. In reviewing the history of the Can. Pac. Ry., the Montreal Gazette gives every credit for the inception of the enterprise and the courage and patriotism which instigated its undertaking, to Lord Mount Stephen and Lord Strathcona, "but," it adds, "the merit of the practical work belongs, in great part, to Sir W. C. Van Horne. The ripe experience he brought to bear as Genl. Mangr. of the ry., his quick perception of the possibilities of the enterprise, the confidence he was able to inspire in those with whom he was associated, his splendid organizing abilities, his mastery of details, and his keen and accurate appreciation of the importance of speed in construction, perhaps somewhat on the principle that nothing succeeds like success, contributed in an important degree to the triumphs which the Can. Pac. Co. has achieved. No one more than he realized the necessity of subsidiary lines and adjuncts in the shape of steamship services if the ry. when constructed was to prove a profitable financial undertaking, and to his prescience may be attributed the acquisition and construction of the branch lines, feeders and auxiliary railways throughout the Dom., as well as in the North-Western States which furnish so material a traffic to the main line, and thereby ensure a permanence of prosperity as well as of that independence so essential in the conception and execution of the policy of the road. If, in its beginning, the Can. Pac. Ry. was regarded merely as an effort to throw a band of steel across the continent, and so fulfil the compact upon which B. C. had entered the Confederation, under Sir Wm. Van Horne's admn., the scheme quickly assumed a much more pretentious and important scope. In every detail, in point of facilities and equipment, in all the adjuncts of traffic, in the solidity and durability of its works, and in the ambitious character of its policy, the Can. Pac. rapidly became one of the leading ry. enterprises not only of the continent, but of the world. The establishment of a steamship service on the Pacific, giving direct connection with China and Japan, and, later on, of a steamship service to Australia, were accomplishments attributable largely to the enterprise and foresight of the Presdt., whose busy brain never ceases from seeking out and utilizing every avenue through which traffic can profitably be attracted to the ry., and the trade and industry of Can. be promoted. So closely has Sir Wm. Van Horne been identified with the remarkable success of the Can. Pac. that from no aspect of its achievement can he be dissociated. The notable financial prosperity of the company is attributable in large part to the ability of his management, and the high credit which the enterprise has attained has had no more striking illustration than the fact that the guarantee of the Can. Pac. has been deemed in the money market of London conclusive evidence of the soundness of the securities of subsidiary and allied lines. That is, perhaps, the highest evidence possible to afford of the confidence entertained by capitalists in the judgment and ability of Sir Wm. Van Horne." Continuing, the Gazette remarks: "From his earliest association with the co. he has closely connected himself with Can. affairs. No more earnest or more zealous work for the advancement of the welfare and prosperity of the Dom. has been performed than his, the whole policy of his management having been consistently directed to the settlement of the N.-W., the development of Can. resources, the extension of Can. trade, the maintenance of Can. autonomy, the upbuilding of Can. institutions and industries, and the cultivation of intercl. and imperial trade. From the moment he undertook the responsible and formidable duties of Genl. Mangr. of the ry., Sir Wm. identified himself closely and loyally with the affairs, the institutions and the national life of the Dom., forming all his attachments with his adopted country, and proving himself one of the most enterprising and patriotic of her citizens." In addition to other positions filled by him, he is a dir. of the Postal Telegraph Cable Co. and of the Commercial Cable Co., V.-P. of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Ry. Co., and Presdt. of the N.-W. Land Co. and of the B. C. Southern Ry. Co. He is also a mem. of the Comte. of Management of the Montreal Homœop. Hospital, a gov. of the Royal Victoria Hospital, a gov. of McGill Univ., V.-P. of the Art Assn. of Montreal, and V.-P. of the St. John Ambulance Assn. In May, 1894, he was created a

K.C.M.G. (hon.) by Her Majesty, in acknowledgment of his distinguished public services. In religion, he may be called a Prot. Politically, he has summed up the needs of the country as follows: 1st, a vigorous immigration policy, to be carried out by a special comn.; 2nd, a 1st class Atlantic mail and passenger steamship service; 3rd, the protection of the interests of the Dom. in the mining dists. of Southern B. VANIER, Joseph Emile, C.E., is the eld. s. of the late Emilien Vanier, grain and produce merchant, Montreal. B. at Terrebonne, P.Q., Jan. 20, 1858, he was ed. at Jacques Cartier Normal Sch. and at the Montreal Cath. Commercial Acad. Subsequently, he studied civil engineering at L'Ecole Polytechnique, where he graduated with honours, 1877, he being the first to graduate from that institution. He commenced the practice of his profession as an asst. on the Hochelaga sewerage and street paving works. In 1878 he proceeded to Los Angeles, Cal., where he was employed as an asst. in the construction of the Beaudry water-works. Returning to Montreal the following year, he opened an office in that city, where he has since undertaken all sorts of municipal engineering, comprising water-works, sewerage, electric lighting, electric rys., transmission of power, paving and other street improvements, for municipalities in the two Provinces—Quebec and Ont. He acts also as a designing, constructing or consulting engr. in all manner of enterprises undertaken by corporations, cos. and private individuals. He is regarded as being both prudent and skilful in his various works. In 1889 he was elected a mem. of the Council of the Can. Soc. of C. E.; and, in 1893, he was apptd. a mem. of the Royal Comn. of investigation respecting the Lachine Canal. For some yrs. he has been Prof. of Geodesy and Hydrography in L'Ecole Polytechnique. He is a mem. of the Hygienic socs. of Paris and Quebec. Politically, he has no record, but he supports the Con. party in both the Federal and Provl. arena. In religion, a R. Bd. of Education, 1889, and was also a mem. of the Council of Man. Univ. and of the Winnipeg Public Sch. Bd. He came prominently into notice as the author of 2 ably prepared pamphlets on the Man. Sch. question, dealing with it from the point of view of the people of the Province at large as against the R. C. minority ("National Schs. for Man.," 1892; "The Man. Sch. Question," 1895). In Mch., 1897, he was apptd. a comnr. to investigate certain charges made in connection with the management of the Man. Penty. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he is (or was formerly), politically, a supporter of the Lib. party. He m. Sept., 1886, Edith Mabel, dau. of D. B. Read, Q.C., Toronto. —Dawson City, Yukon.

WAINWRIGHT, William, Can. railway service, was b. in Manchester, Eng., Apl. 30, 1840. Ed. in his native city, he entered the service of the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Ry. as a junior clk. in the chief accountant's office, 1858, subsequently becoming senior clk. and Secy. to the genl. mangr. Resigning these positions, at the solicitation of Sir E. Watkin, Bart., then Chairman of the M. S. and L. Ry., and Suptdg. Comnr. of the G. T. Ry., he came to Can., 1862, as a senior clk. in the chief accountant's office, G. T. Ry., Montreal, and was thereafter successively Secy. to the mang. dir.; senior clk., and likewise in charge of the Car Mileage Dept.; genl. passenger agent; asst. mangr.; and asst. genl. mangr. In May, 1896, he became Genl. Asst. of the entire system, a position he still holds. Mr. W. was also Genl. Mangr. of the North Shore Ry., 1883-85. He is a dir. of the Guarantee Co. of North Am., a dir. of the Montreal Telegraph Co., V.-P. of the Grand Trunk Ins. and Provident Soc. and of the Superannuation Soc., and V.-P. of the Richelieu and Ont. Navigation Co. Although comparatively a young man, Mr. W. is now Doyen of the Can. ry. service, and there is probably no other man connected with the public institutions of the country who is so widely and favourably known, more especially to legislators, officials and public men generally. His name is now (1898) mentioned in connection with the new Bd. of Ry. Comnrs. about to be apptd. at Ottawa. In religious faith, an Ang., he m. 1st, 1867, Rosabelle Hilda, dau. of Richard Arnold, Toronto (she d. 1876); and 2ndly, Mary Emily, sister of his first wife. —156 Metcalfe St., Montreal; St. James's Club; Rideau Club.

WAITE, Mrs. Catherine, lawyer and author, whose maiden name was Van Valkenberg, of a conspicuous family that lived for many generations in southern Holland, was b. in Dumfries, Ont., 1829. Ed. in Oberlin Coll., she established the Hyde Park Semy. for Young Women, Chicago, Ill., 1859. Becoming interested in law, she graduated from the Union Coll. of Law, 1886, and, in 1888, was elected Presdt. of the Woman's Internl. Bar Assn. Mrs. W. is the author of "The Mormon Prophet and his Harem," an authority on the Mormon question from the social standpoint, and is well known as a woman suffragist worker and a successful financier. She m. 1854, Judge C. B. Waite.—Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill.

WAITE, Richard A., architect, is a native of Eng., came early in life to Am., and has for some yrs. practised his profession at Buffalo. He came more particularly into notice in Can., in 1886-92, as the architect of the new Legislative buildings erected by the Province of Ont. in Toronto, at a total cost of $1,250,000. Since then he has, in addition to other fine structures of a similar kind erected in Can., designed the new building for the Bank of Hamilton, at Hamilton, and the new building for the Can. Life Assur. Co., in Montreal. In religion, he is a R. C.—Buffalo, N.Y.; National Club; Hamilton Club.

WAKEHAM, William, M.D., fisheries protection service, is the s. of the late G. Wakeham, for many yrs. prop. of "The Belmont Retreat," Quebec, and was b. in that city, Nov. 30, 1845. Ed. at the High Sch. there and at Victoria Univ., Cobourg, he pursued his med. studies at McGill Univ., graduating M.D., 1866. He followed the practice of his profession at Gaspé Basin, P.Q., but gave up active work in that direction on his appt., by the Dom. Govt., June 2, 1879, to the command of the steamer La Canadienne, engaged in the fisheries protection service in the lower river and Gulf of St. Lawrence. He is also a Comnr. of Police in and for the Province of Quebec. In these capacities Dr. W. has been able to render valuable and efficient service, both in regard to the fisheries and towards enforcing obedience to the customs and revenue laws and regulations of the country. His knowledge and experience in the fisheries service led, doubtless, to his selection, in 1893, to be H. M.'s Comnr., under the agreement with the U. S., for enquiring into the preservation of the fisheries in waters contiguous to Can. and the U. S. of Am. In this duty he was engaged, conjointly with the Am. Comnr., R. Rathbun, from the date of his appt. up to Jan., 1897, when the report of the Comn. was presented to both Govts. The field of enquiry extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Dr. W.'s latest duty consisted in his appt. to the command of the Diana expdn. sent to Hudson Bay, 1897, for the purpose of determining the feasibility of that route as an outlet for the N. W. T. to the sea. In Jan., 1898, he was apptd. a comnr., with Judge Lavergne and F. Gourdeau, to enquire into the alleged grievances of the St. Lawrence pilots. He is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng., and unm. — Gaspé Basin, P.Q.

WALBANK, William McLea, C.E. and architect, is the s. of the late M. W. Walbank, Q.C., of St. John's, Nfd., and was b. at St. John's. Ed. at Queen's Univ., Irel., he came to Can., 1875, and took the degree of B. Ap. Sc. in McGill Univ., Montreal, 1877. He was admitted a P. L. S., 1878, and is now V.-P. of the Land Surveyors' Assn., P. Q. He was one of the founders of the Can. Soc. of C. E. Besides being Mang. Dir. of the Lachine Rapids Hydraulic and Land Co. (Ltd), he is now Presdt. of the Citizens' Light and Power Co., and of the Standard Light and Power Co., Montreal. He is also a mem. of the Architects' Assn. for the Dist. of Montreal, P.Q., and a J.P. He m. Oct., 1888, Isabel M., dau. of the Hon. Wm. Richards, Bideford, P.E.I.—214 Peel St., Montreal.

WALKEM, Hon. George Anthony, judge and jurist, is the s. of the late Chas. Walkem, of the Royal Engr. staff in Can., by Mary Anne, dau. of Geo. Boomer. His family have lived for generations on the border of Devon and Cornwall, Eng. B. at Newry, Irel., Nov. 15, 1834, he was ed. at a Grammar Sch. in Eng., and at McGill Univ., Montreal. He studied law with the late Sir John Rose, and was called to the bar of L. C., 1859, and to that of Ont., 1861. In 1862 he went to B. C., and was called to the bar of that colony, 1864. In the same year he was elected to the Leg. Council of B. C., of which he remained a mem. till 1870, when he resigned his seat for Cariboo, and was apptd. to the Leg. Council as an ind. mem. by the Governor. He was one of the most active workers in behalf of Confederation, and when the union was consummated, entered the Provl. Legislature as an elected mem. for Cariboo. Mr. W. was apptd. a mem. of the Ex. Council, Jan. 12, 1872, taking the office of Chief Comnr. of Lands and Works. From Dec., 1872 to Jan., 1876, he was Atty.-Genl., and on the resignation of Mr. de Cosmos, in Feb., 1874, he became Premier, holding the office of Atty.-Genl., until Jan., 1876. He was in Opposition for 2 sessions, and a g. e. again gave him the premiership by a sweeping majority. In 1874 he proceeded to Eng. on behalf of the Govt., in consequence of the difference between the Province and the Dom. as to the construction of the Can. Pac. Ry. This duty he performed with acknowledged ability. Having returned to power in 1878, he continued to be Premier up to his appt. as a Puisne Judge of the Supreme Ct., B. C., May 23, 1882. He had been apptd. a Q. C., by the Earl of Dufferin, 1873. During the time of his last Admn., the question of the construction of the transcontinental ry. gave much trouble.

The undecided policy of the then Dom. Govt. was such that it seemed as if the construction of the road had been abandoned or indefinitely postponed, and it was largely owing to the perseverance of Mr. W.'s Govt. that the line was at length proceeded with. In 1881 he compiled a new code of Supreme Ct. procedure for which he received the thanks of the Law Soc., and, in 1887, he was a comnr., with Judges Crease and Drake, to frame a new code of rules of practice for the Supreme Ct. He is a Fellow of the Royal Geog. Soc., and a mem. of the Brit. Assn. for the Advance. of Science. A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. Dec., 1879, Sophia Edith, dau. of the late Hon. Hy. Rhodes, Victoria. WALKEM, Richard Thomas, Q.C., bro. of the preceding, was b. at Waterford, Irel., Sept. 30, 1840. Ed. at the High Sch. and at McGill Univ., Montreal, he afterwards gained the 3rd year scholarship of the Law Soc. of U. C., was awarded a special scholarship in the 4th year, and was the senior or 1st prize student in each year during his attendance at the Law Sch. Called to the bar, 1865, he has since practised in Kingston, where he is now one of the leaders of the bar. He was created a Q. C., by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880, and is also Lecturer on Equity in Queen's Univ., Kingston. Besides being a frequent contributor to legal and other periodicals, Mr. W. has written a treatise on the execution and revocation of wills (1873), and another on the law relating to the property of married women (1874), both of which are used as text-books by students. He has been Grand Master of the Freemasons of Can. (1888-90), and is a V.-P. of the Ont. branch of the St. John Ambulance Assn. He received the hon. degree of D.C.L. from Trinity Univ., 1891. Among other local offices he is Presdt. of the Kingston Light, Heat and Power Co., of the Kingston Skating Rink, of the Queen's Boating Club, of the Sch. of Art, of the Electoral Div. Soc., and Chairman of the Bd. of Health. A mem. of the Ch. of Eng., he has served for many yrs. as a del. to the Provl. and Diocesan Synods. As a del. from his own diocese he had a good deal to do with the consolidation of the Ch., which was recently effected. He is now Chancellor of the Diocese. A Lib.-Con. in politics, he is a strong believer in the wisdom of continuing our present relations with the Mother Country. As regards our fiscal policy, while he favours protection, he is opposed to over-protection as tending to create combines and unduly enhance prices. Dr. W.'s name has been mentioned more than once in connection with a seat on the bench. He m. 1870, Emilie, eld. dau. of the late Dr. J. A. Henderson, Q.C. WALKER, Allan Holford, M.D., is the s. of Edward Allen Walker, of Rotherham, Yorkshire, Eng., and was b. at Barrie, Ont., Apl. 17, 1846. Ed. there, he pursued his med. studies at Queen's Univ., Kingston (M.D., 1867), and became a Fellow of the Royal Coll. of Surg., same city, 1891. He is also a Fellow of the Brit. Gynæcol. Soc. After practising at Dundas for over 20 yrs., he opened a private hospital in Hamilton for the treatment of nervous and surgical diseases of women. Later, proceeding to Eng., he followed a special course of study under Dr. Lawson Tait, the eminent abdominal surg., at Birmingham. He also studied at Philadelphia Dr. Weir Mitchell's methods of treatment, by rest, massage, etc., and on his return to Can., reopened his hospital, this time in Toronto, and for the benefit, as regards nervous diseases, of both sexes. In 1897 he spent 4 mths. in Nanheim, Germany, investigating the treatment of heart disease by the system of baths and exercises in vogue there. He m. July, 1873, Annie, eld. dau. of the late Geo. Rolph, barrister, Dundas, Ont.—Rotherham Ho., 54 and 58 Isabella St., Toronto; Toronto Club.

WALKER, Byron Edmund, bank manager, was b. in the Tp. of Seneca, Co. Haldimand, Ont., Oct. 14, 1848. Ed. at the public schs., he commenced his business career in the private banking office of his uncle, J. W. Murton, Hamilton. In July, 1868, he entered the service of the Can. Bank of Commerce, as discount clk. Promoted accountant at the head office, Toronto, 1872, he thereafter became, successively, 3rd agent of the bank in N. Y.; mangr. at Windsor; mangr. at London; inspr. of the bank; mangr. at Hamilton; joint agent at N. Y.; and finally, in Oct., 1886, genl. mangr. of the bank, replacing W. N. Anderson, in that office. In addition to his labours in connection with the institution whose admn. he directs and controls, he has rendered important services in the cause of Can. banking generally. At the time of the expiry of the bank charters he laboured strenuously and with success against an assimilation of our system of banking with that of the U. S. Later, when the banking bill of 1891 was before the Can. Parlt., he was chosen by the banks of Ont. as their chief spokesman, and in that capacity, impressed upon the Govt. the danger of certain features which they contemplated imposing upon the measure. Mr. W. has filled the office of Chairman of the Bankers' sec. of the Toronto Bd. of Trade, was subsequently elected V.-P. and Presdt. of the Can. Bankers' Assn., holding the last-named office for 2 terms. As such, he presided at the grand banquets given in Halifax (1894) and in Quebec (1895) by the Can. bankers. He is a trustee and a Senator of Toronto Univ., V.-P. of the Can. Inst., a Fellow of the Geol. Soc. of Eng., and of the Inst. of Bankers of Eng., and a dir. of the Can. Life Assur. Co. In 1897 he served as local Secy. in connection with the meeting of the Brit. Assn. in Toronto. Besides being a ready and effective public speaker, he is known also as a writer of much ability. Among his publications are: "The Can. System of Banking and the National Banking System of the U. S.; a Comparison with reference to the Banking Requirements of Can." (1890); "Banking in Can.," a paper read before the Congress of Bankers and Financiers, Chicago, 1893 (1893); "A Can. View of the Financial Situation in the U. S.; What should be done, and what will probably be done" (1895); the sec. on Can. Banking in "A History of Banking in all the Leading Nations" (1896); "Why Can. is against Bimetallism" (1897); and a series of papers on "Early Italian Art." Politically, a Lib.; in religion, he is a Presb. He is of opinion that "we should discuss less such subjects as Imp. Federation, or better trade relations with the U. S., and give closer attention to the humbler but more important details of our business affairs at home. The greatest economy should be exercised in the public expenditure, consistent with efficiency. We spend too much money, both publicly and privately. The better class of men not satisfactorily employed, should be encouraged to take up free grant lands, and the Dom. Govt. should open throughout Gt. Brit. and northern Europe offices where reliable information could be obtained regarding our lands, agricultural, pastoral and mineral. Nothing has happened in the progress of Can. which requires us to seek new roads to success. We have merely halted after over-exertion, and will resume our march when, through the needed rest, we have acquired fresh energy." He m. 1874, Mary, dau. of Alex. WALKER, His Honour David Marr, Co. Ct. Judge, of Irish descent, is the s. of the late Solomon Walker. B. in Woodhouse, Norfolk, Ont., 1835, he was ed. in Toronto, and was called to the Ont. bar, 1861. Entering the V. M. service, 1860, he became Capt. No. 1 Co. 39th Batt., and was on active service with the 2nd Administrative Batt. on the Niagara frontier, 1864-65. In 1870 he was gazetted a lieut. in the 1st Ont. Batt., forming a portion of the force that proceeded to Red River (now Winnipeg), in that year, under the command of Col. (now F. M. Viscount) Wolseley. He remained on active service in this corps for over 12 mths., when he retired therefrom, was called to the local bar, and practised his profession in Winnipeg. He was City Solr. of Winnipeg, 1875-78, becoming, then, Atty.-Genl. in Mr. Norquay's Admn. This office he retained up to July 5, 1882, when he was apptd. Co. Ct. Judge for the Western Jl. Dist. In June, 1893, he was transferred to the northern div. of the Eastern Jl. Dist. In the same year he was apptd. R. O. for Winnipeg under the E. F. Act. His Honour is a mem. of the Ang. Ch. WALKER, Horatio, painter, was b. at Listowel, Ont., 1857. He studied miniature painting in the studio of J. A. Fraser, Toronto (q.v.), and, later, went to N. Y., where "by dint of inborn talent and careful and conscientious study of the best available examples of art, he has earned for himself a creditable position in the ranks of Am. artists" (W. Lewis Fraser in Century, Nov., 1893). An engraving of one of his paintings, "A Morning in Spring," is given in the same number of the Century. An exhibition of 30 of his pictures was given at the new Cottier Galleries, 34th St., N. Y., 1897. He is described in the N. Y. Collector as a painter of the pasture and the farm, and that he paints them very much in the feeling of a Troyon, on one hand, and a Mauve on the other. One of his pictures, "A Siesta," is a marvel of the triumph of art over its subject. Among his recent works are: "The Prodigal Son," "The Barnyard," "October Morning," "Harrowing," "Hauling the Log-Winter," and "Calves in Spring." Each of these has been spoken of as a work of delightful sentiment and feeling.—Studio Building, 10th St., New York.

WALKER, Thomas L., geologist, is the s. of Wm. Walker, Brampton, Ont. B. in Can., 1868, he attended the Orangeville and Brampton High schs., and after some time spent in sch. teaching, went, 1887, to Queen's Univ., Kingston, as a senior matriculant. His career there was distinguished, and he graduated, 1890, as M.A. and med. in Chemistry. After some time passed as assayist and chief analyst for one of the large nickel mines at Sudbury (time which he turned to good account in original research upon the minerals of that dist.), he returned to Kingston, and spent 2 sessions as tutor in the Sch. of Mines. He was also connected with the Geol. Survey of Can. for 2 seasons. From Kingston he went, Oct., 1895, to Germany, having taken an Exhn. research scholarship, which confers 2 years' study abroad. In Aug., 1896, he took his Ph.D. at the Univ. of Leipzig, magna cum laude; he took in one year work that ordinarily occupies three. During his student career at Queen's Univ. he was popular among his fellow-students, and was elected Presdt. of the Alma Mater Soc., the highest honour which can be paid to a young graduate by the student body. In Feb., 1897, he was apptd. by the Brit. Govt., Asst. Supdt. of the Geol. Survey of India.—Calcutta, India.

WALL, Rev. Edward Barry (Presb.), was b. in Pictou, N.S., Nov. 4, 1825. Ed. at Princeton Acad., he was ordained an Evangel. at Rochester, N.Y., 1851. In 1863 he was apptd. a chaplain in the U. S. army, and at the termination of the war, became pastor successively at Kingston, N.J., and at New Hamburgh, N.Y. He was apptd. Prof. of Belles Lettres in Stevens Inst., Hoboken, N.J., 1890. WALLACE, Rev. Francis Huston (Meth.), educationist, is the s. of the Rev. Robt. Wallace (Presb.), and was b. at Ingersoll, Ont., 1851. His preliminary education was received at the Niagara Falls Grammar Sch., whence he proceeded to U. C. Coll. ("Head Boy," 1869). In his first and second yrs. at Toronto Univ., he took first scholarships in Classics, Mod. Languages, and for genl. proficiency. The remainder of the course he devoted, as exclusively as the curriculum permitted, to the classics, with the result that on graduating, 1873, he carried off the gold medal in classics. He proceeded to his M.A. degree the following year. Following his theol. studies, which were carried on at Knox Coll., Toronto, and at Drew Theol. Semy., N.J. (B.D., 1876), he spent the winter, 1876-77, at Leipzig Univ. Returning to Can., he entered upon the active work of the ministry. He was Presdt.'s asst. at the Richmond St. Ch., Toronto, 1877-78; pastor Charlotte St. Ch., Peterboro', 1878; pastor Yonge St. Ch., Toronto, 1879-82; pastor at Cobourg, 1882-85; and at Peterboro' again, 1885-87. In Oct., of the latter year, he received his present appt., Prof. of New Test. Lit. and Exegesis in Victoria Univ., Cobourg (now in Toronto), becoming at the same time Secy. of the Faculty of Theol. In 1885 he published a small volume on the history of preaching, entitled "Witnesses for Christ," and he has written numerous articles on miscellaneous subjects in the *Can. Meth. WALLACE, Hon. Nathaniel Clarke, statesman, is the 3rd s. of the late Capt. Nathaniel Wallace, a native of Sligo, Irel., who came to Can., 1834. B. at Woodbridge, Ont., May 21, 1844, he was ed. at the local schs. and at the Weston Grammar Sch., after which he gave some yrs. to sch. teaching. Entering commercial life, 1867, he and his bro., Thomas F., established the milling and mercantile firm of Wallace Bros., at Woodbridge, in which he continues. His public career dates from 1874, in which year he was elected to the York Co. Council as Depty. Reeve of Vaughan. He became Warden of the Co., 1878. In the same year he was returned to the Ho. of Commons for West York, in the Con. interest, and was one of those who helped to give life and shape to the "N. P." He has continued to represent the riding in the popular chamber at Ottawa up to the present time, and now holds the seat by a majority of 4,263 votes gained at the g. e. 1896. An Orange-man from his youth up, he became Grand Master and Sovereign of the order in Brit. Am., 1887, and was re-elected to that office for the 10th time, June, 1897. He holds also the presidency of the Triennial Council of Orangemen of the World. For many yrs. he has been regarded as one of the special champions in Parlt. of Orange and Prot. interests. He was one of the "Noble 13" who voted for the disallowance of Mercier's Jesuits' Estates bill, 1888, and, more recently, he took an active part in opposition to remedial legislation in reference to the Man. Sch. bill. Apptd. Controller of Customs under Sir John Thompson, Dec. 5, 1892, he continued in that office up to Dec. 14, 1895, when he retired from the Ministry in consequence of its declared policy on the Man. Sch. question. In 1888 he secured the appt. of a Select Comte. of the Ho. of Commons on the subject of combinations in trade, and, in the same year, introduced a bill for the prevention and suppression of combinations formed in restraint of trade. He is Presdt. of the Brit. and Can. Gold and Silver Mining Co. In 1897 a sketch of his life and public labours was published in book form by Rev. C. E. Perry. Mr. W. is a mem. of the Ang. Ch., and m. WALSH, Major James Morrow, Comnr. of the Yukon Dist., was b. of Irish parentage at Prescott, Ont., 1843, and received his education in that town. He is the s. of the late Lewis Walsh, by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of John Morrow. In 1866 he was commissioned lieut. No. 2 Co. Rifles, Prescott; was apptd. capt. and adjt., 56th Batt., on its formation, 1867; raised and took command of the Prescott troop of cavalry ("D" squadn., 4th Hussars), Dec. 22, 1867; was apptd. ensign, 1st Ont. Batt., Red River Expeditionary Force, but resigned therefrom, 1870; was gazetted bt. major, 1872, and retired from the V. M. retaining rank, Nov., 1875. He served throughout the Fenian raids in 1866, and again in 1870. In 1873 he was apptd. Inspr. N.-W. Mounted Police, then being organized by Lt.-Col. (now Maj.-Genl.) G. A. French. In the N.-W. Territories he established a reputation for great courage and firmness in his dealings with the Indians, and more especially in his treatment of the Sioux Chief, "Sitting Bull." The latter, having held 2 American forces in check, and utterly destroyed Genl. Custer and his command, had withdrawn over the Can. border, where he was met by Maj. W. and several troopers, and induced to surrender to the U. S. authorities. In 1883 he resigned from the Mounted Police, and established the Dom. Coal, Coke and Transportation Co., in which capacity he did much towards opening up coal mines in the Souris Dist. The recent discovery of gold in the Yukon Dist., and the consequent advent of population there having necessitated the appt. of a special comnr. to administer govt. in that territory, Maj. W. was, Aug. 17,

1897, apptd. chief executive officer of the Govt. of Can. in the Yukon, with the title of Comnr. of the Yukon Dist. In the same month he was also apptd. a supdt. in the N.-W. WALSH, The Most Rev. John, Archbishop of Toronto (R. C.), is the s. of the late Jas. Walsh, by his wife, Ellen Macdonald, and was b. in the parish of Mooncoin, Co. Kilkenny, Irel., May 23, 1830, his preparatory studies being conducted at St. John's Coll., Waterford, where he also took one year in Theol. Coming to Can., Apl., 1852, he entered the Grand Semy., Montreal, and, in the following year, received tonsure from Bp. La Rocque, and minor orders from Bp. Bourget. On Oct. 22, 1854, Bp. de Charbonnel, of Toronto, ordained him sub-deacon, and deacon on Oct. 29, and, on Nov. 1, following the Feast of All Saints, he was raised by the same prelate to the priesthood in St. Michael's Cath., Toronto. In 1855 he was apptd. to the Brock Mission on Lake Simcoe, of which parish he was the first resident pastor, and where, removed from all society, the young priest had ample opportunity to pursue undisturbed the studies to which he was devoted—frequently conducted by the light of a tallow candle, or of the log fire in the shanties of the "settlers" in the backwoods. In 1857 he was placed in charge of the more important parish of St. Mary's, Toronto, and shortly after the consecration of Dr. Lynch as Bp. of Toronto, 1859, he was apptd. Rector of St. Michael's Cath., and on Easter Sunday, 1862, was nominated V.-G. of the Diocese. In May, 1863, he attended the 3rd Provl. Council of Quebec as Theologian to the Bp. of Toronto, and, the following year, visited Rome for the first time, being received with marked distinction by Pope Pius IX. The health of Dr. Pinsonneault, Bp. of Sandwich, becoming impaired, the hierarchy of the ecclesiastical Province of Quebec unanimously nominated Vicar-General Walsh as future Bp.; the choice in due time being ratified by bulls from the Holy See, the consecration taking place in St. Michael's Cath., Toronto, and being conducted by Mgr. Baillargeon, then Archbp. of Quebec, assisted by Bp. Bourget, of Montreal, and Bp. Lynch, of Toronto. In January, 1868, Bp. Walsh removed the episcopal residence from Sandwich to London, to which city the See was transferred by a decree from the Propaganda, dated Nov. 15, 1869. Here unlimited scope was afforded His Lordship for the exercise of his administrative and executive abilities. A large and pressing debt upon the diocese had to be liquidated, the re-organization of the clergy and missions was urgent, a number of priests had to be provided, in many parishes chs. and presbyteries had to be built or restored and enlarged, the interests of education demanded earnest and immediate attention, and asylums for the orphan and the infirm had to be established. Yet within 3 yrs. the entire debt of the diocese was paid off, and, in 1876, upon paying his official visit as Bp. to Rome, he was able to report 28 new chs. built, many of them splendid and costly structures, and 17 presbyteries for the accommodation of the parochial clergy. An episcopal residence, second to none in the Province, had been constructed and was absolutely free of debt. Three convents had been built, Mount Hope purchased and paid for, and a splendid new orphanage erected on it, in addition to which a handsome new coll. had been built for the Basilian Fathers at Sandwich; 29 priests had been ordained and over 10,000 children confirmed. In May, 1881, the corner-stone of the new cath. in London was laid, and St. Peter's was dedicated, June 28, 1885, by Bp. Walsh in the presence of a number of distinguished prelates. In 1882, when visiting Irel., he took part in the ceremony of the unveiling of the O'Connell monument in Dublin, having previously, in 1864, assisted at the laying of its corner-stone. At the close of the 20th year of his episcopate, Nov., 1887, he again repaired to Rome, and assisted at the Jubilee of Pope Leo XIII. in St. Peter's. While Bp. Walsh was on his return to Can. from this official visit, Archbp. Lynch, of Toronto, laid down in death the crozier which for 28 yrs. he had carried with so much zeal, and, by a brief from Rome, dated Aug. 27, 1889, Bp. Walsh's eventful career as Bp. of London closed, and he was apptd. to the Archbishopric of Toronto, the ceremonies of the installation taking place with great pomp on Nov. 27. To the duties of his new charge he applied himself with the same zeal which had characterized his administration of the London Diocese, with results which are apparent upon all sides, the most conspicuous perhaps being the renovation of St. Michael's Cath., which, in its interior decoration, is now one of the chief ornaments of Toronto, while the constant visitation of the archdioccse and the encouragement of students in greatly increased numbers for the priesthood, testify to the activity of His Grace in those important branches. Archbp. W. has throughout his career given much attention to the affairs of his native country. In a letter addressed to the Hon. Ed. Blake, M.P., he formulated a scheme for the holding of a great convention in Dublin to restore unity in the Irish party. This convention was held in Dublin in 1896, and was attended by His Grace, along with many other Canadians. He received the degree of D.D. from Rome, 1867.—Archbishop's Palace, St. John's Grove, 510 Sherbourne St., Toronto.

WATERS, Robert, author and educationist, was b. in Thurso, Caithness-shire, Scot., May 9, 1835. Accompanying his parents to Montreal, about 1842, he entered the office of the Montreal Gazette, and there learned the art of printing. In 1851 he moved to N. Y., and, subsequently, proceeded to London, Eng., and to Paris, in all of which cities he worked as a compositor. At Paris he turned his attention to teaching. He secured a position as teacher of Eng. and German in Picardy, and was afterwards employed for 4 yrs. as teacher of Eng. in the commercial sch. of Offenbach on the Maine, Hesse-Darmstadt. Returning to N. Y., 1867, he was employed in the Hoboken German Acad., and was apptd. Principal of the West Hoboken Public Sch., 1883. He is now Principal and Supdt. of the West Hoboken Public Schs., being well known in the Am. educational world. Mr. W., in addition to writing a good deal for current Am. periodicals, has published: "Life of Wm. Cobbett" (1883); "Cobbett's Eng. Grammar, with Notes" (1883); "Shakespeare as Portrayed by Himself" (1888); "Intellectual Pursuits, or Culture by Self-help; a series of Essays" (1889); and "Good Talk, or Culture by Conversation" (1890). In Sept., 1893, he contributed his Can. reminiscences to the Montreal Gazette, and wrote for the Twentieth Century: "Conversations with John Swinton," a former Montreal printer, who became ed. of the N. Y. Times. A naturalized Am. citizen, he believes in Am. institutions. He m. 1873, the dau. of Edwin Ferrett, N. Y.—West Hoboken, N. Y.

WATKIN, Sir Edwin William, statesman, is the s. of the late Absalom Watkin, J.P., Manchester, Eng. B. Sept. 26, 1819, he was ed. in Manchester, and was first employed in his father's counting-house (with whom he ultimately became a partner). In 1845 he was apptd. to the secretaryship of the Trent Valley Ry. This led to his joining the London and N.-W. Co., and to his various positions as Genl. Mangr., and afterwards as a dir. and Chairman of the Manchester, Sheffield and Lincolnshire Ry.; as Presdt. of the Grand Trunk Ry. of Can.; as Chairman of the South-Eastern Ry.; and as a dir. of the Great Western and Great Eastern Cos. He was returned to Parlt., for Yarmouth, in 1857, and, subsequently, sat for Stockport and Hythe and Folkstone. Apptd. a J. P. for Cheshire, Lancashire and Kent, he became High Sheriff of Cheshire, 1874. He is also a D. L. of the Tower Hamlets. He was one of the originators, with John Bright, of the Manchester Examiner newspaper, 1845, and his career is otherwise marked with great and beneficial undertakings.

In his old age he is the chief promoter of the proposed tunnel under the channel to connect Eng. and France. He was intimately associated with the movements resulting in the Confederation of the B. N. A. colonies and the construction of the Intercl. Ry., and in acknowledgment of his services in this regard received the honour of knighthood, 1868. Later, 1880, he was created a Bart. Sir E. W. also possesses the Orders of Leopold of Belgium and the Redeemer of Greece. He has written "A Trip to the U. S. and Can." (1851) and "Can. and the U. S.: Recollections 1851 to 1886" (1887). WATKINS, Rev. Benjamin (Ch. of Eng.), educationist, is the s. of the late Wm. Watkins, of Llancayo, Usk, Monmouthshire, Eng., and was b. there. Ed. at Rugby, he was elected an Exhibitioner at that sch., became a scholar of Jesus Coll., Cambridge, 1871, and graduated in classical honours. Ordained by the Bp. of Oxford, at Christ Ch. Cath., Oxford, 1884, he became master at Bradfield Coll., Berks. Coming to Can., 1888, he was Prof. of Classics at Bishop's Coll., Lennoxville, up to Aug., 1895, when he was apptd. to the offices he now fills, Principal and Prof. of Divinity in Huron Coll., and Provost of the Western Univ., London, Ont. He m. 1892, Alexandra Nugent, dau. of Dr. Alex. Johnson, Vice-Principal of McGill Univ.—Huron College, London, Ont.

WATSON, Harrison, Imperial Institute, is the s. of Chas. S. Watson, who was connected for many yrs. with the Montreal Rolling Mills Co., and was at one time a dir. of the Bank of Montreal, by his wife, Ellen Rebecca Underwood. B. in Montreal, June 13, 1864, he was ed. in his native city, and in Eng., Germany and France, and is well known for his linguistic qualities. Engaged in commercial pursuits for some yrs., he was also, during a portion of the time, Secy. of the Montreal Rolling Mills Co. On the opening of the Imp. Inst., London, Eng., he was selected by the Bd. of Can. representatives, under the presidency of Sir Charles Tupper, for the office of Curator of the Can. Dept., the duties of which he has since discharged. He has had some journalistic and literary experience, and has acted for some time as Can. correspondent for a London weekly. Politically, a Con., he advocates the development of Imp. and Intercl. trade. He m. Dec., 1890, Ruth Appleton, only dau. of the late Wm. W. Blake.—Junior Athenæum Club, London, Eng.; St. James's Club, Montreal.

WATSON, Homer, R.C.A., was b. at Doon, Ont., 1856. He commenced to study landscape painting, 1877, and studies from nature. One of his earliest efforts, "The Pioneer Mill," appeared at the 1st exhn. of the Royal Can. Acad., and was purchased by the Marquis of Lorne, who also purchased 2 of his subsequent works: "April Day" and "The Last of the Drouth." In trees, clouds and colour masses in landscape, Mr. W. is thoroughly at home. In 1889, and again recently, he exhibited at the Royal Acad. and at the New Gallery, Regent St., London. He took a prize at the Montreal Art Assn. Exhn., 1894. He appears at his best in his "Village under the Hill," exhibited in Toronto, 1894, and the "Wayside Inn," exhibited at the Royal Can. Acad. Exhn., Montreal, 1896. Of the former picture Prof. Mavor has said that it is not by any means too much to say that it might worthily find a place by the side of the work of the greater French or Dutch landscapists. A picture of his exhibited at the New Gallery, 1895, was pronounced an artistic production of the highest class. He was elected an associate of the Royal Can. Acad., on the organization of that body, 1880, and later, became an academician. He is now a mem. of its Council.—Doon, Ont.

WATSON, James Robert, railway service, was b. in Montreal, Nov., 1843, and in early life was a stock and exchange broker in his native city. He entered the ry. service, Jan., 1870, in the office of the Central Vermont Ry., St. Alban's, and became afterwards successively Supdt. of the Vt. Iron and Car Co.; Commercial Agent, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Ry.; Genl. Agent same road, Chicago; New Eng. Passenger Agent, Can. Southern Ry.; and, in Feb., 1883, Genl. Passenger Agent, Fitchburg Ry. In 1897 his name was mentioned in connection with the presidency of the last-named road.—Boston, Mass.

WATSON, John, educationist, was b. in Glasgow, Scot., Feb. 25, 1847. His maternal ancestors were of Northumberland stock; his paternal ancestors were farmers in Lanarkshire. Ed. first at Kilmarnock, he entered Glasgow Univ., 1866. He took first prizes in the classes of Logic and Rhetoric, Moral Phil., Eng. Lit. and Junior Divinity, and graduated with the degree of M.A., taking 1st class honours in Mental and Moral Phil. and in Eng. Lit., 1872. In the same year he was apptd. to the chair of Logic, Metaph. and Ethics in Queen's Univ., Kingston. He is still connected with the same institution, but is now Prof. of Moral Phil., the chair having been divided. It is, however, in the literary field that he has most distinguished himself. In addition to papers on philosophical and other subjects, contributed to the Jour. of Specul. Phil., the Phil. Review, the Can. Monthly, and the Queen's Quarterly, he has published in book-form: "Kant and his Eng. Critics: a Comparison of Critical and Empirical Phil." (1881); "Schelling's Transcendental Idealism: a Critical Exposition" (1882); "Comte, Mill and Spencer: an Outline of Phil." (1895); "Hedonistic Theories: From Aristippus to Spencer" (1895); and "Christianity and Idealism: The Christian Ideal of Life in its Relation to the Greek and Jewish Ideals and to Modern Phil." (1896). Of the first-named work the Saturday Review said it was decidedly the best exposition of Kant which it had seen in English. His other works have but added to his reputation as a deep and original thinker, the general opinion being that both they and his lectures at the Univ. are models of philosophic discussion and historic interpretation. Prof. Clark, of Trinity Coll., Toronto, says that Prof. W. is by universal consent the foremost man in phil. on this side of the Atlantic, whilst Presdt. Schurman, of Cornell Univ., does not hesitate to pronounce him one of the best philosophical teachers and writers in the whole Eng.-speaking world. On the formation of the Royal Soc. of Can., by the Marquis of Lorne, 1881, Prof. W. was chosen one of the original Fellows of that body. He received the degree of LL.D. from Glasgow Univ., 1880. He is a mem. of the Presb. Ch., and m. 1874, Miss Margt. Patterson Mitchell, Glasgow, Scot.—Kingston, Ont.

WATSON, Hon. Robert, legislator, is the s. of the late Geo. Watson, of Edinburgh, Scot., who came to Can., 1847, taking up his residence at Elora, Ont., by his wife, Elizabeth McDonald. B. at Elora, Apl. 29, 1853, he was ed. at the local schs., and became a millwright. Moving to Man., 1876, he built a mill at Portage la Prairie and another at Stonewall. In 1886 he entered into partnership with his bro., establishing the firm of R. & J. Watson, machine shop and planing mills, Portage la Prairie. He is also Presdt. of the Central Electric Co. After serving in the Municipal Council for 2 yrs., he was returned for Marquette to the Ho. of Commons at the g. e. 1882, and continued to hold the seat, latterly as a Lib., up to his appt. as Mr. of Public Works in Mr. Greenway's Provl. Admn., May 26, 1892. He served as a del. to Ottawa on the Man. Sch. question, 1896. Mr. W. is a mem. of the Masonic body. In religious belief, he is a Presb. He m. WATSON, Walter W., bank manager, was b. in Edinburgh, and is the s. of a prominent official of the Bank of Scot. Ed. in his native city, he acquired his business experience under his father. He came to Can. in the early fifties as Secy. to Thos. Paton, Genl. Mangr. of the Bank of B. N. A., and became sub-Mangr. of that institution in Montreal, 1857. In 1859 he was apptd. Mangr. at London, Ont., remaining there till 1865, and was then chosen one of the agents of the bank at N. Y. He subsequently entered the service of the Bank of Montreal, and, in 1876, was sent to N. Y. as one of its agents with the late Mr. Smithers. This position he still fills. He is a dir. of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Ry., and, in 1894, was one of the chief promoters of the West Seattle Corporation. An Ang. in religion, he m. Louisa, eld. dau. of the late Hon. WATSON, William Franklin, educationist, was b. in Carleton Co., N. B., May 11, 1861, and was ed. at Colby Univ. and at the Univ. of Penn. In 1887 he became Prof. of Chemistry and Physics in Furman Univ., Greenville, S.C., where he still is. In 1891 he was apptd. by the State Govt., a representative from S. C. to the National Educatl. Assn. of the U. S. He frequently lectures on scientific subjects, and is the author of "The Children of the Sun and Miscellaneous Poems. By Wat" (1886). He belongs to the Bapt. Ch., is a Lib. in politics, and m. June, 1889, Miss Clara Norwood, Charleston, S.C.—Greenville, S.C., U.S.

WATT, David A. P., merchant, was b. in Ayrshire, of seafaring stock, 1830. Ed. in the Grammar schs., Greenock, he came to Montreal, 1846, under indenture to his uncle, the late Jas. R. Orr, at that time an extensive shipping and exporting merchant, in which business he has continued ever since. Shortly after coming of age he joined the Bd. of Trade. Later, he was one of the organizers of the Corn Exchange, and he continues an active and conspicuous mem. of both those bodies at the present time. He organized from among his fellow-mems., a Free Navigation League, the purpose of which was to free the St. Lawrence route, between the great lakes and the ocean, from all governmental dues and tolls on craft and cargoes alike. The League was the means of procuring, in 1860, with the active aid of Sir A. T. Galt, then Mr. of Finance, the remission of canal tolls, which were, however, reimposed at a later date. In 1888 he took an active part in the agitation which resulted in transferring the burden of the Lake St. Peter ship channel from Montreal harbour to the Dom., thereby making the city a free port for ships, at the close of which his fellow-merchants presented him with an address and a cup containing 500 sovereigns. He is still pursuing these free navigation schemes. Mr. W. takes his recreation in both science and art. He is an old-time life-mem. of the Natural Hist. Soc., and was for a while ed. of its journal, the Can. Naturalist. His specialties are fish and plants, and he is considered an authority on ferns. He was one of the active promoters of the Montreal meeting of the Brit. Assn., 1884, at the close of which his fellow-committeemen presented him with a testimonial, in recognition of his work. He was one of the organizers of the Art Assn., 1860; has been an active and continuous worker in council and on comtes., and, in 1895, the Assn. paid him the compliment of electing him a life-gov., "in recognition of his signal services to the Assn." He was also one of the founders of the Good Govt. Assn. He has contributed to the press numerous papers on subjects connected with science, art and education. Respecting the latter he is a co-educationist, and advocates the opening up of all univ. and other educational privileges to women and men alike. He is much interested in philanthropic institutions and work, more particularly in hospitals, but the procuring of more effective protection, especially legislative protection, for women and girls he regards as one of his particular duties, and on this matter his writings are voluminous. He is grateful for the recent enactments promoted by the late Sir John Thompson, but continues pushing and working for more. In politics, he is a somewhat advanced Radical, believing in universal adult suffrage, irrespective of sex, with an educational and residential qualification. In religious belief, a Presb., he m. 1857, Miss Frances Macintosh (she d. 1876).—285 Stanley St., Montreal.

WATTS, John W. H., R.C.A., is a native of Teignmouth, Devon, Eng. Ed. in London, he was afterwards articled to a firm of architects, and for some yrs. practised his profession in Eng. Coming to Can., 1863, he subsequently entered the public service as a designer. His productions have frequently appeared in the Am. Architect and other illustrated papers. On the formation of the Royal Can. Acad. of Art, 1880, he was apptd. an associate of that body by the Marquis of Lorne, and he is now an academician. He retired from the public service, 1897. —Janeville, Ottawa.

WAY, Charles Jones, R.C.A., was b. at Dartmouth, Eng., and began his art education in the Govt. Schs. of Art, South Kensington. Coming to this country, he began painting Can. scenery, chiefly in water-colours, 1859. Selections from his studies were published in book-form by Notman, Montreal, 1863-64. He was for some yrs. during his stay in Can., Presdt. of the Soc. of Can. Artists, and was apptd. a mem. of the Royal Can. Acad. of Art, on its foundation by the Marquis of Lorne, 1880. He is now an hon. mem. of the Soc. des Peintres et Sculpteurs, Suisses, and exhibits both at Lausanne and Paris. He m. 1869, Miss Mary Ker Thomson, Montreal.—*Care Messrs. Ch. WEATHERBE, Hon. Robert Linton, judge and jurist, is descended from the same Yorkshire family that produced the "Weatherbys" of London, who founded the "Stud Book" and established the "Racing Calendar," and who, for more than a hundred yrs., have done so much in furnishing Eng. with the finest horses in the world. He is the s. of the late Jonathan Weatherbe, merchant and ship-owner, by Mary, dau. of John Baker, the descendant of a Quaker family. B. at Bedeque, P.E.I., Apl. 7, 1836, he was ed. for a time at the Prince of Wales Coll., after which he entered Acadia Coll., Wolfville (B. A., 1858; M. A., 1861; hon. D.C.L., 1883). He studied law with the late Hon. J. W. Johnston (afterwards Judge in Equity, N. S.), and in early life supported himself as ed. of the Acadian Recorder, the oldest journal in the Province. He was also a constant contributor to other journals, Am. and Eng. He was called to the bar, N. S., 1863, and, in 1864, published a pamphlet: "Dawn of a New Empire," in favour of colonial union, but joined the Hon. Joseph Howe in opposing what was then styled the imposition of the Quebec scheme in defiance of the popular will, and became Secy. of the "Anti-Confederation League," of which Howe was Presdt. He made his mark at once as a writer and speaker, and afterwards became one of the most successful advocates of a brilliant bar, and won the largest verdicts ever recorded in the Province. According to the testimony of the present Chief-Justice McDonald, he was invincible as a cross-examr., and his powers of persuasion amounted to magnetism with a jury. He was a prominent factor of the Lib. party in the heated contest arising out of the "Pacific Scandal," which swept Sir John Macdonald from power, and shortly afterwards he became agent for the Mr. of Justice at Halifax. He was selected by Hon. E. Blake as one of the counsel to represent H.B.M.'s Govt., on behalf of Can., before the Fisheries Comn., which sat for 6 mths. at Halifax, in 1877, and resulted in an award of 5½ million dollars for the Dom. The Canadians were confronted by distinguished American counsel, and the success reflects credit on Mr. W. and his associates, though he himself persists that the result was due to the majority of a tribunal of 3 laymen who had their own ideas of what was the proper thing to be done without giving reasons. He predicted during the proceedings that all future internl. tribunals touching Can. would be composed of eminent jurists. He thinks the failure to furnish a "considered" award has robbed the victory of all value, and is proving an unmixed evil. After an exceptionally successful career at the bar, Mr. W. was apptd. a Judge of the Supreme Ct. of N. S., Oct. 7, 1878, being at that period the youngest judge who had hitherto taken a seat on the local bench. He had been made a Q. C., by the Provl. Govt., 1876. "As a judge," writes Mr. B. Russell, Q.C., M.P., "Mr. W. brought to the Supreme Ct. the searchlight of the powerful and highly trained intellect which had won him such signal triumphs at the bar. He was frequently obliged to deliver dissenting opinions, and on one occasion when several of such opinions had followed one another, he humorously reminded the Court that his commission named him as the successor to Mr. Justice Wilkins—who was also frequently a dissenting judge. The truth is that Judge W. never took anything for granted, and never considered an argument at an end until every possible phase of the question had been threshed out. It was this taste for dialectics and this determination to get to the bottom of every question presented for consideration, that made him so valuable an accession to the bench. Points that had escaped the attention of astute counsel on both sides, and of the majority of the Court as well, would often be brought to light by the tireless activity of his luminous and powerful intellect—sometimes in a dissenting opinion to be adopted on appeal, oftener in the course of the argument, as a controlling and determining factor in the judgment. It is safe to say that a more powerful and active intellect never adorned the bench of N. S." He is the author of a characteristic and incisive paper on the Maine boundary disputes and the Ashburton Treaty, a subject on which he predicts the last word has not been said. This was read before the N. S. Hist. Soc., of which he became the Presdt. on the death of Sir Adams Archibald. Besides many other contributions to the press of a literary and hist. character, he was selected as a representative of the Can. bench, in conjunction with Mr. Justice Miller of the Supreme Ct. of the U. S., and Cooley, the well-known constitutional writer, to contribute to the Am. Law Rev. an article on "Codification of the Law," in which he fearlessly but modestly opposed the views of David Dudley Field in a manner which elicited the approbation of the keen analytical mind of a famous jurisconsult. Among other subjects, the versatile pen of His Lordship has been (after a practical experience and exhaustive study of the subject and correspondence with the eminent Draining Engr., Waring) devoted to the subject of the drainage of land. To the astonishment even of expert electricians, in defending an attack upon a modest article he produced upon the subject of deep ocean cables, he was led into a controversy with the ed. of the London Electrician, which lasted for several mths., supporting hempen in opposition to iron cables, in trenchant letters which attracted the favourable notice of electrical journals in Europe and Am., by one of whose editors he was mistaken for the "Supdt. of Cables for Halifax." The Judge has not only written upon apple-growing, but he is in the habit of asserting that he knows much from experience which he has never had time to write, having, in the leisure hours borrowed from an official life, superintended the planting in the far-famed valley of Gaspereaux the largest apple orchards in the Province—over 8000 trees in all. With what he boasts of as instinct amounting to a passion for the picturesque in nature, he is constructing winding roads through the undulating slopes and along the terraces on the charming banks of the river, converting what his friends claim to be a profitable investment into an inimitable park. "Nomenclature" is one of the hobbies which the tireless Judge confesses he would, if time permitted, ride with whip and spur. His Clydesdale pair of draught horses, for example, respond to the names, "Grit" and "Tory." "Now," he soberly argues, "by this humorous application of familiar terms I offer a perpetual object lesson that Grit and Tory may pull together; and thus, throughout an area of 20 miles, I soften the asperities of politics in my neighbourhood, and a removal for 'obnoxious partisanship' is out of the question there. These amiable brutes would put the whole Ho. of Commons to the blush." In religious belief, the Judge is a mem. of the Ch. of Eng. He m. 1864, Minnie, young. dau. of Lewis Johnston, of "Annadale," N.S., formerly of Jamaica, a descendant of the Scottish Annadale Johnstons. WEAVER, Miss Emily P., author, was b. near Manchester, Eng., and received her education at a private sch. At 15 she came to Can. with her parents, and lived with them on a farm in the Co. Oxford. Her historical story: "My Lady Nell," was one of a prize-list published by the Cong. Soc. of Boston. Afterward the same Soc. brought out 3 other tales from her pen: "The Rabbi's Sons," "Prince Rupert's Namesake," and "The Rainproof Invention." Three of these books have likewise appeared in Eng. In 1893 Miss W. entered in the Dom. history competition, and was awarded one of 3 prizes of $200 given to the competitors whose histories were considered next in merit to that chosen for use in the public schs.—32 Earl St., Toronto.

WEBB, Ephraim Elliott, bank manager, is the s. of the late Christopher Columbus Webb, by his wife, Mary Chamberlin. B. in the Tp. of Hull, P.Q., July 5, 1853, he was ed. at the Ottawa Coll. Inst. He entered the service of the Union Bank of L. C., at Ottawa, in the early seventies, and was accountant there for some yrs. Transferred to the head office, Quebec, he was chosen to succeed P. McEwen as cashier of the bank, on the latter's retirement, 1885. WEBSTER, John Clarence, M.D., is the s. of Jas. Webster, manufacturer, and was b. at Shediac, N.B., 1863. Ed. at Mount Allison Univ., N.B. (B.A., 1882), he pursued his med. studies in the Univ. of Edinburgh, graduating with honours as Bach. of Med. and Master of Surgery, 1888. He obtained the degree of M.D., 1891, and, in 1892, became a mem., and, in 1893, was elected a Fellow of the Royal Coll. of Phys. of Edinburgh. He had previously studied in the Pathol. Inst. at Leipzig, at the same time working with Dr. Sanger in his hospital for diseases of women, and in the Maternity Hospital. In 1886 he was apptd. a Demonstrator in Anat., under Dr. Symington, and also in Practical Path., under Prof. Greenfield. In the winter of 1886-87 he held the same position in the class of General Path. After graduation he spent the following winter in Berlin, studying Midwifery and Gynæcol., under Profs. Gusserow and Martin. Besides doing regular clinical work in their hospitals, he took out special practical and operative courses, and by special favour was allowed to work with their assistants in their large out-patient depts. He also attended the operations of Prof. Olshausen. During several vacations he visited leading obstet. schs. in various other continental cities, in Gt. Brit. and Irel., and in Am. In Apl., 1889, Dr. W. became Asst. to Dr. Freeland Barbour, Lecturer on Midwifery and Diseases of Women, in the Edinburgh Sch. of Med., remaining in this position for a year and a half. During this period he had charge of a very large obstet. and gynæcol. practice in connection with the Canongate and Cowgate Dispensaries, assisted Dr. Barbour in his private and hospital operative work, and conducted a tutorial class and an out-patient clinic for the students attending his lectures. In 1890 he was apptd. 1st Asst. in the Midwifery Dept. of the Univ. of Edinburgh, as well as private Asst. to Prof. A. R. Simpson. In these capacities he assisted the Prof. in his private practice and in his hospital work. He also had charge of his private out-patient clinic for diseases of women. In the univ. he carried on a regular tutorial class, and organized special naked-eye and microscopic demonstrations, illustrative of the anatomy and path. of midwifery and gynæcol. He also delivered lectures to the Prof.'s students and to his class of nurses in his absence. Subsequently, he performed the duties of House Physician in the gynæcol. wards of the Royal Infirmary. During 5 yrs. he assisted Dr. Berry Hart in his operative work in Midwifery and Gynæcol. From Apl., 1889 till his departure from Edinburgh, 1897, he carried on continuous original investigations in obstet. and gynæcol. in the Research Laboratory of the Royal Coll. of Phys., the results of his work having been published in books and papers from time to time. During his univ. course, and since graduation, Dr. W. has gained the following prizes, scholarships and honours: 1883, 2nd medal in Botany (Univ.); 1884, 2nd medal in Anat. (Univ.); 1884, 1st medal in Practical Zool. (Univ.); 1884, Vans Dunlop scholar., having obtained the highest marks in Botany, Zool., Chemistry and Anat. from the commencement of his course (Univ.); 1885, 2nd medal in Practical Materia Med. WEDDERBURN, His Honour William, Co. Ct. Judge, is the s. of the late Alex. Wedderburn, a native of Aberdeen, Scot., by his wife, Jane Heaviside, of London, Eng. B. in St. John, N.B., Oct. 12, 1834, he was ed. in the St. John Grammar Sch., and was called to the bar, 1858. He practised in St. John, was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Dufferin, 1873, and was apptd., the same year, a Comnr. for the Consolidation of the Provl. Statutes. Returned to the Legislature, 1870, he became Speaker of the Assembly, Feb., 1876, and, in 1878, accepted office as Provl. Secy. He was for some yrs. Grand Master of the Freemasons of N. B., and is now Supreme Counsellor of the Ind. Order of Foresters. He was apptd. Judge of the Co. Ct. for King's and Albert, N.B., June 28, 1882. He m. Apl., 1858, Jennie, dau. of C. C. WEEKS, Rev. William Wellesley (Bapt.), was b. in Cape Breton, Jan. 31, 1856. He was trained for editorial work, but gave up that occupation for the ministry. After his admission thereto, 1886, he became pastor of the 1st Bapt. Ch., Brockville, Ont., and was subsequently pastor of the 1st Ch., Moncton, N.B., where he laboured with remarkable success. In Nov., 1895, out of several calls then made to him, he accepted that from the cong. of Walmer Road Ch., Toronto, where he still is. This ch. has a larger seating capacity than any other Bapt. ch. in Can. Mr. W. is spoken of as "one of the most eloquent preachers in the Bapt. denomination. He is of fine presence, and a magnetic and powerful speaker." He appeared to great advantage at the great convention of Bapt. Young People's Unions at Chattanooga, 1897. He is credited also with being a man of much originality of thought and opinion. While at Moncton he denounced the "P. P. A." from the pulpit, on the ground that no Prot. should support an organization that would not support a man for office because he was a Catholic. Mr. W.'s sermons are published in pamphlet form and are widely read. Politically, he is in sympathy with the Lib. party. — 708 Spadina Ave., Toronto.

WEIR, Arthur, poet, is the young. s. of Wm. Weir (q.v.). B. in Montreal, June 17, 1864, he was ed. at the High Sch. in that city, and graduated into McGill Univ., 1882, with the degree of Associate in Arts. He entered for the degree of B. Ap. Sc. in the dept. of practical chemistry, and, after taking many prizes, including the Gov.-Genl.'s medal, received his degree in the advanced course, 1886. While at the univ. he was ed.-in-chief of the Univ. Gazette. Devoting himself to journalism, he was for some yrs. on the ed. staff of the Montreal Star, and, later, was with the Journal of Commerce. His articles on financial and commercial topics, at that time and since, have given him an assured reputation as a writer on such subjects. In 1894 he commenced the publication of the Stockbrokers' and Investors' Annual. At present (1898) he is preparing for publication a volume on "The Commercial Development of Can." He is Secy. of La Banque Ville Marie. Mr. W.'s first attempts in verse were made when a boy for the amusement of his sch.-mates. His first volume: "Fleur de Lys," appeared in 1887, and gave him at once a position as a poet. Prof. Roberts spoke of him as "among our very strongest sonneteers." His second volume: "The Romance of Sir Richard, Sonnets and other Poems" (1890), confirmed the good impression previously made, and established his right to be included among Am. poets. His third volume: "The Snowflake, and other Poems," appeared in 1896. Some of his sonnets have been widely copied, and may be found in such anthologies as "The Lovers' Year-Book," "The Younger Am. Poets," "Modern Scottish Poets," and in "Songs of the Great Dom." He is a mem. of the Haliburton Soc. of N. S., a life-mem. of the Hobby Club, Detroit, and an hon. mem. of the Soc. of Can. Lit. In 1895 he was selected to read the inaugural poem at the unveiling of the national monument to Sir John Macdonald at Ottawa. He also wrote the inaugural poem for the unveiling of the monument to Maisonneuve, dedicated on the same day. In religion, an Ang., he m. 1890, Louise, dau. of the late Robt. WEIR, Robert Stanley, barrister, is the bro. of W. A. Weir (q.v.). B. in Hamilton, Ont., he was ed. at McGill Normal Sch., Montreal, and graduated B.C.L. at McGill Univ., 1880; D.C.L., in course, 1897. Called to the bar, 1881, he practised for some time in partnership with D. McMaster, Q.C., but of late has carried on business singly. He has paid special attention to municipal law and all matters pertaining thereto, and has written much on these subjects. Among his other publications are two hand-books, one on legal exchange, and the other on the insolvency law, and "The Administration of the Old Régime in Can." (1897), the latter being his thesis for the D.C.L. degree. In 1897 Dr. W. was apptd. Prof. of Ch. Law and of Ch. Music in the Cong. Coll., Montreal, and, in the same year, was apptd. by the City Council one of the counsel to frame a new charter for Montreal. —94 St. Famille St., Montreal.

WEIR, William, banker, was b. at Greenden, near Brechin, Scot., Oct. 28, 1823. Coming to Can., 1842, he served for 2 yrs. as a public sch. teacher. After taking a course in French at the Coll. at Ste. Thérèse, P.Q., he commenced business as an exchange broker in Montreal, laying the foundation of the afterwards well-known firm of W. Weir & Sons. He resided in Toronto, 1856-59, and published for some yrs. the Can. Merchants' Mag. Both in this periodical and in the daily press, he wrote many valuable articles on financial and commercial subjects. He was an early advocate of the principle of protection to native industries. At his suggestion, and largely through his exertions, a convention of manufacturers was called in Toronto, 1858, which resulted in the formation of the "Assn. for the Promotion of Can. Industry." Of this body he was for some time the Secy. In 1870 his name came prominently before the public in connection with the abatement of the "Am. Silver Nuisance," his services on the occasion being afterwards acknowledged by the presentation to him, on behalf of the people of Can., of a solid silver service. In 1879 he organized the movement which resulted in changing the policy of the Jacques Cartier Bank. He became V.-P. of that institution, resigning the same, 1882, to take the presidency of La Banque Ville Marie, which institution he has placed in a sound financial condition. In 1893 Mr. W. addressed a letter through the public press to the Presdt. and mems. of Congress of the U. S., in which he very ably discussed the financial situation in that country, and suggested the adoption of certain remedial measures. Mr. W. was one of the pioneers of Westmount, the leading suburb of Montreal, where he holds considerable property. It is to his efforts that this thriving town owes "Western Avenue," he having contributed largely both in land and money to secure this the principal entrance to Montreal from that quarter. He is Presdt. of the Côte St. Antoine Road Co. A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. 1849, Elizabeth, young. dau. of the late John Somerville, Chatham, P.Q. (she d. WEIR, William Alexander, barrister and legislator, was b. of Scotch parentage, in Montreal, Oct. 15, 1858. Ed. at the High Sch. there, he graduated B.C.L., at McGill Univ., 1881, and was called to the bar the same year. He has practised throughout at the Montreal bar. For a short period he was leading editorial writer on the Montreal Star. Later, he prepared, together with Mr. Justice Jette and the late M. Lorrain, a report reviewing the judicial system of Quebec. In 1890 he published a revised edition of the Civil Code, the Code of Civil Procedure and the Municipal Code of the Province of Quebec. He was for 2 yrs. reviser of private legislation in Quebec. He has lectured on the "Political Position of the Eng. in Quebec," on "Can. Literature," etc. He has always been a strong supporter of the Lib. party, and is widely known in the Province of Quebec as a public speaker in support of Lib. principles. In 1890 he ran unsuccessfully for Argenteuil for the Legislature. At the g. e. 1897, he was again a candidate there, in that interest, and was returned by a majority of 127. WELCH, Rev. Edward Ashurst (Ch. of Eng.), educationist, is the s. of the Rev. Andrew Welch, Rector of Woodchurch, Kent, Eng., and was b. at Orpington in that co., Aug. 22, 1860. Ed. at King's Coll. Sch., London, he left as head of the sch., 1879, having gained the Forest and the Inglis scholarships and the Jelf medal. He proceeded to Cambridge the same year, and gained the Price Exhn. at King's Coll. After a few mths. he was successful in obtaining an open classical scholar. and the Bell Univ. scholar. He took his B.A. degree, 1882 (1st class Classical Tripos), and 2 yrs. later was placed in the 2nd class of the Theol. Tripos. He was for some mths. in the Leeds Clergy Sch., and was ordained Deacon by Bp.

Jackson, 1884. Mr. W. was curate of St. Paul's, Haggerston, 1884-86. He proceeded to his M.A. degree in the latter year, when he received the appt. of Domestic Chaplain to Dr. Lightfoot, Bp. of Durham. Here he had charge of students preparing for holy orders under the Bp. Upon the death of Bp. Lightfoot, he received from the Crown the living of the Venerable Bede's Ch., at Gateshead, and remained there until his appt., Apl., 1895, as Provost and Vice-Chancellor of the Univ. of Trinity Coll., Toronto. While at Gateshead he was elected a mem. of the Sch. Bd. He was duly installed as Vice-Chancellor of Trinity Univ., Nov. 13, 1895, receiving at the same time from the univ., the hon. degree of D.C.L. In his address on the occasion, the new Provost declared that he regarded Trinity Univ. as representing the whole Ch., and not as in any way being the apologist or advocate for any one sec. within it. In June, 1895, he was apptd. by the Synod of Toronto Diocese, a mem. of the Comte. on Religious Instruction in the public schs. of Ont. In 1896 he was apptd. Chancellor of St. Alban's Cath., Toronto. He takes the title of Comptroller of the N.-W. Mounted Police, and, in July, 1883, was accorded the rank and status of a deputy head in the C. S. In his official capacity Mr. W. has become widely and favourably known. Perhaps no other man in the public service has had a more extended experience of N.-W. affairs, and there is no one certainly who has done so much, in the line of his duty and otherwise, to foster and promote the best interests of the Territories. The force under his immediate charge has grown from a small body of men to an effective strength of 1000 men, and has earned a high reputation for activity, discipline and good conduct. "I saw this force," writes a well-known German traveller, "when first organized. It became the terror of all smugglers and adventurers. Later, I met the Mounted Police when they had arrested the Sioux who annihilated Genl. Custer's cavalry. When the Can. half-breeds rebelled under Louis Riel, the Mounted Police were again to the fore. It is truly a corps d'elite. Wherever these intrepid horsemen show themselves smugglers and Indians vanish. They travel with the most astonishing celerity from one part of the Dom. to another. . . . They are organized like the Irish constabulary, and are such picked men that they would know how to command respect even without carbine, sword and revolver." In addition to his other duties, Mr. W. served as Private Secy. to Sir John A. Macdonald, when Prime Minister, 1880-82. He was for some yrs. a capt. in the Gov.-Genl.'s Foot Guards. WHITE, Hon. Peter, statesman, is the s. of the late Lt.-Col. Peter White, a native of Edinburgh, Scot., who founded the town of Pembroke, Ont., 1828, and was for many yrs. one of the principal lumber merchants of the Ottawa valley, by his wife, Cecilia, dau. of John Thompson, Nepean, Ont. B. at Pembroke, Aug. 30, 1838, he was ed. at the local schs., and received his business training in a mercantile house in Ottawa. Later, in partnership with his bro., A. T. White, he embarked in the lumber trade, in which he is still engaged. He was for some yrs. Reeve of the Tp. and town of Pembroke, and while occupying that position, aided in the promotion of the Kingston and Pembroke Ry. Mr. W. was first returned to Parlt., for North Renfrew, at the g. e. 1874, but was unscated in the same year. An unsuccessful candidate at the ensuing by-election, he was again elected, in Jan., 1876, and sat as one of Sir John Macdonald's "Old Guard" until the close of the 3rd Parlt. He was re-elected at the g. e. 1878, and at each succeeding g. e. up to that of 1896, when he suffered defeat (Vote: Thos. Mackie, L., 1900; Hon. P. White, C., 1837). He was Chairman for some yrs. of the Standing Comte. of the Ho. of Commons on Agricul. and Immigration, and held the office of Speaker during the 7th Parlt., 1891-96. At the g. e. 1896, he expressed his opposition to the policy of the Govt. on the Man. Sch. question, being "fully convinced that no legislation of the Dom. Parlt. on a question so essentially provincial as education could be effectively enforced on an unwilling people, and because, also, the adoption of such legislation would bring about a conflict with Man. and become a fruitful source of irritation." He was Presdt. of the Pembroke Water-works Co. during the construction of the water-works there, and at present is a dir. of the Excelsior Life Ins. Co. and of the Pembroke Lumber Co., and Presdt. of the Crystal Gold Mining Co. He was apptd. a mem. of the Advisory Bd. of the Lib.-Con. WHITE, Richard, publisher, is of mingled Irish and Scotch origin, and was b. in Montreal, May 14, 1834. Ed. at the High Sch. in his native city, he went west, 1850, and for 5 yrs. was engaged in the lumber business, having the management of 2 extensive concerns, both winter and summer. In 1855 he joined his bro., the late Hon. Thos. White, who had established the Peterboro' Review 2 yrs. previously, and became business mangr. of the establishment. In July, 1864, Messrs. T. and R. White purchased the Hamilton Spectator, the leading organ of the Con. party west of Toronto, and, proceeding to that city, carried on a general publishing business in connection with the paper, one of their publications being the Craftsman, which was founded by them. Coming into possession of the Montreal Gazette, they removed thither, July, 1870. On the election of Mr. Thos. White to the Federal Parlt., 1878, the firm of T. & R. White was dissolved and "The Gazette Printing Co." organized. Mr. R. White was elected Presdt. and Mang. Dir. of the co., and has continued to fill these positions ever since. From the above it will be seen that he has been closely connected with Can. journalism for a period of over 40 yrs. In addition to the arduous duties devolving upon the management of such an extensive business as the Gazette Printing Co., he has been a most active mem. of society, and has filled a number of important offices. In 1885 he was elected to the Bd. of Health, which was organized by the citizens to assist the authorities in stamping out the small-pox epidemic, from which Montreal was suffering so frightfully, and was one of the most efficient mems. of the comte., doing a large amount of good. In recognition of this service he was elected to the City Council the following spring for the West Ward, which he represented for 3 yrs. Later, he was apptd. a Harbour Comnr., and in that capacity did good service in pushing on the harbour improvements, which were so much needed for the largely increased shipping trade of the port. In addition to his official connection with the Gazette Printing Co., Mr. W. is Presdt. of the Sabiston Litho. and Pub. Co., Montreal and Toronto; Presdt. of the Montreal Turnpike Trust Co.; Presdt. of the Montreal Cemetery Co.; Dir. of the Montreal Water and Power Co. and of the Consumers' Gas Co.; is on the Comte. of Management of the Montreal Genl. Hospital; hon. Secy. of the Ang. Diocesan Synod; a dir. of the Sailors' Home; a gov. of the Robt. Jones' Convalescent Home; a trustee of Lennoxville Univ., and an active mem. of a large number of kindred institutions. He is a J. P. for the city and Dist. of Montreal, and a trustee, under the

Ins. Act of Can., for the N. Y. Life Ins. Co. He has been a mem. of the Montreal Bd. of Trade since 1887, and has served as V.-P. of the Council of that body. WHITE, Robert Smeaton, Dom. public service, is the eld. s. of the late Hon. Thos. White, Mr. of the Interior, under Sir John Macdonald, 1885-88, by his wife, Miss Vine, of Quebec. B. at Peterboro', Ont., Mch. 15, 1856, he was ed. at the Hamilton Grammar Sch. and at McGill Univ. After serving in the Bank of Montreal, he joined the staff of the Montreal Gazette, under his father, and, subsequently, gained a high reputation as chief ed. of that paper. He was for some yrs. Presdt. of the Junior Con. Club of Montreal, and was Presdt. of the Press Gallery, Ho. of Commons, Ottawa, 1884-85. He succeeded his father, in the representation of Cardwell, in the Ho. of Commons, Oct. 3, 1888, and continued to hold the seat up to his resignation of the same, Oct., 1895. He moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, 1889. He was apptd. WHITE, William John, barrister, is the s. of Richard White, publisher (q.v.), and was b. at Peterboro', Ont., Jan. 29, 1861. Ed. at the High Sch. and at McGill Univ., Montreal (B.A., 1881; M.A., 1885), he likewise graduated B.C.L. at that institution, 1882. Called to the bar, 1883, he has since practised his profession in Montreal, and is now head of the firm of White, O'Halloran & Buchanan. After his admission he went to Paris, where he followed lectures at the Sorbonne, though not entered as a student. In 1885 Mr. W., with John Reade (q.v.), J. P. Edwards, the late John Lesperance, and some others, formed the Soc. of Historical Studies, of which he was for some time Presdt. He had already been elected a corr. mem. of the Soc. des Etudes Hist., of Paris, which suggested the name. In Jan., 1889, he began the publication of Canadiana, a collection of notes on Can. hist., published monthly, and although it lasted only 2 yrs., it met with wide favour not only in Can. but in the U. S., and complete sets are now in great request among collectors. In 1892 he was one of a small number of students of Can. popular traditions, including H. Beaugrand (q.v.), Prof. Penhallow (q.v.), L. H. Frechette (q.v.), John Reade (q.v.), and L. Huot, who started the Montreal branch of the Am. Folk-lore Soc., of which he was elected Presdt., Jan., 1895. The Soc. has since been in active operation, and numbers some 60 mems. Mr. W. was also interested in the foundation of the Soc. of Can. C., holding the office until the suspension of the constitution, 10 yrs. later, when he was named to a similar position in the office of the Special Council. In 1841, at the beginning of the first session of Parlt. after the union of the 2 provinces, Mr. W. was apptd., on motion of the Hon. John Neilson, Law Clk. to the Leg. Assembly of Can. He continued therein up to the establishment of Confederation, 1867, when he became Law Clk. to the Ho. of Commons of the Dom. of Can., and so remained till Jan., 1887, when he retired on a pension, he being then in the 58th year of his service as a public officer. Mr. W. was created a Q. C., by the Earl of Elgin, 1854, and is now, probably, the oldest person entitled to wear silk in the Dom. In addition to his regular public duties, he was apptd. a comnr. for revising the statutes and ordinances of L. C., 1841; and was likewise apptd. a comnr. for revising and consolidating the statutes of L. C. and Can., respectively, 1856. He was apptd. to various other Royal comns. Mr. W. was for many yrs. a contributor, in prose and verse, to the newspaper and periodical press. He is the author of "Waifs in Verse" (1878), and of 2 addendas thereto. WIGGINS, Ezekiel Stone, Dom. public service, is a direct descendant of Capt. Thos. Wiggins, of Devon, Eng., who, in the year 1630, was sent out by Lords Saye and Brook as gov. of one of the Mass. colonies. He was b. in Queen's Co., N.B., Dec. 4, 1839, and is the s. of Danl. S. Wiggins, by his wife, Elizabeth Titus Stone, both of U. E. L. descent. Ed. at the Oakwood Grammar Sch., he afterwards attended Albert Univ., Belleville (B.A., 1870; M.A., 1872). He had, previous to graduation, held the appt. of local Supdt. of Schs., Prince Edward Co. He graduated M.D. at the Univ. of Med. and Surgery, Philadelphia. Dr. W. was for some yrs. Head-master of the High Sch., Ingersoll, Ont., and he was the first Principal of the Inst. for the Education of the Blind, Brantford, holding the office, 1871-74. In the latter year he established a Boys' Coll. in St. John, N.B. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Queen's, N. B., at the Dom. g. e. 1878, and was shortly afterwards apptd. to a position in the C. S. at Ottawa, which he still fills. In addition to "The Architecture of the Heavens" and "The Days of the Creation," he has published an Eng. Grammar for Dom. High schs. "Prof. W.," says Rose, "owes his great name mainly to his predictions of storms, which for yrs. have been faithfully published by newspapers in all countries and climes. He believes that all storms, excepting those usually called 'thunder-storms'—cyclones and great tempests—are caused by planetary attraction, which, he alleges, shifts the earth's centre of gravity and gives a variable weight to bodies on the earth's surface. Earthquakes he conceives to be from the same cause, and during 3 mths. after one of his heaviest storms he always predicts earthquakes. . . . His theory of tidal waves is also extremely interesting, and appears strongly probable; and a number of the predictions which he has made have been literally fulfilled." A mem. of the Ang. Ch., he m. 1862, his cousin, Susie Anna, dau. of Capt. V. W. Wiggins. This lady ("Gunhilda") has won a high reputation as a polemical writer. WILLIAMS, Egerton Ryerson, stock and grain broker, is of U. E. L. descent, his ancestors having come to Can. at the close of the Am. revolutionary war. In return for their services to the Crown and for the loss of their property, they received grants of land in Can. One bro. received his grant of land in the vicinity of Halifax, N.S., and it is believed that Sir Fenwick Williams, "the hero of Kars," was a s. or nephew of this gentleman. Mr. W. is also connected with another historic Can. family, his grandm. having been a sister of the late Rev. Dr. Ryerson, the founder of Ontario's sch. system. The s. of George Ryerson Williams, by his wife, Ann Amelia Lewis, he was b. at Port Stanley, Ont., Sept. 21, 1840, and received his education at Victoria Univ., Cobourg. Owing to ill-health he was forced to abandon his studies, and proceeding West embarked in commerce at Toledo, O.

He became V.-P. and afterwards Presdt. of the Toledo Produce Exchange, and was for several yrs. the largest shipper of grain in that city. The credit is given him of being the first shipper of grain by rail from the West to the East without transfer; also the credit of being the pioneer in direct shipments of grain from the interior to Europe, and of being the first shipper of grain from Toledo in the same vessel through to Europe. Quite a goodly portion of the grain shipped by him was sent by water to Montreal, where for some time he had upwards of 20 grain correspondents. He had also extended business connections all over Can., from Port Sarnia to Quebec. Mr. W. has been an occasional contributor to Can. and Am. journals for the past 33 yrs. The most widely noticed article from his pen was: "Thirty Years in the Grain Trade," contributed to the North Am. Rev., July, 1895. He is now a stock and grain broker in Boston. In Am. politics he is a Rep.; in Can., an "old Tory." He favours a Can. form of Govt. and a Can. method of franchise, and a Rep. (Am.) method of protective duty. He m. WILLIAMS, Rev. Thomas Grange (Meth.), is the s. of the late Rev. Wm. H. Williams (Meth.). He entered the ministry, 1861, and after studying Theol. at Victoria Univ., Cobourg, was received into full connection and ordained, 1865. He has laboured successfully at Rawdon, Huntingdon, Franklin Centre, in the Montreal Conf.; at Winchester, Matilda, Prescott and other places, and is now at Sherbrooke. He has held the offices of Financial Secy., Secy. of Conf. and Chairman of his Dist., has been a del. to the Genl. Conf., and Presdt. of the Montreal Prot. Ministerial Assn. One of the most instructive of the papers read by him before the latter body was on "The Moral Tendencies of the Modern Theatre." He takes high rank as a preacher and platform speaker. He received the hon. degree of D.D., from the Wesl. Theol. Coll., Montreal, 1890. He is remembered particularly for his successful efforts in behalf of the union of the Meth. Ch. in Can. Huron, Ont., Nov. 9, 1856, he was ed. at the local schs., spending some yrs. thereafter in mercantile pursuits. His journalistic career commenced in the office of the London Advertiser, Nov., 1882, whence he proceeded to the Toronto Daily Globe, Sept., 1883. While still junior mem. of the staff, he wrote a series of papers on current topics and events, signed "Observer," which brought him under the favourable notice of the reading public. He represented the paper in the Parliamentary Press Gallery at Ottawa for several sessions, and was elected Presdt. of the Gallery, 1890. In July of the same year he was apptd. ed.-in-chief of the Globe, a position he still fills with great credit to himself and advantage to the Lib. party. He has published a pamphlet, "The Railway Question in Can." (1897). He has also contributed to the Can. Mag. and other periodicals. On his return from Eng., 1897, he wrote an able series of papers for the Globe, entitled "Lessons from the Old World." He appears occasionally on the public platform as a lecturer, and in that capacity has been heard to much advantage on "Can. Journalism" and on "Canada's Problems." Mr. W. has held the presidency of the Toronto Lib. Club. In 1897 he served as a local secy. in connection with the visit of the Brit. Assn. to Toronto. WILLSON, Thomas Leopold, electrician, is the s. of the late Thos. W. Willson, Woodstock, Ont., and a grands. of Hon. John Willson, formerly Speaker of the U. C. Assembly. B. at Princeton, Ont., Mch. 14, 1860, he was ed. at the Hamilton Coll. Inst., where he showed a special aptitude for chemistry and physical science. At the age of 20 he constructed an arc light apparatus, and, in association with Senator Sanford and John Hood, Hamilton, gave the citizens there the first exhibition of the electric arc light. In 1882 he obtained employment in N. Y. with the Fuller Elect. Co. as inspr. of construction, and was subsequently with the Remington Gun Co. Proceeding to Akron, Ohio, he carried out some interesting experimental work in head-lights on a local ry., and, from 1887 to 1890, was associated with Messrs. Seward and Morehead, N. Y., in developing the work of the Willson Aluminum Co. His discovery of acetylene, or the conversion of water into light—which has made his name famous throughout the world—was made by chance during his search for another object. While working with his electrical furnace at Leaksville, N.Y., trying to form an alloy of calcium from some of its compounds, he noticed that a mixture containing lime and powdered anthracite, acted on by the arc, fused down to a heavy semi-metallic mass, which, having been examined and found not to be the substance sought, was thrown into a bucket containing water, with the result that violent effervescence of the water marked the rapid evolution of gas, the overwhelming odour of which enforced attention to its presence, and which on the application of a light burnt with a smoky but luminous flame. It was acetylene gas. Further experiments showed that in a properly built electrical furnace, finely ground lime, mixed with powdered carbon in any form, can be fused, forming the compound known as calcium carbide, and that when this is brought in contact with water a double decomposition takes place, resulting in the formation of calcic oxide and acetylene gas, the small cost of the gas not only bringing it within the range of commercial use, but enabling the chemist or manufacturer to build up a host of other compounds on a scale of cheapness hitherto undreamt of. The fact that acetylene gas gives a light which the spectrum shows to have all the elements of sunlight, and which can be produced probably at one-half the cost of common gas or electric light, gives us only one element in the practical value of calcium carbide. Such is the vista opened before the world by Mr. W.'s discovery. He has his manufactory at St. Catharines, Ont. He m. Aug., 1895, Mary, eld. dau. of the late Wm. H. Parks, at one time Speaker of the Cal. Legislature.—St. Catharines, Ont.

Hoyles, was called to the bar, 1867, and became a Q. C., 1880. As a lawyer, he was one of the most successful the colony has ever had. Entering the Legislature, 1874, he continued to sit therein up to 1889, shortly after which he was elevated to the bench. During his public career, Sir Jas. filled successively the offices of Speaker of the Assembly, Solr.-Genl., and Atty.-Genl. He was also for a time leader of the Opposition. He served as a del. to London on the French Fisheries question, 1890; and was agent for Nfd. at the Washington Fishery Conf., 1887-88. In 1894 he was a del. from Nfd. to the Orange Triennial Council at London, Eng. In Nov., 1896, Sir Jas. W. voluntarily resigned his seat upon the bench and resumed practice at the bar, giving as his reason for this step a reduction which had been made in the judges' salaries, and because, also, of the "violent and malignant hostility of the Govt. in their individual and collective capacity, towards the bench." Not long afterwards he re-entered the political arena, and was elected leader of the Opposition. At the g. e. Oct., 1897, the Whiteway Govt. was defeated, and Sir Jas. W. was called to the premiership, having formed a new Govt. He and his colleagues assumed office, Nov. 17. He was created a K.C.M.G. for his public services, 1888. A mem. of the Ang. Communion, he m. 1881, Emily Julia, dau. of Capt. W. J. Coen.—St. John's, Nfd.

WINTON, Robert, journalist, is the s. of the late Hy. D. Winton, belonging to the Exmouth family of Wintons, and who was a grands. of the last Earl of Winton. B. in Nfd., Apl., 1825, he was ed. at St. John's under the late Archdeacon Bridge, M.A. Mr. W. has been for over half a century engaged in journalism, writing for Eng., Am. and colonial papers, his first article appearing in the Liverpool (Eng.) Mail, 1846. In 1849 he proceeded to the U. S., and was for a short time engaged upon the N. Y. Tribune. He subsequently purchased an interest in the North Adams Transcript (the pioneer journal of the Rep. party), and, in 1858, at the instance of the late Saml. Bowles, of the Springfield Republican), he purchased also the plant of the Middlesex Republican, previously published at Middletown, Conn., and having removed the property to Meriden, commenced there the publication of the Meriden Chronicle. During his residence in Mass., he was elected one of the dels. to the Hinsdale Congressional Convention, of which he was apptd. Joint Secy. with Mr. Bowles, and which gave the present Senator, Hy. L. Dawes, his first nomination for Congress. In the following year he was elected a del. to the Conn. State Convention at New Haven, which nominated Wm. S. Buckingham for Gov., and was largely instrumental in electing that gentleman and the whole State ticket. In 1860, at the urgent request of many friends in Nfd., Mr. W. returned to that colony and commenced the publication at St. John's of the Daily News, the first daily paper ever established in Nfd. This, with the North Star (a weekly journal), he continued for about 20 yrs. In 1884 he disposed of his interest in these publications, and, in 1885, removed to Toronto, where he has since resided. In 1895 he commenced the publication there of a municipal service journal. During his residence in Nfd. he was largely instrumental in transferring the administration of the Province from the Radical party to the Con., under the leadership of the late Sir H. W. Hoyles. Under later admns. Mr. W. suffered considerable pecuniary loss in consequence of his inflexible advocacy of the union of the colony with the Dom. He was for many yrs. the publisher of the journals and sessional papers of the Legislature, and as an indication of the general public confidence in his political integrity, he was selected by both parties as supervisor of the Legislative "Hansard," or Parliamentary reports of that body, a position which he held during successive admns. by both parties. Both as a speaker and writer Mr. W. is still regarded with much consideration in his native province. His affiliations have always been with the Con. party—the progressive liberal Conservatives, whose sympathies are in favour of evolution rather than of revolution. He is also an ardent advocate of Imp. Federation. He m. 1st, 1857, Miss Frances Augusta Cody, of North Adams, Mass., a descendant of Wm. WITHROW, John Jacob, municipal official, is the s. of Jas. Withrow (U. E. L. descent), for many yrs. a contractor in Toronto, by his wife, Ellen Sanderson, a native of Irel. The family came from Va. at the time of the Am. revolution, and first settled in N. S. B. in Toronto, 1833, he was ed. at the Toronto Acad., and spent some time in an architect's office. Subsequently, he served a full course as a practical builder under his father, and on his return from a tour through the neighbouring States, devoted himself to the business of building and contracting, being a mem. of the firm of Withrow & Hillock. Entering the Toronto City Council as an ald., he was an unsuccessful candidate for the mayoralty, 1885, being defeated by 3 or 4 votes. He was Presdt. of the Toronto Mech. Inst., 1867, was one of the promoters of the Saskatchewan Land and Homestead Co., 1882, and is now Presdt. of the Can. Mutual Loan and Invest. Co. For 16 or 17 yrs. he has been Presdt. of the Toronto Industrial Exhn., an undertaking which owes its success very largely to his exertions. In June, 1895, he was apptd. WITHROW, Rev. William Henry (Meth.), author and journalist, bro. of the preceding, was b. in Toronto, Aug. 6, 1839. He received his early education at the Toronto Acad., where he was a sch.-fellow of the late Chief-Justice Moss, and subsequently spent 3 yrs. at Victoria Coll., Cobourg. Entering Toronto Univ. (B.A., 1863; M.A., 1864), he was admitted to the Meth. ministry, 1866, and after serving on various circuits, east and west, was elected ed. of the Can. Meth. Mag. and S. S. publications, at the first conf. of the Meth. Ch. of Can., 1874. Since then he has been re-elected to the position at each succeeding Genl. Conf. He was also for 16 yrs. Secy. of the Sunday Sch. Bd. He received the degree of D.D. from Victoria Univ., 1882, and was elected a Fellow of the Eng. Lit. Soc. of the Royal Soc. of Can., 1884. Dr. W. is likewise an hon. mem. of the Woman's Can. Hist. Soc., of the Soc. of Can. Lit., and of other similar organizations. He has spent much of his leisure in foreign travel, and has embodied the results of his observations in some of his numerous volumes. The great success of the Meth. Mag. has been ascribed by the press to his excellent judgment and writing. Besides editing that periodical, he has been a frequent contributor to other serials in Can. and Eng. One of the best known of his published works is "The Catacombs of Rome, and their Testimony Relative to Primitive Christianity," which has now reached a 6th edition. This work, according to the Edinburgh Review, "is the best Eng. work on the subject extant." His other works include: "Worthies of Early Methodism" (1878); "The King's Messenger; or, Lawrence Temple's Probation" (1879); "The Romance of Missions" (do.); "The History of Canada" (1880); "Valeria, the Martyr of the Catacombs" (do.); "Neville Trueman, the Pioneer Preacher" (do.); "A Canadian in Europe" (1881); "Barbara Heck: a Story of the Founding of Upper Canada" (1882); "Men Worth Knowing; or, Heroes of Christian Chivalry" (do.); "Life in a Parsonage" (do.); "Missionary Heroes" (1883); "Our Own Country" (1889); "China and Its People," edited (1892); "The Native Races of North America" (1893), and "A Harmony of the Gospels, from the Revised Version" (1894). WOOD, Andrew Trew, merchant and legislator, is the eld. s. of the late David Wood, merchant, of Mount Norris, Armagh, Irel., by his wife, Frances Bigham Trew, and is of joint Scotch and Eng. descent. B. at Mount Norris, Aug. 26, 1826, he was ed. there, and at Derrycughan and Loughgilly. He commenced his business career in Toronto, but after 3 yrs. removed to Hamilton, where he has since lived. In 1848 he accepted a position with the wholesale and retail hardware firm of Wm. Atkinson & Co., and, in the following year, commenced business, on his own account, in the same line. He was for a short time a mem. of the firm of E. McGiverin & Co. In 1852 he entered the wholesale trade, and, in 1856, formed a partnership with M. Leggatt (q.v.), which lasted for 30 yrs. The business grew, and an immense trade was carried on all over the Dom., the firm always standing in the front rank in commercial circles throughout the country. After Mr. Leggatt's retirement, the firm name was changed to Wood, Vallance & Co., the company consisting of Mr. W.'s eld. s., and Wm. and Geo. Vallance. The business of this great concern is still carried on with undiminished energy and success. In addition to the Hamilton establishment there is a branch house in Winnipeg. Mr. W. is spoken of as a thoroughly representative citizen, who has freely invested his talents and his wealth in promoting those agencies necessary to the development of the country. He was one of the founders, with the late Hon. John Young and others, of the Dom. Bd. of Trade, and sat in the Council of that important body. He was also Presdt. of the Hamilton Bd. of Trade; Presdt. of the Mech. Inst.; Presdt. of the Hamilton Provident and Loan Co.; and Presdt. of the Mutual Life Assn. of Can. He was one of the first promoters of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Ry., and was a dir. of the co. up to its amalgamation with the old Gt. Western Ry. He was also among the originators of the Ont. Cotton Co., was long its Presdt., and is still a dir. thereof, and has been connected with a vast number of other institutions and enterprises. In 1881 he was a mem. of the Howland syndicate that offered to construct the Can. Pac. Ry. At present he is one of the trustees and a Senator of the Univ. of Toronto, a dir. of the Hamilton Sanitary Assn., a dir. of the Bank of Hamilton, V.-P. of the Hamilton Provident and Loan Soc., and Presdt. of the Hamilton Art Sch. In addition to cotton he is largely interested in iron manufacturing, and he was one of the originators of the iron smelting industry in Hamilton. He attended as a del. the Imp. Commercial Congress held in London, 1892, and again, 1896. A Lib., he sat in the Ho. of Commons, in that interest, 1874-78, when he suffered defeat. He was again elected, standing at the head of the poll, while absent from the country, at the g. e. 1896. He has always held that the Can. tariff should be so arranged in the interests of our own people that it would develop trade along the lines of least resistance, and he was one of the first to advocate preferential trade arrangements with Gt. Brit. A personal admirer of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is also one of his most devoted followers. In religion, a Presb., he has been twice m., 1st, 1851, to Mary E., eld. dau. of the late Wm. Freeman, Saltfleet, Ont. (she d.); and 2ndly, 1863, to Jennie, eld. dau. of Geo. H. White, Yorkville, Ont. WOOD, Rev. Edmund (Ch. of Eng.), is the s. of the late Wm. Wood, of Seale Lodge, Surrey, Eng., and was b. in London, Eng. Ed. at Univ. Coll. Sch., London, Eng., he graduated B.A., at the Univ. of Durham, 1854. Ordained deacon by the Bp. (Lee) of Manchester, 1850, he was advanced to the priesthood by the late Bp. Fulford, Montreal, 1861. He received the degree of M.A. (ad eund.) from Bishop's Coll. Univ., Lennoxville, 1859. Becoming asst. at Christ Ch. Cath., Montreal, Mr. W. was placed shortly afterwards in charge of the small chapel of ease erected by that cong. at the corner of Dorchester and

St. Urbain sts., Montreal. Out of this has sprung the splendid Ch. of St. John the Evangelist, now standing at the corner of Ontario and St. Urbain sts., with its fine sch., rectory and other appurtenances, all of which owe their existence to Mr. W. St. John's is known as the only "High Ch." cong. existing in connection with the Ch. of Eng. in Montreal, while the sch. is probably the only ch. sch. to be found in the Province of Quebec, apart from that at Lennoxville. Mr. W. takes much interest in the proper rendering of ch. music, and has written not infrequently to the press on the subject. "Father Wood," as he is affectionately called, is beloved of the poor, and highly esteemed and respected by all classes. He was created a canon of Christ Ch. WOOD, Rev. Morgan (Cong.), is the s. of the Rev. E. M. Wood, D.D. (Meth.), and was b. at Freeport, Pa., Aug. 8, 1867. Ed. at Pittsburg and at Union Coll., Alliance, Ohio (B.A.), he took a post-graduate course in Philol. and Phil. at Yale Univ. (M.A.). He divided his theol. course between Yale Div. Sch. of Theol. and Boston Univ. His first choice of a profession was the law, but abandoning this, he devoted himself to the Christian ministry. He became a home mission. in South Dakota, and previous to going to Detroit, Mich., held pastorates in Salem, N.H., New Orleans, La., and Bloomington, Ill. One who was intimately associated with Mr. W. in Detroit, thus describes his life and work in that city: "As pastor of the People's (Cong.) Ch., Detroit, he enjoyed the distinction of preaching to the largest audiences in that city. When he went to Detroit, the audience room, seating 700, soon became too small to accommodate those who desired to hear him, and the ch. immediately began a career of extraordinary prosperity. At the end of 6 mths. a large tabernacle was erected, with a seating capacity of 2000. So popular did Mr. W.'s Sunday evening people's services become that even the tabernacle was found too small, and for 2 winters it was found necessary to hold the services in the heart of the city in the opera house. Mr. W. was the first to take up the so-called advance movement in ch. work in Mich. Believing that something ought to be done to make the Ch. of to-day the acknowledged moral and spiritual power which the Master designed it to be, he introduced several institutional methods into the People's Ch. He was also the founder of Plymouth Inst., which had for its aim the promotion of manual and industrial education, as well as cultivation in literature, science and art; to inculcate habits of industry and thrift, and to foster all that makes for right living and good citizenship. 600 students were enrolled in the different depts. of the Inst. the first year, showing the demand for a sch. of this kind at a nominal expense to the pupil. After 2 seasons, however, the work had to be abandoned because of a lack of financial encouragement. As a platform speaker Mr. W. has gained a reputation equalled by few Americans. His preaching is powerful and magnetic, he is an eloquent orator, and for wealth of language, thought and rapidity of expression, has few equals. Mr. W. has been especially successful in winning the confidence and esteem of the common people by the modernness of the Gospel he preaches. He goes directly to the root of things, is severely practical, and is in hearty sympathy with the hopeful tendency toward a more distinctly social Gospel than has yet been preached. During his 6 years' work in Detroit he caused men to see as never before that it is impossible to save the individual entirely until many of the existing social hindrances are removed." In June, 1897, he accepted a call to Bond St. Cong. Ch., Toronto, and assumed the duties of his new charge in the following July. He m. Aug., 1889, Miss Ella M. YOUNG, Rev. Egerton Ryerson (Meth.), missionary, lecturer and author, is the s. of the late Rev. Wm. Young (Meth.), by his wife, Amanda Waldron (U. E. L. descent). B. at Crosby, Ont., Apl. 7, 1840, he attended various schs., and completed his education at the Provl. Normal Sch., Toronto, where he obtained a 1st class cert. After serving as a public sch. teacher for some yrs., he entered the ministry and was ordained, 1867. In the same year he was apptd. to the pastorate of the 1st Meth. Ch., Hamilton, Ont. His most important work as a clergyman was done as a mission. among the Indian tribes in the great N.-W. He was 2 mths. and 19 days journeying from Hamilton to Norway Ho. in 1868. Later, he opened the missions at Nelson River and Beren's River. Great success attended his efforts everywhere, and on leaving the country to come east, 1876, owing to the illness of his wife, he was able to give a good account of his stewardship. During a collecting tour made in the provinces with the Rev. Mr. Crosby, of B. C., 1873-74, he added $30,000 to the funds of the Meth. Mission. Soc. Mr. Y. served subsequently at Port Perry, Colborne, Bowmanville, and other places, but since 1888, owing to the many calls made upon him, as a lecturer, he has been released from all pastoral work. These calls have come from all quarters, and especially from Eng. and the U. S. Proceeding to Eng., 1888, he remained there for some yrs., and has told the story of the Gospel's triumphs among the Indians in the N. W. T. at the great annual gatherings of the Brit. and For. Bible Soc. in London, of the Hibernian Bible Soc. in Dublin, and elsewhere. On this side of the Atlantic he has addressed large audiences in N. Y., Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago, and also at the Chautauqua Assembly. Among his published works describing life and work among the Indians, and all of which have enjoyed an extensive sale in Can., the U. S. and Eng., are: "By Canoe and Dog-Train among the Cree and Salteaux Indians"; "Stories from Indian Wigwams and Northern Camp-

Fires"; "Oowikapun; or, How the Gospel Reached the Nelson River Indians"; "Three Boys in the Wild North Land," and "On the Indian Trail." He has become one of the most successful writers, especially of books for boys, in the Dom. He m. Dec., 1867, Miss Elizabeth Bingham, Bradford, Ont.—"Ingleside," Deer Park, Toronto.

"One of those dauntless souls who would have won success and fame in almost any department of life to which he might have devoted himself."—Rev. L. A. Banks, D.D.

YOUNG, Rev. George (Meth.), of U. E. L. descent, was b. in the Co. of Prince Edward, Ont., Dec. 31, 1821. He became an itinerant preacher, 1842, and as such filled appts. in many parts of U. C. Proceeding to Winnipeg, 1868, he became Supdt. of Missions there, and 1st Presdt. of the Man. and N.-W. Conf. He was there throughout the Riel rebellion, 1869-70, and attended Thos. Scott, who was executed by Riel, in his last moments. Owing to ill-health he resigned his position in Man., 1884, since when he has sustained a superannuated relation. He published a volume entitled: "Manitoba Memories, being Leaves from my Life in the Prairie Province, 1868-84" (1897).—348 Victoria St., Toronto.

YOUNG, Hon. James, statesman, was b. at Galt, Ont., May 24, 1835, and is the eld. s. of the late John Young, who arrived in Can. from Melrose, Scot., the previous year. Ed. at the Galt public schs. and by private tuition, he became connected with the press at an early age. In 1853 he purchased the Dumfries Reformer (Galt), which he successfully ed. and managed for 10 yrs. He then embarked in manufacturing and other enterprises, carrying on, for a considerable period, the Victoria Bending and Wheel Works, which he had purchased. His literary work was not allowed to flag, however, for he was a regular editorial contributor on commercial and statistical subjects to the Montreal Trade Review and the Toronto Monetary Times, and contributed occasionally to the Toronto Globe and other journals. He likewise was the author of 2 prize essays, one on "The Agricul. Resources of Can."; the other on "The Reciprocity Treaty; its Advantages to the United States and Can." The latter was printed specially for circulation at the great Trade Convention held at Detroit, 1866, to which the author, in conjunction with the Hon. Joseph Howe, Hon. John Young, Hon. Isaac Buchanan, and other leading Can. public men, was invited. Among Mr. Y.'s other publications are a volume: "Reminiscences of the Early History of Galt and the Settlement of Dumfries" (1880), and a pamphlet, entitled "Our National Future" (1887), which takes strong ground against Commercial Union with the U. S. and Imp. Federation. It was a reprint of a series of letters that appeared originally in the Toronto Globe. These letters attracted widespread attention, as well in Gt. Brit. and the U. S. as in Can., and did much to give a quietus to the Commercial Union fad. Among those who complimented the author on their production was Sir John Macdonald, then Prime Minister of Can. Mr. Y. is well and favourably known as a public speaker, and has delivered many addresses and lectures in various portions of his native Province. Among these was an address on "Can. Nationality: a Glance at the Present and the Future," delivered before the National Club, Toronto, during the winter, 1890-91. It was, with other addresses, published by the Club in book-form, and is described as "a vigorous and eloquent argument, setting forth the progress and success of the Can. Confederation, strongly opposing any form of annexation, and advocating Can. nationality as the ultimate destiny of the Dom. and the best antidote to Americanizing tendencies." Politically, Mr. Y. is a Lib., and began his public career by being elected to the Galt Public Sch. Bd., 1857. After this he served for 6 yrs. in the Town Council, during a portion of which time he held a seat in the Co. Council. At the first g. e. after the Confederation of the Provinces, 1867, he was elected to represent South Waterloo in the Ho. of Commons; his majority being 366 over his Con. opponent. At the g. els. of 1872 and 1874 he was re-elected by acclamation. Defeated at the g. e. 1878, by a small majority, he was presented, not long afterwards, by the Reformers of the riding, with a handsome service of plate, in recognition of "his self-denying efforts as their representative at Ottawa." Whilst in the Ho. of Commons he took an active part in the conduct of public business, more especially during the 5 years' existence of the Mackenzie Admn. During that period he was Chairman of 2 of the most important standing comtes. of the Ho., viz., the Comte. on Public Accounts and the Comte. of the Whole House in Supply. Among his legislative measures were the abolition of the old system of Queen's printer and the letting of all public and departmental printing by public tender; a bill confirming the naturalization of all aliens who had taken the oaths of allegiance and naturalization before Confederation; a bill in favour of the ballot, the Govt., however, finally taking the question up; the passage of addresses to Her Majesty in 1873 and in 1878, praying that the Imp. Govt. would confer on Germans and other aliens naturalized in Can., the same rights in all parts of the world as Brit. subjects enjoy; the appt. of a special comte. which resulted in the publication of the "Hansard" or Ho. of Commons debates; and resolutions in favour of the establishment of a Govt. Bureau of Statistics, which the Govt. agreed would be carried out. At the Provl. g. e. 1879 he was returned to the Legislature for North Brant by a majority of 340. Re-elected at the g. e. 1883, he entered Sir O. Mowat's Cabinet as Provl. Treas. on June 2, and was re-elected after accepting office by a majority of 551. Owing to a sudden and dangerous attack of illness, he resigned the treasurership and retired from the Govt. in the month of Oct. following, but remained a mem. of the Ho. till the close of the 5th Legislature, 1886, when he declined re-nomination. At Toronto as at Ottawa he took a prominent part in the debates, especially on financial and business questions, and it was on his motion that the Govt. agreed to establish the Ont. Statistical Bureau, thus following the course, on this subject, which he had previously had adopted under the Federal Govt. Mr. Y.'s life has been active in other directions. For 11 yrs. ending 1881, he was elected Presdt. of the Associated Mech. Institutes of Ont., and was thus an ex-officio mem. of the Provl. Agricul. and Arts Assn. During this period, the Industrial and Arts depts. of the Provl. Exhns. were largely under his direction and control. On his retirement therefrom, he was presented by the Assn. with some valuable testimonials of its regard. He was among the first presdts. of the Sabbath Sch. Assn. of Ont., and remains one of its V.-Ps. He was elected Presdt. of the Reform Assn. of Ont., and was likewise Chairman of the great Lib. Provl. Conventions held in Toronto in 1878 and 1893. For several yrs. he was Chairman of the Bd. of Trustees of Galt Coll. Inst. and Presdt. of the Galt Hospital Trust, and was instrumental in promoting the erection of the excellent hospital now possessed by the town. In addition to being on the directorate of the Confederation Life Assn. and the Landed Credit and National Invest. Co., he has been also, since 1877, Presdt. of the Gore Fire Ins. Co., and continues to take an active interest in all that concerns Can. and the prosperous town of Galt and vicinity. His name is now frequently mentioned in connection with a seat in the Senate. In religious belief, he is a Presb. He m. Feb., 1858, Margt., 2nd dau. of John McNaught, Brantford, Ont.—"Thornhill," Galt, Ont.

Something he had recently said in a speech delivered in his native town had been misinterpreted. He had not any sinister idea or malign notion suggestive of his resumption of political leadership in this country. He had had enough of that. He had always detested it, had kept away from it, and had got out of it as soon as he could. He knew no conceivable thing that could induce him to get into it again. Surely it was not a criminal wish or a too large ambition to desire to take part as an independent citizen in the public life of his native land. He wished that, and no more."

Royal Military College of Canada.

INFORMATION FOR CANDIDATES.

THE ANNUAL EXAMINATION for Cadetship in the Royal Military College will take place at the Headquarters of the several Military Districts in which candidates reside, in June of each year. Evidence satisfactory to the Headquarters Board of Examiners of Matriculation in the Faculty of Arts, within the previous 12 months, will be accepted in lieu of passing the obligatory examination. Such matriculants will rank, for admission to the College, in alphabetical order after those who pass the obligatory examination.

LIBRARY OF THE WENTWORTH HISTORICAL SOCIETY HAMILTON, ONT.

In addition to the facilities the College offers for an education in Military Subjects, the course of instruction is such as to afford a thoroughly practical, scientific and sound training in all departments which are essential to a high and general modern education.

The Civil Engineering Course is complete and thorough in all branches. Architecture forms a separate subject.

The Course of Physics and Chemistry is such as to lead towards Electrical Engineering, Meteorological Service, and other departments of applied science.

The Obligatory Course of Surveying includes what is laid down as necessary for the profession of Dominion Land Surveyor. The Voluntary Course comprises the higher subjects required for the Degree of Dominion Topographical Surveyor. Hydrographic Surveying is also taught.

Length of Course, three years.

Five Commissions in the Imperial Regular Army are at present awarded annually.

Board and instruction, $100 for each term, consisting of ten months' residence.

For further information apply to the Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General at Headquarters, Ottawa, before 1st June.
